City Council Will Discuss Incinerator Plan Saturday

The City Council's special committee on dumping and refuse problems will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. to discuss a proposal for an estimated $2 million incinerator.

The committee will explore various methods of rubbish disposal - including compaction before making a final recommendation on which is best for Quincy.

"Our quarries are rapidly being filled," noted Committee Chairman George B. McDonald. "We are fast approaching a crucial stage in which a long-range refuse disposal system must be agreed upon and thoroughly planned.

We can't fool around with this any longer."

The full council membership has requested to sit with McDonald and regular committee members, Councilors Albert R. Barilaro, Edward Graham, Arthur Tobin and John F. Koepler, at the series of upcoming meetings to help find the right answer to the problem as soon as possible.

Councilor McDonald is also inviting interested residents to attend the committee meetings in the council chamber to hear the various proposals.

At Saturday's meeting, John Forrest, president of North American Incinerator Corp. of Boston will outline his firm's proposals for either a municipally or privately operated incinerator.

McDonald said one of that firm's special incineration features is rocket-type grates for complete combustion, leaving no unburned rubbish or garbage.

He said his committee, Mayor James R. McIntyre and key department heads have been invited to inspect the North American built municipal incinerator at Greenwich, Conn. He expects the Quincy delegation to make the trip within a week.

McDonald said of particular interest to the Quincy group will be a new section added to the 30-year-old incinerator six years ago.

Its furnace, he said, burns more than 300 tons of refuse a day at a cost of $5.75 per ton. Primary combustions is at 1,850 degrees with the rubbish itself the only fuel. "There are more technological advances developed by North American since then which may be incorporated in an incinerator built today," McDonald said.

He believes Quincy would require dual 250-ton capacity burners to handle up to 500 tons of refuse a day. He estimated the

A threatened potential year and a half delay in the MBTA extension to Quincy has been averted and 22 North Quincy homes spared from demolition.

Mayor James R. McIntyre disclosed last night that the planned North Quincy transit station will be relocated 350 feet, preventing an ominous "long term" construction snag and taking of the homes.

But despite the development the Mayor does not expect trains to be running to Quincy until early 1970, mainly because of a construction slowdown caused by the iron works strike. MBTA General Manager Leo Cusick had predicted the Quincy line would be in operation by Christmas 1969.

The North Quincy station, the Mayor said, will be located 350 feet north of the new West Squantum St. bridge.

Original plans were to put the station immediately under the bridge with it extending 300 feet north and south.

The locations was selected as a result of a number of hearings in 1965 and 1966.

But the new site has been designated with agreement by city officials, North Quincy merchants and the MBTA, Mayor McIntyre said.

"MBTA planners and engineers thought the original site was the best location at the time," he said. "But since then, they have run into difficulty because of the Newport Ave. extension."

"It is a space difficulty-trying to get the Newport Ave. extension, the station and tracks and the Newport Ave. ramps to West Squantum St., all under one bridge."

The Mayor had innumerable meetings with MBTA officials to hold them to their original commitments to place the station under the West Squantum St. bridge.

"But," said he, "when we saw the preliminary plans for the station under the bridge would require the taking of 22 homes in the Holmes St. and Moscow St. area, I sought a meeting with the MBTA and the North Quincy

Peak Enrollment At Jr. College

Quincy Junior College has reached another milestone in its 10-year history with a fall total record enrollment of 1,687 students.

The figure, announced by President Kenneth P. White is 122 higher than last years.

The growth the school has undergone in just a decade is shown by comparison of this figure with the first enrollment in September, 1958. Total students that opening year: 35.

Of the 1,687 students this year, 711 are in the full-time Day Division-592 freshmen and 182 sophomores.

The part-time Evening Division has 976 students including:

- Evening College, 464.
- Quincy City Hospital student nurses, 51.

- Evening Community Educational Services, 436.
- General Dynamics personnel, 25.

The 711 full-time students is an increase of 71 over last year's 640.

The biggest gain is the 436 students enrolled in the Evening Community Educational Services program for adults. This is nearly triple the 160 taking these courses last year.

The overall gain in total enrollment would have been considerably higher than 122 if it had not been for a drop in those taking courses at General Dynamics. There were 170 at General Dynamics last year compared to 25 this fall.

The college, keeping pace with its growth, now has three Deans assisting White. They are Hugo F. Saluti of Quincy, Dean of Administration; Joseph J. Fluhr, of Squantum, Dean of Students; and Richard T. Mulca of Braintree, new Dean of Evening Community Educational Services.

The college offers more than 60 courses in liberal arts, business administration, secretarial and continuing education.

Between 90 and 95 per cent of Quincy Junior College graduates go on to a senior college.

Sunrise

This is the first issue of The Quincy Sun.

As you look over this complimentary copy you will notice we also call it, "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper." And, that's what it is going to be—a weekly community oriented newspaper with emphasis on Quincy news.

We are not even going to try to cover the rest of the state, the nation or the world. We will leave that to other newspapers, radio and television.

We believe most Quincy residents would like to know more about what is going on right here in their own city—and why.

Our goal is to provide this information throughout news columns, special features and photographs.

We intend each week to present comprehensive coverage of Quincy's government, schools, business, industries, civic, church, fraternal, social and veterans organizations.

We invite organizations and individuals to submit news items and assure you no item will be too small to print. If it is of interest to you, it is of interest to us.

That's why we call it "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper."

For awhile, we will sample the city with free copies of The Quincy Sun. Then we will seek paid subscriptions. In fact, subscription forms appear in this issue for those who want to become regular subscribers immediately and receive their copy of The Quincy Sun each week from now on.

We intend to improve and expand in the weeks ahead, adding new features and more news. Any suggestions you might have along this line will be greatly appreciated. This is your newspaper, too.

And, for the record, The Quincy Sun will be politically independent.

It will be fair and impartial to all—presenting both sides of issues of interest to the community.

It will cover the local news in depth and with integrity.

It will serve the community, its people, its business and industry, with respect for Quincy's proud past and dedication to a progressive future.

With your help and participation The Quincy Sun will shine brightly on the community.

An Official Welcome

City of Quincy Massachusetts

Office of the Mayor

James R. McIntyre
Mayor

September 26, 1968

Mr. Henry W. Bosworth, Publisher
The Quincy Sun
7 Foster Street
Quincy, Massachusetts 02169

Dear Henry:

As Mayor of the City of Quincy, may I welcome to our community The Quincy Sun and wish it every success.

It is imperative in these modern times that our people in Quincy know and understand the problems of the community and there is no better way than to have the issues of the day presented objectively, analytically, and fairly in a newspaper presentation. It is no less important that the people know what transpires in the community, that the government be given an opportunity to present its news and views, and that business and community organizations get adequate news space so their fellow citizens can know about the day to day activities and the direction in which Quincy is going.

I am pleased that The Sun has chosen Quincy for its location, and I am sure that the people of our fine City will be well informed.

My best personal wishes to you.

Very truly yours,

Officials Convened At Homicide Forum

A two-day homicidal seminar sponsored by Norfolk County District Attorney George G. Burke of Quincy and featuring noted state criminologists and top police officials concluded Wednesday.

Among those convening at the forum dealing with homicide-related topics were Asst. District Attorney Richard W. Barry of Quincy, State Pathologists Michael A. Luongo and George G. Katsas, State Police Captain John F. Collins and State Police Chemist Arthur J. McBay.

The seminar was conducted at the Dedham High School auditorium.

Books Group Meets Oct. 7

The Metropolitan Boston Great Books Council announces that for the 15th consecutive year Quincy will have a first year Great Books Discussion Group sponsored by the Thomas Crane Library and led by Dr. Charles Djurf, Mrs. Mary Jane Mudge will be co-leader.

The group will hold its first meeting Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. in the staff-room of the main library, 43 Washington St., Quincy 50. At this meeting the Great Books program, its purpose and method will be explained, followed by a discussion of the Declaration of Independence.

Great Books is an adult liberal education program open to all people interested in reading, thinking about and discussing ideas and problems common to all men and societies in every age. Authors on the first year list of readings include Plato, Thoreau, Shakespeare, Machiavelli, St. Matthew, Marx and Joyce.

There are no educational or financial requirements for joining a Great Books Discussion Group. Further information regarding the formation of this group or advanced local Great Books Groups may be obtained by contacting Miss Persis Johnson, 165 Davis St., Wollaston, or the Thomas Crane Library.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djurf
Pediatrician

While it appears that man has made poor strides in solving ethnic relations and universal peace and he rationalizes and justifies ethical misbehavior so that the scourges of war and hatred are everywhere manifest, the quiet scientists of medicine and related fields have removed the devastating plagues Typhoid and Typhus through improved hygiene and immunization. Viral diseases, such as Yellow Fever and Small Pox have also been eliminated. Today we rarely confront Whooping Cough.

During the last 15 years Polio and Measles, through direct research with viral culture were triumphantly defeated. All these were deadly and often catastrophic.

Presently a vaccine for Mumps has been made commercially available but has been received with mixed emotions by many in the medical profession. Why all the excitement about a non-lethal simple disease like Mumps?

Let us consider this benign disease. It's a systemic disease - this means it involves the whole body although commonly it is associated with a swelling of the salivary glands of the face and neck. A virus causes this illness with symptoms usually of fever, headache, abdominal pain and the well known swelling. Doesn't sound too bad, does it? Yet the headache may mean a mild brain involvement (adequately demonstrated by brain waves) known as Encephalitis. Yes, it is benign and most people recover with no residual complications. Deafness can occur in 1 out of 400 cases of mumps and is occasionally permanent. Earaches are more common. Swelling of the Testicles known as Orchitis can hit adolescent or adult males, although I have seen it in infants. Truly this inflammation isn't a major cause of infertility but it can cause lost employment and considerable pain.

Acute Appendicitis, Thyroid, Kidney and fetal death have been reported. Then top this off with the realization that perhaps 1/4th of our males reach adulthood without having had Mumps.

All the preceding is enough to justify the search for a safe Mumps vaccine - this I accept for why should anyone need to suffer the complications even if the illness is benign?

Research was carried on for many years throughout the world frustrating in an attempt to develop an attenuated virus - one that could safely produce an immune reaction in humans without the complications described and yet not be transmitted to other humans. Such a product is now available and it is safe.

Yes, there are always some persons who must be avoided, for example the egg sensitive, those with active infections or those receiving concurrent immunization.

It is known that the immunity of those who have had the natural disease is more effective than the one due to vaccines. Time alone will prove the effectiveness of the present product. We went through the same experience with almost all the other vaccines even in your recent knowledge, such as with polio and measles.

Adults and adolescents who are vulnerable can be given this vaccine if desired and eventually all 1-5 year olds will get it - added to those we presently give by inoculation. (Boy, how the children detest shots!) Revaccination may be required in pre-adolescence.

Your parents have ample time to evaluate this problem and discuss it with your physician.

Why not try the Plaza for starters?

Go ahead. Baby yourself.

That's just what you'll be doing when you shop the Plaza. And you'll start the minute you swing into our roomy free parking. It's big ... 6,000 spaces big.

And easy parking's just one of the pleasures of the Plaza. There are others. Lots of them.

Like the sixty-nine stores and services for example. Every one bright and airy with wide, welcoming aisles that invite you to take your time. Browse. Relax. And they're all staffed by the friendliest sales people you've ever run into. Anywhere. They'll never intrude, but the minute you need help they're on hand.

Ready with the kind of attentive service and wise advice that can make a dreaded shopping trip a satisfying treat.

Come on over. You can pick up anything from baby bonnets to French Provincial bureaus ... and just about everything in between ... including a delightful lunch or dinner.

A lot of people won't shop anywhere BUT the Plaza. And we think one happy trip will make it your baby, too.

GOP Victory Ball Oct. 25

LEO F. MEADY

The Quincy Republican City Committee is making plans for its first annual South Shore Victory Ball to be held at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy on Friday evening, October 25.

It is expected to be one of the social highlights of the political season. Style of dress will be optional, with dancing to Earl Hannafin's Society Orchestra. Leo F. Meady, committee chairman, stated that most of the Republican state, county and local elected office holders are expected to attend a reception to be held at 8:30 p.m., just prior to the dancing.

Of the 181 million persons who passed through customs entering the United States last year, 35 million came on foot, 39 million by car, one million by ship and six million by air.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By

Cong. James A. Burke

Visitors to Washington frequently ask me what a Congressman does during the day. I thought you might be interested in a brief sketch of my activities on an average day.

My day usually begins at 8 a.m. when I arrive at the U.S. Capitol with Congressman Donald Irwin of Connecticut, with whom I share an apartment. For the next hour in the office I go over the morning's mail and see those who have early appointments.

I then call Edward Moore, my administrative assistant in my Quincy office to discuss matters of importance in the district.

Miss Edna Slyne of Milton is the early staff member on the scene. She opens the mail, four deliveries each day which usually run approximately 150 - 200 pieces. She brings to my attention all emergency messages and items of particular note. I personally read every hand written letter and every letter from business firms in my district and we try to reply to every letter within 24 hours.

At 9:15 I meet with House Speaker John W. McCormack and other members of the Massachusetts delegation for breakfast in the members' Dining Room. These breakfasts with both Democratic and Republican members enable us to discuss pending legislation, progress of Federal programs in Massachusetts and matters which our combined efforts will bring about more expeditious results.

After I return to my office to place telephone calls on various matters to assist my constituents and the district. The entire staff has arrived - phones ring - typewriters fly - page boys and Western Union messengers discharge their duties quickly and quietly.

Miss Virginia Carey, my receptionist informs me of my appointments and matters of special interest. She is responsible for arrangements for visitors, constituent requests, appointments and special projects - in between answering the phone, that is. Promptly at 10 she reminds me, "Sir, Committee meeting."

I am exceptionally proud of my membership on the House Ways and Means Committee. At the start of my second term in Congress I was elected to this committee, the only Congressional committee whose members are elected by the full membership of the House of their own party in caucus. I am the only New England member and this year moved up to fifth position in seniority on this 25-member committee.

Ways and Means considers legislation dealing with taxes, trade and tariff, Social Security and various other matters as well as functioning as the Committee on Committees in advising the Speaker of all other committee assignments. I was the third member of Congress in history to be elected to this committee in his second term. Preceding me were Hiram Bland and Speaker McCormack, and present Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills.

Miss Slyne, who is responsible for legislative correspondence and legislation which I have filed, usually accompanies me on the walk - or sprint - to the Committee, briefing me on constituent response to legislation we will be considering, reviewing results of her research and going over questions I may want to ask of those testifying before the committee. The Committee meetings last the remainder of the morning with volumes of testimony, questions, debate and thorough investigation of background information.

The bells calling the House of Representatives into session sound at noon. The Ways and Means Committee is one of the few allowed to meet when the House is in session, but usually recesses at 12:30 when the quorum bells ring. The Committee then returns at 2 P.M. for the remainder of the day.

During this brief intermission I call my office and speak to Mrs. Melba Carr, the office taskmaster, who has been with me for eight years and is "in charge". She relays my telephone messages, tells me what unexpected visitors have arrived, reads to me any urgent mail delivered during the morning and reminds me of afternoon appointments.

After answering the quorum call on the House Floor, I return to my committee meeting. Shortly thereafter, Miss Carey will call to say she is coming over with visitors from Massachusetts. I like to personally greet as many of them as possible, even though there is an annual average of over 4000. If time permits, I enjoy taking visitors to lunch or for a cup of coffee in the members' private Dining Room. Unfortunately, these occasions are few and far between as I would like, because I often have to excuse myself in order to call a vote, be present during floor debate on a bill or return to my Committee.

The House of Representatives considers 35 - 40 legislative measures each week. Every bill involves several hours of debate, amendments and votes on every change as well as on final passage or defeat. I am pleased to say I have maintained a 100% roll call and quorum call record on the House Floor, as well as a 100% attendance record in my Committee.

During recent weeks, the House has remained in session until 7 or 8 p.m. One night this week we were in session until 10:30! On these occasions, I must either find time to return to my office in the late afternoon to return calls I have received, keep other appointments, the day's mail and give special instructions to my staff. Or call my office and have Miss Linda Parnell bring the mail, telephone messages and escort people with whom I have appointments to me in the Capitol. She is responsible for what is called Case Work. She assists servicemen who are applying for duty stations, etc. and contacts the various government agencies in order to assist people who write in with special problems.

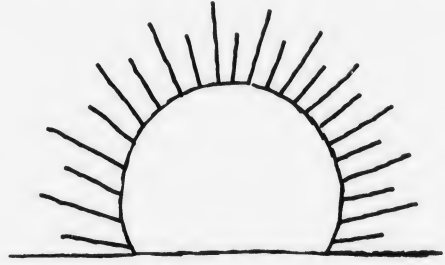

After signing the mail and responding to other commitments, I return to the House Floor or my Committee until both have adjourned for the day, whereupon I go back to my office.

Theoretically, my office closes at 6. However frequently our staff stays late to catch up on typing, filing, or research. If I do not have official or mandatory functions to attend that evening, I stay in the office to read the Boston papers (I have already read the Washington papers) and do research on legislation to be considered the next day. It is not uncommon for a constituent to call my Washington office late as 9 or 10 p.m. to discuss matters of concern or problems and seek my assistance.

After reading the papers and completing my research, I often enjoy spending an hour or two over dinner in the excellent company of my good friends and colleagues, Congressman Philip J. Philbin of Clinton and Harold D. Donohue of Worcester.

After dinner I purchase an early morning edition of the Washington Post which is already on sale at the Mayflower Hotel, and return to my apartment in time for the 11 p.m. news.

If Mr. Moore has not called me by 11:45 p.m. concerning an emergency in Massachusetts, I retire for the day.

Life is always exciting for a Ford dealer, and has been since the time Henry Ford broke the high price barrier with this famous "Tin Lizzie", and made automobiling possible for the working man. As Henry Ford said, "You can get it any color you want as long as it's black." He could have painted it purple and people would have bought it, because Henry Ford had put America on wheels. Then, in 1928, Ford brought out the equally famous "Model A", a "style car" that was priced for the average pocket-book. There was even a "Model A Cabriolet". You still see them on the road, because then, as now, forty years later, Ford made good cars . . .

At Quincy Hospital

51 Students Start Nursing Careers

Fifty-one young ladies from 19 Massachusetts communities and two other states are embarking upon nursing careers as members of the freshman class at the Quincy City Hospital School of Nursing.

The girls will train for three years, getting actual experience in the hospital's wards and with classroom studies both at the hospital and Quincy Junior College.

The size of this year's class underscores the tremendous growth of the School of Nursing and the great need for nurses in this day of medical progress.

Quincy City Hospital established the training school in 1890 and graduated two nurses upon the completion of a two-year training program in 1892.

The hospital itself is a far cry from those days, too.

It was founded in 1890 as a 25-bed facility to treat Quincy granite workers suffering from silicosis, a granite dust that caused lung disease. Quincy was then a humming granite production center, its quality stone known the world over. And silicosis was a dreaded occupational hazard.

Today the hospital is a sprawling, modern medical complex with a bed capacity of 383 plus 47 bassinets.

And last year was an historic one for the facility under Director Harlan L. Paine. All previous records for patients care and business volume were shattered. Total days' care topped the previous year by 7,122 days.

And, for the first time in its 77-year history, the hospital operated in the black — ending the year with an actual profit of $26,910. In 1967 the hospital finished in the red by $269,000. In past years, the deficit had run as high as $648,000 over a 12-month period.

The hospital looks ahead to more progress. So does the School of Nursing and this year's freshman class.

Mrs. Frances LaMontagne is Director of Nursing. Mrs. Margaret Hill, Assistant Director of Nursing and Mrs. Anna M. Hooper, Director of Guidance and Social Activities.

Members of the freshman class are:

Anne C. Andrews, Mary K. Brusch, Regina T. Carnathan, Kathleen Dougherty, Charlotte L. Guglielmi, Mary C. LaBrecque, Charlene M. Mason, Rita J. McCarthy, Barbara A. McEachern, Colleen McDonald, Katherine M. Piccini, Carol A. Russo, Patricia A. Ryan, Adria Sandomato, Linda Shea, Theresa A. Shea, Sandra J. Stuart, Mrs.

Maura Sullivan, Gertrude C. Thackeray, Eileen Tinney of Quincy.

Linda M. Bosworth, Mrs. Maureen K. Gorski and Linda M. Talbot of Braintree.

Ann M. Carney, Maureen T. Carson, Mrs. Barbara J. Larson, Nancy J. Murphy of Weymouth. Susan D. Batchelder, Avon; Barbara A. Batson and Janet E. Riddle, Randolph; Donna M. DePaoli, Rockland; Elizabeth P. Cook and Anne Kelly, Brockton; Priscilla E. Loke, Canton; Mary E. Hinchey, Hanson; Marylou Rigney, Hingham; Sandra J. Simpson, Scituate; Mary Rondeau, Whitman; Mary C. McHugh, Westwood; Patricia A. Dougherty, Lakeville; Catherine Tavares, North Falmouth.

Kathleen Story, Ludlow; Janet Bedugnis, Telli Kutak, Susan M. Mahoney, Rosindale; Geraldine M. Cook, South Boston; Maureen T. Farrell, Boston; Elizabeth A. Fleming, Dorchester; Catherine A. Griffin, Brighton.

The two out-of-staters are Cathy M. Campbell of Silver Springs, Md., and Peggy Wilder of Aliceville, Ala.

Fire Inspections Point Up Hazards

"In-service" fire inspections are being implemented by Quincy fire stations for the safety of the homeowner as a highlight of fire prevention week Oct. 6-12.

The inspections will continue each week until Oct. 26, according to Quincy Fire Chief Edward F. Barry. He pointed out that the inspections will point out and eliminate many of the causes leading to fires.

Many fire hazards, located in the homes, are being overlooked and present extreme dangers to lives and property, Chief Barry asserted. Experienced and qualified firefighters are conducting the educational inspections pointing up such hazards as defective electric appliances, frayed electric cords, circuit overloading and defective heating equipment.

Other common household fire dangers include excessive rubbish in yards and basements.

"Stop fires and save lives," will serve as the Fire Prevention Week slogan.

"This important observance not only reminds the public of fire dangers but also encourages all of us to take a personal interest in removing the fire causes at home and at work," Chief Barry stated.

Objective of the inspections is to alert Quincy citizens to the necessity of practicing proper fire prevention habits. Inspectors will be pleased to answer any questions asked by homeowners concerning fire prevention.

The inspections will pay particular attention to gaspowered appliances and motors commonly used around the home. Power saws, snow blowers, motor-cycles and outboard motors were cited by Chief Barry as potential hazards if improperly used, stored or operated.

Gasoline storage procedures should be strictly observed, Chief Barry said. Permits for such storage are required from the fire department and safety cans placed out of the reach of children should be used.

CHIEF EDWARD F. BARRY

Fire loss statistics released by Chief Barry disclosed that 1968 fire damages seemed to be exceeding last year's figures. Fire losses for 1967 totalled $396,283 with a yearly total of 2821 fire runs. As of Aug. 31, this year, the Fire Department had recorded 2714 runs.

Four North Students Named Scholarship Semifinalists

Principal John W. Walsh has announced that four students at North Quincy High School have been named semifinalists in the 1968-69 National Merit Scholarship Program.

The students are Constance Chandler, Christopher Cavanagh, Marjorie Hoffman and Paul Maloney.

The 15,000 semifinalists appointed are among the nation's most intellectually able high school seniors and will compete for some 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1969.

The semifinalists were the highest scorers in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, given last February in 17,500 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one per cent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the U.S.

The semifinalists show high promise for leadership in their adult careers, according to John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "They have already demonstrated both high intellectual capacity and a readiness to develop their abilities," he said.

"These students deserve credit and honor. They bring honor to their families, who deserve much credit, as do their teachers and their communities. Their future success, however, will depend increasingly upon their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels of which they are capable."

Semifinalists must advance to Finalist standing to be considered for Merit Scholarships. Semifinalists become finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, submitting scores from a second examination, and providing information about their achievements and interests.

Every semifinalist who becomes a Finalist will be considered for one of the 1,000 National Merit $1000 Scholarships, allocated by state. Many will also be considered for the four-year Merit Scholarships provided by some 400 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, other organizations, and individuals.

Winners of four-year Merit Scholarships may receive up to $1,500 a year for four college years, depending on their individual need. Winners of the National Merit $1000 Scholarships will receive one-time stipends of $1,000 upon enrollment in college.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the Finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

Names of the winners in the 1968-69 Merit Program will be announced by early May 1969. Some 18,700 students have received Merit Scholarships in the 13 annual programs to date. Nearly $60 million in financial assistance to Merit Scholars and their colleges has been expended or committed through the Merit Program to date.

SP/c Richard Pestilli USA, was welcomed home from a year's service of active duty in Viet Nam at a party attended by more than 60 relatives and friends Friday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernani Pestilli, 191 Elliot Avenue.

Pestilli, a graduate of Boston Trade School, served in the Army for two years. He received his basic training at Fort Dix, N.J. He graduated from the Army Engineering School in Belfair, Va., and before assignment to active duty in Viet Nam served at Fort Bliss, Texas. He served in the Plei Kue section of Viet Nam.

Opposition to a planned gas line valve house in the West Quincy area will be registered at a Department of Public Utilities hearing Oct. 3.

Ward 4 Councilor Albert R. Barilaro said he and Mayor James R. McIntyre will appear at the session to protest locating the facility near Argonne St. The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. in Room 1210, State Office Building, 100 Cambridge St., Boston.

Barilaro said the Boston Gas Co. has petitioned for a zoning variance from Residence "A" to business to clear the way for construction.

He said the proposed site, a 2.4-acre tract of Milton's Cunningham Park which extends into West Quincy, is legally questionable.

The land, he said, was sold to the gas company by the Cunningham Park Foundation for approximately $36,000.

The park, has been tax exempt since 1933 because of its use for recreational purposes, he said.

Fall is on the way, and so the busy housewife faces fall cleaning time. Fall cleaning is a big job, because with open windows and children in and out all day, summer makes a lot of dirt! The Aerosol Division of the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association offers these tips:

(1) An all-purpose aerosol cleaner will go all over the house with you. Spray it on walls, windowsills, blinds, porcelain, tile and metal—it will even loosen dirt on the floor!

(2) Dust-catching spray will speed your chores along. Use it on your dustcloth to pick up the dust from furniture—and on a dust mop.

(3) Windows are a big job—especially when some of them haven't been cleaned since you put up the screens last spring. To make it easier, buy an aerosol window cleaner. A flick of the finger—and your windows sparkle! Another hint—try window spray on mirrors and chromium appliances, too.

(4) A combination rug and upholstery cleaner—some of these aerosols come with a brush attachment—will do rugs and upholstered furniture double-fast. For stubborn stains—try an aerosol spot lifter.

(5) The final touch—furniture polish. Get one of the new spray products with lemon oil or lemon wax added, and when you've finished the wooden furniture, go ahead and shine up the vinyl, leather and metal pieces as well.

Yes—aerosols are time savers. They eliminate accessory items and get the job done faster. Lots of them are "double-duty" products, which saves space in your cleaning closet. Try the handy aerosols, and you, too, will be able to say, "I never saw this house so dirty—and never got it clean this fast!"

Foundation to sell the land for commercial purposes whereas it has been tax exempt all these years," Barilaro declared.

He said the function of the proposed valve house would be to reduce the pressure of the gas being carried by pipeline from the Algonquin Gas Co. to the new Boston Point Station.

He said the proposed valve house would be within 200 feet of homes on Argonne St. and near others on Gridley, Shawmut and Emerald Sts.

"It is not going to be a manned facility," he said. "It will be electronically controlled from the Point Station. Something could go wrong."

He said he would oppose the site even if it were to be a manned station.

"I think it should be located on MDC Blue Hills land further back in the quarry area away from any homes," he said.

merchants to stop this taking of homes."

Participating in the lengthy session with him were: Thomas O'Connor, MBTA director of construction; Alfred Pecelli, South Shore Project director; H. William Moore, consultant, and a delegation from the North Quincy Merchants Association headed by President Joseph Doran.

"We agreed," the Mayor said, "that locating the station north of the West Quantum St. bridge would save these homes and residential character of North Quincy and would be in the best interests of both the city and the MBTA."

"This new location is only 350 feet immediately north of the original location and does NOT substantially detract from the business interests of North Quincy."

"There would have been a substantial delay in the construction of the line if we and the MBTA could NOT have ironed this out. It would have been a long-term delay."

Asked to define what he considered a "long-term delay," he replied: "A delay of a year or more."

Reminded of a prediction by Cusick that he would be riding the first train into Quincy by Christmas, 1969, Mayor McIntyre commented: "I think he really is going to have to do something to get the trains running by then. Since he made that statement, there has already been a several months' delay in construction as a result of the iron works strike."

At the time he made his prediction, Cusick said he was so confident the trains would be running by Christmas, 1969 that he would resign as MBTA general manager if Quincy residents were still waiting for the first train to put in an appearance after that date.

Mayor McIntyre, however, had this observation last night: "It appears more likely than not, Mr. Cusick will be resigning Christmas Day, 1969."

The Mayor said his own feeling is that the Quincy line will not be in operation before "the early part of 1970."

No rails for the line have yet reached Quincy.

The Neponset Bridge has been constructed and the over-passes between Savin Hill and Columbia, South Boston are now being built.

In Quincy, the Dimmock St. bridge is almost completed. Yet to be constructed are the Adams St., and Beale St. bridges and the Granite St. overpass.

A possible hassle over relocating the North Quincy station could have been a critical setback in bringing mass transportation back to Quincy. In addition to forcing the taking of the 22 homes.

"We appreciate the cooperation of the North Quincy merchants in agreeing to the relocation of the station site," said Mayor McIntyre. "They considered the wishes of the residents and saving these homes by agreeing to a change in the original plan."

City Council To Hear Incinerator Proposal

construction cost of such a facility at "around $2 million."

Mayor McIntyre's own advisory committee is expected to make the trip into Greenwich for a first hand look at the operation there. Members include Fire Chief Edward F. Barry, Public Works Commr. John M. Browne, Health Commr. John T. Foley and City Engineer Henry F. Niles.

Councilor McDonald said his committee will also explore the new compaction method of refuse disposal.

Japan, he said, has developed a giant press that reduces volume by 90 per cent, crushing refuse and garbage into bales. The bales can then be dipped into asphalt, concrete or steel sealants and used for road ballast or building blocks.

"This method seems quite attractive and deserves a look at," said McDonald.

He noted an estimated $25 million will be spent in the U.S. this year just to curb littering and predilets.

"There is no doubt this generation will spend billions of dollars to dispose of solid waste. It will demand the full cooperation of federal, state, county and local government along with that of private enterprise and the public to solve this mounting problem."

Meanwhile, McDonald's committee has before it a communication from Rep. Joseph E. Brett urging an incinerator be constructed in the Hardwick Quarry area of West Quincy.

This is the same site recommended in 1959 by the council incinerator study committee headed by Brett. The former councilor noted the site is the geographical center of the city and would cut down trucking costs. And he added:

"In view of the nine years lapse since the report (committee's), the proposal for the incinerator is as sound today as it was in 1959 and the need for action now definitely more urgent."

Rev. and Mrs. Leland Leave For New Duties

New administrative duties will be taken over by the Rev. Harold G. Leland and Mrs. Leland of Wollaston Oct. 1 at WALKER MISSIONARY HOMES in Auburndale.

The Rev. Mr. Leland will resign his pastoral duties at the Wollaston Congregational Church after 10 years of service next Monday.

In their new capacity, The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Leland will oversee the administration of two large buildings housing 25 missionaries and buildings housing five individual families.

The missionary homes, under the jurisdiction of the United Church of Christ, houses missionaries that are on leave of their foreign missionary duties as well as those of the missionary field who have resigned their posts.

A pulpit committee, composed of the executive committee of the Wollaston Congregational Church and another 10 members elected from the general church membership, are in the process of selecting an interim minister to replace the Rev. Mr. Leland. The executive committee will also present recommendations to the general church membership to select a permanent minister.

Election Spotlight On Third Norfolk

In the wake of a dull primary ballot, election interest in Quincy centers on the upcoming four-way battle for the two legislative vacancies in the Third Norfolk District.

Seeking re-election after scoring automatic primary ballot victories are opposition incumbents Rep. Walther J. Hannon, Republican and Democratic Rep. Joseph E. Brett.

Brett was outpolled by 52 votes in a strong showing by his running mate, City Council president J. Vincent Smyth.

Hannon and Whitman advanced into the election finals with Republicans giving Hannon a 71-vote edge, 973 to 902.

Smyth attributed his ticket-topping performance to an intensive "door to door" campaign which produced 2,361 votes.

In the single Quincy legislative contest, Ward 2 City Councillor Clifford H. Marshall romped to an automatic election victory in outpolling four opponents combined. Their totals fell 313 votes short of matching the 1048 rolled up by the 36-year old Marshall making his first state-wide election bid a winning one. Republicans failed to put a nominee on the election ballot.

Two other City Councilmen scored significant successes in the nomination battles. Councilman-at-large George B. MacDonald polled 19,665 votes to take second spot behind incumbent Norfolk County Commissioner James J. Collins of Milton.

THIRD NORFOLK DISTRICT Primary winners who will seek the two legislative seats from Wards 4, 5 and 6 in the November elections are, left to right, Rep. Joseph E. Brett and J. Vincent Smyth, Democrats, and Rep. Walter J. Hannon and Vernon C.M. Whitman, Republicans. The contest is the only one in the three Quincy districts slated for November. The candidates had no opposition on the Primary ballot.

Collins and MacDonald will face Republican nominees James R. Lombard of Dedham and former Quincy registrar of voters Vincent R. Nobile, who polled 10,090 votes in the 27 town, plus Quincy district. The four contenders will vie for a four-year Commission seat.

Only 19.2 percent of Quincy's 44,061 voters turned out for the mainly non-competitive primary.

Spontaneous support is mounting in the city for the appointment of North Quincy High School Principal John W. Walsh as the new superintendent of schools.

Supt. Robert E. Pruitt departs Nov. 30 to become deputy director of the division of comprehensive and vocational research and chief of instructional materials and practices branch of the U.S. Office of Education. That's a longtitle and a big job.

Walsh, who has moved up through the ranks starting as a teacher at Point Junior High in the mid '30's, is one of the most respected and competent educators in the city. Whether or not he is interested in the superintendent's post is not definitely known. But the support for him is there, quite definitely.

STORK REPORT: City Councilor Clifford H. Marshall and his attractive wife, Louise, state Democratic committeewoman, are expecting their fourth little constituent in December. They now have three sons, Clifford, 5, Michael, 3 ½ and Paul, 2. (You know what they're hoping for.)

*****

LONG SERVICE DEPT: Henry Sullivan of Wollaston will be installed next month for his 35th year as chaplain of Cyril P. Morrissette Legion Post in West Quincy.

Leo J. Hannon, the realtor, is the newest member of the "Hundred Club of Massachusetts" Quincy contingent. The club's motto is "We Care For Those Who Care For Us." The Quincy group and the more than 500 members throughout the state live up to it by deed. They are dedicated to financially aiding families of local police and firefighters, state troopers and registry of motor vehicles inspectors killed in the line of duty. Members have donated more than $200,000 to widows and children of these public service heroes.

George Swartz, Boston insurance agent and Middlesex County Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick co-founded the club eight years ago. The Quincy group, numbering 26 members, was organized by Ernest J. Montilio, well known Quincy baker, and Denis J. Donoghue, co-owner of Sherry's restaurant.

*****

Ken, of course, grew up in North Quincy, was a member of that class, and got his radio-TV start at Quincy station WJDA.

CONGRATULATIONS: Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, formerly with the South Shore Mental Health Center, has been named Director of Pupil Personnel Services for the Quincy School Department. She has a Ph.D. degree in psychology from Boston University where she was an honor student and Phi Beta Kappa.

*****

REMINDER: "Italian Night", one of the most popular events of the year at Quincy Lodge of Elks, is set for Oct. 11. It's a "by reservations only" affair. Better get yours now, reminds Chairman Angelo M. Papale. The Italian food - and plenty of it - will be whipped up by Frank Basile who's as good a chef as he was a baseball manager. And you remember how good the Braintree White Sox were!

Rev. John J. McMahon
St. Mary's Church

"Pathways" will be a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen. Our first guest columnist is the Rev. Fr. John J. McMahon of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Welcome, Henry and "The Quincy Sun!" I am sure everyone is pleased with your decision to start another newspaper in Quincy especially since you intend to feature local news. Don't neglect West Quincy and from where I sit I would say you won't be able to put us aside. West Quincy should have some interesting history and some squabbles in the next few years.

We pray your venture will be a highly successful one. May Saint Francis de Sales, the patron saint of newspapers, guide you with a sense of responsibility to the community. May he help you to tell it like it is.

I give you the blessing Pope Clement gave to St. Francis: "Drink, my son, from your 'istern, and from your living well-spung; may your waters issue forth, and may they become public fountains where the world may quench its thirst." God be with you!

I was born and brought up in Brockton. In my high school days Quincy and Brockton were great sports rivals. In football, as I remember, we always trimmed Quincy. The only game we lost was a 3 to 0 when one of Quincy's heroes kicked a field goal. That was a sad day in Brockton. I believe that Quincy hero was named Nichols. In basketball it was a different story. The one player from Quincy who stands out in my memory is Greenhalgh. He had an eye like a hawk and could sink a basket from any spot on the floor.

My gang liked boxing and no one more than myself. We followed boxing every where until the 1940's when it so deteriorated that we got disgusted. We felt many times that we could take on some of these headliners all on the same night and dispose of them without any trouble. I might have ended up a punch drunk fighter but I couldn't take a punch on the nose or a blow to the breadbasket. No one knew that but I did and that was enough. Prudence is the better part of valor.

In the 1920's amateur boxing was popular. Two of my favorite boxers were Quincy-ites; John Bacon and Ring Larson. It is pathetic when you compare the talent of these two with those who pass as fighters today.

Hey, how did I get off on this reminiscing? What I had in mind was to mention that Brockton had a newspaper and still has -- called the "Enterprise." This paper printed all the local news -- news that seemed so insignificant in a world of great events -- but it pleased us, kept us informed about our city and neighborhoods, and we loved to see our name in print. I can remember many a night walking down Main Street at midnight to drop in a story about our basketball game that night. Parishioners were interested in how we made out; the "Enterprise" knew that and cooperated. It made everyone happy and engendered good feelings. Even now I still enjoy scanning this paper and reading about high school classmates -- how one classmate is working for a transportation company; another is retiring from the post-office. Retiring? and I'm only starting. Woee is me.

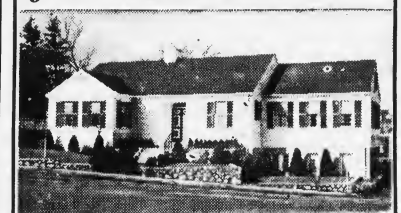

"Hey, Father, I thought you were going to write about religion! How about religion?"

"I'm all for it!"
As we look around us today many are concerned about the lack of respect for authority. Even as I am writing this, three policemen are being interviewed on television in California. All three of them mention how every day they are subjected to vile insults. They are called "pigs" or some other nasty name unfit to say or print. As one of them said, "You'd think we were the criminals -- that we are at fault." Rejection of obedience and respect for authority is found everywhere -- in the family, in the school system, in government, and even in the church. Everyone is an authority on everything and so long as he can "satisfy" his own conscience, he is moral and right. It reminds me of the character in "Alice in Wonderland" who kept saying, "I say it once, I say it twice, I say it three; it must be so!"

It pleased me no end when Pope Paul came out so strongly as he did in his letter on birth control -- or is it birth prevention? It was good to see a leader conscious of his authority, aware that his word demanded respect, speak out boldly. God bless him! Many didn't like it.

And so, since everyone is an authority -- whether he be butcher, baker, or an all-knowing columnist -- many rejected vehemently this voice of authority, feeling they should have been consulted. But as someone has said or written: "Have people forgotten what happened when Pontius Pilate left a decision to the lady?"

Mayor McIntyre To Crown 'Little Miss N. Quincy' Oct. 18

Three finalists have been selected by the North Quincy Board of Trade for the "Little North Quincy" contest. They are Martha Gallagher, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher of 127 Elliot Avenue; Pattie Ann Ridlen, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ridlen of Mr. and Mrs. John Ridlen Beth Golden, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Golden of 47 Waterston Avenue.

The finalists were selected by a panel of Judges all members of the Quincy Board of Trade and Bernard Moore, executive director of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

"Little Miss North Quincy," is to be crowned by Mayor James R. McIntyre, will be selected by the majority of votes cast by the general public. Announcement of the winner will be made October 18 at 11 a.m.

The contest is being held in conjunction with the third annual North Quincy Board of Trade Mardi Gras Sidewalk Sale to be held in the Norfolk Downs Section of the city October 18 and October 19.

The winner of the "Little Miss North Quincy" contest will receive various gifts from the merchants of the Norfolk Downs Shopping area. The general public may cast their votes at all establishments in the shopping area through October 18.

Honorable mention in the contest have been awarded to: Michelle Romano of 64 Vane Street; Teresa Larkin of 79 Billings Street; Kristen McGuin of 138 Utica Street; Jeanne Raguso of 54 Harvey Street; Patricia McKinnon of 40 Billings Street; Cheryl Ann Collins of 53 Arnold Street; Christine Cahill of 18 West Elm Avenue; Patricia Ann Rochelle of 870 East Squantum Street; Jeanne Crammon of 93 Safford Street; Tara Mahoney of 21 Clark Street; Kristine Hayes of 179 Safford Street; Laura Grande of 127 Earham Avenue; Lisa Iviszki of 1493 Furnace Brook Parkway and Rina DeAngelo of 18 Pierce Street.

If you're a happy bride setting out to furnish her first nest, or a cozy housewife looking for a slipcover to put on that old club chair . . . you're in for a very nice surprise when you start shopping.

You'll probably think that you're on the wrong floor when you see what's happening in the furniture, fabric and rug departments. All the greys and browns so popular in clothes are popping up in home fashions. One teenage bride I know is even making herself a grey flannel hostess skirt to match her sofa! And she'll be matching her husband's suit at the same time.

Wool Carpets Outstanding
Carpets, in particular, are a treat to see. Some of the prettiest are in time-tested wool which is now available at very moderate prices . . . even in woolmark quality. The carpet mills tell me that sheep come in a variety of shades — oatmeal, pewter, white, cocoa and of course black — and the mills take the natural fleece, undyed, to make these new neutrals. They certainly do add warmth to modern steel and glass furniture.

As for other colors, you'll see very new, very pale pastel tones to go with formal furniture, and the popular golds and greens are perfect for Early American, Mediterranean and traditional English.

Oranges, reds, perky yellows and blues, all the way from mist to navy, are important, too. Just about the only color missing, to the disappointment of a young friend of mine, is purple. But maybe if she asks for it in enough stores, she can start her own trend!

Freeze A Cheese Pie

Tuck a Frosty Cheese Pie into the freezer a few days ahead of an important dinner party and there'll be one less item to worry about on the big day. The filling, which you make with cream cheese, eggs, and Dream Whip Whipped Topping Mix, goes into an easy no-bake crumb crust. The rich texture of the pie is glamorous all by itself, or you can add a sauce of canned cherry pie filling as an extra fillip.

Frosty Cheese Pie

- |  |                                    |
|--|------------------------------------|
| 1 1/4 cups fine graham cracker crumbs          | Dash of salt                       |
| 2 tablespoons sugar                            | 2 eggs                             |
| 1/2 cup butter, melted                         | 1 teaspoon vanilla                 |
| 2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened | 1 cup less 2 tablespoons cold milk |
| 1/2 cup sugar                                  | 1 envelope whipped topping mix     |

Combine graham cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar, and the melted butter in a 9-inch pie pan. Press mixture over bottom and sides of pan. Chill 1 hour. Blend cream cheese, 1/2 cup sugar, and the salt together until smooth. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add vanilla; beat until smooth. Combine milk and whipped topping mix in deep narrow bottom bowl; blend thoroughly. Whip as directed on package. Measure 2 cups topping and blend into cream cheese mixture. (Any remaining topping may be stored in refrigerator for use on other desserts.) Pour into chilled crust. Freeze at least 3 to 4 hours. Makes 8 servings.

Note: Before cutting, dip pie pan briefly in hot water to loosen crust from pan.

Ever since the Spaniards conquered the Aztecs in Mexico in 1519, Mexican food has been an exciting amalgam of both worlds of cooking. The resulting style is unusually delicious and distinctive, with an appealing character unlike food anywhere else in the world.

Mexican Foods Delight Fair-goers

Right now, many Americans are savoring Mexican foods during their visit to HemisFair, the San Antonio World's Fair. But even if you don't plan to visit Texas this year, you can serve some of the very same Mexican foods that fair-goers are enjoying. At the fair's International Foods Restaurant, the Mexican portion of the menu consists of many the same Patio Mexican Foods you can buy in the frozen food section of your supermarket.

Mexican Medley: Tortillas, Tacos, Tamales, Enchiladas

Tortillas, the mainstay of the Mexican diet, make excellent party hors d'oeuvres. Frozen in easy boil-bags, tortillas may be served plain, filled with chili or beans, quartered and wrapped around cocktail franks or used with a variety of tempting dips. Frozen tacos, tamales and enchiladas simply need to be heated before serving, and each makes an excellent change-of-pace main course. For an easy-to-prepare meal, accompany your Mexican dish with a crisp lettuce and onion salad and an iced beverage. Wind up the meal with a chocolate dessert, a Mexican favorite, and you're bound to have the family asking for a repeat performance soon.

Quincy At Brockton

Presidents Feature Faster Line And Better Backs

QUINCY HIGH STAWLWARTS—Taking the football pledge for a Saturday victory over Brockton with Quincy Coach Hank Conroy are, Steve McDevitt and Rod Burrows. McDevitt will see duty at offensive quarterback and Burrows is returning to a line post. Quincy is expected to feature a strong passing game.

Hank Would Like Sailors' Q-Back

When Quincy's football team takes to the field this fall, Coach Hank Conroy cannot be faulted if he wishes he had Scituate's quarterback with him.

The Scituate quarterback is Hank's son, Mark, who is following in his dad's footsteps and doing a terrific job of it.

Hank was a standout quarterback for Quincy in the 1940's and Mark will be one of the top quarterbacks in the Old Colony League this fall.

Last season he handled the ball flawlessly in sparking the Sailors to the Old Colony League championship, concentrated mainly on the team's running game but proved he can pass well when he has to, and he kicked 19 extra point conversions in 22 tries.

His coach, John "Butch" Mahoney, a former North Quincy backfield standout, says he will have Mark kicking a few field goals this season if the opportunity presents itself.

Quincy had a 3-6 record (2-5 in the Greater Boston League) last year but Coach Hank Conroy insists the Presidents had a "fine team but that was the strongest Greater Boston League I can remember."

Quincy opens its season Saturday with a non-league game at Brockton at 10:30 a.m. and, although he lost 30 seniors from the varsity and junior varsity squads last year, Conroy says his line will be faster and his running backs better. He has high hopes of improving on last season's record.

Conroy has just about decided upon his starting offensive team for Saturday's opener and the line, averaging about 190, will probably include Ed Sigliano, 195, who saw considerable action a year ago, at center; Rod Burrows, 185, a returning starter, and Rich Speranzo, 190, a veteran, or Larry Burns, at the guards; Ed Reynolds, 190, a veteran, and Steve Tappen, 185, a second stringer in 1967, at tackle, and Dick Menchi, 180, a promising sophomore, and Dick Kenney, up from the jayvees, at end.

Steve McDevitt, who played on defense last fall, will start at quarterback with Ken Prouty, a veteran who plays both ways, and Steve Carrera, another varsity returnee, at the halfbacks and either Dick Petrilli, a 1967 second stringer, or John Molla, another veteran, at fullback.

"This gives us a fast offensive team with pretty good experience and good size," Conroy said. "The backs have fair size with Petrilli going 190, McDevitt 180, Prouty and Carrera 175 each and Molla about 165."

Conroy plans to platoon a good deal and has a number of boys who will play regularly on defense. Steve Shapiro, 220, and Cliff Mattson, 200, will be at tackle, with Paul Hand playing in the middles, Ted Meyer, 205, at end, Dennis Bogan, who will also back up McDevitt at quarterback on offense, will also play in the middle. Joe McGuire, 195, at tackle, Bill Contino, 190, and Bill Kelley, interior line, Dennis Brien, 170, and Steve Fellino, defensive ends.

Other defensive players include Joe Finiera and Pat Grimes, backs, Chuck Walters, end, Tom Daley, John Bonfiglioli, Rick Pettiti and Peter Bucalus, who at 5-2 and 130 pounds is what his coach calls "a tough little guy with plenty of guts—he'll play plenty despite his size."

Other leading hopes include Sieve Gavin, Bill Weed, Bill McDonald, Dennis Hines, Jerry Quintiliani, Steve Sellers, John Luongo, Bob Austin, Jim McPherson, Mike Della Barba, Fred Howard, Lance Peterson, John Burrows, Mel Palizi, Tom Curran, Ken Ryan, Fred McGregor, Roy Smith, Jim Cutting, Ed Petrilli and Paul Picarski.

"Paul is the third Picarski I've had and everyone has been a fine line backer," the Presidents' coach explained.

"We have more experience this year in the line and I have a lot of faith in these backs, McDevitt, whose varsity service has been almost entirely on defense, can pass well and I expect to pass a good deal. However, we run more this year. Last season passing made up the bulk of our offense."

This is Conroy's fourth year as Quincy coach and he noted he has reached a goal he sought when he took over four years ago.

"We now have built up our squad so that we have separate varsity, junior varsity and sophomore teams," he pointed out. "They are all separate and distinct groups. This gives the younger players a chance to play a full schedule and gain valuable game experience."

Conroy is very high on his assistant coaches, Gene Macomber, offensive coach, Bud Mosher, offensive line; Tony Day, defensive line, and Dave Burke who, in addition to assisting with the varsity, handles the jayvees and sophoms.

"They are all very hard working and dedicated coaches who deserve a lot of credit for whatever success we have," Conroy said. In addition to its Greater Boston League schedule, Quincy plays Brockton and Weymouth, both traditional rivals.

North Quincy Host To Revere

Raiders' Hopes Rest Chiefly On Healthy Quarterback

Two years ago North Quincy team won its first Greater Boston League Football Championship with a 9-0 record. Last year, with their ace quarterback sidelined for five games, the Raiders compiled a 6-3 record.

With a good nucleus of veterans and one of the biggest teams in Coach Carl Leone's eighty-year coaching regime, the veteran coach hopes to do at least as well this season.

When the Raiders open their season Saturday against Revere in a 1:30 P.M. game at Quincy Veterans Stadium, they will have a veteran backfield and a big, aggressive line.

"Our success will depend to a large extent on our quarterback, Bob Sleeth," Leone said. "Last year he was sidelined for five games and we lost three of them. He has never played in a losing game since the seventh grade. If he stays healthy we should have a good season."

Leone is grooming a sophomore, Paul Lippens, to play behind Sleeth.

North lost two fine halfbacks, Tom Kelly and Bob Walker, through graduation, but has two excellent replacements in Don Polver and Larry Bray, who saw considerable service in 1967.

Don Meyer is expected to take good care of the full back slot, rounding out a fast and versatile backfield. Sleeth is an excellent passer and the Raiders will do plenty of passing this fall.

Other backs working hard for starting positions are Bob Swirbalus, Joe Lane, Mark Riley, and Jim Broderick.

The line includes Steve Dieslo, a 245-pound two-year veteran who, in his coach's words "is fast for his size and tough."

The top guard hopefuls are

Tom Perrin, Jack Hemphill, and Ken Collieran, all veterans.

Battling for tackle spots are Whitey Bartelson, John Holleran, 230 pound Art McIver and Steve LeShane, a three-year vet who rates high in the North picture.

At end, Leone has Steve Poore, Lou Trubiano and Jerry Mulcahy, all veterans, and a promising sophomore, Dan Zink. "Our line, one of my biggest, will average about 195 pounds," Carl said. "The backs are small but fast and versatile."

The probable starting offensive lineup for Saturday's opener includes Poore and Trubiano at end, Bartelson and McIver at tackle, Hemphill and Perrin or Larry Munson, guards, Dieslo center, Sleeth quarterback, Polver and Bray halfbacks and Meyer fullback.

Among those who will play regularly on defense are Jay Connerty, Broderick and Lane as cornerbacks, Holleran, Mulcahy and Collieran in the line.

"We had a turnout of about 90 and I think we will have strong junior varsity and sophomore teams," Leone said. "We have separate Junior varsity and soph teams which play full schedules. We really have an excellent program here and the North Quincy spirit is wonderful, just as it always has been."

In addition to its Greater Boston League schedule, North plays Lynn English and Boston Tech.

Academies Examination Oct. 5

The Civil Service designation examination for admission to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, and U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs will be held, Oct. 5.

All those interested in participating in this examination should contact James A. Burke, 201 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 no later than Sept. 30.

The time and place of the examination will be announced as soon as they are known.

GRIDIRON ACES READY-Rating high in Coach Carl Leone's plans for the 1968 season is this veteran Raider quartet. Looking fit, are Steve LeShane, Don Meyer, Bob Sleeth, Jay Connerty with Leone. The club is seeking to better its 6-3 mark of last season.

NO Stars Keys At NU, Harvard

Two former North Quincy football standouts will be key performers for their respective college teams this fall.

Bill Curran, captain of the Northeastern University team and one of the Huskies' best runners in years, will spark their attack and, despite the fact he sat out several games with an injury in 1967, he is given an excellent chance to break Bob Cappadona's records.

Bill had a fantastic sophomore season and got off to another great start last fall until being injured. Despite his loss, Joe Zabliski's Huskies had another outstanding season with a 7-1 record.

Zabliski, who is beginning his 21st season as Northeastern coach, says Curran is one of the finest runners he has ever coached.

Dick Varney, who also excelled at North, has earned a starting end berth on the Harvard Varsity, although only a sophomore. Dick caught a touchdown pass in a recent scrimmage against New Hampshire.

Following a brilliant career at North, Dick starred at Deerfield Academy.

He is also a stellar catcher in baseball and passed up several large bonus offers, preferring to go to college. He nearly signed with Oakland A's scout Billy Enos of Cohasset.

USS Butte passes through Fore River Bridge for sea trial

USS Butte Takes First At-Sea Trial Off Coast

The United States Navy ammunition ship BUTTE left General Dynamics shipyard at dawn Tuesday to conduct her first at-sea trials off the coast of Massachusetts.

The 18,000-ton vessel was operated by 300 personnel from the Quincy division of General Dynamics during the day-long testing of ship's systems and equipment designed to supply combatant ships with ammunition, missiles and other supplies while underway.

USS BUTTE is the second of a new class of Navy supply vessel built by the Quincy division. The first, USS KILAUEA, was delivered to the Navy in June.

Capt. Wallace M. Riggs, USN, prospective commanding officer of USS BUTTE, and 20 other Navy officers and crewmen were aboard the 564-foot ship as observers.

Senior representative of General Dynamics on the trial were Robert V. Lauey of Cohasset corporate vice president and general manager of the shipyard, Edward L. Reese of Marshfield Hills was trials director.

Construction of USS BUTTE was started July 21, 1966. She and USS KILAUEA were christened in a dual ceremony Aug. 9, 1967. Mrs. Ellen Proxmire, wife of U.S. Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, was the Butte's sponsor.

JWV To Cite Past Commanders

The 12th annual Quincy JWV Past Commanders breakfast will be held at the Jewish Community Center, in the auditorium, Sunday morning at 9:30.

Past Commander Nate Goldberg will be honored. Also cited will be Mr. "X" for 1968, and this year the Past Commander of Quincy post, Irving Isaacson will be honored.

P.C. Abe Belofsky will serve as master of ceremonies and present the award to Nathan Goldberg. P.C. Al Kofman will present the Mr. "X" award to Mr. Isaacson.

Program arrangements are being made by P.C. Al Kofman, P.C. Abe Belofsky, P.C. Louis Simons, P.C. Dave Minkofsky, P.C. Ben Rudner, Comdr. Sid Tallen, Sr. Vice Comdr. George Swartz, Jr. Vice Dave Gan, Ralph Pauli, Daniel Lubarsky. Chief chef will be Joe Yanoff.

The City Council is renewing plans to open a direct line of communication with Quincy's youth so that they may be "recognized and heard" as a vital segment of the community.

The City Council is renewing plans to open a direct line of communication with Quincy's youth so that they may be "recognized and heard" as a vital segment of the community.

Council President J. Vincent Smyth, the man behind the move, called it "a must" to eliminate misunderstanding between the generation and to help youngsters face the ominous problems and temptations confronting them today.

He cited the breakdown in law and order, violence in the streets and the increase in drug use throughout the U.S. as threats to the foundation of this nation.

"Quincy," Smyth said last night, "is not an island. All these problems affect and threaten us. We need our youth with us to fight them together."

The council president would establish the line of communication through the creation of a 10-member Quincy Youth Council comprising students attending North and Quincy High Schools and Quincy residents going to parochial or private high schools outside of the city.

The 10 members would be elected by fellow students and in turn would elect their own council president.

The Youth Council would attend City Council meetings to better understand the process and functions of city government. The members would also meet with the City Council to discuss problems affecting Quincy's youth.

"We want them to come and talk to us so there won't be any

Indisputably, Smyth said, "And when there are problems we want them to tell us about them so that we can help do something about them."

Smyth said Councilor Albert R. Barilaro, vice-chairman of the City Council's Youth Committee, will soon meet with committee members to draw up guidelines for the election of candidates to the Youth Council.

Smith first proposed the creation of the Youth Council when he took over as City Council president last January. By early June it was in the process of being organized.

"But," noted Smyth, "it was too late in the school year to do it in the proper manner. There was confusion and

Only Two Days Left To Register To Vote

Time is rapidly running out if you haven't yet registered to vote in the Nov. 5th Presidential election.

Deadline is 10 p.m. Saturday night, City Clerk John M. Gillis advised Quincy residents in a reminder issued last night.

You may register today and tomorrow, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at City Hall.

There are also three special registration sessions scheduled. Two are tonight, 7 to 9 p.m., at the American Legion Building, Beale St., and the Quincy School, Newbury Ave.

The third and last one will be an all-day session Saturday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at City Hall II.

Quincy's total registration enrollment is now 44,061.

Of that number, 21,469 are Democrats, 10,871 Republicans and 11,721 Independents.

Is your name among them?

Air Pollution Hearing Tuesday In Quincy Point

Quincy Point residents will have the opportunity next Tuesday night to register complaints about air pollution and soot nuisance in that area.

The Ward 2 Civic Association will hold a public meeting on the problem at 8 p.m. at Fore River Clubhouse. President Theodore DeRistofaro announced last night.

A representative from the office of Frank J. Rematch, chief of the Metropolitan Air Pollution Control District, will attend the meeting to hear specific complaints from residents. DeRistofaro said

Thank You

The initial response to The Quincy Sun has been most gratifying. We thought Quincy was the ideal community for our new weekly newspaper. You are proving us right.

As soon as complimentary copies of the first issue were delivered to homes in the mail last Thursday, our phones started ringing. And they haven't stopped since.

To us, it's the prettiest music we've ever heard.

Typical reaction: "We like our Quincy Sun. It's full of Quincy news—we like the format."

Many asked to be placed on the paid subscription list. They wanted to be sure of their copy every week.

The mailman, who seemed to have a little trouble finding us before the first issue came out, no longer has that problem. He's in every morning with plenty of mail—more subscriptions, news items, and best wishes.

Incidentally, our circulation is now outside as well as inside Quincy. Former Quincy residents living in Weymouth, Braintree, Hingham, Milton and Hanson are already aboard as paid subscribers.

And, we even have readers in California and Kentucky. Only one in each of those two states, really, but it's nice to have them. They are also former Quincy residents who want to keep abreast of what is going on back home.

We also have another reader in Washington, D.C.

Callers and writers both said they liked our special columns: Dr. Charles Djerf's "House Call"; "Pathways" written by Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church (all Quincy clergymen are being invited to share that column); Congressman James A. Burke's "Washington Report" and "Sunbeams."

We have plans to soon add more columns and other features we are sure you will enjoy.

Of course, we had a few complaints, too. Very few and very mild. Like the nice lady who called to say she loves to look at furniture ads and we didn't have one. She'll be happy to see that's been taken care of in this issue. The Quincy Sun, as we said last week, is a weekly community oriented newspaper with emphasis on Quincy news. That's why we call it "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper."

We invite organizations and individuals to submit news items and assure you no item will be too small to print. If it is of interest to you, it is of interest to us.

Incidentally, if you have a bride-to-be in your home, send us her picture. You will like the way it reproduces in our off-set publishing process. And don't forget pictures of that new baby. Naturally, there is no charge for printing them.

Your calls and letters are most appreciated and encouraging.

We sincerely say "Thank You" for welcoming us into your homes.

Rate Increase Starts Oct. 19 For Parcel Post

Parcel post rate increases averaging ten to fifteen cents per package will go into effect on October 19 according to Quincy P.O. Supt., William Monahan.

At the same time rates will increase for catalogs and similar printed advertising matter in bound form having 24 or more pages at least 22 of which are printed weighing 16 ounces or more, but not exceeding 10 pounds whether mailed singly or in bulk.

The new rates, according to Supt. Monahan, were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission on July 24, 1968.

Copies of the new rates may be obtained at all local postoffices within the Boston Postal District.

Wollaston UCT To Host Grand Council Visit

Wollaston Council of United Commercial Travelers will be host for the 50th annual Grand Counselor's Visitation Nov. 3 at Quincy Masonic Temple. Special guests will be the grand officers of the New England District.

The program will be highlighted by entertainment preceded by a banquet.

Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr., a member of the local council, was elected supreme conductor at the annual convention of the Supreme Council last summer. Mr. Fallon will become the supreme counselor of the order in 1970. This will include all councils throughout the United States and Canada.

The Quincy Sun assumes no financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertisements but will reprint that part of an advertisement in which the typographical error occurs.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

(The following is written by Dr. David Goodman, Quincy obstetrician, as guest columnist for Dr. Charles Djerf.)

The most significant advance in the field of obstetrics within recent years is the development of Rhogam (Rhogam stands for Rh negative Gamma Globulin manufactured by Ortho products.) This product, now available in hospitals, should soon help to eliminate Hemolytic disease of the newborn.

Understanding of Hemolytic disease of the newborn also known as Erythroblastosis, or the Rh disease, was influenced mainly by the work of Levine in 1941. He showed that a factor known as the Rh (since the laboratory work was done on the Rhesus monkey) was found in 85% of the population and absent in 15%. Those with the factor are called Rh positive; those without Rh negative. A baby born to an Rh negative mother and father cannot develop the disease.

Due to the monumental discoveries of Levine and others it is now generally known that the Rh negative woman whose husband is Rh positive may have a child who inherits the father's Rh positive blood type and that the baby may be affected by the Hemolytic disease. The disease comes about because small amounts of the baby's blood passes into the mother's blood stream at the time of delivery or miscarriage and may sensitize the mother's blood to the Rh factor.

Sensitization is a bodily defense against foreign substances and is the body's mechanism of producing immunity or protection against disease. In the case of an Rh negative mother this sensitization substance may act to destroy the red blood cells of a subsequent unborn Rh positive child and lead to the hemolytic disease. The red cells when destroyed result in marked anemia, jaundice and often in heart failure and brain damage.

Hemolytic disease is found in only one per cent of all births. In only about five percent of all pregnant Rh negative women does Rh sensitization occur. Because sensitization is necessary before the disease can occur, the disease is rarely found on the first born unless the mother has been transfused with Rh positive blood or had a miscarriage.

Treatment of Rh hemolytic disease has been far from satisfactory. Some of the measure used such as intruterine transfusion of the baby have been a tribute to the ingenuity and the technical proficiency of modern medicine. Exchange transfusion of the newborn affected with this hemolytic disease has saved many children but it is a difficult and dangerous procedure even in skilled hands.

Now prevention of the disease is possible through the use of Rhogam. This must be given before sensitization takes place. Rhogam contains Rh anti-bodies and is given to the mother by injection within 72 hours after delivery. It acts by neutralizing any Rh positive cells which have entered the mother's blood stream at the time of the delivery or miscarriage. This injection provides virtually complete protection against Hemolytic disease in subsequent pregnancies by preventing the mother's blood from producing her own permanent antibodies.

Although the time honored treatment of replacement transfusion still offers the only hope for mothers already sensitized, the ready availability of Rhogam should soon eliminate further cases of sensitization of the mother and the serious hemolytic disease of the newborn will become a memory.

In brief, Rhogam given to an Rh negative mother within 72 hours of her delivery, removes the substance in her blood which reacts to destroy the blood cells of her subsequent unborn child. It is a true landmark in medical progress only possible through the kind of research that makes it possible to recognize the course and development of disease. Preventive medicine is the major road to improve the health of man.

Twelve boys were presented jackets as the highlight of the 19th annual awards banquet of the Koch Club North Quincy District boys baseball and girls softball leagues.

More than 560 parents and youths attended the recent event at North Quincy High School.

The 12 boys were presented the jackets by Richard J. Koch, club founder and director, for graduating from the Koch Club league system. The boys are all 13 and most of them have been playing in the various divisions since age 5 and 6.

The 12 are: Frank Alicrandi, Ralph Donofrio, Charles Graham, Leonard Kyle, Frank Masciulli, Robert McCormick, Bruce Olson, Redmond Raux, Frank Schuler, Brian Stack, Donald Timmins, and Bruce Vidito.

Trophies were presented to the dodgers, winner of the Boys Senior Division, the Panthers, Intermediate Division champions and to the Junior Division for perfect attendance.

Fifty Cadet Division members, aged 5 and 6, and members of four girls teams received certificates.

At the 7th annual dinner of the Koch Club's Broad Meadows District, held earlier, 12 boys were also presented jackets by Anthony T. Delmonico, district director. More than 410 persons attended.

The 12 honored at that dinner were:

Robert Anastasi, Pat Bohan, Arthur Connolly, Gerry Fanning, Douglas Holmes, Robert Horton, Donald Lankkanen, Joseph Lupo, Robert Lutz, Richardson Peterson, Charles Squatrito and John Vlassakis.

The Broad Meadows District which defeated the North Quincy District 6-to-5 for the Koch Club City Championship for the second year in a row, was presented the James Barry Memorial Trophy. The trophy is awarded to the city champion in memory of the late club charter member.

Expanded Quincy Programs Benefit Victims Of Palsy

Expanded services and programs are now underway in Quincy facilities for cerebral palsied of all ages under the agency direction of the Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Area, Inc.

Agency programs have resumed full operation for the coming year. Dr. Charles D. Merrill, organization president, announced.

The Cerebral Palsy Clinic which is located at the John F. Kennedy Health Center in Quincy is under the direction of Dr. David Karp, a noted pediatrician in Quincy. A Program Coordinator-Social Worker coordinates the activities of the Clinic which include the services of speech, physical and occupational therapy. A battery of consultants provide evaluations in physical medicine, orthopedics, speech and hearing and ophthalmology.

Dr. Merrill said the Adult Program will meet on Wednesday evenings at the Furnace Brook School from 7:00 to 10:00. Mrs. Robert Daley who is Supervisor of the class is the Recording Secretary of the organization and also a member of the Board of Directors.

This year more than 50 cerebral palsied handicapped adults will participate in many social, educational and recreational activities that are offered through the Adult Class.

The Cerebral Palsy Class at Furnace Brook School for children of school age will continue under the supervision of Mrs. Beatrice McHale who has headed the class for the past thirteen years. The Quincy School System had to split this class into two groups because of the ever expanding need for educational opportunities for the physically handicapped.

Mrs. Martha Firth is heading the newly created class for cerebral palsied and physically handicapped at the Pollard School in Quincy Point.

Of major interest, according to Dr. Merrill, is the recent passage of new legislation which will make it mandatory to establish special classes for the physically handicapped. This law, which was submitted by Quincy Mayor and State Senator James R. McIntyre and Representative Joseph F. Brett, was approved by Governor Volpe on July 8 and will relieve the pressure on the Quincy School System which has been accepting children from surrounding communities.

Of major importance is the new location of the Nursery School which has moved to the Trinity Episcopal Church, 241 Broad Street, Weymouth. The new facility is spacious and will permit an expansion of activities relating to early childhood education. The Cerebral Palsy Community Clinical Nursery School is affiliated with the South Shore Mental Health Center which provides educational consultants and supportive services to the teacher and staff.

Anyone who is interested in participating in any of the programs should contact CP Headquarters in Quincy for further information or assistance.

Area SPCTC Unit Convenes Oct. 10

Pathways

By
Rev. Chester A. Porteus
Rector, Christ Church

"Pathways" will be a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen. Our guest columnist this week is Rev. Chester A. Porteus, Rector, Christ Church, Quincy.

This was the advice of a good friend in my youth. Ah, yes, he has indeed a native New Englander, but what is wrong with such a New England conscience? Maybe it is exactly what is needed everywhere. I am not thinking about Blue Laws; I am thinking about the independent spirit that seems to imply the ability to stand in one's own shoes, to take what comes, to honor first things first, and to stand before God and man with a clear conscience.

A man may not be successful, but he has done his best with whatever ability in his possession. Nor does he whine that the world owes him a living. Maybe he has not much, but what he has is his own, and he is proud of just that!

Oh, the world has changed all that nonsense! This is a new day. We are living in a different kind of world. So what! Some of us in youth were taught more about self-dependence than about self-pity because others had so much more than we did. College home work had generally to be done by ourselves. There was no extra money for special help, and fewer parents had a college background. Yes, and there were fewer telephones. The public library was frequently sought out for reference work -- and on foot.

Yes, you frequently had to dig out your answers by yourself many a time and we were not the poorer because of that type of experience. I believe that consequently we learned a wee bit sooner about what actually mattered, and what did not. When you have to do a job yourself, you try to do it right the first time. It is your own time that you waste if you don't. Part of any worthwhile education is to know where to go and to whom for accurate information.

Humble men knew that the Galilean could teach them about God and His Kingdom. Andrew brought Peter to Christ. There were some things in life that mattered more to them than the business of catching fish, or whatever other occupation. Mary illustrates the same truth in her response to Martha. This is God's world. We are first the sons and daughters of God. We must ever be about the business of our Heavenly Father. Man does not live by bread alone.

Such should be the distinguishing mark of a Christian in his community, as a neighbor on the street, or in the place where he works. He stands for the things that are right, wholesome, decent, and of good report. He can forgive, as he would be forgiven when he is willing to make amends for his own mistakes. When a human soul is in trouble, he helps where he can.

Take care of first things first. Don't let your life be so cluttered with pleasant but minor demands that you lose sight of God's first objectives for you. Yes, in old New England or in new New England, you had to say, "No, I must be about first things first." Aye, take care of first things first as a son or a daughter of the living God!

New Care Benefits For Area Veterans

Needy veterans -- as well as veterans with service-connected disabilities -- who require physical care short of hospitalization may be eligible for help from the Veterans Administration.

The Va pointed out that it has several types of institutions that provide care for such veterans -- nursing homes, domiciliaries and restoration centers.

Nursing homes, the VA explained, are available only to veterans who have attained maximum benefits at a VA hospital and require lengthy care in a nursing home. Some of these veterans may be unable to care for themselves.

Domiciliaries and restoration centers, on the other hand, are available to veterans who may not be able to live competently on the outside, but can make decisions and care for themselves physically.

VA's 16 domiciliaries provide the means of caring for veterans who are disabled by age or disease, but do not need hospitalization or the skilled nursing services provided in a nursing home environment.

The domiciliaries are located in every section of the country. Fifteen are near VA hospitals; the other has its own infirmary with the nearest VA hospital about 100 miles away. Four domiciliaries admit women veterans.

VA has six restoration centers which are designed to restore disabled veterans to useful and independent living. Special attention is given to social and economic aspects of their illnesses and disabilities.

While in most cases restoration center patients are veterans of World War II, the institutions also treat younger men, including some veterans of the Viet-Nam era.

All restoration centers are located near other VA facilities. Veterans suffering from a service-connected disability have first priority in these VA facilities; other qualified veterans are admitted on the basis of need when space is available.

Veterans or other interested parties should contact their nearest VA office for further information.

Other finalists were pictured in last week's Quincy Sun.

Newsmen To Feature Quincy Panel

The "Objectivity of Major News Media" will be the discussion topic among a prominent panel of newsmen Tuesday, Oct. 15 at the First Parish Unitarian Church.

The forum will be presented by the adult discussion group at the church and is one of a series of panel topics scheduled.

The panel will take on the communications gap and will represent major Boston and South Shore newspapers and radio stations.

Moderating the four-member panel will be Robert Offenbach, chairman of the discussion group. The program will be open to the public at 8 p.m.

Subjects examined last year included discipline in schools and colleges and the interplay of psychiatry and religion.

Quincy Women's Club To Open Season Tuesday

The Quincy Women's Club will hold its first meeting of the season next Tuesday at the Club House on Presidents Lane. A Petite Lobster Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Charles B. Murphy is committee chairman.

Mrs. Melville C. Gamble, president, will preside at the business meeting at 2 p.m. Louise H. Horton will present the program, "Mrs. Nobody Goes Somewhere" as a highlight.

Dinner To Honor Italy Traveler

Mr. and Mrs. Matteo Panarelli of 21 Taylor Street, will be hosts for a family dinner gathering this evening in honor of Mrs. Panarelli's mother, Mrs. Josephine Tedesco.

Mrs. Tedesco will return home this evening by plane after a six months' tour of Italy. While in that country, Mrs. Tedesco visited with relatives in Palermo, Sicily and Rome. This was Mrs. Tedesco's second visit to Italy in 11 years.

Wollaston Group Holds Annual Dinner Oct. 23

Reservations are being accepted for the annual dinner meeting of the Wollaston Park Association to be held Oct. 23 at 7 p.m. at Walsh's Knotty Pine Room in Norfolk Downs. Annual elections will highlight the business meeting following the dinner.

Miss Dorothy C. Kelly of 108 Davis Street, Wollaston, is accepting reservations for the meeting.

District Atty. Burke

Names New Assistant

The newest special assistant to Norfolk County District Attorney George G. Burke of Quincy, Atty. Joseph F. Welch of Randolph, was sworn in Monday.

A practicing attorney, Mr. Welch attended Bates College, Boston College Law School and was admitted to the Norfolk County and Federal Bar Associations and the American Judicature Society.

He is a Randolph Town Meeting member and the Town Moderator. Atty. Welch resides with his wife, Barbara, and three children, George, Breana and Joseph, Jr., at 313 Highland Ave.

Miss Theresa Lombardo To Wed Mr. Stracco

Theresa Anne Lombardo (Miller Studio)

Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Lombardo of 41 Emerald Street, Quincy, announce the engagement of their daughter, Theresa Anne, to Geno John Stracco, Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geno Stracco of 82 Phipps Street, Quincy.

Miss Lombardo is a graduate of Quincy High School and is presently employed at the Milton Bank and Trust.

Mr. Stracco is also a graduate of Quincy High School. He is employed by the State Street Bank of Boston.

A May 4th wedding is being planned.

Plan Fourth Senior Citizen Group

A new Senior Citizen Group, the fourth to be organized by the Quincy Council on Aging within the city, will be formed next week in the Quincy Point area. John F. Sheehan, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, has announced that an organizational meeting will be held for residents of the area 60 years and over at the Fore River Clubhouse on Oct. 8 at 1:30 p.m.

Similar in purpose as the other three groups, located in Germantown, Houghs Neck and Southwest Quincy, the new group will provide recreational activities for the Senior Citizens of Quincy Point as well as serving as a means to inform the elderly residents of the many services available to the more than 14,000 Senior Citizens in the city.

Mr. Sheehan has stated that the only person who can best explain the needs of the elderly is the elderly person himself. "I believe that these Senior Citizens should have a voice in planning ways to meet these needs," the executive director said.

A thrift sale will be conducted by the Altrusa Club of Quincy on Friday from 9 to 9 at 1283 Hancock St.

The sale will continue until all items, including new and used clothing, are sold. The sale location is next to the Hancock St., bus terminal.

Committee members for the event include Mrs. Catherine Woodbury, Miss Mary McGinty, Mrs. Mildred Tweedy, Miss Florence Jacobs, president and Mrs. Marjorie McAllister, all of Quincy.

Sale chairman is Mrs. Mary Stanton of Hingham.

The Altrusa Club, comprising business and executive women in the Quincy area, raises money for numerous charitable projects. The group also sponsors free travel for handicapped persons through Para-tours.

The Altrusa Club meets twice monthly on the first and third Tuesdays.

Weeks Heads Area United Fund Drive

Senator William D. Weeks, who resides at 134 Borden Street, Cohasset, with his wife Frances and their four children, will serve as Campaign Chairman of the Southeast Chapter, Massachusetts 1969 HEART FUND CHAIRMAN FOR SOUTHEASTERN MASSACHUSETTS — Senator William D. Weeks is greeted by Mr. Joseph R. Welch, Chairman of the Board of the Southeast Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Heart Association, Inc., for the 1969 Heart Fund Campaign, as announced today by Mr. Joseph R. Welch, Chairman of the Board of the Southeast Chapter, M.H.A. The Senator has for many years been a leader in community affairs in Cohasset and the South Shore. He has also been actively engaged in State and National projects of political and humanitarian concern.

A graduate of Harvard College and the University of Virginia Law School, Senator Weeks, in addition to his legislative duties, is a partner in the law firm Boyd, MacCrellish & Weeks with offices at 75 Federal Street Boston.

In discussing the forthcoming drive Senator Weeks, stated "We have come to know the Heart Fund as a sound investment for a healthier America, and, by annually expanding our support of the campaign, we insure that even greater progress against heart diseases will be forthcoming."

LET'S EMPHASIZE GIVING IN THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving in America is 347 years old this year. But the root of our verb "to give" is older, dating back beyond the King's English to at least Viking times. Our gifts to the Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign in November will help to keep alive both the holiday and the verb.

No matter what your religion, take your used dresses, suits, shoes and bedding to the nearest Catholic church. They will be distributed by Catholic Relief Services to the needy of all races and religions in over 70 countries in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Make it your way this year of saying "thanks" — by giving.

★ VOTERS OF NORFOLK COUNTY ★

COUNCILLOR
EDWARD S. GRAHAM

Elect

EDWARD S.
GRAHAM

DEMOCRAT-VETERAN

SHERIFF OF NORFOLK COUNTY

Sunbeams

Some political observers think the race for the Norfolk County sheriff's badge may blossom into one of the best contests on the November 5th ballot.

Veteran Republican incumbent Charles W. Hedges who has held the post eight years, is being challenged by freshman City Councillor Edward S. Graham, a Democrat.

Hedges' political career spans more than three decades including service as a Quincy city councillor, state representative and state senator.

Since wresting the badge away from Democrat Peter M. McCormack of Brookline in 1960, he has undertaken a much publicized rehabilitation work release program for inmates at the Norfolk County House of Correction.

But times have changed, politically. Norfolk County, a long-time GOP stronghold is now numerically Democratic. Quincy, the biggest community in the county, has been Democratic several years (Latest Quincy enrollment figures: Democrats 21,469; Republicans 10,871; Independents 11,721.)

Graham will be running out of Quincy and Hedges, for the first time, as a Dedham resident. Political observers consider that a plus for Graham.

Although neither had opposition in the primary, observers are closely looking over their respective vote. Graham polled 30,936 to Hedges' 19,444. In Quincy, it was Graham 5,632 and Hedges, 1,907.

The experts, or so-called, think the figures indicate a good battle November 5th. Hedges has been one of the strongest local political figures for more than 30 years. If Graham succeeds in taking the badge away from him, it would be one of the biggest local political upsets ever.

It could, as observers think, be one of the top ballot attractions November 5th.

George A. Yarrington, former executive director of the Quincy Taxpayers Association has a new job. He's now full-time director of public relations for the Home Builders Association.

JUST WHEN the MBTA trains will arrive in Quincy is still questionable, but General Manager Leo J. Cusick will be here October 15. He'll be guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Quincy Rotary Club at the Neighborhood Club. He's appearing as the guest of Forrest J. Neal, Jr., member of the MBTA Board of Directors and former president of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

TRAVEL DEPT: The Massachusetts Ancient and Honorable Artillery, the oldest military organization in the western hemisphere, flew out of Boston yesterday for a two-week "invasion" of Athens, Bierat and Malacca. Among the Quincy contingent: Larry Antonelli, Ernest J. Montilio, Anthony Losordo, Daniel Moriarty and Daniel Marr, Sr.

WELL, there was at least one local rabid Navy rooter despite the upset at the hands of Boston College. But Mrs. Mary Gantley, the pretty cocktail waitress at Sherry's, can be forgiven. Her son, Jack, is a standout offensive guard for the Midshipmen. He played for Archbishop Williams High School. Another study Navy lineman is Russ Willis, a North Quincy High School product. (P.S. Mary doesn't look old enough to have a son playing junior high school football.)

STORK REPORT: Quincy Asst. City Clerk Thomas Burke and his pretty wife, Connie, are expecting their first little arrival in March.

MILESTONES: Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Smyth of 245 President's Lane are observing their 40th wedding anniversary. They have three children, Marne First 11, Edward A. Smyth, Mrs. Theresa Pearson and Mrs. Rosemary Bartholomew, wife of Quincy Patrolman John Bartholomew.

Mrs. Nora Gillis of 17 Richard St. is a young 70. She's the proud mother of two well known sons: City Clerk John M. Gillis and State Police Sgt. Edward Gillis, stationed at Logan Airport.

LOOKING for a bargain? The Houghs Neck Congregational Church Mothers' Club is holding a rummage sale next Tuesday in Fellowship Hall at the Church. Hours: 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

FASHION NOTE: Stephen T. Keefe, Jr., Quincy attorney and former assistant city solicitor, is a serious contender for "best dressed" honors in local legal circles. He recently completed a 12-day trial at which he wore a different suit each day. Real sharp ones, too.

SMILE DEPT: Vanity plate sighted on one of those tiny bug-like cars parked in Quincy: TRITE.

Morrissette Post To Install Oct. 26

The new officer slate of the Cyril P. Morrissette American Legion Post 294 will be installed on Oct. 26.

included James D'Olympio and Nancy Bonomi, $500; Judith Valore and John Welch, $250.

The Auxiliary banquet and installation will be held on Tuesday.

It was announced by present post Commander Frances E. Mullen that a total of $1500 in scholarships had been awarded in September. Recipients Cmdr. Mullen issued a special plea to the 1200-member post for additional blood bank donations.

Smyth: "City's Youth Must Be Recognized"

Unfortunately, it never got off the ground.

"We are still very enthusiastic about this idea and plan to have the Youth Council a reality by the end of this year. It is a must to eliminate misunderstanding between the generations."

He said Quincy High School Principal Lloyd Creighton and North Quincy High School Principal John W. Walsh have promised their assistance. He added he hoped faculty members at the two schools will also offer their advice and help.

"It isn't easy to be a youth today," said Smyth. "It's a lot harder than when their parents were youngsters. Problems today are much more complex and far reaching.

"Narcotics are easily available. Violence is an every day occurrence in the country. There is utter disregard for law and order. There is an unwillingness to conform to society. We have the hippies and the yuppies ... those who don't want to be identified with human nature, you might say."

"The average youth of today who wants to make something of his life has all of these influences tugging at him to detour him from his goal of success in life."

That is why, he said, the creation of a Youth Council "is a must".

"By doing this, we will be establishing direct communication between the youth of our city and the elected public officials," he said.

"Our youth should be recognized and heard."

"They are a priceless asset and a vital segment. They will provide the future leadership to toward world peace and universal understanding."

CUTTING HIGH LABOR COSTS:

Automatic Shot Blast Cleans Ship Sections In Minutes

— With a spray of steel pellets, a new shot blast facility at the General Dynamics shipyard here has taken the drudgery out of cleaning steel ship sections.

The new equipment is used to prepare ship sections for painting. It can clean a 75-ton section in 25 minutes, blasting it from all directions with up to eight tons of fine steel shot per minute, a job that used to take 50 hours with hand-held air hoes.

The automatic shot blast equipment is typical of the streamlined approach aerospace and electronics companies are bringing to shipbuilding. By using production-line methods and automation techniques, they hope to overcome the high labor costs that now prevent American shipyards from competing effectively with foreign yards.

General Dynamics, which bought the Quincy shipyard in 1963, has wide experience in supersonic aircraft, missiles, electronics and nuclear submarines. It has been steadily modernizing the yard.

At Quincy, ship designs can now be worked out by computers.

The computers produce punched tapes that control cutting torches that automatically cut the ship's hull plates to size as the plates move past them.

After a ship's section is built up from these plates on an assembly line, it is ready for shot blasting. With the cleaning process reduced from days to minutes, the section is on its way to be painted. Then all its piping and wiring is installed in another assembly area. Only when it is fully complete—a "Done-Ton" as they say at the shipyard—is it moved to the water's edge to be welded to other completed sections as part of a ship.

9,000 EMPLOYEES

Have these new approaches to shipbuilding been successful? Quincy people think so. When General Dynamics stepped in late in 1963, the famous Quincy shipyard was out of business. There was no work and the yard was empty of workers. Today 9,000 employees are working on 13 surface ships and two submarines.

That spray of steel pellets moving at high speed inside the shot blast facility symbolizes the new surge of activity in the American shipbuilding industry.

Halloween Treats by Betty Crocker

PUMPKIN TEACAKES

- 2 cups Bisquick
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 cup butter, melted and cooled slightly
- 1/2 cup milk

Orange Frosting (below)

Heat oven to 450°. Mix all in ingredients except frosting with fork to a soft dough. Beat vigorously 20 strokes. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut with 2-inch cutter. Form rounds into pumpkin shapes, using extra dough for stems. Bake on ungreased baking sheet about 10 minutes. Cool. Frost with Orange Frosting. Makes 2 dozen.

Orange Frosting: Blend 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar, 1 to 2 tablespoons milk and 1/2 teaspoon orange extract until of desired spreading consistency. Reserve 1 tablespoon frosting; color green with green food color for the stems. Color remainder with red and yellow food colors.

CHOCOLATE CARAMEL APPLES

Wash 6 medium apples and dry thoroughly. Remove stem and blossom end of each. In top of double boiler over hot water, heat 1 package (14 ounces) vanilla caramels, 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces and 2 tablespoons hot water, stirring occasionally, until caramels are melted and mixture is smooth. Keeping sauce over hot water, dip each apple into mixture, spooning sauce over apple until it is completely coated. Insert wooden skewer in stem end, remove from sauce. Place each apple on mound of 1 tablespoon chopped nuts; sprinkle any remaining nuts on top. Makes 6 apples.

Tomato Tricks

by Betty Crocker

Since garden-fresh tomatoes are at their prettiest, let's live it up a little. Glamorize tomato slices with a touch of basil, fresh or dried. Sauté tomato halves in butter—serve with cream browned in the same skillet. Or try Tomatoes Vinaigrette: Sliced tomatoes marinated in French dressing an hour or two in the refrigerator, then sprinkled with minced onion or parsley. And for a perfectly beautiful shortcut supper, how about Fresh Tomato Shortcakes? Thick tomato slices between hot biscuits, spooned with Cheese Sauce, strips of bacon on top. Delicious.

FRESH TOMATO SHORTCAKES

- Cheese Sauce (right)
- 2 cups Bisquick
- 1/4 cup butter, melted and cooled slightly
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tomatoes
- 6 slices bacon
- Soft butter

Prepare Cheese Sauce. Keep hot over hot water. Heat oven to 450°. Mix Bisquick, 1/4 cup butter and the milk with fork to a soft dough. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut with 3-inch floured cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet about 10 minutes. Cut tomatoes into thin slices. Fry bacon until crisp; drain on paper towels. Spread butter on halves. Place tomato slices between layers and on top of each shortcake. Spoon Cheese Sauce over shortcakes and garnish each with a bacon slice. 6 servings.

CHEESE SAUCE

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons Bisquick
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 1/2 cups shredded process sharp Cheddar cheese

Melt butter over low heat in saucepan. Blend Bisquick and seasonings. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Stir in cheese. Cook and stir over low heat until cheese melts. Makes about 2 cups.

Boston To Salute Ancient Quincy Fire Tub Sunday

Quincy's gallant old lady, the "GRANITE" will be one of the stars in the annual Boston Fire Department sponsored Fire Prevention Week Parade Sunday.

The 123-year old man-drawn hand tub Quincy's first fire apparatus purchased in 1844 will be among the antique pieces of fire fighting equipment in the big event.

"Stamps For Wounded" Collected At Shipyard

More than 100,000 postage stamps were collected by employees of the General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy for donation to the nationwide "Stamps for the Wounded" project.

The stamps will go to members of the military who have discovered stamp collecting as a way of passing time they are spending in hospitals recuperating from wounds.

The shipyard collection, sponsored by the Quincy division of General Dynamics Management Club, saw albums and other collectors' materials donated along with the stamps.

Shipyard project chairman John F. Gardner Jr., said value of the stamps exceeded $1,000. The stamps were cleaned and packaged in lots of 250 for distribution to the wounded through the Society of Philatelic Americans.

TRANSIT TICKET-TAKER

PERCHED on an aluminum wheel, this attractive young lady is flanked by two aluminum-body commuter train models, rapid transit vehicles of the future. Light weight keys performance.

Weight-Watchers Losing Pounds With Aluminum

—Industrial weight-watchers, including the U.S. Navy, transit officials and the weekend golfer, look to aluminum to shave off unwanted pounds.

The Navy wants to save weight in ships because it is very important to stability. Aluminum's lightweight construction in rapid transit cars relates directly to the cost of the electric power required.

And many golfers have discovered that the new aluminum shaft golf clubs, because they give less torque, or twist, provide them with better control.

Standard Material

Aluminum, which was first introduced in the U.S. Navy in 1899, today is the standard material of construction in ships for dekhouses, superstructures, masts, stacks and all topside miscellaneous applications where weight-saving is considered essential.

In addition, aluminum is used below the main deck for lockers, furniture, bunks, joiner bulkheads, ladders and other equipment where a saving in weight is desired.

Aluminum-body rail cars are really rolling. Industry figures show that there are some 5,300 covered hopper cars in service on 18 railroads, 1,400 rapid transit cars in service or ordered and more than 300 aluminum passenger cars in service.

Greater Payloads

The light weight cars provide greater payloads, which means more profit. Also, the weight reduction means less momentum and easier stops and starts.

The weight saving characteristics of the new aluminum golf shafts are producing the most dramatic changeover in the golfing industry since the switch from hickory to steel shafts in the 1920's.

Because aluminum is lighter than steel, club designers were able to design a club that was slightly lighter in overall weight but with greater weight in the clubhead.

The 1:30 p.m. parade will start from the Government Center on Cambridge St. and swing along Tremont and Boylston Sts. to the Prudential Center.

The "GRANITE" will be brought to Boston on a city trailer and drawn through the parade by a team from the Houghs Neck Legion Post who helped restore the old hand tub last year.

The team includes Firefighter William Morrell, his brothers, John, Thomas and Francis Morrell, Paul Hennessey, Vincent Barrett, Lawrence Hanley and Charles Nord.

On Monday, the "GRANITE" will go on display on Hancock St. in front of Remick's in downtown Quincy from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day through Saturday.

Fire Chief Edward F. Barry will also place various pieces of Quincy's modern firefighting equipment on exhibit alongside the "GRANITE" as an "old and new" display. Capt. Richard Shea and Capt. James Craig will be present to answer questions and explain how the equipment works.

The fire department hopes to have the "GRANITE" in pumping operation in time for Quincy's Veteran's Day Parade Nov. 11.

IS YOUR BOAT IN THE WAY?

A well placed boat is just as important as an accurate cast, and the hand on the throttle may be as responsible for subduing a trophy fish as the trembling fingers locked around the rod.

Proper boat handling, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards, plays a vital role in fishing. Unfortunately, they add, its true significance often becomes apparent too late . . . after a good fish has been lost.

Most anglers are reasonably adept at handling their rigs while trolling and casting. And hooking and netting ordinary size fish present no special problems.

However, things change quickly when the once-in-a-lifetime lunker comes along. Everyone focuses attention on the battle, and tends to forget that the boat can be a big aid to a happy outcome.

Some guides run their motors during the entire battle to help the fisherman hold the fish out in unobstructed water and to turn with the fish. When the fish shows signs of tiring and resistance slackens, the guide backs off steadily so that continual pressure can be exerted without letting the fish get a second wind up near the hull.

Large fish such as pike, salmon, trout and muskies have a peculiar affection for boat bottoms — particularly when about to be landed. They may slide docilely alongside, appearing completely whipped. Then, splash . . . down and under.

Unless the angler plunges his rod deep into the water and the helmsman swings the boat quickly, say the Mercury lads, something's going to get snagged and the escape made good.

Since you can't keep a big fish away from the boat, keep the boat away from the fish until he's definitely beaten.

Raiders Romp

North Victory Earns Plaudits From Leone

HARD HITTERS—Tutoring the big North Quincy gridsters this season are assistant coaches Jack Bowes, defensive backfield, Bill Pagano, offensive line and Ralph Frazier, defensive line. Ready for Lynn English Saturday are Joe Lane, Steve Poore and Steve Dieso.

North Quincy's football team is off and running with an easy Greater Boston League victory on opening day and the Raiders will seek win number two Saturday at Veteran's Memorial Stadium when they entertain Lynn English in a non-league affair. This will be North's second straight home game.

"English lost to Salem, 12-0, last week but my scouts were impressed with them and I don't expect an easy game," said North Coach Carl Leone. "Lynn was down for a number of years but has been coming back strong and I think they will make a strong showing in the North Shore League."

Leone, in his eighth year as North coach, expressed himself as "delighted" with the Raiders' 26-7 romp over Revere last week at the Stadium.

"The boys did a tremendous job both ways and I was entirely satisfied with their showing," Carl said. "It is always nice to win the first one and I am a little more confident after the opener. Revere has a lot of underclassmen and we will face some stronger teams later in the year, but I thought we looked excellent for an opening game."

All of North's starting backs were praised by their coach, Bob Sleeth for his play calling, ball handling and passing. Don Polvere and Larry Bray for their running and Don Meyer for his blocking. "Sleeth did a marvelous job and he still hasn't played in a losing game since the seventh grade," Leone said. "He did some great passing and he ran the team extremely well. He called his own plays, picked out Revere's defensive weaknesses and took advantage of them and, all in all, did a perfect job. Polvere and Bray ran very well and Meyers turned in some outstanding blocking."

Carl singled out several boys for their defensive performances including Steve Dieso, Steve LeShane, Joe Lane, Bob Swirbalus, Jay Connelly, Jack Hemphill and Jerry Mulcahy. He also lauded Whitey Bartelson's performance at offensive tackle.

Polvere had two touchdowns against Revere, scoring on a 60-yard pass play from Sleeth (the same pass teamed up for the extra points), and racing 26 yards for his second. Bray scored from the three and Sleeth passed to end Steve Poore for eight yards and the other touchdown. Sleeth also ran for two extra points.

Leone reiterated his pre-season statement: "Our success this year depends largely on Sleeth. If he stays healthy, we should do all right. He missed five games last year and we lost three of them."

North will receive a big test in two weeks when it plays at Malden which edged Boston Latin in its opener last week.

Leone feels a Family Day scrimmage two weeks ago at Deerfield Academy helped his team considerably. More than 80 parents accompanied the North squad of 50 players for the trip to Deerfield, leaving at 7:30 in the morning.

"It was nice to break the practice grind with this type of day," Carl said. "It gave the players a good workout against a really strong team and gave the parents a chance to see this type of New England educational climate. The people at Deerfield were tremendous and the new headmaster, Dave Pynchon, really rolled out the welcome mat for the school and the team. We had our own cheering section for the scrimmage and it was quite a day." Ed Venna, one of Leone's former stars, plays for Deerfield.

Varney Big Gun In Harvard Debut

Pete Varney, former North Quincy High and Deerfield Academy star, made an auspicious debut for the Harvard varsity football team last Saturday and he will be a key man for the Crimson the rest of the season.

Varney, a 6-3, 245-pound sophomore, started at end for John Yovicsin's team in the opener against Holy Cross. The Harvard passers virtually ignored him early in the game as Holy Cross roared to a 13-0 lead.

Quarterback George Lalich decided to try the soph end and Varney took a pass for the first Harvard score and from then on he was phenomenal. He caught eight passes for 89 yards including the touchdown and two extra points and made the big difference as Harvard rebounded to a 27-20 win.

Yovicsin was delighted with the ex-Raider's showing and said he will be a big man in the Crimson offense the rest of the year.

Varney is also a standout catcher in baseball and refused several big bonus offers to play major league ball in order to go to Harvard.

Booters Ready For Rebound

Last fall, North Quincy's soccer team had its first losing season in five years with a 5-6-1 record but Coach George Golding feels the Raiders will rebound this year and be a contender for South Shore Association honors.

"This is the best looking squad I've had in several years," the veteran coach said. "We'll be strong on offense and the defense has been coming along faster than I had expected."

Golding had a fine turnout of 60 candidates, and he is still carrying 40 on his squad which is 1-1-1 in its first three games.

"This is the biggest team I've ever had," Golding continued. "While small players have dominated my past teams, this year I have a group of six-footers."

North started out with a 1-1 tie with strong Avon, then came a 3-0 win over South Shore Vocational, followed by a 2-1 overtime loss to powerful Hingham, defending Division One champion, which had a 3-0 record following that win.

Golding has six lettermen around whom he is building his team. They are Roger Conboy, a fullback; Mark McLaughlin, halfback; Bruce Healey, wing; Pete Davis, wing; Bob Glynn, halfback, and Dave Height, center forward.

The most promising newcomer is a sophomore halfback, George Bourikas, who was outstanding in junior high.

"He was born in Greece and could make a big difference for us," said Golding.

The other top ranking members of the squad include Steve Mullany, Bud O'Connor, Paul O'Connell, Scott Mansoh, Ed Cameron, Carl West, Steve Warr, and John Connelly. Tom O'Malley, Ed Anderson, Ken Hanson, Paul Bennett, Sam Abraham and goalie Don Gilliland last year's second string goalie who has been a standout in the early games. He has up just three goals in the first three games. Mark Connors is the Raiders' manager.

In the game against Hingham, Bourikas scored midway in the third period to tie the game at 1-1 but in the first overtime period Hingham won its third in a row on a goal by its high scorer, Mark Pongratz.

"It looks like a great race this year in both divisions," Golding predicted.

"Hingham must rate as the favorite again in our division but I think several teams will give them a run for their money. And I think Avon, with a great looking club, can give Duxbury a real battle in Division Two. I've never seen a stronger Avon team."

Today North has a bye, but Tuesday will be home to promising newcomer Plymouth-Carver at Adams Field. Next Thursday North travels to Duxbury.

Brockton Trampled

Opening Quincy Grid Win Boosts Outlook

Things are looking up at Quincy. A year ago the Presidents had only a 3-6 record (2-5 in the Greater Boston League), but, judging from last week's opening day romp at Brockton, things should be much different this season.

Hank Conroy's Quincy club goes for its second in a row Saturday when it meets Revere at 1:30 in its second straight road contest and its league opener. The Presidents will be trying to at least equal North Quincy's 28-7 margin last week over Revere.

Quincy must rate as the favorite Saturday. Conroy had a chance to use just about everyone at Brockton and several varsity newcomers received valuable game experience.

"I was very pleased with our opening performance as the team did well both offensively and defensively," Conroy said. "The defense was superb as we held them to minus yards on the ground in the first half and I think Brockton had only one first down against our first club. By playing such strong defense, we were able to run off more plays on offense and if we keep up this type of defense in the future, we should do some scoring."

The Quincy coach hailed the performance of his quarterback, Steve McDevitt, who played on defense a year ago. "He did a tremendous job, running and passing equally well as well as kicking all four points after touchdown. He gave us a balanced attack, which is what I was after and he is going to be a fine quarterback."

Conroy also singled out Ken Prouty, Steve Carrera and John Molla, who sparked the running attack. McDevitt had several completions with ends, Dick Kenney, a Jayvee last year, and Sophomore Dick Menchi, making a number of fine catches.

Conroy made eight changes on defense, using almost an entirely different defensive unit and he lauded the play of Paul Picarski, the third member of his family to play on defense for Conroy. Dick Pettiti, Steve Shapiro, Paul Hand, Ed Sigliano, Cliff Mattson and Dennis Bowen.

"They did a remarkable job and continually sneared the quarterback," Hank added. "I've seldom seen a quarterback so far behind the line of scrimmage."

The Brockton radio announcer said Quincy was the best looking team he had seen face a Brockton club in years.

McDevitt passed to Kenney for 26 yards and the first Quincy touchdown, then kicked the point. McDevitt scored himself from a yard out and again added the point, then just before the half ended Molla scored from the two and McDevitt's kick made it 21-0 at the half.

The reserves played most of the second half after McDevitt passed off to Prouty, who scored the final TD and McDevitt again booted the point.

Brockton's lone tally came late in the game on a six-yard pass from Paul Bradshaw to end Ron Bradbury.

It was indeed a promising debut for Quincy and it looks like a happy season for the Presidents' many fans.

Quincy plays its first home game on Oct. 12 against powerful Everett, the GBL favorite which was shocked by Newton, 21-12, last week in a non-league game.

QUINCY QUARTET awaiting the word from line coach Bud Mosher are veterans Ed Segliano, Richard Speranzo, Ted Meyers and Ed Reynolds. Quincy travels to Revere Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. clash.

Scotch-Born Quincy Coach Soccer Natural

After Quincy's soccer team had lost its South Shore Association opener to defending champion Duxbury, 6-2, the Presidents' new coach said, "We still have a lot to learn." He should be the perfect teacher.

The new coach is Ronnie Martin, born in Scotland and a soccer player from the time he was in grade school.

"They play soccer in the early grades and all through school," Ronnie said. "I played a good deal of soccer in Scotland until I came to this country in 1956 at the age of 15. I enrolled at Quincy High, which didn't start soccer until the year after I graduated. So, in high school I concentrated on track."

Ronnie, who went to Northeastern University, played amateur soccer with the Boston Celtics.

Quincy showed promise in the loss to always-strong Duxbury. One of the winners' goals was on a penalty kick and three others were of the questionable variety. Quincy goalie Mike DeGrecco, an all-scholastic choice last year, made a fine stop on another penalty kick.

The Presidents showed they were beginning to learn when they bounced back to top South Shore Vocational, 3-0, in their second game. Quincy had a bye on opening day.

Martin, who took over for Bob Silvia, Quincy's hockey coach, is building his team around DeGrecco and Capt. Dave Simpson.

"I think we will give a good account of ourselves as the season progresses," Martin said. "Duxbury is always strong in soccer and I think we did better than the 6-2 score indicates. We have a lot of work to do, but the boys are determined and really want to play. We should do all right."

Quincy's goals against Duxbury were scored by Dave Simpson and Carlson, with Pakkala having an assist.

Against South Shore Vocational Barry had two goals and an assist. Giandrea had a goal and Brown and Pakkala assists. Quincy continually put the pressure on Vok's goalie Ed Solomon, who was superb with 22 saves.

Quincy plays at Avon, which has its best team ever, today and next Thursday will be home to strong Sharon, which had dominated the league until last year. Neither Avon nor Sharon has football and both schools have large squads.

Sees Son Lead Scituate

Quincy's football team played its only morning game (except for Thanksgiving) last week and Coach Hank Conroy took advantage of it.

Hank sent his assistants to watch the North Quincy-Revere game in the afternoon while he watched his son, Mark, lead Scituate to a 13-0 Old Colony League win over Whitman-Hanson.

"This was the only chance I'll have all year to watch him, because both teams play only afternoon games the rest of the season," Hank said.

Hank's quarterback, Steve McDevitt, was four for four in kicking extra points. His son who kicked 19 of 22 conversions a year ago when Scituate won the OCL title, kicked both conversions Saturday but the first was nullified by a penalty and Mark missed on his second try from the 25.

Mark, one of the top quarterbacks in the league, had been out of action for two weeks before the opener with a shoulder injury and both his dad and his coach, Butch Mahoney, admitted his timing was a little bit off.

Camp Fire Girl Leaders Honored

A prominent Boston College educator was the guest speaker Monday at the annual Leaders Reception of the Quincy Camp Fire Girls.

Sister Josephine addressed the group at the First Parish Congregational Church, Abington.

The reception featured the awarding of five year leadership pins to Mrs. Francis Flynn and Mrs. Charles Reynolds.

Receiving three year leadership pins were Mrs. William McCrackin and Mrs. Carl Siddens.

The following received the Martha Allen Charm award for bringing new girls into the Camp Fire program:

Mrs. Richard Burton, Mrs. Louis Cogliano, Mrs. Thomas Mullen, Mrs. Thomas Costello, Mrs. Philip Nimeskoma, Mrs. Frederick Price, Mrs. Nancy Widman, Mrs. Leo Chapdalaine, Mrs. Theodore Catino and Mrs. Jane Madsen.

Mrs. Stephanie Burton displayed a special exhibit of pictures depicting conservation scenes at the National Horizon Club Conference. The conference was held in Estes Park, Colorado and Grand Canyon, Arizona, during the past summer.

New Quincy Bluebird leaders welcomed included:

Mrs. Thomas Blakeley, Mrs. James Deady, Mrs. R. Bouffard, Mrs. William Kiggs, Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. Francis Flynn, Mrs. Linwood Nelson and Mrs. Freda O'Brien.

Partial calendar for coming events for Quincy Camp Fire Girls, includes a Song Fest in October and a Council Wide Candy Sale November 22 through December 4, the entry of a float in the Christmas parade, is also planned.

Mrs. Richard Burton serves as Quincy coordinator for the Camp Fire Girls South Shore Council.

Two Named To General Dynamics

CARTER ELTZROTH

HOWARD WALL

Carter W. Eltzroth has been appointed general counsel and Howard I. Wall has been named controller of the Quincy division of General Dynamics.

They are members of the staff of General Manager Robert V. Lancy, who announced the appointments.

Both men come to the surface ship construction facility from other assignments within the corporation. Eltzroth was formerly counsel for a subsidiary, Stromberg-Carlson Corp., Rochester, N.Y. Wall was assistant controller at corporate headquarters, New York City.

Eltzroth, who has been with General Dynamics since 1956, is a graduate of Wabash College and Harvard School of Law. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and the American Bar Association, he also is admitted to practice before the New York, Indiana and Federal courts and agencies. He has authored a book on taxes and several articles on business and patent law.

Eltzroth and his wife Marjorie are the parents of two sons and a daughter. They are residents of 25 Summit Ave., Hull.

Wall joined the Convair division of General Dynamics in 1956 and was supervisor of general accounting when transferred to the corporate staff as manager of consolidation accounting before being named assistant comptroller.

1,475 Seek Vietnam Bonus

Approximately 1,475 veterans of the Vietnam War era have applied in Quincy for the $200-to-$300 state bonus since September. Veterans Services Director William J. Villone reported last night.

This represents a total sum of between $395,000 and $442,500 received by them. Most of the veterans applying here, Villone said, are Quincy residents but applications have also been obtained by others from the South Shore area.

Those who have served in the Vietnam area are eligible for $300 and those serving in other areas, $200.

To be eligible, veterans must have had six months or more active service after July 1, 1958, and been a resident of Massachusetts for at least six months before entering the service.

Villone reminded those who have not yet applied, that application forms are still available at his office, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Applicants, he said, must also submit their DD 214 form (discharge certificate) with their application to The Treasurer's Office, State House, Boston. They should be sent by registered mail, he said.

The bonus applications must first be certified in the Quincy City Clerk's office to establish the fact the veteran had lived in Massachusetts six months prior to entering the service.

No deadline has yet been set for applying for the bonus.

Villone noted that some World War II veterans are still applying for the $200-to-$300 state bonus declared 22 years ago. Some veterans of that war, he said, have only recently learned that they were eligible for that bonus.

46,600 Residents Eligible To Vote

Approximately 46,600 Quincy residents will be eligible to cast ballots in the Nov. 5 Presidential election.

City Clerk John M. Gillis last night estimated that 2,600 new voters enrolled between the primary election and last Saturday's deadline.

On Saturday alone, 977 residents registered.

Gillis said his office is still tabulating the official gain and expects to have the exact figure by tomorrow.

At the time of the October primary election, Quincy's total registration enrollment was 44,061.

Of those, 21,469 were Democrats, 10,871 Republicans and 11,721 Independents.

Merchants Re-elect Cole

Herbert F. Cole was re-elected president of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association at the election meeting of the businessmen's group last night.

Also taking office at the meeting held at Walsh's Restaurant were Henry D'Amore, vice president, John R. Chase, treasurer and I. Sarto Minahan, recording secretary.

Mr. Cole has headed the 110-member Wollaston organization for the past two years.

Epidemic Expected

"Hong Kong" Flu Threat To Quincy

A new flu epidemic—Hong Kong variety—is expected to hit Quincy this winter.

A special vaccine, it appears, will not be developed and made available in time to head it off.

"It could become quite a problem here around Jan. 1," City Health Commissioner John T. Foley said last night.

This particular version of the flu broke out in Hong Kong in June, spread to Honolulu and early last month reached the West Coast. It is now moving eastward.

A surveillance report, Dr. Foley said, pinpointed 23 cases at the San Diego Marine base—apparently brought back from the Hong Kong area.

The new vaccine will have the Hong Kong flu strain in it.

"But," said Dr. Foley, "it won't be developed until the first of the year."

Thus, the vaccine apparently will not be available until just about the time the flu invades Quincy and other eastern seaboard communities.

"It takes two weeks for the vaccine to produce a response in the body," Dr. Foley noted.

Those who are able to ward off the flu for two weeks before they get the vaccine will probably escape the epidemic. Those who don't will have to fight it off—probably subdued at home for several days.

It could seriously affect business, industry and public services.

"The young, more active person is apt to get the Hong Kong flu," said Dr. Foley.

The older person, less active, is more likely to contract the familiar Asian flu, he said.

"We are going to try to protect the older people—especially those with chronic ailments and those in nursing homes," he declared.

Free Copy

This is a complimentary copy of The Quincy Sun.

We hope you enjoy it and become one of our rapidly increasing paid subscribers.

Flu can be a serious threat to the lives of such persons, complicating their delicate condition, he noted.

There is a current shortage of Asian flu vaccine but Dr. Foley has an order in for 4,000 doses and hopes to receive at least part of the order in the next two or three weeks.

It will be used for a limited immunization program especially for those with chronic ailments and patients in nursing and rest homes.

He hopes to get at least 2,000 doses of the Hong Kong flu vaccine as soon as it is available.

The Health Department has conducted mass immunization programs the last two years.

In 1966, 10,000 shots were administered in two sets of inoculations. Last year, 5,000 booster shots were given.

The Health Department makes the vaccine available free to those who cannot otherwise afford it.

"Influenza is not a deadly or crippling disease," Dr. Foley noted. "And not everyone will get it—Asian or Hong Kong type."

"Those who do get either should stay home and take care of themselves. This will also help prevent its spread."

City Officials To View Ct. Incinerator Friday

A delegation of city officials will fly to Greenwich, Conn., weather permitting, Friday for an on-site inspection of that town's incinerator.

The Greenwich incinerator, a dramatically new rocket-grate, fire-turbulating type, will be studied as a possible solution to Quincy's perennial rubbish and disposal problem.

The Quincy entourage will be led by Councilman George B. McDonald, chairman of the special committee on disposal and burning problems.

A majority of the full nine-member City Council is expected to make the trip. Their findings will provide the basis for a comprehensive report on the incinerator to the council.

"We will have to come up with a firm decision on rubbish disposal," McDonald said. "Our present dumping methods and facilities are becoming increasingly inadequate. We must have a permanent, long range solution."

The Greenwich facility, which provides low heat burning at about 1,850 degrees Fahrenheit, is similar to an incinerator now being studied by the City Council.

Under consideration is a proposal by the North American Incinerator Corp. of Boston. Estimated cost of the proposed incinerator is $2 million.

Councilmen Edward Graham, John J. Quinn, Albert R. Barilato and Walter J. Hannon, are expected to accompany McDonald.

Other city officials expected to make the trip are Mayor James R. McIntyre, City Engineer Henry F. Nilsen, Fire Chief Edward L. Barry and Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald. MacDonald will fly in on his plane, a three-passenger Comanche, to Greenwich. It will be one of two craft scheduled to leave Norwood Airport for the journey.

The group is expected to complete their inspection of the incinerator operation in about three or four hours.

Limited Mail On Columbus Day

In view of the fact that Columbus Day falls on Saturday, Quincy Postal Supt. Win. Moahan announced there will be no delivery of mail in the business areas, except to those firms which are primarily engaged in work connected with the Department of Defense.

The Quincy Sun assumes no financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertisements but will reprint that part of an advertisement in which the typographical error occurs.

He said the regular residential delivery will be made on the holiday.

The collection of mail from the street letter boxes of the Boston Postal District on Columbus Day will be as follows:

The listed collection for Saturday morning will be made, as indicated on the boxes. The afternoon collection from the boxes will be cancelled, except the boxes located outside the postoffices throughout the Boston Postal District. These boxes outside postoffices will be collected on Columbus Day at 3 p.m.

Health For All

Pumpkins are among the bright spots on October's landscape. But there are other spots, less bright. They are caused by smoky and non-smoky pollutants pelted into the air from a variety of well-known sources ranging from the trashburner's pyre to the motorist's fumes and the industrial contribution. Nor are most of these confined to October.

What does happen in October, however is an annual all-out effort to call attention to the air pollution hazard. This year, from October 20 to 26, hundreds of groups across the nation are mobilizing for Cleaner Air Week. If last year's events are any indication, the groups will wear gas masks, hold town meetings, make surveys, conduct tours and do whatever they can to publicize the pollution problem.

Why such organized agitation? Because this year another 143 million pounds of pollutants will defile the North American Air.

TB-RD associations are active participants in the observance of Cleaner Air Week. Testifying before a Senate subcommittee recently, Dr. Roger S. Mitchell stated his opinion that air pollution may be one of the causes of lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, and emphysema. Dr. Mitchell is head of the Division of Pulmonary Diseases in the University of Colorado School of Medicine. In fighting air pollution, he said, "We have no time to lose."

For details as to what is planned or what you can help initiate is your community for Cleaner Air Week, contact the Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

$97,500 SBA Loan In Quincy

Cong. James A. Burke has announced the approval of a total of $2,147,500 in small business loans in the 11th Congressional District. The loans were approved by The Small Business Administration last year.

The loans included $35,000 in North Quincy and $62,500 in Quincy.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerr
Pediatrician

Recently a Quincy child living in a proper neighborhood was bitten by a rat. Fortunately, no infection or complications arose. This made me probe into the nature or size of our local situation relative to this predaceous, omnivorous, ferocious, voracious, wily, slinky enemy of man. Discussions followed with Dr. John Foley, our Commissioner of Health, and Mr. Cyril Chafe, the exterminator used by our Health Department.

It is difficult to accurately estimate Quincy's rat population. Usual guesses in large cities equals the human inhabitants. Smaller communities such as Quincy, perhaps, entertain 10,000 to 100,000. The number is not great unless you, as I, consider one too many.

The Rattus Rattus Norvegicus, Norway, or Brown rat is said to have come to Europe from Asia in the early centuries, but I recall mention of the plague in the Grecian 100 year war, attributed to rats as the manner of spread of the epidemic-and, of course, you remember "Forever Amber." The Brown rat can dispel or destroy any social competitor and is truly fecund, bearing four or five times a year with litters of four to ten offspring who themselves can breed in six months with pregnancies lasting 20 days. What a place for the "pill." (Would you believe that there are homosexual rats?) The rat inhabits areas with available food and water. Locally he loves dumps, garbage areas, restaurants, picnic grounds and industrial plants.

Dr. Foley was pleased to announce the state presentation of $10,000 for this problem this year. He obtained this amount after a proposed program was submitted. Each year Quincy spends $15,000, but Dr. Foley feels that $25,000 annually more nearly approximates the amount needed to do this job well.

Who does the job of surveying the infested areas? A senior health officer and four inspectors. What do they do? They answer every call that comes in. Last year 3,500 dwellings were checked. Where else do they go? The waterfront; we have 27 miles of it. Picnic grounds, 55 acres. Refuse disposal areas, 101 acres, and industrial plants.

Mr. Chafe moves in to try to exterminate the rodent on call from the inspector. How? By spreading poisonous chemicals containing mainly phosphorus. He recommends to the homeowner Warfarin. The rat is not capable of vomiting and, hence, food bait is the means of administering this rat-killing agent. Warfarin, although toxic to humans, requires repeated ingestion, and unlikely. Public education, Dr. Foley feels, is a key in the control or elimination of rats, by proper building, cleaner grounds and streets, proper care of disposal containers of garbage and rubbish, and reporting of rats seen in neighborhoods.

In Red China a few years ago three pests were tackled by the whole population on government edict-namely, the mosquito swallow and the rat. The scholar presenting the statistics alleged that well over one hundred millions of rats were killed and tabulated. The only reason for presenting this detail is the demonstration of public responsibility so woefully lacking in our own communities. A menace like the Brown rat is everybody's job, not only in reporting but attempting to observe food, rubbish and litter disposal details.

Keeping America beautiful will also help in the rat eradication. The attitude that an agency like the Health Department can solve or even maintain a control to win the battle against rats is not possible without public interest and support. I personally feel that the public indifference in such matters forebodes the decline of democratic government.

Relative to the handling of quarries, my sympathy is for the people near these dumps. However, they must be filled and we ought to be thankful that we can use them, lacking flat lands and marshes. Sanitary land fill, says Mr. Chafe, requires constant vigilance in rat removal but it can be done.

Sink disposals in homes, of course, remove the garbage pail but are really not too feasible in large apartments because of the great amounts of water required. Then you say use furnaces in such buildings yes, but then there is the question of an air pollution and a convenient time of day for attending to this.

A municipal or regional incinerator perhaps managed by a private concern and run 24 hours a day will undoubtedly be our best solution. If you feel this way support the town fathers who are working on this at this particular moment. Dr. Foley encourages public interest and consultation with any such problem. He pleads for your participation.

A cleaner, better and more beautiful Quincy needs every citizen's help and it will be much better without any rats.

USS Whale To Be Commissioned Saturday

USS WHALE (SSN-638), first nuclear powered submarine built in Massachusetts, will be commissioned at 12:30 p.m., Saturday, at the Quincy, General Dynamics Division. The Whale was launched in Quincy on Oct. 14, 1966 and will be commanded by Commander William M. Wolff, Jr., USN, a native of Grand Haven, Michigan.

The USS Whale (SSN-638), first nuclear powered submarine built in Massachusetts, will be placed in commission at 12:30 p.m., Saturday, at Pier Two at the Quincy Division of General Dynamics.

Rear Admiral Roy S. Benson, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District will accept the submarine for the Navy Department and place the ship in commission. Commander William M. Wolff, Jr., USN, a native of Grand Haven, Michigan, will be the submarine's commanding officer.

Principal speaker at the commissioning will be Professor Samuel P. Huntington, a Frank G. Thompson Professor of Government and Chairman of the Department of Government at Harvard University. A well known author, he is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Center for International Affairs at the Cambridge Institution of Learning.

The Whale is named for a submarine that served with distinction in World War II. Launched March 14, 1942 at the Mare Island, Calif., Naval Shipyard, the original Whale sailed off to battle a little less than seven months later. All told, she was to make 11 successful patrols and by war's end had sunk nine ships totaling 57,716 tons.

On special missions she rescued 15 downed Allied airmen during invasions of Pacific islands.

Whale was a tough ship. She was once so badly battered by depth charges she spent two months in repair at Pearl Harbor. On another occasion a typhoon caused extensive damage to her, but it failed to prevent the submarine from torpedoing an enemy vessel.

Following the war Whale was decommissioned and placed in the U.S. Atlantic Reserve Fleet. In 1960 she was stricken from Navy records.

The new Whale's keel was laid at Quincy May 27, 1964. Former Governor Lindcott Peabody chalked his initial on the keel plate and they were permanently welded into the steel. It was launched Oct. 14, 1966 and the sponsor was Mrs. Russell B. Long, wife of the Louisiana Senator.

The Whale is powered by a nuclear power plant which consists of a nuclear reactor with its associated circulating water, steam cycles, and auxiliary machinery. Two hundred and ninety-two feet long, the 4060-ton submarine is a fast-attack nuclear submarine whose primary mission will be to seek out and destroy enemy ships of any type. She is equipped with the most advanced sonar and fire control system. The Whale has been specially designed to operate quietly and indefinitely at high speeds while completely submerged. This gives her great advantage in offensive and defensive action.

Commander Wolff, received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in June 1952, from Princeton University, and was commissioned as an Ensign.

Wolff first served aboard the destroyer USS Radford (DDI-446) from June 1952 to December 1953 participating in two Western Pacific deployments during the Korean conflict. He attended Officer Submarine School at Groton, Connecticut in 1954, serving thereafter in USS Tusk (SS-426) and USS Crevalle (SS-291). In January 1958 he was selected for Nuclear Power training at Naval Station, Groton, and a year later reported to the USS Nautilus (SSN 571), where, until October 1962, he served variously as Weapons Officer, Operations Officer, and Engineer Officer. He attended Guided Missile School in Dam Neck, Virginia in 1962, and was assigned in February 1963 to USS Daniel Webster (SSBN 626) under construction at Groton, as Executive Officer (Blue Crew) Aboard Daniel Webster he participated in three patrols and COMMANDER WILLIAM M. WOLFF, Jr., USN, a native of Grand City, Mich., will skipper the USS Whale. He is a 1952 graduate of Princeton University.

PROF. SAMUEL P. HUNTINGTON will be the principal speaker at the commissioning of the USS Whale. He is a Frank G. Thompson Professor of Government, Chairman of the Department of Government, and a member of the Executive Committee of the Center for International Affairs at Harvard University.

in the first Polaris A3 missile firing.

Commander Wolff is authorized to wear the National Defense Service Medal with star, the Korean Service Medal with battle star, the China Service Medal, the United Nations Service Medal, and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

He is married to the former Roberta Stevens of Swarthmore, Pa. They have three sons, William Steven, Douglas McLeod, and Robert Gordon.

Quincy Great Books Club New England Pace Setter

Quincy's Great Books program was described as the "largest and most active" in New England, by Metropolitan Great Books Council president William Rossi of Hingham.

In conjunction with an announcement of Great Books area discussion group meetings,

Quincy Jewish Center

The adult Division of the Quincy Jewish Community Center is opening the fall season with its 25th Reunion and Newcomers Ball Oct. 26 at 8:30 p.m. at the Center.

Traditionally this is the affair where old friendships are renewed and the tales "of the big ones that got away" are retold and where the newcomers to the Quincy was singled out for its prominent participation.

Seven adult groups meet within the city and several junior groups are scheduled to start with public and parochial school systems, Mr. Rossi stated.

He commended the Thomas Crane Library and Dr. Charles community are introduced. In addition this year the community will have the opportunity to meet our New Director Herb Schneider and his assistant Rachel Kristal who will be guests of honor.

All members are requested to telephone their reservations to Mrs. Alma (Sidney) Hoffman, Members of the Centre who were born in Quincy will be special guests and admitted free.

Dierf, Quincy pediatrician and School Committeeman, for their continued sponsorship of and interest in Great Books, the largest contemporary liberal education program.

For the fifteenth consecutive year, the Thomas Crane Library will have a new first year Great Books Discussion group led by Dr. Dierf. Mrs. Mary Jane Mudge of Quincy will be a co-leader.

The group will meet on the first and third Mondays of the month at 8 p.m. in the staff room of the main library, 40 Washington St., Quincy Square. At the initial meeting of the group on Monday, the purpose of the program and the discussion method was explained, followed by an open discussion of the Declaration of Independence.

The schedule for advanced Great Books groups meeting in the Thomas Crane Main Library follows:

Third year: second and fourth Mondays, 8 p.m., leader Mrs. John Mulloy, 551 Middle St., Braintree.

Fourth year: first and third Mondays, 8 p.m., leader Mrs. George Carson, 80 Sea Ave., Quincy.

Advanced groups meeting at the North Quincy Library, 381 Hancock St., are:

Second year: first and third Tuesdays, 8 p.m., leader Mrs. Paula Williams, 280 Granite St., Quincy.

Sixth year: second and fourth Mondays, 8 p.m., leader Mrs. Mary Lawson, 84 Glendale Road, Quincy.

Thirteenth year: second and fourth Thursdays, 8 p.m., leader Miss Persis Johnson, 165 Davis St., Wollaston.

Also meeting in Quincy is a second year Senior Citizens group. Discussions are held on the second and fourth Fridays at 6:30 p.m. in the library at 1000 Southern Artery and are led by Dr. Charles Dierf and Mrs. John Mulloy.

Great Books groups are open to all people interested in reading, thinking about and discussing the ideas and problems common to all men in all societies in all ages. There are no educational or financial requirements for joining a group.

Further information about reading lists or the program in general may be obtained by contacting the Thomas Crane Library or Miss Persis Johnson, 165 Davis St., Wollaston.

West Quincy Warning:

Health Dept. Sounds Alert On Bats

A rabid bat has been found in West Quincy. City Health Commissioner John T. Foley disclosed last night.

Dr. Foley said there have been recent reports "of bats all over the city" and cautioned residents to steer clear of them because others may possibly be diseased.

The bat found off Doble St., West Quincy last week by two North Quincy High School students who did not realize the danger, is the first known rabid one to come to the Health Department's attention in recent years.

Dr. Foley said 15 to 20 bats caught in the city the past two years were sent to the state laboratory at Forest Hills and were found negative. Fight were sent there this year, with the same result.

He said a veterinarian reported "bats are all over the city" — mostly in wooded areas.

Many have been sighted in the Blue Hills section of West Quincy. "There is no reason for alarm," said Dr. Foley. "If you let them alone, they'll let you alone."

But he urged anyone who might possibly be bitten by one to immediately see a doctor for treatment and to have it reported.

"If one bat has rabies, others may have it, too," he warned.

Anyone infected by a rabid bat—or any other rabid animal—must receive an injection of anti-rabies vaccine each day for 14 days to ward off the disease which can be fatal.

The two North Quincy High School students came across two bats fighting off Doble St. One fell to the ground and the boys placed it in a coffee can and brought it to school next day, unaware that it was rabid.

The youths let it loose from the balcony of the auditorium during a school assembly. Fortunately, it plummeted to the stage. A teacher quickly placed it in a cardboard carton. It was turned over to the Health Department and sent to the state laboratory for examination.

"We investigated and found that no one had been bitten by the bat," Dr. Foley said. "Those boys were taking an awful gamble."

Dr. Foley noted there have been recent reports of squirrel, monkey and cat bites but the animals were not rabid.

He said there are an average 300 dog bites reported in the city each year. But the bat was the first animal to be found rabid in Quincy in sometime.

"There is no reason to panic," he said. "But don't ask for trouble by fooling around with them."

Secrets Your Handwriting Reveals

John J. Swanson M.G.A. of Wollaston
Certified Master Graphoanalyst

Can you keep a secret? Are you emotional or cold? Impulsive or cautious? Honest or devious? Generous or stingy? Affectionate or unfeeling? Did you know that the answers to these questions and many, many more, can be found in your handwriting? There isn't anything about you that is not revealed by your handwriting, provided it is analyzed by a qualified Graphoanalyst.

Is this true or a lot of bunk? Many prominent people say, "yes," it is absolutely true. The history of handwriting analysis goes back several hundred years. The first article on how the nature and qualities of a person can be revealed through handwriting was written during the Renaissance by an Italian physician. Several hundred years later, Alfred Binet, the founder of intelligence tests, helped establish that honesty and intelligence are indicated through handwriting. Sigmund Freud and Alfred Adler also attested to the validity of analysis.

Members of the International Graphoanalysis Society, the Chicago based organization which serves as the international voice of the profession, are becoming increasingly enthusiastic as their day by day experiences substantiate their findings.

While the study of personality traits through handwriting analysis can be complex, it is possible to learn Graphoanalysis in from 8 to 18 months, thanks to a course of instruction offered by the Society.

Here are a few basic ideas to try out in analyzing your handwriting or that of your friend. Take a look at something you wrote recently. Check the "slant". This slant will probably vary but you should be able to tell if it is mostly vertical, extremely to the right or left, or somewhere in between.

Handwritten sample: "I am a very honest and..."

Handwritten sample: "I am a very honest and..."

Handwritten sample: "I am a very honest and..."

The more it leans to the right, the greater the degree of emotional responsiveness, impulsiveness, or expressiveness. If the writing slants to the left, you probably have repressed emotions and may be an introvert. A vertical slant is a sign that judgement rules over your emotions.

Now look at your m's and n's.

Handwritten sample: "I am a very honest and..."

If you make them with high needle-point tops as in Mary and mind above, you are a rapid and comprehensive thinker. Rounded tops, as in manners, indicate a logical mind.

Much can be discovered through your t's.

Handwritten sample: "I am a very honest and..."

Note the hooks in the t-bar. The "bigger the hook, the bigger the crook", an over simplification, but it does mean the desire to have and to take. T's crossed on the right tell the world that you have a strong temper. A downward slanted t-bar lets us know that you are the "bossy type" and/or domineering.

There are over 200 different ways to make the letter t, each designating a specific trait of your character and personality. We will discuss these in later columns.

Since these few words have merely skimmed the surface of this fascinating science, many of you readers will have developed a strong curiosity for more information on this subject. The author and this paper are pleased to offer a service to it's readers by suggesting that you write for further information, questions, or comments regarding this study. Address your letters to: John J. Swanson M.G.A.; c/o The Quincy Sun, 7 Foster St., Quincy, Mass. 02169.

Garden Mulches Have Many Uses

A garden mulch may serve many useful purposes. It may add organisms and nutrients to the soil around your plant or it may have some value as an insecticide. It does conserve moisture in the soil, and is extremely valuable in preventing the drying of plants by cool fall weather and winter winds.

Many materials, some organic and others inorganic in form, may be used for garden mulches. The material to choose depends upon availability, cost, need and the kind of plant to be mulched. The Massachusetts Nurserymen's Association suggests several possible materials for mulching.

Quincy Junior College students will get a first-hand view of grass-roots politics this Presidential election. James Sheets, chairman of the college's History and Government Department, plans to assign students to Republican and Democratic headquarters to see how local political campaigns are conducted. That way, they'll get the "feel" of things something a classroom can't really give them.

SPEAKING OF the Junior College, a move is underway to form a hockey team. The idea originated with a group of students. Kevin O'Connell, a spokesman, submitted the request to School Committee member James F. McCormick, Sr., who relayed it to Mayor James R. McIntyre. Reaction of both was favorable providing the necessary money can be found.

A LONG-TIME familiar and popular city figure is about to call it a career. Frank White, superintendent of Quincy public buildings, plans to retire next month after more than three decades of service.

EVERYONE on the home front has his (her) opinion about the Vietnam War. How about the boys over there? James Reardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reardon of 44 Sea Ave., Houghs Neck, serving with the U.S. Army Military Police, has this opinion expressed in a recent letter home: "I am sure I am speaking for all of us here in Vietnam that our tour in this country will give us a feeling of achievement and contentment that we have done our part and done it well." "I can only hope and pray that all the men from Houghs Neck that are here now and those destined to come here find a safe and rewarding tour, and a happy return home."

MILESTONES: Mr. and Mrs. William L. Russell of 179 Upland Road, marked their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at a reception at Montello's. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mullen of 21 Hollis Ave., will celebrate their 40th anniversary tomorrow with a 7:30 P.M. Mass at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, where they were married and a family reception at home. Mr. Catherine Carosi, mother of Quincy Atty. Paul S. Carosi, is 73. Congratulations to all.

FAMOUS NAMES DEPT.: Ronald Regan registered to vote in Quincy the other day. Not the Governor, but the one that lives at 13 South Junior Terrace. (P.S.: He's an Independent.)

AND, speaking of famous names, Jo-Ann Woodward is the organist at Michael's Horse and Carriage Restaurant. Pretty and talented.

INCIDENTALLY, according to Darrell Stuckey, organist at Sherry's, the top three songs on Quincy's hit-parade are: "Somewhere My Love," "You're Nobody Till Somebody Loves You" and "Spanish Eyes." They are the numbers most frequently requested at the piano bar.

STORK REPORT: Mr. and Mrs. John Thornton of 546 Sea St. are the parents of a second daughter, Mary Margaret. Dad is director of the Book Store at Graham Junior College, and former manager of the Boston University Book Store.

ATTENTION SENIOR CITIZENS: The Quincy Council for the Aging has a number of informative booklets and pamphlets of special interest to you. A new one from the National Daily Council, "Many Happy Returns," features tips on how to save money on your food budget, menu suggestions and special recipes. They're available free at the Council's office in the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock Street.

STRANGE THINGS: Visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Carnah of 144 Liberty St. are doing a double turn. There, in front of their eyes, is a pine tree with grapes growing on it. Or so it seems. Actually, a grape vine has worked itself through the pine branches. But the grapes look like they belong to the pine tree.

SMILE DEPT.: Police Chief Francis X. Finn who has initiated coded radio messages for his department to confuse law breakers who monitor the calls with portable radios, might be interested in this item out of Honolulu. The "coded" call for the department's gambling squad car is "Seven-Eleven."

Button, Button, John Q. Started It

If you're sporting a Humphrey, Nixon or Wallace Presidential campaign button you might find it hard to believe you're carrying on a vote-getting gin-mick started by John Quincy Adams.

The dignified, Quincy-born sixth President was the first campaigner to pop with the buttons 144 years ago.

Adams was in a four-way battle with Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay, and William Crawford in 1824 to succeed James Monroe in the White House.

To liven things up a bit, he and his supporters suddenly sprouted campaign buttons. No one seems to remember just what they said.

It might have been something like: "We Want You, John Q." Or maybe: "We'll Win You'll See-With John Quincy."

Anyway, Jackson, Clay and Crawford countered with their own buttons. Then came bright vests with pictures of the four blazoned across the front.

The country has been button happy every four years since. Republicans went big for them in 1940 but it didn't help. Pinned to their lapels were more than 300 different type ones opposing Franklin Roosevelt's bid for a third term. With such slogans as: "No Crown For Franklin" and "No Royal Family For America."

Americans wore a total 25 million buttons during the first Eisenhower-Stevenson race. Remember: "I Like Ike" and "We Need A Little Help."

Pretty tame stuff compared to some slogans of the past. Early Federalists, for example, got right down to brass political tactics with this one: "Those Who Own The Country Ought To Govern It."

Adams finally made it to the White House in 1828 with: "The Democracy of Numbers Against the Monied Aristocracy of the Few." And was re-elected with a much simpler version: "Poor Against the Rich."

Campaign head gear is nothing new either.

Ivies Kefauver's coonskin cap was an eye-catcher, if not a vote-catcher. But Thomas Jefferson had one back in 1800.

Speaking of hats, it was Teddy Roosevelt who originated the now well worn phrase: "My hat is in the ring." That was in 1912. It was borrowed from boxing. Fighters used to toss their hats into the ring before jumping in themselves.

Charges of "dirty politics" are tossed back and forth now. But you should have been around in "the good old days." Like as soon as Jefferson announced his candidacy, the opposition newspaper was out with a story reporting his death.

With no TV, radio or telephones in those days, you can picture his camp frantically scrambling around to prove their candidate was very much alive.

Trying to make political hay out of a President's recreational activities isn't new either. There was President Johnson's high speed weekend driving. Before him it was Eisenhower's golf, Truman's piano and FDR's fishing.

But how about poor John Quincy Adams! During his term he bought a billiard table for the White House. But when he ran for re-election he was accused of wasting the taxpayers' money and wound up behind the political 8-ball.

Actually, Adams didn't originate political slogans. They were around 2,000 years ago during the Roman Empire. Painted on Roman walls were such vote getters as:

"His neighbors urge you to elect Lucius Status Receptus duvor (court officer). He is worthy. May you take sick if you maliciously erase this."

But along came an obvious ancestor of today's moderns who draw mustaches on poster pictures of politicians and movie stars. He added this masterpiece: "I wonder, O Wall, that you have not fallen in ruins from supporting the stupidities of so many scribblers."

Quincy High Skunks Back In The News

Skunks have again entered the pages of Quincy High School history, and students are leaning out the high school windows to see their two trapped history makers. The skunks may be history makers but not in the usual manner.

Every year for the past five years skunks have trapped themselves in a 10 by 20 foot cement walled pit, outside the cafeteria, and this year has been no exception. Last week two striped beauties entered into the pit but found the steep cement wall no easy exit. The captives were causing an interesting commotion and an irritating odor through the high school.

As in the past, Quincy High notified the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to have the skunks removed. The next day by placing a loop, fastened on the end of an eight foot pole, around the skunks' mid sections (to prevent spraying) they were lifted out of the trench, then put in a burlap bag and finally transported to and released in the Blue Hills area.

Miss Beatrice Wilson, director of Quincy public school cafeterias, is certainly glad to see the skunks leave. Her office window is situated in a corner just above the skunk pit. Now maybe she can stop worrying and settle down, along with the rest of Quincy High.

HOW TO LIVE IN QUINCY AND LIKE IT
"Blessed shalt thou be in the city... and cursed shalt thou be in the city"

Book of Deuteronomy-Chapter 28

It has been wisely said that every great reform which has been effected has consisted, not in doing something new, but in undoing something old. Institutional change is the order of the hour at this moment in American history. And those institutions which survive will be the ones that have mastered the art of undoing the old as well as creating something new. This will be particularly true of the cities of the land - and of Quincy specifically.

Our present civilization is the civilization of the big city - "megapolis," the sociologist calls it. Quincy is not a big city but it is part of the growing east coast megalopolis. And it is in the big cities which sets the tempo, habits, and social mores of the nation. Haverlock Ellis wrote years ago that "urban life saps the calm and stolid strength which is necessary for great effort both physical and intellectual"; and Emerson said, "Cities force growth and make man talkative and conceitful, but also artificial." And it was C.C. Colton who later added "People who spend their lives in cities improve their talents but impair their morals". These were strong words of warning years ago, not altogether applicable today as we have completely emerged from a rural society; but they are not without their truth. All of which is to say that the benefits of the modern city are debatable in the present evolution of humanity's "Great Places" as they are called.

But we live in a "city civilization" for good or ill, and it behooves us to undo the old and create the new in squaring our present mode of habitation with the great moral questions which undergird all significant human relationships. Where the moral outlook should be faced in all questions of community health, public housing and citizen opportunities, where moral earnestness is rewarded, where the best public education is adequately supported, and where beauty is seen not only outward physical improvement but in the improvement of the enlightened conscience as well.

Is a lowered tax rate to be preferred to safety of better public health? Are better roads more important than better homes? Is more parking space of greater importance than more and better schools? Is our material prosperity of more concern than the freedom and well-being of our citizens?

We are all part of the theicis of "megapolis" when the individual becomes submerged and "mass man" takes over.

The worst sin of the city is the sin of impersonality, or indifference to personality. It is the sort of thing that allows a man to think he has done his duty just by looking out for himself, or a politician has taken care of his constituency; and many a modern pagan has died happy in this belief that this is the fulfillment of the American dream.

Modern Quincy has its share of this sin as a city with a "double personality" - the old historic city, on the one hand, with much indigenous culture there from; and an expanding industrial city, on the other hand, with all groups, and creeds, and classes therein. To live in Quincy and like it one has to accept this kind of tension and make it creative in real community.

Perhaps Quincy has reached its peak in geographical expansion and population growth, but it now has the possibility of becoming a real community in areas of total concern for education, public health, and cultural improvement. To live in Quincy and like it is to accept this kind of responsibility in some measure. Otherwise we are just a "hive of toiling men" too divided to be unified on anything, too diversified to be a real community, too impersonal to be a neighborhood.

But Quincy is one of those delightful places in flux where the finess of the past meets the challenge of the present where there is creativity as well as culture, where there is a present as well as a past. And where there is tension there is life. No city in change is a dead city. And where past and present clash there is guarantee of a future.

So the first requirement of learning how to live in modern Quincy and like it, is to see it as it is, and not expect it to be like some other community you remember somewhere. Quincy is city that is going places. And this means radical change. To live here and like it is to accept this present necessity.

Quincy is not a big city but it is significant one. It is not "big time" but it is "good time" - the possibility of slower pace; more intimate relationships; more personal/alization of objectives as a community; more enlightened, controlled progress.

To live in Quincy and like it one must also develop an interest in history. We are a great city of great depth and dignity because of our historic past, and to be happy here one must not ignore this or one of the main streams of its living spirit will go by you.

But Quincy's glory does not lie in its past alone. Because it is an imperfect city it's promise has ahead still unrealized. There is a city being redesigned physically beginning at its center. There are schools to be modernized. There is genuine brotherhood to be realized. There is real community spirit to be achieved. And one can never really happy here until he becomes a part in some creative way in the fulfillment of these needs. True happiness in any community is found by those who take the time and trouble to be creative wherever they live.

To some the modern city is the death throes of civilization - the source of crime and false values, materialistic, frenzied, cold, impersonal, noisy, dirty, and sinful. But to others the city is the hope of civilization - the focus of culture, the place of great ideas and discussion, the market of the arts, stimulating, productive, creative, offering all things to all men including escape into anonymity. The city is the eternal source of innovation and enterprise.

How would you color Quincy? To do it justice one would have to use a kaleidoscope of color for its moods are both terrifying and promising. But the future of any city is in the hands of those who can live in it with some degree of appreciation of what it really is and what it is struggling to become, and with some sense of commitment to helping it become what it can be in one, with others, who see vision also.

"Our defense broke down last week and we can't afford to let it happen again this week."

So said a disappointed Henry Conroy following his Quincy football team's surprise 22-15 loss to underdog Revere last week in the Presidents' Greater Boston League opener at Revere.

"We are playing another very good Everett team Saturday (a 1:30 game at Veterans Memorial Stadium in Quincy's home opener) and if we break down on defense as we did at Revere, we will be in for real trouble," Hank stated.

Everett, always one of the biggest teams in the league, opened its CBL season with an impressive 22-8 win over a strong Somerville club last week after being upset by Newton in a non-league game. The Crimson Tide is one of the top favorites to grab the league championship this season.

"Our offense was good at Revere, although a few fumbles hurt us," Conroy said. "I was disappointed in the defense and we will work awfully hard on this during the week. We must be at our best defensively if we hope to stop Everett."

The Quincy coach would not single out any defensive stars in the Revere game but praised Steve Carrera, John Molla and Ken Prouty for their offensive performances and again had a good word for quarterback Steve McDevitt.

"We are going to utilize McDevitt's running ability more in the future," Conroy explained. "He is an excellent passer and his fine running will give our attack more balance."

Hank and his boys were especially disappointed at last week's defeat, as rival North

Quincy had walloped Revere, 28-7, the previous week and the Presidents had hoped to at least equal that performance.

All three Revere touchdowns were scored by Charlie Imbrescia, who scored twice in the second period and once in the final period on runs of 44, 40 and seven yards. The flashy halfback accounted for an amazing 245 yards in 24 carries as he was the Patriots' workhorse.

Quincy scored all its points in the second period as Molla went across for both touchdowns on short rushes. McDevitt passed to Carrera for a two-point conversion and kicked an extra point himself.

Conroy said his team got through the Revere game without any serious injuries and expects to be at full strength for Everett. "I don't plan any changes," he said. "We just have to work on our defense and must hold our own against that big Everett line."

Quincy Booters In Running For Division One Honors

The South Shore Soccer Association titles in both Division One and Two appear to be up for grabs and Quincy is right in the running for Division One honors, although it appears it will be tough to unseat defending division champion Hingham.

Ronnie Martin's Quincy team topped Norwell, 5-0, last week to make its record 2-1-1. The loss was to defending league champion Duxbury and the tie with rival North Quincy.

The Presidents took a quick 2-0 lead on goals by Paul Kaplan and Bruce Carlson, made it 3-0 in the second period on Guy Giannandrea's goal and added two by Jim McGuire and Carlson. Dave Simpson and Giannandrea had assists. Goalie Mike DelGrecco had eight saves and made a fine save on a penalty kick.

In the previous game, Quincy and North had battled to a two-overtime 1-1 tie, which disappointed both coaches. Both goals came in the final regulation period as North took the lead on a goal by Dave Haight with an assist for Pete Davis. Quincy tied it up on a goal by Russ Barry with a nice pass from John Blackanda.

"We have been having good soccer and I think we will stay in the fight for Division One honors, although it is going to be rough trying to get Hingham off the top," said Martin, first-year coach at Quincy.

Today Quincy is home to strong Sharon, which had dominated the league until last year. Tuesday the Presidents face a vital test when they entertain Hingham at Adams Field and next Thursday will play another home game against league newcomer Plymouth-Carver.

Quincy Harrier Coach Hopes Interest Up

George York has been cross country coach at Quincy High for 14 years and he finds it increasingly difficult to get boys to report for the sport.

"We used to have some fairly good turnouts but ever since the school began soccer fewer and fewer have reported," York said. "This year I had only six or seven boys report but I talked some more into coming out and right now have about 15 running. It is getting so you have to ask the boys to come out. Maybe interest is on the rise again, however, I certainly hope so."

York has had several of his runners, who also were distance runners in track, receive college scholarships.

The Presidents' top runners this fall are Pete Laing, John Langton and Richie Hynes, who did well in the first two meets, both of which Quincy lost. All ran last season, as did the number four man, Dave Esau.

"When practice started these were the boys I depended upon but some of the others have come along and have been running well," the veteran coach added. "I am hopeful we will win some meets before the year is over."

The newcomers include Tim Plant, Jim Couso, Bill Bloomer, Charles Potter, Ken Rickson, Al Flaherty and Tony Diorio.

Quincy dropped its opener to Archbishop Williams' powerful squad, 19-42, but showed improvement in its next meet, bowing to cross-town rival North Quincy, 25-31. Williams had 16 wins in a row up until last week.

In the North meet Quincy's Laing was the winner and Quincy's other scorers were Langton, fourth; Hynes, sixth; Esau, ninth and Plant, 11th.

Against Williams, Lang placed fourth, Langton fifth and Hynes 10th.

Next Thursday, Quincy will be home to Hingham, an Old Colony League entry.

The Presidents will compete in the state meet on Nov. 2 and the New England meet on Nov. 9.

North X-Country Coach Has Big Turnout

North Quincy had its biggest turnout in history for cross country this year and, although several runners have dropped by the wayside, Coach Bob Gentry still has about 20 boys running for him.

"We have never had really big turnouts for cross country but they haven't been bad," Gentry said. "It seems not too many boys want to run the two and a half miles or so and it is not always easy to get them to try out for cross country."

"I was surprised by this year's turnout and, despite the fact several decided after a while not to run, I still have the best depth in quite a while. We broke even in our first two meets and think we do well despite a tough schedule. It seems we always run against the best teams."

The Raiders' top runner is Paul Alfia with Pat McCormack usually running second and John Yee third. The other top runners are Jack Cavagnaro, Mike Noonan, Ed Monti, Herb Newell, Richie Yee, (John's brother) and Steve Mellon.

North evened its record at 2-2 with a 25-31 decision over cross-town rival Quincy after losing to Silver Lake and powerhouse Brockton, one of the top cross country teams in the state. North had opened its season by defeating Sharon.

Quincy's Pete Lang won the meet against North but McCormack took second and Alfia third. John Yee was fifth, Noonan seventh and Monti eighth to round out the scoring and Newell placed 10th.

Brockton's great team blanked the Raiders, 15-49, sweeping the first six places. Alfia placed seventh, McCormack 13th, John Yee 14th, Cavagnaro 16th, Newell 17th and Monti 18th.

North bowed to Silver Lake, an Old Colony League power, 21-37, as Alfia took fourth, Yee fifth, McCormack sixth and Cavagnaro 10th.

Gentry is in his third year as North's harrier coach, although he has been connected with the school's track program since 1952. At one time he coached spring track, winter track and cross country, but last year gave up spring track. At various times, since 1952, he had filled in as interim cross country coach.

North Quincy today runs against Archbishop Williams' powerhouse (16 wins in a row over a two-year period) at Braintree. Its next meet won't be until Oct. 27 when it again takes on Quincy. The Raiders will be in the state meet Nov. 1 and the New England meet Nov. 9.

It was said at the start of the football season that North Quincy's success depended a good deal on a healthy Bob Sleeth.

Well, Sleeth has been healthy so far and, as a result, Carl Leone's Raiders will be seeking their third straight victory Saturday when they play at Malden in a 1:30 game, North's first road contest of the season.

"Bob has never played in a losing game since the seventh grade," Leone had said before the season opened. "Last year he was sidelined for five games with an injury and we lost three of them. If he stays healthy this year, we should do all right."

Sleeth, a flashy quarterback will again spark North's attack at Malden, where the Golden Tornado will be trying to rebound from a 14-12 loss to Haverhill. Malden had edged Boston Latin in its opening game. Bob's pinpoint passing paced his team in a 28-7 opening day Greater Boston League romp over Revere and to an impressive 36-6 walkaway over Lynn English in a non-league encounter last week at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

"I was very satisfied for the second week in a row," Leone said. "We showed fine style and were just superior to English, although we did let down in the second half."

The veteran coach was again high in his praise of the defensive unit, which bottled up Lynn's offensive most of the game. English's Kevin Harrington threw 23 passes and one connected for his team's only touchdown in the second period. The North Shore Leaguers were unable to do anything on the ground.

"The entire line was outstanding. I really can't pick out any players for special praise," Carl said. "On offense we clicked well with Sleeth doing another terrific job at quarterback and Larry Bray, Dan Polvere, Jay Connerly, Don Meyers, Joe Lane and Bob Swirbul all excelling."

Connerly and Jim Broderick came up with key pass interceptions for the Raiders. Connerly running his back 20 yards for the team's second touchdown and Broderick halting a promising English drive.

"We have no serious injuries and we won't make any changes for Malden," Leone pointed out. "If we continue to operate as we have in the first two games, we should give Malden a lot of trouble."

Five players scored a touchdown apiece for North, with Sleeth passing for two of them.

The classy quarterback tossed to Bray for a 13-yard scoring play the first time North had the ball. On the second play of the second quarter Connerly came up with his interception and runback for a touchdown.

Following Lynn's lone score, Sleeth hit Bray, who raced 54 yards to the Lynn five, and with a third and 13 situation, Bob passed to Polvere for the third TD. Later in the second period Meyers raced 28 yards to make the score 30-6 at halftime. Bray had added two conversion points, one on a rush, the other on a pass, while Sleeth passed to Polvere for two more.

The final North touchdown came in the last period, set up by Swirbul's 10-yard run and Polvere's 10-yard pass to Polvere for the final score.

North Soccer Unit Much In Championship Race

When the South Shore Soccer Association season started, North Quincy's veteran coach, George Golding, said: "This looks like the best-balanced league in a long time and I think both divisions are going to have real close races."

This opinion is being borne out with both races looking like toss-ups. At this writing Hingham is defending Division One championship, was in front with a 4-1 record, while North Quincy was 2-1-2 and Quincy 2-1-1.

In Division Two, Avon, as predicted by Golding, was staying right with defending league champ Duxbury. Avon, which held Duxbury to a scoreless tie last week, was 2-0-2 and Duxbury 3-1-1.

North gave Hingham some breathing room last week with a big 2-1 win over Sharon, one of the league powerhouses for years and one of the title favorites this year.

North took the lead on Bob Healey's goal in the first period, and, after Sharon tied it in the same session, the teams battled into the second overtime period when North's George Boulikas, a fine sophomore, scored the winning goal.

In their previous game North had tied arch-rival Quincy, 1-1, in a game which disappointed Golding, who had hoped to pick up ground on the Presidents.

North took a 1-0 lead on a goal by Dave Haght with an assist for Pete Davis, only to have Quincy tie it up. Both goals came in the fourth and final regulation period and neither team could score in two overtime periods.

"Nothing has happened so far to change my opinion of the league races," Golding said. "Hingham is going to be hard to knock out of first place but don't count us out. We are going to be in this thing all the way."

Today North Quincy faces a big test at Duxbury. Tuesday plays league newcomer Plymouth-Carver at Plymouth and next Thursday will play at South Shore Vocational in Hanover.

IT'S GETTING KIND OF CROWDED AT PRESIDENT CHEVROLET!

In the past few weeks we've been selling the last of the '68 models and the first of the all-new 1969 Chevrolets. We've been selling so many, in fact, that we're crowded with trade-ins. Right now we have a wide, wide selection of top condition used cars at reasonable prices.

And you can be as fussy as you like because we have just about everything: convertibles or hardtops, two or four door, six or eight cylinder, all makes of late model cars in many styles and colors. All cars are priced the low President way and covered by a 25 month OK warranty.

So if you're looking for a great used car buy, come down to President. You're sure to find the right car for you (and we could use a little more room).

Here's just a partial list of what we have in stock for you to choose from:

1967 CHEV. IMPALA SPORT SEDAN	$2395

New Downtown Parking Lot Christmas Shopping Boon

A temporary 450-car downtown parking lot should be completed by Nov. 15 for use during the Christmas shopping season, Mayor James R. McIntyre announced last night.

The Mayor said the Department of Public Utilities has approved plans to temporarily relocate the Quincy Center railroad freight station and yard to Federal Ave., South Quincy.

The station and yard have been located off Granite St. near the Granite St. bridge for nearly a century.

Mayor McIntyre said the relocation will allow the MBTA to move the present tracks and build the parking lot in the same area. He expects the MBTA to begin work in about a week.

The parking lot will be made available to downtown shoppers by the MBTA at no charge until sometime next spring when construction is expected to be underway on the new Granite St. overpass for the Quincy MBTA rapid transit extension.

"This will give the downtown area additional parking space during the busy Christmas shopping season and insure minimum disruption of the Granite St. area during construction of the new overpass and the MBTA extension," Mayor McIntyre said.

Fire Department To Honor Six For 153-Years' Service

Six Quincy firemen who together have given a combined 153 years' service to the city will be honored at the Department's 11th annual Retirement Banquet Oct. 23, 8 p.m. at Morrisette Legion Post.

Plaques with their badges embedded will be presented to retired Lts. Arthur Salvucci and Francis Mallet, who served from 1941 and 1942 respectively.

Twenty-five year service tie clasps will go to four present members of the department, Capt. Francis Moriarty, Lt. John

Quincy Seeks Mobile TV Unit To Record "Truth" In Riots

The city plans to purchase a $2,800 closed circuit television system to film an on-the-spot accurate record in the event a riot should break out in Quincy.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn who made the recommendation to protect the rights of both the public and law enforcement officers warned:

"Riots can happen anywhere. The cities and towns outside the Urban Core cannot assume that municipal boundaries exempt them from spontaneous or planned confrontations. Incidents in Wellesley and other suburban communities will continue throughout the Metropolitan area."

"Vietnam, welfare, Melco and the draft are issues in Quincy which could at any time create a civil disorder. Furthermore, Quincy as a predominantly white, middle-class community, adjacent to predominantly black sections of Boston, provides fertile territory for racial confrontation."

Chief Finn sounded the warning in a communication to Mayor James R. McIntyre requesting the purchase of a closed circuit video tape recorder, TV camera, monitor receiver and a lighting system to be mounted on a mobile unit.

Mayor McIntyre has sent an application to Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson seeking $1,800 of the needed money under the Omnibus and Safe Streets Act of 1968. The city will allocate the remaining $1,000.

Massachusetts has been awarded a federal grant of $117,450 under the Omnibus and Safe Streets Act for the prevention, detection, and control of civil disorders.

The Committee on Law Enforcement and Administration of Criminal Justice, the Commonwealth's criminal justice planning agency has been designated by Gov. John A. Volpe as responsible for administering the allocation of These funds to qualify communities and agencies. Under the terms of the federal grant, the state and local funds provided to meet the following objectives:

Prevention of riot and civil disorders through the allocation of resources; the improvement of relations between the community and law enforcement and state government; Development of effective means to control riots and civil disorders; Development of methods to insure that the administration of justice will function effectively.

Houghs Neck Honors Five

The Hough Neck Community Council Tuesday night cited five persons for outstanding civic contribution to the area.

Honored at the annual Awards Banquet in St. Thomas Aquinas Hall were:

Gerald Lyons of 8 Harvey's Lane, George Liscombe of 29 Rock Island Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Wainwright of 97 Manet Ave., and Miss Ruth J. Abbiatti, former principal of the Atherton Hough School.

Mr. Lyons, owner of Harvey's Boatyard and a Houghs Neck Junior Community Council advisor received the "Good Neighbor Award" for "innumerable continuing acts of good neighborliness."

"Community Service Awards" were presented to Mr. Liscombe and to Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright.

Mr. Liscombe helped organize Boy Scout Troop 35 of Most Blessed Sacrament Church 10 years ago and has been assistant Scoutmaster and Explorer Advisor.

Mr. Wainwright served as the Community Council's president 1963-64 and has been July 4th committee chairman and historian, Cub Pack 6 treasurer for 10 years, Holy Name Society treasurer, Houghs Neck Legion Post Blood Bank chairman and present post finance officer.

Mrs. Wainwright, the former

Candidates To Speak In Wollaston Oct. 30

Candidates for state and county offices will be extended an invitation to speak at the Candidates Night Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. at the Beechwood Knoll School, Fenno Street Wollaston. The program is being co-sponsored by the Wollaston Park Association, Inc. and Wollaston Heights Association.

The public is invited to attend.

City Offers New Design For MBTA Facilities

The city is making design recommendations to assure that the new Quincy Sq. MBTA station and parking garage blend as attractively as possible with the existing area.

The City Engineer said last night that the recommendations, made by the city's Design and Review Board headed by Quincy architect Joseph A. Donahue, call for:

"Elimination of a planned high transmitting tower for the MBTA two-way radio system."

"A light colored concrete construction with a darker brick masonry for contrasting attractiveness."

"The elevator shaft which will extend above the 750-car, four-story parking garage for the future addition of a fifth floor, also made as attractive as possible."

"We don't want the parking garage and station to detract from the present pleasant scenery of the Quincy Sq. area," Mayor McIntyre noted.

He said the recommendations are being forwarded to MBTA Manager Leo J. Cusick.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Quincy Sun:

TO CONCERNED PEOPLE:

Being the parent of a Perceptually Handicapped Child I am extremely concerned in obtaining aid for these children. Although there are classes in Quincy for 50 older children with this reading problem, there are 150 children on a waiting list, for them nothing is offered.

It is vital that a Perceptually Handicapped Child be diagnosed and receive the special helps that are necessary to educate them properly in the early grades.

If you are the parent of a Perceptually Handicapped Child or interested in helping these youngsters please contact the following.

Health For All

Seventy thousand Americans have joined hands to help write a page of medical history that can vitally affect future treatment of an ancient disease.

The 70,000 are scattered over thousands of miles, in places as diverse as Alaska and Puerto Rico. In years they span the spectrum from childhood to old age. All are contributing their bit to a long-range study aimed at determining the best use of a most effective drug -- isoniazid in preventing and ultimately wiping out tuberculosis in this country.

In remote subarctic settlements, Appalachian villages, Puerto Rican towns and mainland cities, individuals and whole families threatened directly or indirectly by TB have patiently taken isoniazid pills week after week for a year or longer, and subjected themselves to scrutiny for more than 10 years. They have been cooperating with doctors, nurses and clinic workers to record the effectiveness of the drug.

The results observed so far, as reported by Mrs. Shirley H. Ferebee of the U.S. Public Health Service, are fascinating and highly encouraging. Writing in the October issue of the Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, Mrs. Ferebee disclosed among other facts that the number who developed TB is about two-and-a-half times smaller in the group receiving isoniazid medication than in the group not receiving it.

With such information to go on, TB fighters in official and voluntary agencies are placing more emphasis on prevention through drugs while seeking to improve treatment for those already affected.

For more information on today's methods of fighting a disease that strikes nearly 45,000 Americans each year, ask your Christmas Seal association, the Norfolk County TB Association, for its free literature on tuberculosis.

Pathways

By

Rabbi Jacob Mann
Beth Israel Synagogue

(Pathways is a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen.)

THE HOT ONE

The first day a locomotive engine came to their small town, the townspeople came out to admire the great sight and at the same time decided to show their old Rabbi this tremendous advance of modern civilization.

As the Rabbi neared the station, he saw a long line of black, cold, somber looking cars, attached to each other. The engine in front was belching fire. Smoke was rising into the clouds.

Suddenly, with a tremendous roar, the engine started moving, and the long line of train cars moved with it. "Rabbi, Rabbi," exclaimed his followers, "what do you say to this wonderful sight?" The Rabbi in deep thought for a moment, answered: "Look how one hot, fiery thing can pull along so many cold ones!"

This story from the Booklet "Veshinanton" brings out a most significant moral lesson in our own way of life. Particularly, in our dealings and associations in society. One good friend can inspire many others. One inspired leader may influence multitudes of people.

When a person becomes imbued with the ideal for which he is working, then others will be sure to follow him. One individual, with a zest for precepts and welfare, can pull along many cold and indifferent people.

A locomotive which has enough fire and steam can pull uphill a number of cars. If, however, it would be without fuel or power, the cars would drag it backwards downhill to the very bottom and destruction.

One must be alert at all times. The inner fire must be used for the good and benefit of mankind, otherwise it may be self consuming. The "heat" within us shall warm the cold ones in our midst. It should take them out from their deep-freeze, from their life-less dwellings, into the soul inspiring life stream of their fellowmen.

The reward for being good is priceless. Goodness is a part of Godliness. One Good deed leads to another. When we perform a good deed, we cannot do wrong.

Ruth Lewis, is past president of the Atherton Hough PTA and for 10 years has been a member of the Houghs Neck Community Council Bulletin staff.

Miss Abbiatti was presented a special citation "for her devotion to the education and welfare of children at the Atherton Hough School" during her years as principal. She retired last June.

Arnold Berens was master of ceremonies at the banquet. Dorothy Laing was committee chairman. Assisting here were Margareta Radcliffe, Ann Grenier and Louise Moran.

Laymen's Day On Sunday At Wollaston Methodist

Members and friends of Wollaston United Methodist Church will observe annual Laymen's Day, Sunday at 10:45 a.m. worship service.

Purpose of the day is to emphasize the ministry of every person who is a Christian. Both men and women will conduct the worship service.

Speaker will be Donald F. McKechnie, Ottawa, Ontario, accountant and businessman, who is attending the Christian Business Men's Committee International meeting in Boston. He served as chairman of that organization in 1957-58.

Mr. McKechnie is a member of McKechnie & Company, Chartered Accountants of Ottawa and has practiced public accounting for approximately 30 years, during which time he served as president of the Certified Public Accountants Association of Canada. The Institute of Chartered Accountants honored him with the Honorary Fellowship Degree entitling him to the use of F.C.A. appellation, a degree held by less than 5% of the total membership in Canada.

Mr. McKechnie has been active in many phases of Christian work over the years including pulpit supply in many types of churches, serving on the Board of Directors of the Home for Protestant Children in Quebec, the Brookdale Farm Inc., Morningside Homes Inc., a home for elderly people, and the Union Mission for Men Inc. large social service mission in Ottawa. His talk will be based on the theme of the Convention, "Peace with God through Jesus Christ..."

A capacity attendance is expected.

The committee for "Laymen's Church Day" includes Z. Cranston Smith, Lay Leader; Arnold Siler, Sr., Associate Lay Leader; Charles Entwistle, Chairman of Commission on Membership and Evangelism; C. Owen Tedrow, Frederick Johnson, Betty John, President Senior Youth Fellowship; Mrs. Vera Doane, President Women's Society of Christian Service and Miss Joan Nolan.

Firefighters

Mahoney and Firefighters Leo Frazier and James Gallagher.

The plaques will be presented by Chief Edward F. Barry and the tie clasps by Mayor James R. McIntyre.

Principal speaker will be Police Chief Francis X. Finn.

Invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Chester A. Partee, Christ Episcopal Church, and Rev. Edward S. Sullivan, Star of the Sea Church, fire department chaplains.

A prayer for members of the department who have died during the past year will be said by Rev. Fr. Sullivan in memory of Capt. Frederick Mullaney, Firefighters Edward F. Lane, John DeCelle, John McDermott, Joseph Dhooge, and former department chaplains, Rt. Rev. Arthur J. Riley and Rev. Dennis J. O'Leary.

Why Should You Buy Your 1969 Chevy From President Chevrolet?

That's a reasonable question. Here are some reasonable answers:

- To begin with we have a wide selection of the 1969 Chevrolets in stock. You may not even have to wait for delivery.
- Then you have to consider the future. We have 20 expert mechanics and a Service Department that's open 70 hours a week.
- Plus we have one of New England's largest Chevrolet parts department.
- We have 10 personable and knowledgeable salesmen.
- We have 15 successful years of automotive selling experience.
- We're open every week night till 9:00
- We're conveniently located.
- And we have a reputation for fair competitive prices, a reputation we have no intention of losing.

Why should you buy from us? Just because

A bright-eyed four-year-old will be crowned "Little Miss North Quincy" by Mayor James R. McIntyre on Friday morning. Beginning a two-day reign at the third annual North Quincy Board of Trade Sidewalk Sale Mardi Gras will be Mary Beth Golden. The winner of the 1,000-vote plus tabulation is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Golden of 47 Waterston Ave.

The 11 a.m. regal ceremony will be the kick-off event in a gala carnival of sidewalk values to be displayed by participating North Quincy merchants.

The coronation will unfold at the bandstand at 47 Billings Rd. In addition to celebrity honors, Mary Beth will receive a $50 savings bond and a family dinner at Walsh's Restaurant, North Quincy.

Setting the bargain tempo for the Sidewalk Sale which includes 40 participating members of the North Quincy Board of Trade, will be the organ music of Dave Meade. The organ serenade will be continuous from 4 to 9 p.m. on Friday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

As an extra attraction for bargain conscious shoppers, free prizes and gifts will be awarded at numerous stores during the Mardi Gras event.

Joseph Doran, North Quincy Board of Trade president, said that this year's contest for "Little Miss North Quincy," was the most active yet staged.

Tabulating the final results in the closely-waged voting by residents were Mr. and Mrs. John Sheehy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gantert, both of North Quincy.

Quincy-Built USS Whale Joins The Fleet

TALE SKIPPER Comdr. William M. Wolff, Jr., cuts cake replica of his new submarine at reception First Naval District Headquarters following commissioning ceremony. Lookin on is Lt. Comdr. William McAnree, acting executive officer of the Whale.

Sunbeams

The Milwaukee, second of six new class replenishment fleet oilers being built at General Dynamics' Quincy Division, will get a "no splash" launching in January.

Its sister ship, The Wichita (AOR-1) slid down the ways last March 16—the first old fashioned launching since General Dynamics re-opened the yard Jan. 1, 1964. But the Milwaukee (remember when only cruisers were named for cities) will be floated out.

The six oilers being built for the Navy under a $172.4 million contract, are the "heaviest" ships constructed in Quincy in a quarter-century.

When fully loaded, each will displace 37,360 tons making them the heaviest displacement tonnage Navy vessels built here since the 42,400-ton battleship Massachusetts was christened in 1941.

It also makes them "heavier" than the aircraft carrier Lexington (33,300 tons), heavy cruisers Quincy and Boston (15,208), nuclear cruiser Long Beach (14,300) and nuclear frigates Bainbridge, 7,672 tons.

But the oilers are comparative shrimps to the 105,500 ton deadweight ton tanker Manhattan christened here in 1962—the biggest merchantman ever built in a U.S. shipyard.

The "Built In Quincy" label is famous the world over.

POLITICAL NOTES: Dist. Atty. George G. Burke of Quincy is Norfolk County campaign coordinator for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket ... John Golden, the Quincy printer, has been elected chairman of the Cohasset Democratic Town Committee.

WHAT-EVER happened to Sonny Tufts? That's been a standing gag for years. If you happened to be tuned in, you saw him the other night on the Rowan-Martin "Laugh In". But did you know he used to live in Hull?

CLARK BOOTH, the Ch. 7 sportscaster, is a former Quincy news reporter ... The fellow doing those TV cigarette commercials (the one about filters) is Gene Wood, class of 1943, Quincy High School.

WHAT MAY BE the best local harmony team since Hum 'n' Strum has been booked for the Christ Church "Happy Show", Oct. 23. Combining in a duet: Mayor James R. McIntyre and Rev. Chester A. Porteus, rector ... Rev. Porteus participates every year favoring Scotch and Irish renditions. His prior partner was former Fire Chief Thomas F. Gorman ... Mayor McIntyre, a lesser known balladeer, has been invited to join the show by Mrs. Frances Craig, director. (And with this an election year, his Honor might be tempted to try "Donkey Serenade")

THE NORTH QUINCY high football team is on its way to a winning season—and free haircuts. Charles Rizzo, N.Q. barber and rabid rooster, has promised the squad hair cuts on the house if it's a winning season.

CONGRATULATIONS: Ralph Logan of Houghs Neck, serving with the U.S. Army in The Philippines, has been promoted to sergeant. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Logan and is expected home on leave next month.

MILESTONE: Mr and Mrs. Ralph A. Tutela of 49 Atherton St. are marking their 19th wedding anniversary and planning a trip to New York City to celebrate. She's the former Josephine Panarelli. And she is one wife who is certain to get flowers on her anniversary — and a nice variety. Her husband is Ralph, the florist.

POLICE CHIEF Francis X. Finn is a member of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association's Firearms Committee pushing for strong gun control laws.

WHICH REMINDS US: The Police Chiefs Association's current newsletter has this light-side observation: "Never trust a man who says he's boss in his own house. He'll lie about other things, too."

New Senior Citizens Group Organized In Quincy Point

Senior Citizens of Quincy Point displayed their enthusiasm for forming a group of their own when more than 35 residents of that section attended an organizational meeting last week at Fore River Clubhouse.

The meeting was arranged through the Quincy Council on Aging under the direction of John F. Sheehan, executive director of the council.

The new group is the fourth to be formed within the city in conjunction with the Quincy Council on Aging since that agency opened its office in the Kennedy Health Center a year and a half ago.

With the organization of the Quincy Point Group, Mr. Sheehan has pointed out that approximately 4000 residents of the city who are 60 years and over have been reached by the Quincy Council on Aging through the formation of Senior Citizen Groups and the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizen Groups formed last year by the Quincy Council on Aging a year ago. The goal of the council's executive director is to reach all of Quincy's 15,000 elderly citizens through organized groups and by other services rendered through the office of the Council on Aging.

Mr. Sheehan announced plans for the formation of additional groups in the North Quincy and Wollaston areas.

Special guests at the organizational meeting were Ward 2 Councilor Clifford Marshall, William F. Ryan, Quincy Recreation Director.

Candidates Night

The Montclair Men's Club and Quincy Citizens Association will co-sponsor a Candidates Night at 8 p.m., Thursday, October 17 at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd., Montclair.

Volters of Quincy are most cordially invited.

Q. Is there a guide to follow for the size turkey you should buy?
A. Allow for each person 1½ lbs. of the ready-to-stuff turkey and 1½ to 2 lbs. of already stuffed turkey. This amount will yield generous servings with enough left for snacks and next day dishes.
Q. What is the advantage of a deep basted turkey?
A. Special self-basting mixture, added deep inside where hand basting can't reach, bastes the Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey all the way through as it cooks. Exclusive vegetable oil recipe won't alter the natural flavor but assures you of tenderness and juiciness never before possible ... every time.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

(Dr. Joseph D. Wasserug, of Quincy, specialist in internal medicine and pulmonary disease, is guest columnist today for Dr. Charles Djert)

By Joseph D. Wasserug, M.D.

So much as already been written about emphysema, so why another article? The answer is simple. Admittedly, emphysema is a serious disorder in some cases. But the truth is that it is not necessarily the "choking" or "suffocating" disease that some frantic authors make it out to be.

It is unfortunate that such hysteria has even entered some of the conservative writings of doctors. For example, in the annual report of The National Tuberculosis Association (March 31, 1967) emphysema is described as the "CREEPING SUFFOCATION." The author states, "Millions of Americans are faced with the danger of slow strangulation from non-tuberculous respiratory diseases." He should know better!

Let's put aside for a moment the high-powered public relations writers and the neurotic sub-sister columnists. Let us view EMPHYSEMA as we would any other disease with a calm and objective eye so that we can understand it.

What is emphysema? In its simplest terms, emphysema is a condition which occurs when you get more air into your lungs than you can get out, usually over a long period of time. When a person has emphysema he may be able to breathe in easily enough but expiration, or breathing out, is usually forced and prolonged. In a sense, because of this, the lung gets to be a little too big for the chest.

We can understand emphysema best if we first take a look at the NORMAL anatomy of the lungs. First, there are the bronchial tubes. The airway starts with the nostrils and the mouth. Both lead into the pharynx and then a larynx (voice box), which in turn sits at the top of the windpipe. The windpipe (trachea) divides into a left and right main BRONCHUS. These bronchi, right and left, divide again further into the air sacs, where the oxygen of the air is absorbed by the blood and the carbon dioxide of the blood is picked up to be exhaled.

The main mechanical forced behind respiration is the DIAPHRAGM lying just below the lungs. It acts as a tough rubbery piston that sucks in air every time it contracts and pulls down. As the diaphragm relaxes air is forced out of the lungs.

Helping the diaphragm in the mechanics of breathing are the INTERCOSTAL MUSCLES, which lie between the ribs, and the ACCESSORY MUSCLES OF RESPIRATION, which are attached from the neck to the upper ribs. If the diaphragm is weak or functioning poorly these accessory muscles work hardest. While inspiration, or breathing in, is due to the very definite active contraction of muscles, expiration, or breathing out, is largely the result of the so-called PASSIVE RECOIL of the chest and diaphragm. It is as if one repeatedly stretched a rubber band and then let it go. In the normal anatomy the chest is usually two-and-a-half to three times longer from side to side than it is from front to back.

There is a chemical and physiologic "drive" to respiration as well as a mechanical one. Basically, the function of respiration is to get the oxygen into the blood and to drive the carbon dioxide out. This process, however, is so complicated that doctors do not have any one simple test that can measure the efficiency or the effectiveness of respiratory function.

To really know how effective the respiratory process is in any given patient, doctors may have to measure the acidity of arterial blood, the amount of carbon dioxide in the expired air, the speed of air flow in quiet and forced breathing. Figures often obtained may have to be compared with average standards and corrected or adjusted for the patient's age, size and sex. When many careful blood and gas measurements are made the doctor may then have a fairly good idea as to what degree the patient's lung function has been damaged by the emphysema.

It must be pointed out that the doctor cannot always tell from a physical examination whether the patient has emphysema or not. It must be also pointed out that the ordinary x-ray of the chest is not always a sure guide as to the presence or absence of emphysema.

By fluoroscoping the chest and watching the motions of the diaphragm the doctor's diagnostic accuracy of emphysema is considerably increased. By making certain breathing tests and blood examinations, the diagnostic accuracy is further enhanced. When such tests are carried out, one finds that there are some very mild cases of emphysema in which respiratory efficiency is only slightly diminished, and there are those of increasing severity up to and including those unfortunate persons who may be truly labeled as being "respiratory cripples."

Lung function can be damaged in many ways. The damage can be local, covering only a relatively small area of lung tissue. This may happen, for example, when pneumonia has failed to completely heal, or there are scars from an old healed tuberculous process. In emphysema more often than not, there is less likely to be localized damage to the lungs; rather, the damage is more widespread and diffuse.

Chronic infection, such as bronchitis or bronchopneumonia, may produce long-standing and destructive changes in the lungs. Enlarged glands in the chest may press on the bronchial tubes. Harmful dusts in the atmosphere and some dusty occupations are especially important. Breathing polluted air, like drinking polluted water, does no one any good.

AIR POLLUTION IS A CAUSE OF EMPHYSEMA. Surprisingly, cigarette smoking is our number one air pollution. Most persons with emphysema are heavy smokers of cigarettes.

What happens to the lungs when they are disrupted by noxious inhalants and by infections?

First, the diaphragm becomes depressed and flattened out, the chest enlarges from front to back, the accessory muscles in the neck pull harder and raise the upper ribs and the collarbone. The result of all this is that the lung volume increases and the chest takes on a barrel-shaped appearance. Microscopically the walls of the air sacs become disrupted so that each air sac becomes larger but the total

United Fund At 25% Of Goal

The Quincy United Fund has achieved $10,600 of its $42,826 1968-69 goal, it was announced by community chairman Stephen T. Keefe, Jr. at a Quincy Report Luncheon on Monday.

The luncheon was held at the Ships' Haven Restaurant where it was also announced that the drive progress was scheduled to attain 55 percent of the final goal by Oct. 23.

It is hoped that 100 percent can be achieved by Nov. 13.

Serving in leadership capacities with Mr. Keefe are the following committee chairmen: Gerald T. Reilly, vice chairman; Mrs. Joseph F. Riley, audit chairman; Mrs. Joseph N. Political Adv.

Casey, John J. Sullivan, publicity chairman.

Richard Garvey, local business; Joseph Angelo, John Latak, J. Brooks Robbie, Robert Williams, Irving Boyes and John McGue, ward chairmen.

number of air sacs in the lungs diminishes. Decreasing the number of air sacs, lowers the efficiency of gas exchange between the lungs and the blood stream. In other words, although the lungs become larger in emphysema they function LESS effectively and efficiently.

Although x-rays may provide a clue as to the presence of emphysema, x-rays of the chest by themselves are usually not too helpful or diagnostic. The size of a person's chest will vary not only with his height and weight but also with his age, his athletic ability, physical fitness, and even whether he plays a wind instrument. If the radiologist has all the facts before him he may be able to make a better "educated guess" than he would otherwise. Unfortunately, when a patient goes to a radiologist for a routine chest x-ray there is little or no history that accompanies a record.

Let me repeat, emphysema may be a serious disease of the lungs causing progressive disability and death. On the other hand, there are many people around with mild cases of emphysema who will outlive their emphysema and die of other causes. For them the emphysema may be a mild disease, more an annoyance than a disability.

If you are a cigarette smoker who has a chronic cough you would do well to quit to avoid developing emphysema. Better yet, quit smoking cigarettes whether you cough or not!

Police Seek Mobile TV Unit

and fairly under emergency conditions.

Development of means to provide assistance to victims of riots and civil disorders.

Chief Finn proposed that the closed circuit TV equipment be used not only in Quincy but throughout the Metropolitan area.

In his communication to Mayor McIntyre, the chief cited the recent Chicago rioting:

"One significant problem that has arisen because of civil disorders is objective reporting. While rioting in Chicago during the Democratic National Convention aroused national concern, the veracity of media coverage has been questioned during many civil disorders.

"A complete, accurate and objective record of civil disorders is necessary to protect all individual, public and police rights."

He said the use of a closed circuit video tape recorder during civil disorders would serve several purposes:

In recording a civil disorder, the tape would answer the questions which are often answered incorrectly as to what really happened.

A visual record would determine whether constitutional rights were violated and what role provocation played.

A complete and accurate record of a riot would build police morale and encourage restrained action.

"Therefore," he said, "by recording what actually happened—the truth—the rights of all involved are protected and the chance for out of text comments diminished."

Chief Finn noted that the video tape recorder would also serve as a valuable training tool. The Quincy Police Department conducts a Regional Police Training School serving both the Quincy and other South Shore police departments.

The tape recorder, he said, would allow expansion of the riot control training program thusly: Films of riots could be carefully studied for causes, problems and mistakes.

Films of mass gatherings, such as football games, could be analyzed for mob psychology and crowd control.

Riot films would provide simulated experience.

Guest lecturers could be recorded for other classes and departments.

Chief Finn added: "The City of Quincy will comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to the end that no person shall, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity for which the applicant has been granted."

Mayor McIntyre had this comment on the proposed purchase:

"I think an important part of police public relations is objective reporting. The video tape will provide this. And both the police department and the public will know that every action of a disorder is being recorded and will lead, I am sure, to a better handling of such disorders."

CCD Teaching Program On Closed Circuit TV

DEATHS

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, in cooperation with the Catholic Television Center, is offering a course in "Principles Of Teaching" for all religion teachers and interested adults.

This course, consisting of eight programs in now being broadcast on the Archdiocesan closed circuit TV on Wednesday evenings, at 7:30 p.m.

In this area, the viewing center is St. Joseph School, Pray Street, Quincy.

The purpose of this course is to assist those actively engaged in teaching Confraternity Classes to better understand the ways that the message of Christianity can be communicated to children at various age levels, and to provide confidence and insights to those who are considering the possibility of teaching CCD groups in the future.

Interested parents were urged to enroll in this course which offers them the opportunity to better fulfill their role as the "first teacher" in the home.

The first four programs will be concerned with making relevant the Christian Message today as it relates to the individual in his present environment.

General principles of educational psychology, ways and means of adapting religious concepts to the needs of an individual child, and similar subjects, are among the topics that will be discussed.

The program will begin with a 15-minute preparation by the resource person.

The TV program starts at 7:45 p.m. and lasts approximately 45 minutes, followed by a 45 minute discussion of the salient points which were presented in the television lesson.

During the course there will be opportunities offered for call-in questions and answers, similar to those now popular on public radio and television.

Further information on this course and others may be obtained at St. Joseph Rectory, 556 Washington Street, Quincy. An additional set of courses will be offered in February.

Irv Wermont To Speak At Club Dinner

Author and humorist Irv Wermont will be the guest speaker at the Oct. 23 annual ladies night of the General Dynamics Management Club.

Wermont has entertained audiences throughout the country in explaining his theory that people would live longer and have richer lives if they would exchange their worries for laughs.

He titles his speech, "Humor - The Greatest Medicine."

The dinner meeting will be at The Surf, Nantasket. A 6:30 cocktail hour will start the night and dancing will follow the dinner.

Ticket arrangements can be made through Management Club boosters chairman Kurt Butterfield at shipyard telephone extension 3181.

Quincy Council To Install Slate

Carl V. MacLeod of 57 Quincy Street will be installed as the first president of the Southwest Quincy Community Council at a buffet dinner dance Friday (Oct. 19) at Morissette Legion Post Hall in West Quincy. Mrs. Alice Kowalek, former assistant director of the Quincy Community Action Program, will officiate at the installation ceremonies.

Dancing will be held from 8 p.m. until midnight. Pete Alveda and his orchestra will play. The buffet will be served at 10:30 p.m.

Among the special guests will be Mayor and Mrs. James H. McIntyre. More than 100 persons are expected to attend.

Others to be installed will be Mrs. Harriet Drew of 338 Station Street, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Prezioso of 34 Roberts Street, secretary and Joseph Shea, of 23 Connell Street, treasurer.

Golden Age Id's Issued

The Quincy Council on Aging
Office, located on the main floor of the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock Street, is now issuing the official senior citizen identification cards. The cards are available to any Quincy resident who is 60 years old and over.

John F. Sheehan, executive director of the council, has announced that identification cards previously issued by the Quincy Recreation Department are still being honored as in the past.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

The late John Wannamaker once said, "Half the money I spend in advertising is wasted. But I have never been able to figure out just which half."

Maybe he was jesting. Maybe not. We don't know. But we do know there are problems in even attempting to do any funeral home advertising. Almost all funeral homes can and do say the same things.
The ads usually stress quiet, dignified service; reverent care; sympathetic understanding; reputation for attention to detail; and so on. Actually however, when funeral home services are needed, the selection is nearly always made for reasons of reputation.

Through the years, our firm has earned a deservedly good reputation. Many families already know this. Even so, to better acquaint everyone with who we are, what we stand for, how and what we think, - this new column will appear every week in this paper. Watch for it. Read it. You will find it interesting...

Greece-Born Ace Sparks

North Booters

Quincy has its Scotland-born coach, Ronnie Martin, and North Quincy's soccer team has its Greece-born star, George Bourikas.

This boy, only a sophomore, has played a prominent role in North Quincy's excellent season and a big reason the Raiders are in contention for the South Shore Association's Division One title. Young Bourikas scored a goal which tied Hingham, although Hingham went on to win in double overtime, and he scored the winning goal in a big 2-1 victory over Sharon.

Last week George, North's leading scorer, added two goals in a 5-0 romp over Plymouth-Carver.

That win put North's record 3-1-2, trailing Hingham (5-2) and Sharon (4-2) and leading rival Quincy (3-1-1) in a red hot race. "Bourikas is a fine player and he should be one of the greatest ones before he graduates", Coach George Golding said. "But this isn't a one-man team by any means. Everyone is playing fine soccer and this is still anyone's race."

The other goals against Plymouth-Carver were scored by Dave Haight, Pete Davis and Steve Mullane.

The Division One race tightened when Sharon upset leading Hingham, 2-1. In Division Two defending league champ Duxbury had a 4-1-1 record and Avon a 2-1-2 mark.

After this was written, North Quincy met powerful Duxbury and Plymouth-Carver again.

Today the Raiders play at South Shore Vocational in Hanover and next Thursday will be home to Sharon.

North Season Scoring

	TD	PAT	Total
Polvere	3	6	24
Bray	3	6	24
Meyer	2	0	12
Poore	1	2	8
Connerty	1	0	6
Swirbalus	1	0	6
Trubiano	1	0	6
Sleeth	0	2	2

North Quincy's football team continues to roll merrily along and Saturday will be favored to make it four wins in a row when it plays at Medford at 1:30.

Following a 24-0 win over Malden, the Raiders must rate as favorites over Medford, which was walloped by Somerville, 35-19, last week after defeating a weak Chelsea club, 33-6.

North looks better every week and Coach Carl Leone was pleased with last week's showing despite several fumbles and mistakes in the first half.

"The first half was a defensive battle while the offense took over in the second half," Leone said. "We made a lot of mistakes in the first half and fumbles hurt us, but we bounced back and did a very good job in the second half."

Carl wouldn't single out any defensive standouts but praised his entire defensive line. He also hailed Wege Trubiano for his pass interception and 90-yard runback for the only touchdown of the first half. "That was a big play for us, as we were having our troubles during those first two periods," the veteran coach said.

Leone had words of praise for his ball carriers, Don Polvere, who gained 67 yards in 15 carries, Larry Bray, 53 yards in 14, and Don Meyer, 59 yards in seven carries. He also praised Jay Connerty, Joe Lane and his excellent quarterback, Bob Sleeth, who had one touchdown pass and passed for all three two-point conversions.

"I don't plan any changes for the Medford game and we should be at full strength," Leone explained. "Our defense is clicking well and the defense has been outstanding in every game and I don't think it is necessary to make any changes."

Leading by only an 8-0 count at halftime, North added touchdowns in each of the last two periods. In the third period Connerty intercepted a pass and the Raiders drove 50 yards with Sleeth passing to Meyer for the touchdown and then passing to Polvere for the points.

In the finale, North marched 72 yards with Bray going over from the three. Sleeth passed to Bray for the points.

Following Trubiano's touchdown in the first period, Sleeth had passed to Steve Poore for the points.

North ground out 18 first downs to just five for Malden and had a wide rushing edge.

Following the Medford game North should have little trouble with Chelsea but then comes a big test at Everett following a non-league loss to Newton. Everett rebounded to top Somerville and Quincy in league play and looms as a solid threat to North for the league crown.

Like the varsity team and like Quincy's junior varsity and sophomore clubs, the North jayvees and sophs are also unbeaten. The Jayvees have defeated Boston College High, Revere and Lynn English, while the Sophs have wins over B. C. High, Brookline and Scituate.

Curran, Varney Top North

Alumni On College Grids

North Quincy players on college football teams are out-numbered by those from other sections of the city.

But two of the outstanding players this fall are former North Quincy High players.

Bill Curran is captain and one of Northeastern's premier backs. He had a sensational season two years ago and, although hampered by injuries last year, played fine ball and he is off to another fast start this year. He is rated by veteran coach Joe Zabiski as one of his finest running backs.

And Dave Varney, another former Raider standout, is one of the finest sophomores Harvard has had in many years. After the Crimson's opening day win over Holy Cross, Dave was chosen as the Sophomore of the Week in New England, and he had another big day in the romp over Bucknell. The big end is a standout pass receiver and is a key man in Coach John Yovisin's plans this year.

Other North Quincy boys playing college football include Don Nugent, a fullback at Tufts, and Don Houghton, an end at Bridgewater State.

One of North's all-time greats, Bo Lyons, is an assistant coach at Northeastern.

College Rosters Heavy With Quincy Stars

Quincy is represented by several players on current college football squads, both Quincy High graduates and those who attended other high schools.

One of the outstanding Quincy performers is Dan Raymond, co-captain and star lineman for Holy Cross. Another is Dick Giachetti, off to an excellent start as offensive end at Tufts.

Jack Gantley is a standout guard for Navy and Russ Willis is a fine linebacker for the Middies.

Joe McDonald is a halfback at Boston College, John McGeoghegan a halfback at B.C., Mike Jordan an end at Holy Cross, Ed McGilgray a lineman at Holy Cross, Pete Pascuccio, who attended Boston College High, a halfback at Tufts, Bernie Stewart, a lineman at Colby, George Alongi a guard at Northeastern and Steve Cato a guard at Bridgewater State.

Of course, one of Quincy's all-time greats, Gey Salvucci, is head coach at American International College.

And, oh yes, Frank Stewart is the starting goalie for the University of Maine soccer team.

Quincy's football team will make a third try for its first Greater Boston League victory Saturday when it meets Malden in a 1:30 game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Coach Hank Conroy, pretty well satisfied with his offense, hopes the Presidents will show the same strong defense it displayed in the second half of last week's game in which Quincy was nipped by Everett, 32-30.

"Our defense had suffered a letdown against Revere and it still left much to be desired in the first half of the Everett game," Conroy said. "But the boys came back strong with a 100 percent effort and held them scoreless during the last two periods. If we can play that kind of defense in our remaining games, we should do all right. I may make a few defensive changes but will stick with the same offense, which has been operating well."

Malden lost its league opener to North Quincy, 24-0, last week after edging Boston Latin, 7-6, and losing to Haverhill, 14-12, in non-league games.

"It was a wonderful comeback against Everett and it makes you feel good to see such an effort despite the disappointment of the loss," the Quincy coach added. Quincy, trailing, 32-16, at halftime came within inches of tying the game in the final two minutes of play.

Conroy extolled his outstanding quarterback, Steve McDevitt, who scored once and threw three touchdown passes. Steve, after passing to Dick Kenney for a touchdown with 2:49 to play, was stopped inches from the goal line in the try for the tying points.

Also praised by their coach for their offensive performances were Pat Quinn, Kenney, Ken Prouty, Steve Carreira and the entire interior line, which blocked well.

On defense Conroy hailed the efforts of Rick Pettit, safety man Steve Lofino, Dennis Hogan, Bill Kelley and Steve Lappen.

"We were minus two starters, I'd Reynolds and Paul Pezarski, but I think they will be back this week," Hank said. "We came out of the Everett game without any serious injuries and should be at full strength for Malden."

Everett, winning for the eighth straight time over Quincy, started with a bang when Greg Washington picked off a Quincy pass and ran it back 90 yards for a touchdown. Before Quincy could get on the scoreboard, the Crimson Tide had rolled to a 26-0 lead.

Quincy's first touchdown in the second period came on a 23-yard pass from McDevitt to Prouty and McDevitt passed to Dick Menchi for the points. After another Everett score, Quincy drove 59 yards with a 25-yard pass from McDevitt to Grimes and McDevitt's rushing conversion making the score 32-16 at the half.

In the final period McDevitt scored from the three and Carreira rushed for the points. Then came the scoring pass from McDevitt to Kenney covering 12 yards and McDevitt's unsuccessful try for the tying points.

While the varsity has only a 1-2 record, both the junior varsity and sophomore teams are undefeated. The Jayvees have defeated Boston College High and Revere and the sophs have wins over Brockton, Dedham and Weymouth.

Quincy Soccer Surge Has Scotch Accent

When Quincy's soccer team dropped its South Shore Association opener to defending league champion, Duxbury, the Presidents' new coach, Ronnie Martin, admitted his team had much to learn.

As expected, Martin, who played a good deal of soccer in his native Scotland and later starred with the Boston Celtics amateur team, has been a fine teacher.

After losing that game, Quincy went unbeaten in its next four games (three wins and a tie) including its biggest win, a 1-0 surprise over previously unbeaten Avon, which is giving Duxbury a battle in Division Two.

In that game the only goal was scored by Paul Kaplan in the third period with assists by Jim McGuire and Russ Barry.

Quincy's defense was superb and its outstanding goalie, Mike DeGrecio, was called on to make only 12 saves, but several were of the spectacular variety. In contrast, Avon goalie Steve McNally had to make 21 stops as he turned in another great performance.

"We have improved a great deal since our first game and I think we can handle anyone in the league," Martin said. "The boys have gained much confidence and are playing fine soccer."

After this was written, Quincy had two big games with Sharon and Hingham, but Martin was

New Legal Action Planned By Opponents Of Dumping

The Quincy Community Concern Association will move ahead with legal plans to block municipal dumping operations. The citizens's group met a reverse last week when their petition for a temporary injunction to block dumping in the Field-Wilde quarries was denied.

A motion to advance a pending case against the rubbish disposal will be filed in Superior Court, association chairman David A. Shepherd said.

Additional legal action will also be considered against Police Chief Francis X. Finn to enforce an ordinance prohibiting the dumping of outside rubbish in Quincy.

Also under consideration is a suit against the City Council and Mayor James R. McIntyre. The action would seek enforcement of conditions of a Duane Corporation deed prohibiting the use of animal and vegetable matter to fill the quarries.

A mass meeting of "adversely affected property owners" will be called to consider a damage suit against the city, Shepherd announced.

The complainants represent residents in the Hospital Hill and Cranch Hill areas. More than 300 residents signed a protest petition against the quarry operations presented to the City Council early last month.

The association has registered its support for a municipal incinerator.

Quincy High Student Editor Featured On TV

A television program called "Student Voice" has been running since August of this year on WHDH. The program is sponsored by WHDH and the Massachusetts Council of Education.

This Friday at 9:30 a.m. and again on Oct. 25 a student from Quincy High School will appear on the show.

The student is Loren Ostro and he is presently editor of the school newspaper, the "Pony Express".

Ostro along with three other high school editors, in the course of the program, will present an article of local national or international news to their television audience. The editors will later be asked specific questions on the context of their news article.

Towards the end of the half hour program questions, concerning editorials, will be directed at the students by Northeastern University professor Dr. Vetslein.

Ostro hopes to continue appearing on the program longer than his scheduled two appearances. But it depends on the quality of his articles.

Burke Seeks Bail Curb

Soaring Court Default Costs Hit Quincy Taxpayers

QUEEN AND HER COURT—Reigning over the two-day North Quincy Mardi Gras last week was Mary Beth Golden. Sharing honors with Mary Beth were contest finalists, left, Pattie Ridlen and Martha Gallagher. Attending the ceremonies were, from left, Joseph Doran, North Quincy Board of Trade president; Councilman and State Representative Walter Hannon; Harold Glickman, program chairman; Major James R. McIntyre, who officially crowned the four-year-old queen, City Council president Vincent Smyth and Bernard Moore, Quincy-South Shore chamber of Commerce Secretary.

Quincy taxpayers are being hardest hit by the problem of increasing court defaults, it was disclosed yesterday by Norfolk County District Attorney George G. Burke.

Burke said that the costly failure of defendants to appear in court when due is becoming serious.

He revealed his concern for the problem and recommendations to alleviate defaults in a letter directed to all Norfolk County District Court judges.

The letter was sent through Norfolk County Chief Justice Kenneth Nash, Burke said.

The delinquent defendants are involved principally in appeal cases from District to Superior Court. But some Grand Jury cases are also involved in the defaults, the District Attorney stated.

The Quincy law enforcement official recommended that in appeals cases from district court, defendants be required to put up $100 bail.

"It is not a question of penalizing the defendant unduly," Burke stated. "Because the bail is returned when he appears in court."

"It is not our intention to increase bail but to cut down on the number of persons suing the appeals procedure to avoid prosecution."

Burke stressed that the time spent by his office in investigating

UN Day Observance To Honor Viet Hero

Quincy United Nations Day ceremonies will be observed at noon today (Thursday) with ceremonies in front of Quincy City Hall.

Highlight of the annual observances will be the honoring of a Quincy Green Beret hero, Richard Davis, 21, who was killed in Viet Nam on June 6.

Nine medals, including the Silver Star, will be awarded to Mrs. Theresa Reardon of 58 Campbell St., in honor of her son. The Viet Nam soldier was also the son of the late Master Sgt. Richard S. Davis.

Making the presentation to Mrs. Reardon will be Col. L.A.

Lafayette and Master Sgt. Joseph J. Nazzaro of the U.S. Army Advisory Corps, Boston. The Quincy High School Band will open the ceremonies with a series of three selections. Featured speakers will include Mayor James R. McIntyre and Irish Consul Gerard O'Leary.

Presenting a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Reardon will be City Councilor Edward S. Graham, chairman of the Veterans Service Committee.

United Nations Day chairman is City Councilor and Rep. Arthur H. Tobin. Serving as co-chairman is Anthony Famigletti.

General Dynamics Force 8,336 And 500 Jobs Still Available

The workforce at General Dynamics' Quincy Division is now at the 8,336 mark—with 500 jobs still open and waiting to be filled.

The shipyard has current contracts totalling approximately $300 million and is now bidding for a $96 million contract to build three cargo ships for the Lykes Steamship Co.

In addition to this, the Quincy yard is one of the three finalists in competition for the DX "package" program to replace the Navy's present destroyer fleet.

Speculation in shipbuilding circles is that as many as 200 new destroyers may be built at a cost of up to $2 billion by the winning yard.

General Dynamics and the other two finalists, Bath Iron Works and Litton Industries, will submit their actual bids by the end of March, 1969.

The Quincy yard expects to know by next month if it is being awarded the $96 million contract for the three cargo ships.

But the need for the 500 workers is based on the current contracts which will run through 1971 and include an ammunition ship, six fleet replenishment oilers, four landing ship docks, two submarine tenders and the nuclear submarine Sunfish.

Edward F. Hart, employment manager, said the 500 job openings are for: shipfitters, pipefitters, pipe coverers, carpenters, welders and sheet metal workers.

Those interested are invited to apply to the General Dynamics Employment Office, 96 East Howard St., Quincy Point.

Mondays through Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

General Dynamics purchased the 175-acre shipbuilding facility from Bethlehem Steel in December, 1963 after the once mighty workforce had dwindled to 1,800.

The new owner temporarily closed the plant for reorganization and re-opened it Jan. 1, 1964. Starting from zero, it gradually brought employment to the present 8,336.

Annual Christmas Parade Set For Quincy On Dec. 7

George C. Fay, General Chairman for the 1968 South Shore Christmas Festival has announced that the 17th annual Santa Claus Parade will be held on Sunday, December 1, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Anthony M. Famigletti, Superintendent of Cemeteries for Quincy, and the City's official Parade Co-ordinator will once again be Parade Chairman.

Letters are being sent out to many area clubs, Churches, and other organizations inviting them to participate with a float or marching unit in the Parade. Commercial floats are also being encouraged thru a new category.

A variety of trophies and prizes will be awarded to best overall floats, most original, best use of theme, outstanding Quincy organizational effort, and several others.

This year's float theme is "Children's Stories." Any South Shore organization or business interested in entering a float in this year's Christmas Parade should contact Bernie Moore, Festival Secretary or write to South Shore Christmas Festival Parade, 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy, Massachusetts 02169.

Brett Files Bill To Aid Quincy Flooding Problem

Rep. Joseph E. Brett announced today he is filing legislation aimed at eliminating or at least lessening periodic flooding conditions in sections of West Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy Center.

The bill would direct the Metropolitan District Commission to immediately implement the recommendations made in a report by the Charles T. Main, Inc., engineering firm in 1956. The study was made after Hurricane Diane created havoc in many low-lying areas of the city in 1955.

The report recommended "Necessary Stream Improvements to Furnace Brook and Blacks Creek" and estimated in 1956 the cost of eliminating the danger of flooding conditions as a result of another hurricane at approximately $2.6 million.

"Today, of course," said Brett, "the cost would be somewhat higher but the costs to Quincy homeowners if nothing is done can amount much higher than the cost of correcting the problem."

Brett called his bill "must" legislation and asked for the support of other Quincy legislators and residents to get it passed next year.

Young Democrats Present 'Law And Order' Seminar

The Quincy Young Democratic Club has conducted a seminar and meeting on Wednesday at The Hollow Restaurant in Quincy.

Title of the seminar was "Law and Order - The Rights of Police Officers." Quincy Attorney, Joseph P. McFarland, who represents 27 local police departments for purposes of collective bargaining was the moderator.

Participants on the panel were:

Patrolman John T. Bartholomew of 246 Presidents Lane, Quincy, of the Quincy Police department.

Mr. Bartholomew, who has been a member of the department since 1954 and presently assigned to its traffic bureau, is the local president of the Committee for the protection of the Rights of Police Officers.

Also participating were John Cornwall, president of the Committee for the Protection of the Rights of Police Officers and a police officer in the city of Boston.

Mr. Cornwall's organization is presently limited to the city of Boston, but is rapidly expanding across the Commonwealth.

The final member of the panel was Detective Lt., Robert R. Masuret of 15 Great Hill Drive, North Weymouth, presently assigned to the District Attorney's office in Norfolk County.

Lt. Masuret has been cited by the Commissioner of Public Safety as a member of the uniform branch for his work in the narcotics field and as a Detective Lieutenant for his extensive and successful investigation of the recent homicide at the Norfolk County House of Correction.

Attorney McFarland, in commenting on the seminar stated that recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court have placed police officers in a position where in the eyes of some citizens, their rights are less than the average individual over whom they have an obligation to protect.

It is hoped that by presenting their views in a forum of this nature, the general public will obtain a better understanding of the problems encountered by police officers in providing effective law enforcement, McFarland said.

Quincy Sea Cadet Units Seek Volunteers 12-17

A call has been issued to youths between 12 and 17 to join a new Naval Sea Cadet unit.

Formation of the unit was announced yesterday by the organizing officer, Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Whitcomb.

Cmdr. Whitcomb said the group will meet each Friday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Naval Training Center on Sea St.

The Naval Cadets and related units are sponsored by the Navy League of the United States and has been authorized under a federal charter since 1962, Cmdr. Whitcomb said.

He described the purposes of the Naval Cadet organization:

"To recognized and set standards of performance for young men interested in learning the traditions and customs of naval service and to develop in them those qualities which make for good citizenship.

"Sea and air training is provided which will enhance their position if and when entering the naval service," Cmdr. Whitcomb stated.

Combined Quincy-Braintree Rubbish Disposal Studied

A proposal to combine Quincy and Braintree rubbish disposal operations was introduced Saturday at a meeting of the City Council Committee on disposal and dumping problems.

Engineer Frank Heaney of Camp, Dresser and McKee, design firm for the Braintree incinerator, discussed possible advantages of joint rubbish disposal with committee members.

Heaney appeared under authorization of the Braintree Refuse Committee to provide preliminary information relative to a combined disposal plan.

Economic advantages of a Braintree-Quincy operation were outlined, Quincy chairman George B. MacDonald said. Following the discussion, Councilman MacDonald was requested by his committee to arrange a joint meeting with the Braintree committee for an exchange of views and further exploration into the proposal.

MacDonald pointed out that his committee should move ahead with the understanding that Braintree residents support the proposal. The project would require presentation and approval at the Braintree Town Meeting in March if it met future agreement, MacDonald said.

Other rubbish disposal methods were under study, MacDonald pointed out, including an advanced method of compacting. A pilot compacting operation is used in Ohio, according to MacDonald, and the end product is baled and sold as block material.

Volume is reduced by 90 per cent under the compacting method and involves varying spraying and hardening methods in the refuse reduction process. MacDonald stressed that this is a new avenue which will be studied by the committee.

The committee is expected to make a trip to Ohio in order to study the operation first hand, it was announced.

The two hour meeting also featured reports by Councilman John J. Quinn and City Engineer Henry Nilsen on the recent trip to Greenwich, Ct. for an on-site incinerator inspection.

Also present were Councilmen Albert R. Barilato, John F. Koegler, Arthur Tobin and Public Works Comr. John M. Browne.

Quincy School Spotlight On Vocational Guidance

Quincy schools recognized National Vocational Guidance Week this week with a continuing variety of activities by students.

The week of Oct. 20-26 is co-sponsored in Massachusetts on behalf of guidance by the Massachusetts School Counselors Association.

Under the theme "Be Ready for Tomorrow: Get Guidance Today," a series of programs were launched in Quincy schools. All of the high schools and junior high schools are recognizing the week with bulletin board displays and special exhibits.

Quincy High School features 1968 graduates of the school who are employed in Quincy business and industry. Photographs of graduates have been made available through the cooperation of the Personnel Managers Club of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce. The exhibit at Quincy High will be planned by the art students under the direction of Mr. Robert Farello.

Atlantic Junior High School opened the week on October 22nd with an assembly for all girls concerning nursing as a career with Miss Patricia Roach of the Lawrence Nursing School, New London, Connecticut, as speaker.

Wednesday, three Atlantic alumni were invited to speak to the eighth grade on "Junior High School Preparation and its Importance to Future Careers". Speakers included Brook Maloof, William Flynn, and Donald McNally.

Selected occupational information films are also being shown throughout the week to interested students.

Business and industry and civic groups supplemented the observances in the schools with special presentations. At the South Shore National Bank, photographs of 1968 Quincy High School graduates now employed in Quincy business and industry were featured.

Also on display were samples of printed and audio-visual materials used year-round to provide occupational information in the Quincy schools.

The Monday noon program of the Quincy Kiwanis Club Centered on the topic: "Guidance Information Services of the Quincy Schools." Speakers were Miss Mildred B. Harrison, director of Guidance and Research; Miss Loyouse B. Forsyth and Carter C. Caudle of the Headquarters Guidance Staff.

Miss Forsyth and Mr. Caudle of the Quincy schools, serve as co-chairmen of the National Guidance Week Activities.

Cooperating in the week-long program arrangements are Maurice J. Daly, asst.

Heroism Award Honors Fire Lt. Joseph Malvesti

Fire Lt. Joseph P. Malvesti last night received the first Heroism Award presented by Cyril P. Morrisette Legion Post for his action in helping to save the life of an injured diver near Black's Creek Bridge last July.

The presentation was made by Post Comdr. Francis Mullen at the annual Fire Department Retirement Banquet held at the post home, West Quincy.

The Morrisette Post will present similar awards in the future to members of the Quincy Fire and Police Departments for acts of heroism.

Lt. Malvesti earlier was commended by Fire Chief Richard F. Barry in the following citation:

"It is with great pleasure that I commend Lieutenant Joseph P. Malvesti, presently attached to Engine Company No. 3, for his meritorious actions in assisting in the saving of the life of Charles Fkizian.

On July 8, 1968 at approximately 5:45 p.m. while swimming near the Black's Creek Bridge on Morrissey Boulevard, Quincy, Lt. Malvesti, while off duty, responded to a call for help to save an injured diver who was floating beneath the surface of the water. Along with Miss Deborah Nord, he succeeded in rescuing the severely injured man and bringing him into shore against a strong rapid, current. They were assisted at the shore line in removing the man from the water by Miss Nancy Peterson.

Lt. Malvesti's heroic action played an instrumental part in saving the life of the injured man.

VISIT GERMANY

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. McCarthy of 8 Lillian Rd., are visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Allegreni in Heidelberg, Germany. They will also visit Ireland, England and France. Mrs. Allegreni is the former Ann McCarthy.

The Quincy Fire Department takes pride in the action of this fine officer and this commendation shall be presented to Lt. Malvesti and it shall also be made part of his fire department record file.

In recognition of his act I hereby grant Lt. Malvesti two days off. I extend my personal congratulations to him for the saving of a life and for the honor he has brought to his family and the fire service."

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

What do you think would be Freud's reaction to the mania that exists about circumcision? Would he shrug his shoulders and say vain, conceited man wishes to out do and improve nature? Would he buy the irrational arguments presented to justify this unnecessary operation? After all, does it make sense to think that nature provided the foreskin as merely a protection for the foetal life in the uterus? When and if man can predict any infant's sex, medical ingenuity and maternal pressure will insist on circumcision before birth at the rate we are going now.

Why all this insistence? At birth, the foreskin is a protective covering and all that penile appendage is intended for at this age, is excretion. This function is not improved by removing the covering, as a matter of fact many infants require a subsequent operation called a meotomy because of narrowing of the opening due to irritation. Ulcers are all too frequent, too.

Cleanliness as an argument is also false. Nature would do an adequate good job. Occasionally, a collection of material called smegma does need release but not usually before age two, when retraction is much easier. Soap works wonders.

Some say that cancer of the penis is rare in circumcised males - this may be true but cancer of the penis is uncommon, easily detected and treated. Or that cancer of the cervix is unusual in certain ethnic groups, reasoned to be because of circumcision - this I can't buy because such cancer can occur in virginal women.

It is alleged that sexual capacity is greater in the haves - I know of no statistics to bear this up. There is contrary evidence denying this.

Doctors contend that the foreskin is too tight. So what! It is supposed to be! Most infants have it - so leave it alone! Nature is telling us to do just that.

And as for men in trenches having troubles, this is true - it would behoove one to eliminate war and keep men home out of the trenches - (everyone should read Aristophanes and his Lysistrata to learn how the Ancient Greek women attempted to cure man of his warring tendencies.)

In the Journal of American Medical Association, 1965 (Volume 193) Dr. William Keith Morgan wrote a critical commentary entitled "The Rape of the Phallus" - this is a classic worthy to be read by all. He, as I, does not construe our articles as crusades against all circumcisions but we feel "that 98 times out of 100 there's no valid indication for this mutilation other than religion."

We recognize the fact that there are specific indications but these are rarely necessary at birth and that physicians and parents should not urge the operation merely to keep up with the Jones. Reassessment of compulsions is necessary to prevent rigid unwieldy thinking - isn't it about time that physicians and parents thought this matter out, too?

I am inviting Dr. Norman Wilson, Urologist to write a rebuttal.

Master Builders Reorganize

The Quincy Master Builders and the Quincy Builders Association voted at a joint meeting at Sherry's this week to merge the two organizations under the name of the Quincy Master Builders Association.

Builders and sub-contractors make up the nucleus of the organization whose primary purpose is to promote public relations and to provide the city with suitable new buildings "needed to alleviate the tax burden caused primarily by and the MBTA assessment."

Richard Ambrosia, 28 Intervale St., was elected president. Also elected were Ralph Cappola, 250 Elliot St., vice-president; John H. Fallon, Jr., 31 Edgemere Rd., treasurer and Roger B. Lyons, 213 West Squantum St., secretary.

The monthly meetings will be held the second Wednesday evening of each month.

Fr. A. Paul Gallivan To Mark Silver Anniversary On Sunday

Rev. A. Paul Gallivan of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy will observe his Silver Anniversary to the priesthood by offering a Concelebrated Mass Sunday at 3 p.m.

Former priests of the parish returning to be Concelebrants with him at the Mass will be Rev. James Lally, Rev. William Joyce and Rev. James Haddad. Music will be directed by Mrs. William Adams.

Fr. Gallivan was ordained by Cardinal Cushing Oct. 28, 1943. His previous assignments before coming to Sacred Heart were at St. Michael's, North Andover; St. Coleman's, Brockton; St. John's, North Chelmsford and St. Paul's, Danvers, the latter from 1948 to 1962.

During these years, Fr. Gallivan became known as the "Park League Priest," his teams winning repeated championships in the CVO and Park League baseball, football, basketball.

Also during this period, the St. Paul's Musical Performers presented Rodgers & Hammerstein's productions of the "King and I," "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," and other hits at the former Lowe's State Theater in Boston.

Fr. Gallivan is a present director of the RIG Division U.C.S. in Boston, chairman of the Youth Division of the South Shore Area Planning Board and past chairman of the Graduate Athletic Board of Boston College.

A reception will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Sacred Heart School Hall following the Concelebrated Mass.

Amvets Post To Install Slate

Other officers to be installed are:

QUINCY ACES

Two Quincy stars played prominent roles in Tufts' 17-10 win over Wagner last week as the Jumbos, off to their best start in years, ran their record to 3-1.

Pacing the victory was quarterback Pete Cohen with his passing. And his two favorite receivers were Dick Giachetti and Pete Pasciucco, both of Quincy.

Cohen took turns hitting Giachetti, and end, and Pasciucco, a halfback. Giachetti scored the first touchdowns on a 10-yarder from Cohen.

Roger B. Whitcomb, first vice-commander, Henry Schaffer, second vice-commander, Philip Singer, adjutant, Walter Johnson, finance officer, Arthur Perette, judge advocate, William K. Mayer, provost marshal, Anthony M. Faniagetti, service and legislative officer, Lawrence Perette, public relations officer and Executive Committee members John M. Gillis, Richard J. Koch, Frank Richard, Charles Lopresti and Philip Peak.

FILM SERVICE

Five Quincy High juniors journeyed to Radcliffe in Cambridge this week to be interviewed by chapter representatives of the American Field Service, an exchange student organization.

Each student interview hopes to spend his summer vacation in Europe with the help of the A.F.S.

SAD NOTE: The death last week of Marine Pfc. John P. Coughlin brings to 26 the total number of Quincy boys who have lost their lives so far in Vietnam, according to Anthony M. Famigletti, city veterans graves registration officer. The toll includes those who lived or formerly lived in Quincy.

EDWARD H. BARRY of Hudson St., is on jury duty for three weeks at Dedham. And, he should feel quite at home. For many years he was assistant clerk at Boston Municipal clerk. He knows as much about the law as most judges do.

INCIDENTALLY, Ed passes along this little item which you better keep in mind if you have a business that employs women. In case you missed it, a new state law approved last May 24 says: "No female employee shall be permitted to lift or carry any object which weighs in excess of 40 pounds. Whoever knowingly violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $50. So be a gentleman, boss, and pick it up yourself.

NICE GESTURE—DEPT. Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr., as trustee of the Agnes V. Philben Trust, will distribute Christmas presents this year to children in 10 Quincy families. Mrs. Philben lived on Spring St., Houghs Neck with her dog "Blackie" as her companion during the last years of her life. Her only child died in his youth. For many years she was employed at the New England Merchants Mutual Bank and established the trust to benefit the children of families in need.

And, speaking of nice gestures, Louis J. Caruso of 85 Water St., is conducting his own door-to-door campaign seeking contributions for retarded children. Caruso, a city employe, will turn whatever he raises over to the Cardinal Cushing Fund for gifts for handicapped youngsters at Thanksgiving and Christmas. He collected last summer gifts for youngsters at St. Coletta's Day School, Braintree.

STORK REPORT: Dist. Atty. George G. Burke and his pretty wife Sandra, are expecting their fifth arrival in December. They now have three daughters, Jeanne Marie, 7, Susan Lee, 4, Joanne Elizabeth, 2, and a son, George, III, 1.

IN CASE you like to keep track of such matters, the city's F & D Fund (the municipal rainy day account) totaled $83,575.29 as of Sept. 30, reports City Auditor Alexander Smith. Well, some people (especially taxpayers) like to know these things.

MILESTONE: Frank White, supervisor of city buildings, and his wife, Lillian, will mark their 45th wedding anniversary, Oct. 28. He retires Nov. 8.

VISITOR: John C. Walker, former secretary of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, came home the other day to renew acquaintances. He now lives in Portsmouth, N.H. and is a communications consultant for the telephone company in the general Portsmouth area.

TIME FLIES DEPT: William F. Ryan is starting his 14th year as Quincy city recreation director. The program has been expanded tremendously since his arrival in Quincy.

THERE ARE STILL some people around who do nice things without a lot of fanfare. Like the anonymous person who donated $450 this week to the Heart Research Fund at Quincy City Hospital. It will be used at the discretion of Dr. Elliot Young.

SMILE DEPT: Sheriff Charles W. Hedges passes along this item printed in "The Insider", published by inmates at the Norfolk County House of Correction:

TIEGSMOUTH, England - "Rex, a German shepherd, has lost his job as watchdog at the Prince of Whales pub in this English seaside town. The landlord said he started drinking so much he bumped into furniture, developed hangovers and pestered customers into giving him booze."

Defaults...

defaults and locating defendants is a "great expense."

So far this year, 327 default cases have been recorded in Norfolk County.

Because Quincy District Court is the largest in the five-county system, default costs weigh most heavily on the Quincy taxpayer.

Increasing thousands of dollars are being spent in processing the delinquencies, Burke noted.

Costs include process serving, deputy sheriff fees and an increased clerical workload.

Each default requires up to three letters notifying the defendant and the police chiefs in the community where the offense occurred.

A majority of the cases involve misdemeanors where no bail is levied and increases the possibility of defaults in Superior Court.

Many of the default cases involve fines in misdemeanor cases ranging only up to $75, Dist. Atty. Burke pointed out.

"There is no question about it," he added. "It is an increasing and costly problem."

Two people from his office have been assigned to working on defaults, Burke said. Other default services are also becoming more costly, the District Attorney emphasized.

Dynamics...

Since taking over, General Dynamics has had an estimated $700 million worth of contracts, of which $300 million remain.

Already delivered have been: three Apollo tracking ships, Vanguard, Redstone, and Mercury, three nuclear submarines, Gato, Greenling, and Whale, an ammunition ship, the Kilaua, and other work.

The yard's all-time peak employment figure was 32,000 during World War II. Its peacetime high was 13,000 in 1961 and its low, 1,800 in 1963.

Under General Dynamics it could soon set a new peacetime employment record.

Great Books Group Seeks New Readers

The South Shore Great Books discussion Groups, are now starting their yearly drive for new members.

This year's drive is being launched at a Great Books Get-Together to be held at the Boston University Sherman Union, 755 Commonwealth Avenue, on Sunday, October 27, at 3:00 p.m.

A filmed, dramatic presentation of "The Life of Ghandi," followed by an open discussion involving the audience, will be the feature of the afternoon. Refreshments will be served. Anyone interested in the Great Books idea of enrichment through person-to-person dialogue is urged to attend, free of charge.

Our local Great Books Discussion Group meets every other week for a two-hour discussion of selected readings from the greatest thinkers of all time: Shakespeare, Plato, Freud. There are no lectures, only a trained moderator who guides the conversation. There are no dues or other charges. There are no educational requirements. The Great Book Foundation, a non-profit organization, dedicating to furthering free liberal education for adults, sponsors over fifty such Discussion Groups in Greater Boston.

Everyone in the South Shore area who is interested in learning more about the Great Books Discussion Groups is urged to attend the Get-Together at Boston University or to contact Mrs. Jack Provost, the Great Books Community Representative, at the Boston Public Library.

Quincy High Students Selected For WBZ Course

Three Quincy High School students: Marie DiGregorio, John Rodman and Curtis Penney, have been chosen to represent their school in an electronic journalism class sponsored by WBZ.

Classes will start in early November and continue until May. During the course of the program, participants will be taught the basics of broadcast journalism. Along with the class work students will send in reports on news of their high school, and if accepted, the report will be broadcast over WBZ by a radio personality.

Participants in this program were chosen because of their interest in journalism and outstanding desire to enter the field of broadcasting. In being picked, students must also show some writing talent.

The three Quincy High representatives will compete against students of other schools for three $500 saving-bonds awarded to the three top students.

Pathways

By
Rev. Charles L. McEachern
Minister First Baptist Church
Wollaston

(Pathways is a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen.)

There was a man caught in a lawless act, arrested and brought into court. The judge asked him if he had a lawyer, and he replied, "No." So the judge said, "I will assign you one." To this the accused man replied, "Well, thank you very much, Judge, but what I really need is a good witness." This is true of all of us when the going gets tough. What we really need is a good witness.

It is not difficult to hear the voices of criticism. They seem to be all about us. The voice of the protestor, the cry of the discontent seem to fill the very air we breathe. It is only too human to drink from the well of despair and pity. Now it is good to be critical of ourselves and the society but not to the extent that we overlook the positive and creative values that abound in our midst.

The very fundamental teachings of our faith is to look beyond our difficulties and to see the ultimate triumph of life. Job suffered much but never lost faith in the basic goodness of God and man. In His darkest hour, Jesus left us with these words, "Fear not, for I have to overcome the world."

We have a need in our day to look upon the positive values we have in our community. It will do us no harm to light a candle of praise for the many privileges and opportunities that surround us. We may have doubts about politics but we have the privilege of the vote and also the way is open to us to become a candidate for office. We may have concern for various happenings in our neighborhoods but we have the freedom to advocate and cultivate change as we desire.

Look about us and we see many things that we can praise, such as our historical residences, our schools, our libraries. Our community is people and we must remember that behind the services of our institution, of police and fire departments, our agencies are people. Ordinary people who have problems and yet, who at the same time must generate a spirit that creates in us a sense of trust. We do trust these people for we have felt the impact of their personalities as they carry out their assigned task. It is true that we could criticize BUT it is really more fun and more helpful to light a little candle of praise. People may earn money but satisfaction comes from appreciation. A simple, sincere thank you cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

A young girl came to my door recently seeking funds for a worthy charity. We exchanged small talk as I prepared my donation. Suddenly I stopped when I heard her say, "People will hate to see me coming as all I do is knock on their doors for money." Later I discovered that she was a prophet... someone did make such a comment. How I wished a candle of praise had been lighted and this teenage girl complimented for her public service. She may never say yes again to a request for help, because someone had to be negative. It is so easy to dim the lights of human concern for human needs. It is just as easy to say an encouraging word. It is a matter of attitude.

There is in our city a hospital. Its beds are constantly full of people being cared for by competent people... doctors, technicians, nurses, secretaries, etc. The facilities are immaculate, the food is good, the care is more than adequate. However, I am most impressed by the attitude of those who work there. There is a real and thoughtful concern expressed toward the people known as patients. We can certainly light a candle of praise for we are indeed fortunate to have such "TLC" in times of need.

We could go on and on but this is really your task. Life needs a good witness and everyone of us can make that witness IF WE WANT TO DO SO. Please do not neglect your faults BUT it is far better to cultivate the good that is about us. To light a candle and to be a constructive witness to the love of God that lives in the heart of man. The old song "Accentuate the Positive" only echoes the teachings of old. Tell it like it is, to be a witness for GOOD.

The story of the young man with a bird in his closed hand asking the wise man, "Is the bird alive or dead?" illustrates our need. The reply, "Only you have the power to answer that question." This is true in our day... only you can tighten the grasp of criticism and defeatism to the detriment of all of us or you can open your hand of service and help give life to others.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

How and when can one label a person a success... or failure? For example, do you remember who said, "I do the very best I know how, the very best I can, and I mean to keep doing so"...

The man who said that had many heartbreaking reverses. In his time, many people classed him a failure. His record showed a business failure in '31... defeated for Legislature in '32... another business failure in '33... elected to Legislature in '34... his sweetheart died in '35... he had a nervous breakdown in '36... defeated for Speaker in '38... defeated for Governor in '40... again defeated for Congress in '43... finally elected to Congress in '48 but then defeated for the Senate in '55. Finally, in '60 he was elected PRESIDENT!

A failure? NO! A success? Certainly. Who was the man who lived through the frustrations, the despair of so many defeats? Who was the man who proved there is no such thing as lasting defeat for one who strives to succeed? The immortal Abraham Lincoln!

Presidents At Somerville

Quincy Faces Toughie After Malden Romp

Quincy's Presidents are back on the right track.

But they will have their work cut out for them Saturday when they face a high scoring Somerville team in a 1:30 Greater Boston League game at Somerville.

Somerville has one of its best looking teams in years with a 3-1 record, 2-1 in the GBL. The Hilltoppers scored 35 points in a non-league win over Arlington, 35 against Medford and 29 last week against Chelsea. Their lone loss was to Everett.

"We played a really fine game today," Coach Hank Conroy said after last week's 24-0 romp over Malden at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium, the President's first league win and second victory of the season (they are now 2-2). "But we have a real tough one coming up at Somerville, then must play Weymouth (a non league game Nov. 2 at Quincy), Medford and North Quincy. The only team we play which doesn't look too strong is Chelsea and even they could give any team trouble on a given day."

Despite the rain, Quincy turned in one of its best two-way efforts of the season against Malden as quarterback Steve McDevitt again paced the attack with some outstanding passing and fine running.

"Steve did another fine job and kept our attack balanced," Conroy said. "He threw a lot of passes and had a good average, and he also ran well and called the plays in fine fashion."

Conroy explained that he had to use two new backs, who turned in excellent performances. "Ken Prouty missed the entire game because of an injury and Tom Daley filled in very satisfactorily," Hank said. "Then Steve Carrera suffered a charley horse when he ran about 50 yards to complete an 85-yard scoring play early in the game and was unable to play until the final period. I used Pete Bucvuas and he played a fine game."

In addition to McDevitt, Conroy lauded the offensive play of Dick Kenney, who caught a number of McDevitt's passes, Carrera and Steve Follino, who played well and caught a touchdown pass. The Everett game helped us," Conroy continued. "Ed Reynolds and Paul Picarski were back in action and did a fine job, Picarski was in on at least half the tackles. Also excelling on defense were Steve Tappen, Steve Shapiro and Jim McPherson, starting his first game at defensive tackle."

Conroy was admittedly pleased that the Presidents equalled North Quincy's score against Malden. He had been a bit fearful that Malden's "flea," Tom Hurley, 5-11, 117 pound halfback, might cause them trouble but the way Quincy's defense responded, neither Hurley or any of his mates had any real chance to break loose.

Quincy scored in every period. McDevitt hit Carrera for the 85-yard scoring pass play on which Carrera raced 50 yards, in the opening quarter, threw a six-yard touchdown pass to Kenney, scored himself on a one-yard plunge and in the final period sub quarterback Ted Meyer passed to Follino for the final touchdown of the contest.

"We are back on the right track and if we can continue to play as well as we did against Malden, we should do all right," Conroy concluded.

Quincy's junior varsity and sophomore teams continue to roll along unbeaten. The jayvees defeated Everett for their third in a row, while the sophomores, who have lost only one game in three years, topped Weymouth and Brookline to make their record 4-0.

Part Program To Open For Retarded Children

The Quincy Recreation Department's Saturday morning program for retarded children will officially begin on Saturday, Oct. 26 at 9 a.m. at the Furnace Brook School, according to Recreation Director William F. Ryan.

This weekly program will run for 25 weeks during the winter for retardates who are Quincy residents.

Parents wishing to enroll a youngster should call the recreation office for the necessary forms.

Teenagers and college students wishing to volunteer in the program may do so at the first session, Mr. Ryan said.

Soccer Crown Odds Longer For Quincy

The odds are getting bigger against Quincy's soccer team winning the Division One championship in the South Shore Association, but Ronnie Martin's team is going for it.

At this writing, following a fine performance by the Presidents, who held defending division champ and current leader Hingham to a 2-2 tie, it was still anybody's race. Hingham was leading with 11 points, North Quincy and Sharon were tied for second with 10 points and Quincy, having played one less game, had eight points.

Quincy scored both its goals in the third period with Paul Kaplan and Guy Giannandrea scoring to give the President a temporary 2-1 lead, but Hingham tied it in the fourth period and the teams battled through two scoreless overtime periods.

The game was marked by an outstanding performance in Quincy's goal by Dave D'Olimpio, who was rushed into the position in the previous game when regular goalie, Mike DeGreggio, an all-scholastic last year, broke his leg in a collision with a Sharon player.

In that game Quincy suffered a disappointing 4-0 defeat at the hands of Sharon, which exploded for three goals in the fourth period.

In Division Two, defending league champion Duxbury had a two-point edge over surprising Avon, with 11 points to nine for Avon.

Today Quincy plays at Plymouth-Carver, Tuesday will be at Sharon and next Thursday will wind up the season against North Quincy.

Church Hoop League To Open Play Dec. 7

A Y.M.C.A. Church School Basketball organization meeting was held at the Quincy YMCA Monday. Rules and regulations were discussed and entry blanks were distributed.

Entries will close November 18 and league play will start December 7.

There will be a Braintree and Quincy Division and the teams will be divided according to ages. Divisions follow:

- Samson Division, Boys under 10 years.
- Daniel Division, Boys under 12 years.
- Goliath Division, Boys under 14 years.
- Jonathan Division, Boys under 16 years.
- David Division, Boys under 18 years.

Boys who are members of the High School or Junior High Varsity or Junior Varsity Basketball teams are not eligible to play in league.

The league last year attracted 100 teams with over 1000 players involved each each week.

The church representative selected by the minister of each church constitutes the council and they vote on who will be the advisory committee.

The Board consists of five men from Braintree and five from Quincy.

Serving on the Boys Advisory Committee for 1967 and 1968 are:

President, Harold Randall, Emmanuel Seymour, Sutchliffe, Quincy Point Congregational; Clyde Morrison, First Congregational Braintree.

Alternate, Winton MacLennan, First Church Pembroke; Don Mesinger, Christ Church, Abington. Secretary, First Church Squantum, Robert Fupre, Fort Sq. Presby.; Robert Jordan, Union Congregational Wollaston.

Alternate, James Knight, Eastern Nazarene; Rev. Robert J. Ripley, First Congregational Braintree; Rev. Elden D.J. Zuerin, Quincy Pt. Congregational and Henry J. Willman, Secretary and Advisor, YMCA.

Four-Team Race For Soccer Title

When North Quincy's veteran soccer coach, George Golding, predicted a wide open race in the South Shore Association and that his Raiders would be in the thick of the title chase, he hit the nail on the head.

At this writing, North wanted for second place in Division One with Sharon with 10 points, just one point behind defending division titlist Hingham.

North gained on Hingham by topping Plymouth-Carver, 3-1, while Quincy was holding Hingham to a 2-2 tie.

North scored all its goals in the third period with Dave Height scoring twice and sophomore George Bourikas once. Bruce Healey, Steve Mullaney and Bob Glynn had assists. Bourikas, a native of Greece, and Haight thus shared North's scoring lead with seven points apiece.

In their previous game, the Raiders dropped a heartbreaker to defending league champ Duxbury, 2-1, thanks to an amazing save by Duxbury's Brian Plummer on a penalty shot by Bourikas. Bourikas sent a hard shot that was heading for the lower right hand corner of the net but Plummer dove, just barely managed to knock it down and in a flash, lifted himself off the ground and kicked the ball away.

North scored its goal in the fourth period with Bourikas connecting.

"We played our best game against the best club we've faced this year," Golding said. "That fantastic save prevented us from tying them but I still insist we are just as much in the running for the division championship as anyone else. Anyone of our clubs, North Quincy, Sharon and Hingham, can win it."

Today North is home to Sharon, plays at Hingham Tuesday and finishes up against Quincy next Thursday, the toughest three-game schedule any team could be asked to face.

North Quincy's Raiders are flying high!

And they should continue to fly high Saturday when they face Chelsea's winless Red Devils in a 1:30 Greater Boston League game at Quincy Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Combining a varied offense with a brilliant defense, Carl Leon's Raiders have romped to four straight wins (six in a row going back to last year) and Chelsea shouldn't pose much of a problem this week. The Devils have been walloped four weeks in a row.

"These boys think they can win them all and are honestly thinking of going undefeated," Leone said following last week's 14-0 win in the rain at Medford. "Several of them played as sophomores on our undefeated league champions and Eastern Mass. Class A champions two years ago and would like nothing better than to wind up their school careers with another unbeaten season."

"However they have enough experience and are bright enough to realize you can take only one game at a time and we still have some tough games coming up. Even Chelsea could give us trouble. Every team has a good day and Chelsea is due to have one."

After Chelsea comes big Everett, always tough, and following a non-league game with Boston Tech, the Raiders must face a high scoring Somerville club which could be one of the toughest teams on North's schedule.

And then, of course, is that game on Thanksgiving!

Leone was pleased with last week's fourth straight win and admitted the heavy rains hampered North's offense in the second half. "We did all right in the first half when the ball was fairly dry," Carl said. "It certainly didn't hurt us on defense, which was superb as usual. We have had only 13 points scored against us in our four games and seven of those came against our subs. This is as fine a defensive club as I have had."

Despite the rain, Bob Sleeth completed seven of 12 passes including one for a touchdown and thus far has 31 for 41, five for touchdowns.

Sleeth passed to Wege Trubiano for the first touchdown in the opening period and the same pair teamed up for the extra points.

But Leone felt the second touchdown was the key to the game and the play which broke Medford's back. It came with time having run out in the first half.

"With time running out we had nine yards to go for a touchdown," Carl explained. "Don Meyer drove up the middle, had clear sailing for the first five yards but met a wall of Medford defenders. He kept bulling his way through, carried several men over with him and scored after time had actually run out. This gave us some breathing room and was definitely the big play of the game."

Leone paid tribute to his defensive coaches, Ralph Frazier, the line coach, and Jack Bowes, who handles the perimeter. Frazier is a former North Star, went to B.U. and coached at Medway and in Florida before returning to North. Bowes was an all-New England selection at the U. of New Hampshire. He also handled the offensive coaches, Bill Pagnano and Ted Sadowski, whose work has resulted in a flashy attack this fall.

"Our perimeter, probably the toughest part of any defense, was outstanding with Trubiano, Bob Swirbalus, Joe Lane and Jay Connerly," the veteran coach added.

Swirbalus and Lane each had an interception making 10 interceptions for North for the season. North also has forced 10 fumbles this year. Medford fumbled nine times last week with the Raiders recovering six.

"Our defense has definitely forced the fumbles with its hard hitting," Leone continued. "Larry Bray was tremendous at Medford and recovered four fumbles in addition to intercepting a pass."

Others hailed for their defensive efforts were big Steve Diego and Steve LeShane, Meyer, Craig Bogosian, John Hemphill and Jerry Mulcahy.

Leone praised Dan Polvere, Meyer and Bray for their ball carrying. Polvere carried 10 times for 116 yards, Meyer 50 yards in eight rushes and Bray 48 yards in 12 tries.

North had 15 first downs to Medford's 10 and out-rushed the Mustangs, 226 yards to 106. Medford had a short edge in passing yardage with 75 yards to 64 for North.

Precincts To Aid Presidential Prediction

Two Quincy precincts will be used to establish national presidential election predictions in the first Massachusetts ballot sampling by national television.

The history-making Quincy precincts will be Precinct one, Ward three at St. John's School and Precinct one, Ward four at St. Mary's School.

Back-To-School Evening At Broad Meadows

Back-to-school night at Broad Meadows Junior High School will be sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Parents will follow the pupils' program during a typical school day.

The summer project on motivation will be discussed at the business meeting at 9 in the cafeteria. The discussion groups conducted at the first three days of school will also be outlined. The program will conclude with refreshments and informal parent-teacher meetings.

The two voting areas were selected along with other Massachusetts precincts for their past voting history and the composition of the voters living in the precincts.

Fifty Massachusetts precincts will be used in the pilot samples in the race for the White House. Cooperating in the sampling is the Massachusetts and Quincy League of Women Voters.

Mrs. David Coletti, Quincy League chairman of Voter

Service, will cover the Ward three precinct. Mrs. David Burns, Quincy League official, will cover Ward four.

The results from the Quincy ballot boxes will be phoned to New York as soon as they are available and fed into a computer for an electronic projection of the final Presidential results on the night of Nov. 5.

The League of Women Voters is working in conjunction with the American Broadcasting Co., in the vote projections.

Austrian Guest Rotary Speaker

Dr. Wilhelm Hurka, prominent Austrian drug manufacturer, was the guest speaker Tuesday at the Quincy Rotary Club.

Wilhelm Hurka is a partner in Arcana, Ltd., a drug and chemical preservatives manufacturing firm in Spittal, Karnten, Austria. He was born in Salesel, Austria, and received degrees from the universities of Vienna and Graz, Austria.

He was charter president of the Rotary Club of Spittal an der Drau, Austria.

Raiders Have Tougher Grid Slates Ahead

North Quincy's football schedule will be much stronger the next two years.

With the contracts with Lynn English and Boston Tech running out this year, the Raiders are dropping the two teams who have attracted little interest on the North schedule.

In their places North will renew relations with an old rival, Weymouth, and also add Brookline. Both teams are strong Suburban League powers and should give the Raiders much more competition than Lynn and Tech.

North had easy sailing over English this year and last, was surprised by Tech a year ago but should have no trouble with the Boston club this year.

The luncheon was given Mr. McGarry by members of the Germantown Senior Citizens Group which was formed under the auspices of the Quincy Community Action Program in cooperation with the Quincy Council on Aging. Mr. McGarry, a charter member of the Senior Citizens Group, recently resigned as its first president. He has been replaced by Matthew Ryan. John F. Sheehan, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, presented Mr. McGarry an Outstanding Senior Citizen Award on behalf of the Council of which Mr. McGarry is a commissioner. The award was signed by Mayor James R. McIntyre and Arthur Ciampa, chairman of the Council.

In behalf of the Community Action Program, Russell O'Connell, executive director, presented a gift to Mr. McGarry and a corsage to Mrs. McGarry who was among the head table guests. Robert F. Donovan was master of ceremonies.

Arrangements for the luncheon were made under the direction of Mr. Ryan assisted by Mrs. Ann Fandell and Mrs. Anne Cummings.

Judge Chmielinski Elected President Of Mass. Jurists

Judge Henry H. Chmielinski
Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski, a former Quincy attorney, has been elected president of the newly organized Massachusetts State Judges Association.

Judge Chmielinski, a Weymouth resident, had his law office on Hancock St., Quincy Center, until his appointment to the bench by Gov. Volpe six years ago.

The membership of the new association numbers approximately 55 judges from district, superior and probate courts and Boston Municipal Court.

Norfolk County Probate Court Judge Robert M. Ford, formerly of Quincy, is a member of the Board of Directors.

The association's purposes are to:

Promote the general welfare of the membership.

Make the courts more efficient.

Bring the judges of the different courts into a closer relationship.

Develop programs for the continuing legal education of judges.

"The association," Judge Chmielinski said, "will work effectively for judges of courts of various jurisdiction in Massachusetts in participating in and coordinating with the National Conference of Trial Judges, the Massachusetts Judicial Conference and the Conference of State Judges Associations."

He said one of the first programs to be undertaken by the association will be the compiling of a judge's manual and the institution of seminars for judges in areas of current legal importance.

He noted that the association was the first Massachusetts organization in which the 46 superior court judges, 23 probate judges and the 62 full-time district court judges could "discuss their common problems and effectively work for the common good and the improvement of the administration of justice in our courts."

Judge Chmielinski added; "By modernizing our facilities and our procedures and by the continued legal education of judges, our courts will better serve the people and the interest of justice."

Fitness Courses Now Open At Atlantic Junior High

The Quincy Recreation Department's physical fitness programs for men and women opened this week for a 25-week period.

Classes for men will be held each Monday night at 7:15 p.m. and for women each Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Junior High School gymnasium, Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Announcement was made by Recreation Director William F. Ryan and James F. McCormick, Sr., chairman of the Park-Recreation Board.

John Mahoney, recreation leader and Scituate High School football coach, will conduct the men's classes which will include exercises, volleyball, basketball, trampoline and other activities. The program is designed for Quincy men beyond high school age up to those in their 60's. Participants may gear their activities to their own pace.

Miss Mary Pratt, well known physical educator, will supervise the program for women in the same age group as the men's program.

The women's physical exercise will be to music. There will also be volleyball, basketball, trampoline and other activities.

Those interested are requested to wear sneakers and appropriate exercise clothes. Men and women may register Monday and Tuesday evenings respectively.

"Partial Voters" Will Cast Ballots At City Hall Nov. 5

"Partial voters" will cast their ballots in the Nov. 5 Presidential election in the City Council Chamber on the second floor of City Hall.

These are former out-of-state residents who have not lived in Massachusetts for a year as required by law.

They will be allowed to vote only for President and Vice-President. They cannot, in this election, vote for state and county office candidates.

Six Referendum Questions Including Capital Punishment

Quincy voters will find six referendum questions on their

Don't Waste Your Time On Write-In Candidates

If you have a write-in candidate in mind for President or vice-President Nov. 5, you're only wasting your time.

City Clerk John M. Gillis advises that Massachusetts does not allow write-in candidates for those two high offices.

If you still insist in writing in a name anyway, it will be counted as a blank, Gillis cautions.

Absentee Ballot Deadline

Noon, Monday, Nov. 4

If you are a registered voter and cannot, for a good reason, be in Quincy to vote on election day, Nov. 5, you have until noon the day before to apply for an absentee ballot.

Application may be made in the Election Division of the City Clerk's office, City Hall.

Thus far there have been approximately 1,000 applications for absentee ballots including those from servicemen in Vietnam and at other military installations.

ballot next Tuesday, to mark either "Yes" or "No."

A condensed version of the questions and the order in which they will appear follows:

1. Should the Constitution be amended increasing the time for the Governor to sign a measure from five to ten days?

2. Should the constitution be amended to authorize the Legislature to impose an income tax graduated according to total income, and authorize the granting of reasonable exemptions, deductions and abatements, as an alternative to exercise of the Legislature's existing power to tax income under Article 44 of the Amendments to the Constitution?

3. Should the constitution be amended to define the circumstances in which a Governor's inability to perform his functions should his office become vacant, and it establishes a procedure for making the necessary determinations?

4. Should the official ballot in the biennial State election for the year 1970 contain a question asking the voters whether there shall be a convention in 1971

Five Local Battles

78% Quincy Voter Turnout Seen For Nov. 5 Election

City Clerk John M. Gillis expects 78 per cent of Quincy's 46,426 registered voters to cast ballots in next Tuesday's Presidential election.

Although considered a fairly heavy turnout, it would be well under that of the past two Presidential campaigns.

In 1960, 91.7 per cent of Quincy's voters were drawn to the polls by the John F. Kennedy-Richard M. Nixon political battle of the century.

In 1964, Lyndon B. Johnson and Barry Goldwater brought out 89 per cent.

Tuesday the spotlight will be on two vice-presidents, Hubert H. Humphrey--present--and Nixon--former--locked in a bitter campaign to succeed Johnson in the White House.

But there are five local battles for state representative, Norfolk County sheriff and commissioner that will be watched with keen interest.

In addition, there are six referendum questions including one that has been a long-time state wide controversy: should capital punishment be retained?

Quincy went Democratic in the last two Presidential elections. The big question: Will Humphrey make it three in a row on Tuesday or will Nixon bring the city back into the GOP fold where it strongly was for many years?

Numerically, the Democrats have a big advantage. In Quincy, they outnumber registered Republicans 21,668 to 10,931. There are 13,827 Independents who could go either way.

Quincy and other Massachusetts voters may find the Presidential ballot slightly confusing. Instead of the Wallace-Lemay ticket, they will find "Wallace and Griffin" listed.

Griffin is Marvin Griffin, Governor of Georgia from 1955 to 1959, who is a "stand-in" on the Massachusetts ballot for retired Gen. Curtis LeMay, running mate of George Wallace on the Presidential Independent ticket.

On the local political front, two major attractions are the Norfolk County sheriff race and the four-way battle for two seats in the Third Norfolk state representative district.

Veteran Republican Sheriff Charles W. Hodges who has worn the badge since 1960 is being challenged by Edward S. Graham, 42-year-old Quincy city councilor, making his first county-wide political bid.

Special Election Issue

Graham has waged an energetic, all-out drive in an effort to bring the sheriff's badge into the Democratic camp. In Hedges, however, he faces a man who has been a strong political figure in a public career that spans three decades.

With Norfolk County now this shaping up as a close contest next Tuesday.

Also very much in the local spotlight is the state representative fight in the Third Norfolk District, comprising Quincy's Wards 4, 5, 6.

The two seats are now occupied by Democrat Joseph F. Bret and Republican Walter J. Hannon. Challengers are City Council President J. Vincent Smyth, Democrat, and Vernon C.

Quincy Has Only Voter Drop In 11th Congressional District

Quincy is the only community in the 11th Congressional District that will have fewer eligible voters Nov. 5 than in the 1964 Presidential election, according to a survey by U.S. Rep. James A. Burke (D-Milton).

Figures compiled by Burke's office show Quincy with a 1964 voter registration of 47,687 compared to 46,426 this year. It represents a drop of 1,261 eligible voters.

All 10 other communities and Boston Wards 18 and 20 which make up the 11th District show registration gains over 1964, according to the figures.

Burke said he knew of no particular reason for the registration dip in Quincy, the biggest community in the district.

"But despite the registration drop, I think there will be a heavy voter turnout in Quincy Nov. 5," the Congressman said.

He predicted record turnouts in many South Shore communities especially Braintree, Brockton, Canton, Holbrook, Milton, Norwood and Stoughton.

Burke's office launched a registration drive last June sending out an estimated 85,000 letters to persons who were eligible to vote but were not registered.

He said 25,354 of these persons subsequently registered. But this leaves, he pointed out, some 60,000 persons in the district who should be registered but are not.

But overall, Burke was pleased with the registration drive.

"I think it indicates a very high vote will be cast Nov. 5," he said. "People who are moving into the suburban area of Greater Boston are showing a civic interest in their new surroundings."

Total registered voters in the 11th Congressional district now total 248,093, an increase of 10,056 over 1964.

Students 'Parade' For Safety

Quincy public schools elementary pupils joined in a Safety Parade Tuesday, to dramatize the theme: "Safety Is Everyone's Business."

Posters, hats, badges and a variety of art work for the project were created by the students under the direction of Miss Ann Loya, art specialist, assisted by classroom teachers.

All facets of safety, indoors and outdoors, were illustrated in the numerous art and poetry forms by the youngsters.
Kindergarten classes presented work on the theme: "Safety Is Everyone's Business."

The following safety song was composed by Mrs. Sheila Cariani's fifth grade class:

"When you are old enough for school,

Then you will learn the safety rules,

So follow them at home, at school or play,

Be very careful crossing streets,

From strangers, don't take sweets

Make Quincy safer every single day,

Just a little bit of caution,
Makes a happier day.

Safer way,
Try it today,

With each one being careful,
Every day's a safer day,

Try to live the safety way!"

'Trick Or Treat' Boost For UNICEF

A "trick or treat" program for Christ Church school children will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the lower parish hall.
Members of E.Y.C. will sponsor the annual event for the benefit of UNICEF.

Kindergarten through grade six pupils will be entertained at the Halloween program.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

On a visit to a hospital in the Philippines during the War, I was surprised to see many patients with typical tetanus, with spasm of the jaw, (giving it the name of Lockjaw) and the grin, not humorous, called risus sardonicus and convulsions easily induced by being startled. The interesting fact, however, was the low mortality which I learned was probably due to environment (the presence of horses in Manila). THE HUMAN HAS NO NATURAL IMMUNITY TO THIS DISEASE.

The tetanus is caused by a bacterium, a bacillus called C Tetani, which is found in 20 - 43 per cent of soil samples and 20 per cent of animal feces. Hence, it is almost impossible to eradicate. The organism can enter even the smallest scratch but more commonly in severe wounds and especially puncture wounds, as by a nail puncture. Pus, dead tissue, foreign material, blood clots or bandages excluding air can harbor and encourage the growth of this tetanus organism.

The bacillus is not the cause of the violent disease but a poison called an exotoxin which reaches muscles and nerve roots often by the blood stream. This is a violent poison. The tetanus organism grows best in oxygen-free areas. Antibiotics work on the organism but not on its poison. Antisera or anti-toxin can neutralize the poison but not once it has reached the central nervous system.

Active preventive immunization is almost 100 per cent effective.
Despite the great numbers of severe wounds and delay in treatment, not one case of tetanus developed at Pearl Harbor.

Active immunization should begin with tetanus toxoid, usually combined with whooping cough and Diphtheria in three successive injections about three months of age with a booster about one year later.

Most of us have been giving repeat boosters every three-five years, but conversation with a well known expert in preventative medicine indicates that a period of 10 years between boosters is safe.

Active treatment to prevent tetanus formerly required tetanus antiserum which was fraught with severe allergic reactions and was often not administered to such allergic or sensitive people. There is now available a tetanus immune globulin (human) TIG (H) for those with no previous shots and is ideal for passive protection but at present is more expensive. It is available at the Quincy Hospital accident floor.
Along with this active protection toxoid can be started. Of course, immediate care of the wound and antibiotics should also be given.

There is altogether too much fear involved with dog bites. I can recall no case of tetanus from dogs nor could my consultant. There is no need for tetanus toxoid boosters for minor dog bites or every minor cut if treated early and properly and if the interval since last injection was say three-five years. GIVING TETANUS TOXOID DOES NOT PREVENT RABIES.

Jordan Marsh Center Welcomed To Quincy

America's largest distribution center for a retail department store will be erected by Jordan Marsh in Quincy, William P. Reed, president, announced at a luncheon Friday held at Sherry's Restaurant, Quincy.

The mammoth building, located on the grounds of the former Squantum Naval Air Base, will cost more than $10 million and have nearly 30 acres under one roof, occupying 1,306,352 sq. ft. The north side of the structure will be equivalent in size to two Harvard stadiums and in the south unit, Fenway Park could easily be placed inside with additional space remaining.

To be known as the Jordan Marsh Central Service Facility, the building, 1296 feet long and 972 feet wide will provide jobs initially for 1000 employees.

Mr. Reed explained how this building fitted into the great expansion program of Jordan Marsh and told of its necessity with the projected opening of new Jordan Marsh stores in Portland, Me., 1969; Warwick, R.I., 1970; and Worcester, 1971. "We are very pleased to be accepted into the Quincy business community and we know that this facility will be tremendously beneficial to the economical life of the area," added Mr. Reed.

Mayor James R. McIntyre of Quincy said he was extremely pleased that Jordan Marsh had selected Quincy as the city in which to locate its Central Service Facility. He termed the facility "the greatest development in the history of Quincy."

"This will mean a great deal to the community economically and will provide tremendous benefits for the north end of the city with this new business impetus," state Mayor McIntyre.

"The facility will be the single largest increase in assessed valuations in the city's history," he continued. "This factor alone is a significant and progressive step forward in helping combat the rising cost of government."

"We are particularly appreciative of Jordan Marsh's efforts to require minimal municipal services. Just one example is the three miles of roads constructed by Jordan's at its own expense to keep commercial vehicles from streets in populated areas."

"Jordan Marsh also displayed deep interest in the conservation aspects of the Squantum area, particularly in preserving the flow of water through Billings Creek, all at the expense of the store."

Howard Davis, Jordan Marsh vice president in charge of operations, lauded the efforts of Mayor McIntyre, Rep. Walter J. Hannan and Counselor J. Vincent Smyth, whose continued efforts helped bring the tremendous Jordan Marsh Distribution Center to Quincy. He also praised the many city and state agencies through whose cooperation the building will become a reality.

This facility has two completion dates," stated James E. Claypoole, who is executive director of the project and will become general manager of the building upon completion. "In January, 1970, the North Building will be finished and in May, 1970, we expect the South Building to be completed."

Mr. Claypoole added that the Central Service Facility will include such service functions as the bakery, cabinet shop, upholstery and drapery work rooms and fur storage vaults.

"There will be a Customer Service Mall which will include such services as fur storage, carpet and rug cleaning, jewelry repairs, customer "will-call" merchandise pickup and repair shops for appliances, TV, bicycles, lawn mowers, and snow blowers," said Mr. Claypoole.

"This building has been designed to service all present and future Jordan Marsh stores with merchandise brought in, processed, marked and then distributed to the various stores."

To expedite traffic and keep commercial vehicles off streets in residential areas, Jordan Marsh is building approximately 3 miles of roadway systems at its own expense.

Among the lines of merchandise to be handled at the facility will be furniture and appliances, ready-to-wear with more than 25,000 hanging garments processed per day, small appliances, carpets and rugs, bedding plus the delivery of all of these lines.

The North Side of the building, occupying 560,000 square feet, will be completed 15 months from now. Piling is being driven and steel erection will begin later this month. In this building will be furniture appliances, carpet, rug, and bedding merchandise.

The South Side, fully air conditioned, will be completed in 20 months and will occupy 746,000 square feet. Steel erection will begin in January, 1969.

Tons of St. Nick's gifts will be going to members of the Armed Forces in Vietnam by special ship this year, thanks to a joint Pentagon-Post Office venture.

A fast US cargo ship will be designated the "1968 Santa Claus Special," sailing from Oakland, California, next month with Christmas parcels.

To meet the sailing deadline and assure pre-holiday delivery of gifts sent with surface postage, items should be mailed during the October 14 - November 9 period. They should be marked "Santa Claus Special" just below the stamps.

The "Santa Claus Special" will sail during the latter half of November and stop at Da Nang, Qui Nhon, Cam Ranh Bay and Saigon, Vietnam. It takes approximately three weeks for a fast ship to cross the ocean.

All gifts should be packed in strong containers with adequate cushioning and correctly addressed, including APO and FPO numbers.

There are several options available for mailing to the military which can save money. Post offices across the nation have free pamphlets available which outline the mailing programs for servicemen and women overseas.

JORDAN MARSH Central Service Facility is shown here with an architect's conception of the building on the site of the former Squantum Naval Air Base superimposed on an aerial photograph of the area. The mammoth building will occupy 1,306,352 square feet and will be equivalent in size to two Harvard stadiums and a Fenway Park with additional space remaining for parking. The facility will be completed in two sections with the North Side completed in 15 months and the South Side in 20 months.

Seven Local Crewmen Aboard

Quincy Glories In Return Of USS Boston

A warm land, sea and air welcome greeted the Quincy-commissioned USS Boston (CAG-1) Saturday as she steamed up Boston harbor following her second tour of duty in the Vietnamese conflict.

The world's first guided missile cruiser, commanded by Captain Leon J. Smith, Jr., USN, tied up at the West Jetty of the Annex, where she was greeted by a host of military and civic dignitaries.

Prior to her arrival she was saluted with sprays from boats of the Boston Fire Department and an airplane carrying a banner stating, "Welcome home, USS Boston."

The ship's crew included seven men from Quincy. Aboard were: John J. Barry, 8 Saratoga St.; John G. Bereth, 206 Trafalgar Rd.; Bruce A. Hookalo, 225 Beach St.; Donald D. Howard, 205 Trafalgar Rd.; Dennis R. Parsons, 73 Billings Rd.; Joseph Keating, 99 Rock Island Rd.; and John F. Saari, 39 Saratoga St.

The ship was also met by members of the Southeastern Massachusetts Council, Navy League of the United States.

Family dependents and friends of the Boston's crew were allowed to go on board the cruiser as soon as gangways were secured from the West Jetty to the ship.

The USS Boston is the sixth ship to bear the name of the Massachusetts capital and was built in Quincy.

After a four month yard period at the Boston Naval Shipyard and a one-month training cruise to the Caribbean as part of the Atlantic Fleet's Operation Springboard, the ship left her Boston home on March 28, 1968, one more bound for the West Pacific. Arriving on station in April off the coast of the DMZ, Boston spent the next four

M. Whitman, Republican.
Smyth is considered a serious threat but both Brett and Hannon have run strong in the past.
But for redistricting this year, there would have been three seats in the district—one of them open. Former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa now a resident of Pembroke, is retiring as a state representative.
As a result of the redistricting, Quincy's Ward 2 is now with Ward 3 in the new Second Norfolk state representative district. It had been part of the Weymouth and then Braintree district for 34 years.
Quincy City Councilor Clifford H. Marshall, Democratic nominee, is already assured of being the first to represent the new district on Beacon Hill. He has no Republican opponent.

Rep. Arthur H. Tobin, First Norfolk District Democratic incumbent, also has no opposition in his bid for a second term.
There are three battles for Norfolk County commissioner. Incumbent James J. Collins, Milford Democrat, seeks re-election to a four-year term. Another four-year term is wide-open as the result of the retirement of veteran Republican Russell T. Bates of Quincy.
Contenders are Quincy Councilor George B. McDonald, a Democrat, and Republicans Vincent R. Noble of Quincy and James M. Lombard of Dedham.
Atty. Thomas K. McManus.

Norwood Democrat, and Oliver V. Volpe, Braintree Republican, seek the unexpired two-year term of the late John F. Murphy of Braintree. McManus was appointed to fill the vacancy after Murphy's death but must now run for the remaining two-year term.
Sen. James R. McIntyre, who represents Quincy, Braintree and Randolph is expected to win his third term on the Democratic ticket. He is opposed by Republican Stephen J. O'Meara, a virtual political unknown.
U.S. Rep. James A. Burke of Milton and Governor's Councilor Patrick J. McDonough, both Democrats and magnetic vote-pullers are running unopposed for re-election.
The polls in Quincy's 39 voting precincts will be open next Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Between the Covers

By Michael Vocino

The world is just brimming with people. Each is different and exciting, and if given the chance could easily hold us spell-bound with tales of their respective experiences along the road of life.

But, unlike the beautiful people, "Joe Average" never gets the attention of limelight or the help of publicity—the seemingly basic ingredients for a "successful" story. The great majority of us never hear his interesting, sometimes even exciting, stories of life. Life as it is really lived.

This is not to say that the well publicized and the well known are uninteresting, for we all know well that such is usually not the case. On the other hand, however, we must not say that because it is unpublicized and unknown, that the life of the man-in-the-street is therefore uninteresting.

The same can be said about books. Some make the Best Seller List because they are genuinely good reading, are well publicized, or a combination of both. Some make the list, others of necessity do not. And, if we are not to dismiss the man-in-the-street as always uninteresting, by the same logic we should not dismiss those books which suffer under the same handicap: lack of publicity.

Yes, if the world is brimming with people, equally then, the Thomas Crane Public Library is with books. Books that make the "sacred" list, and books of the same worth and interest which unfortunately do not. In their anonymity, these publications are—in a certain sense—denied the opportunity to give you, the readers of Quincy, a chance at genuine enjoyment and real challenge.

This column, then, will engage itself "in the never ending battle for justice and equality" by offering suggestions to the reading public from the library's collection of little known books. Books that otherwise might never get your attention.

Their father's name may not be Capote or Salinger or even Tolstoy, but their offerings—in many cases—are of equal worth.

Send one of these neglected editions to the bindery this summer:

LAWRENCE AND OPPENHEIMER, by Nuel Pharr Davis. Simon and Schuster, $7.50.

This selection portrays the struggle of human emotion as it existed between those who threatened human existence. Davis deals effectively with the conflict of two great American scientists, Ernest Lawrence and J. Robert Oppenheimer—the creators of the atomic bomb. A book not only for the scientific mind, it stresses the clash of values that inevitably came with the decision: "Shall we drop the bomb?"

PLANT DREAMING DEEP, by Mary Sarton. Norton, $5.00.

If such a book as Davis' does little in the way of comfort for those who live in the atomic age, the lush and beautiful utopia Mary Sarton creates with verse is the needed salve. She wonders at life, and because she does, her book creates life. The life of crisp mornings, dewy afternoons, and chocolate-cream-pie nights.

THE MAN WHO RAN THE SUBWAYS, THE STORY OF MIKE QUILL, by L.H. Whittemore. Holt, $6.95.

Through this biography of a modern day Spartan, we are shocked from Sarton's "green acres" to the realization that we may well face the same problems that the book describes. It may be the story of Mike Quill, head of New York City's transit workers union, but the nature of their problems could so be our own. Remember the MBTA?

Herein I have offered a few possibilities for a good reading. Why not come in to the Thomas Crane Public Library and ask for them?

Graham Bid For Sheriff Hits Climax

In a hard hitting campaign election, Councillor Edward Graham of Quincy, candidate for Sheriff of Norfolk County continued to stress the issues in the 28 towns and one city of the county.

Councillor Graham pledged an administration of service to the county. He stressed an upgraded Deputy Sheriff system where his appointed deputies will work directly with local police, the courts, the Clergy and the schools in providing educational information to the youth of the county in the problems and misuse of drugs and alcohol.

Graham plans three large meetings during the election climax. The first has been formed by a Mother's group recently organized to assist Graham because of his concern on narcotics and alcohol among area youth.

Another meeting has been arranged by college youth who have volunteered their service to the Graham candidacy.

On election eve, Graham will meet with his 1000 county workers to make final arrangements for election day activities.

Let's get out of the soup. Norfolk County needs an aggressive young man who wants to be where the action is. Ed Graham has the qualifications, and we know it. A substantial family man with a thirst to get things done. And it is important! There are too many noticeable areas of confusion and neglect in our County. Let's get at it with energy and a man of purpose. We think Ed can become sheriff, with your help ... then you'll see a cracker that is really crisp.

Legion Units To Honor War Dead Nov. 10

The Legion and Auxiliary Posts of Norfolk County's 33 units will honor their departed comrades on Sunday, it was announced today by County Chaplain L. Carter, Jr.

YMCA Paper Drive Saturday

The Quincy YMCA Youth Division is sponsoring a paper drive Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon.

The purpose of the drive is to help raise funds for YMCA Youth participation in the Quincy Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade. Anyone interested in donating paper may do so by bringing them to the rear of the building on Saturday morning.

The YMCA truck will be parked in the rear parking lot and the gate adjacent to Newcomb Street will be open for the convenience of donors. A Leader will be assigned to the area to help unload.

This year's service will be held at the Old South Congregational Church, Columbian Square, South Weymouth.

Legionnaires have been requested to assemble in the parking lot in the rear of Columbian Square at 8:30 and will march to the Church with County Commander Roman for 9 o'clock Services.

Tickets for a breakfast to be held after the services at the George R. Bean Post must be reserved prior to Nov. 7.

They may be obtained from Chaplain Carter or the Post Commander.

Commander Roman has asked all members to turn out on this occasion which marks the fiftieth anniversary of the end of World War I.

Dominic Falsetta Elected

Dominic F. Falsetta was elected president of the Wollaston Park Association, Inc. at the annual dinner meeting.

Other officers elected were: Leonard C. Delaney, vice president; Mrs. Anna H. Lucey, treasurer, and Miss Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary.

Directors include: Mrs. Alyce Cripianuk, Mrs. Madeline Falsetta, Herman Gauger, Francis Reavey, Mrs. Angela Roobian, Benjamin Rudner and Frank Valzania, Mr. Delaney and Mrs. Lucey.

"HONOR THY FATHER AND MOTHER"

Among the first of the Ten Commandments ... that expression of Divine Law that would be buried and forgotten by so many so called Liberals of today who would seek to escape completely from all personal responsibility for their behavior ... we find emphasized most definitely this obligation of our natural duties.

The commandment is indeed twofold ... that the natural dignity and responsibility of parenthood betokens that reverence and respect from those to whom they gave given life ... and by that same dignity and reverence of parenthood, the parents must be worthy of that honor. It can become a two edged sword ... for if the parents are not worthy of that honor, and shirk their so important obligations in the care and upbringing of their children, that honor and reverence may readily and easily be lost.

So much of the responsibility is today delegated to other than the natural authorities ... the school is oftentimes expected to take over the training and discipline of the child; and so often the church is expected to continue where the school influence ceases.

True it is that these are great sources of training fields for the children but only when they can build upon the influence, inspiration, and cooperation in the home. Neither church or school, or both together can possibly take the place of home influence and discipline. And it may well be that this so called "Generation Gap" - a term that attempts to express an excuse for this lack of home understanding, can well be placed right there.

Some years ago Fr. Peyton began his campaign to put back into the home the tradition of years ago of the family prayers, and his expression, "The Family that prays together STAYS together," became a familiar and oft quoted phrase a truism. For there was and is a great deal of strength in the family bond when the members are united in a bond of prayer that unites them with each other and with God.

So true this is that about four years ago the great outdoor amusement business that attracts people in their summer time activities to enjoyment and recreation, plagiarized this phrasing to have it read "The Family that PLAYS together STAYS together. A combination that would indeed be hard to beat.

Now let us add one more phrase: In the Circus world we already have families that pray together ... and I assure you that they do PRAY ... and because of their almost isolated life during their working years, their recreations also are usually in their family circles. They already are worshipping together, and playing together, as those two phrases would have it - and now another common bond - they work together, usually father and mother performing in the circus world and their children travelling with them, and learning from the parents not only the circus work, but learning from the example and the lives of their own parents how they themselves will live when the future opens to them for their life's work.

The circus folks pray together, they play together ... and they WORK together. And because they receive from BOTH their parents that constant example, father and mother EACH assuming equal responsibility in the training and the disciplining of the children - especially in the early formative years - there is no called generation gap; the reverence for their parents is enhanced as the years go on. There is a close bond between them that grows even closer as they follow lovingly in their parents footsteps, not only in the world of performance, but in the living out in actuality the praying together, playing together, and working together, and in it all finding equally simple to honor the father and mother who are themselves so worthy of honor.

Bring into the ordinary home something of this working together, playing together, and above all praying together. Among the circus children there is no talk of juvenile delinquency. The children are too close to the parents, the bond of affection too strong, the example, most forceful of all, of husband and wife working together ... again, not only in the circus act but sharing in its entirety in the training of the child literally to follow in their footsteps.

Election Profiles:

Area Candidates Submit Views On Issues

The Quincy League of Women Voters in cooperation with the Massachusetts League of Women Voters formulated the following election questions and compiled the answers by the candidates.

Directing the project by the Quincy League were Mrs. John Kane, LWV President and Mrs. David Coletti, voters' service chairman.

County Commission

The following material was provided by Norfolk County Commissioner candidates in response to the questions:

1. What changes, if any, do you advocate in the structure and functions of County government?
2. What is your opinion regarding the extension of Civil Service to County employees?

James M. Lombard, Westfield St., Dedham, Age: 30.

Four-Year Term
REPUBLICAN

Present Occupation: Assistant Alumni Secretary, Harvard University.

Education: Milton Academy, Harvard College & graduate work at Harvard Business School and Boston University Law School. Public Service: Secretary-Treasurer of the Boston Arena Authority; former Administrative & Legal Assistant to Attorney General Edward W. Brooke; formerly with the Council for Constitutional Reform in Mass, town offices in Dedham.

1. The Norfolk County government has worked fairly well - unlike some other Massachusetts counties. However, proposed constitutional changes in our county system are now under study by several groups, and I will be in favor of any reform that will improve the caliber, efficiency and economy of our county government.

2. I am in favor of this if the changes in the Massachusetts Civil Service proposed by Governor Volpe are instituted. The hiring and firing of county personnel should not be on the basis of political connections. Another improvement might be to have a non-partisan county ballot as in municipal elections.

Vincent R. Noble, 11 Fairview Rd., Quincy, Age: 39.
Occupation, president, Noble Sporting Goods, Inc., Quincy.
Education: Hyde Park High School, Franklin Institute, Northeastern University.

Public Service: Former Registrar of Voters in Quincy.

1. I would advocate county government taking over more responsibilities, which are now handled by the state. In this way the county can work more closely with the cities and towns cutting expenses and saving tax dollars.

2. Persons now working on County positions are adequately screened and the current system is most efficient. Under the current system people's jobs are protected after 10 years service. Therefore I don't believe they should change over to the Civil Service system at this time.

DE-MOCRATIC
James J. Collins, 63 Governors Rd., Milton, Age: 45.

Occupation: Lawyer.
Education: Harvard "A.B.," Boston College Law School, "I.L.B."

Public Service: Chairman, Norfolk County Commissioners, Chairman, Board of Trustees, Norfolk County Hospital, Milton, and Norfolk County Chairman, United Fund Drive.

1. Present structure and functions excellent; manageable; economical. Advocate 1. more effective utilization of regional potential of existing county structure (example-1967 county conservation bill I successfully sponsored) in incineration; air & water pollution control; regional schools; transportation; zoning; health; recreation; traffic control; planning. 2. County home rule via county legislative body.

2. I favor the theory of civil service for any government on the assumption, such a system encourages the best qualified people to compete for government jobs in exchange for job security, while at the same time eliminating political patronage abuse. I support county civil service which accomplished the above objectives.

George B. McDonald, 133 Grove St., Quincy, Age: 46.

Occupation: Metropolitan District Commission-storekeeper.

Education: Quincy High School, Univ. of Southern California.

Public Service: Quincy City Council, nine years. Chairman, City Council's Special Commission on Disposal and Dumping Problems.

1. Because of the tremendous population influx to our towns throughout Norfolk County, we must redraft and update our antiquated system of assessing our county tax and provide a more equitable formula to the taxpayers of the entire county.

2. I strongly favor extending Civil Service to county employees under our Federal Civil Service system. Each employee has the right to job protection and security which in return will provide the taxpayers of the county with faithful and loyal workers rendering the utmost efficiency in the daily duties.

Two-Year Vacancy
REPUBLICAN

Oliver Victor Volpe, 6 Fairfield St., Braintree, Age: 54.
Present Occupation - General Contractor.

Education - Quincy High School, B.S. Villanova University, Boston College Law School, L.L.B.

Public Service - Town Meeting member, Capital Planning Committee, High School Building Committee.

What is the most pressing problem of the office to which you seek election, and what solution for it do you propose?

Crime on the streets and Taxes. Building a new County Jail and expansion of inmate work program in order to develop within criminals a sense of confidence, dignity and desire to be productive when released.

Holding the line on the County budget by limiting any additional appointments and salary increases.

DEMOCRATIC

Thomas K. McManus, 77 Fulton St., Norwood.

Present Occupation: Attorney at Law.

Education: Boston College High School, Boston College (A.B.), B.U. Law, Suffolk Law (L.L.B.), Michigan State University.

Public Service: - Present County Commissioner; former chairman Selectmen, Norwood; Former member Planning Board, Norwood; Former Town Meeting member.

What is the most pressing problem of the office to which you seek election, and what solution for it do you propose?

Lack of public awareness of the vast number of functions and duties of those involved in County Government and particularly the office of County Commissioner, which might be overcome by adding all regional problems, such as zoning, planning, incineration, conservation, etc., to the duties of this important regional office.

County Sheriff

REPUBLICAN

Charles W. Hedges, 41 Village Ave., Dedham.

Present Occupation: Sheriff of Norfolk County.

Education: Quincy High School, Dean Academy, Syracuse Univ., U.S. Air Force Intelligence School.

Public Service: Quincy City Council, House of Representatives, State Senate, Present Sheriff.

What do you feel is the greatest problem confronting the county correctional system and what solution for it would you propose?

One of the most pressing problems is how to keep the youthful offender from continuing a life of crime. Reforms can come about through Education, Psychiatry, work-release systems, community participation etc. To successfully achieve our maximum degree of effective new a new institution is imperative.

DEMOCRATIC

Edward S. Graham, 32 Sheel St., Quincy, Age: 42.

Present Occupation: Consumer Specialist, National Concern.

Education: Burdette College, Boston University.

Public Service: Quincy City Council.

What do you feel is the greatest problem confronting the county correctional system and what solution for it would you propose?

A great complexity of serious problems confronts the County Correctional System today. The ancient and decrepit condition of the existing facilities, hardly provide the atmosphere under which rehabilitation programs can efficiently and effectively operate. As Sheriff, I shall form a close working alliance with the County Commissioners to bring to reality a modern correctional facility.

The Following questions were submitted to State Legislature candidates:

1. If the voters remove the constitutional limitation on legislative taxing power (Question 2 on the ballot), would you support the use of a state graduated income tax? If not, what other measures would you support to increase state revenue?

2. What specific measures would you support to increase the opportunities for self-help for the poor?

3. What specific measures would you support to increase the effectiveness of the Massachusetts Legislature, such as reducing the size of the House of Representatives from 240 to 160 members, increased salaries for legislators, added staff assistance and office space?

State Representative

1st Norfolk
Quincy (Ward 1)
VOTE FOR ONE

Arthur H. Tobin (D), 58 Huntley Rd., Quincy, Age: 38.

Occupation: State representative. Education: B.S., B.A., Boston College; L.L.B. Suffolk Law School.

Public Service: City assessor; city councilor; representative. I. Would give graduated income tax serious consideration. In meantime, would continue to vote against Gov. Volpe and his Republican tax measures. He should cut back unnecessary spending.

2. Voted to change and tighten laws on Gov. Volpe's loosely drawn medical and welfare program and to end fraudulent claims and continue to help those in real need.

3. Would support non-partisan legislation to bring government closer to people. Would support the fraud to cut the size of the House.

Unopposed.

2d Norfolk
Quincy (Wards 2,3)
VOTE FOR ONE

Clifford H. Marshall (D), 64 Edison St., Quincy, Age: 30.

Occupation: Sales engineer representative. Education: Personnel and administration M.C.I., U.S.M.C.

Public Service: Present city councilor, Ward 2, 2d term, chairman, City Heart Fund 1965, 1966; Board of Directors, Southeastern Chapter, Heart Assn.

A - While graduated income tax has merit, wish to study possibility of abolishing or consolidating existing tax measures before implementing another program.

B - Expand government programs through further incentives to industry to create more training programs; increase programs offered in vocational schools; establish elementary education programs in night schools; establish transportation for these self-help facilities.

C - With need for closer bonds between elected officials and voters,

3d Norfolk
Quincy (Wards 4,5,6)
VOTE FOR TWO

Joseph E. Brett (D), 254 Fenn St., Wollaston, Age: 61.

Occupation: State Representative.

Education: Graduate, Dean Academy (high school level).

Public Service: Former city Councilor, representative, 1959 to present.

1. In favor of graduated income tax, patterned after Federal system. Taxation based on income fairest possible system.

2. Opportunities already available for those who make effort to take advantage of them. Schools and public libraries are free. There is no excuse for the mentally and physically capable person to go through life uneducated.

3. Opposed to reducing Legislature size as it will tend to make it more controllable by special interest groups. Salary is irrelevant. Favor some secretarial help.

Walter J. Hannon Jr., (R), 45 Forbes Hill Rd., Wollaston, Age: 37.

Occupation: State representative; owner, Hannon Tire Co.
Education: North Quincy High.

Public Service: Quincy City Council; representative.

1. At present time would not support graduated income tax.

Would give serious consideration to 1 percent or 2 percent general sales tax.

2. Private industry should be given incentives either by tax methods or by subsidies from Federal government to retain hard-core unemployed.

3. Have supported reduction of House from 240 to 160 members. Every legislator should have office space, and telephone and stenographic services. Committees should be adequately staffed with properly trained, competent people.

1. Vincent Smyth (D), 184 Lansdowne St., North Quincy, Age: 48.

Occupation: President and treasurer, J.J. Smyth, Inc.

Education: Boston College.

Public Service: president, Quincy City Council.

1. Should be flexibility in methods of taxation. Additional benefits would be realized by many and would result in fairer and better type of administration.

2. On-the-job training programs in more diversified fields. Free evening classes, especially in vocational training category.

3. I would give citizens every opportunity to express preference concerning size of House. Present salary is adequate. Reasonable amount of office space and clerks should be provided.

Vernon C. M. Whitman (R), 3 Oakdale St., Quincy, Norprey received

State Senator

1st Norfolk
Braintree, Quincy, Randolph

*James R. McIntyre (D), 82 Kemper St., Quincy, Age: 38.

Present Occupation: State senator; mayor.

Education: Holy Cross College A.B., Harvard Law School, L.L.B., Boston U., M.A. (Political Science).

Public Service: City Councilor, 1956-1960; state representative, 1959-1964.

Mayor, 1960 to present, state senator, 1965 to present.

1. I have and will support a graduated income tax in order to achieve flexibility, simplicity and fairness in taxation, based on ability to pay.

2. I would support occupant-owned better housing, education and job programs to give poor people a hope, self-respect and incentive for a future better life.

3. Since the number of committees handling vital legislative matters has already been reduced, it is imperative that they receive adequate competent and talented staff.

Stephen E. O'Neira (R), 270 Farrington St., Quincy, Norprey received.

Congressman

11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

James A. Burke (D), 55 Brook Hill Road, Milton, Age: 58.

Education: Boston Public & High School; Lincoln Preparatory; Suffolk Law School.

Occupation: U.S. Representative, Real Estate.

Public Service: Former Registrar of Vital Statistics; 10 year General Court (Assistant Majority Leader 4 years; Chairman of World War II Veterans Problems and Korean Veteran Commission); 10 years, U.S. Congressman (Committee on Banking and Currency; Committee on Ways and Means; has served as speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives on 10 occasions in two years).

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

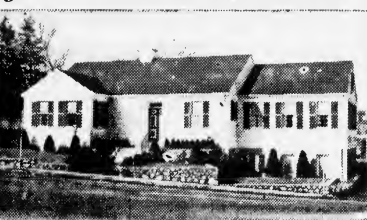

In times past, people sought answers to questions just as we seek answers to more and more complicated questions in today's faster pace of living.

It seems the more answers we get, the more questions come up. We wonder if the answers are actually answers or merely temporized explanations. More and more people seem to be going to psychiatrist's couches for answers, explanation and help. At best, psychiatrists can only point out that the answer to an anguished problem lies within the individual.

Centuries ago, even a Man from Galilee uttered a question on the cross, "My God, My God, why has Thou forsaken me?"
Just as He, in experiencing anguish and pain, knew the question wasn't really a question, the same uncomplicated answer to individual despair awaits us, ours to accept, where and when we will ...

Tough Road To Title Ahead

Everett First Of Next Three Raider Hurdles

It is five up and five down for North Quincy's football team but the tough part of the schedule is coming up and Coach Carl Leone knows it.

"Everyone wants to knock us off and we are going to have to work for every victory," Carl said. "If we are going to win the Greater Boston League and Class A Championships, we are going to have to earn them."

The veteran coach pointed out that the three toughest GBL opponents are still on the schedule, starting with Saturday's 1:30 game with a big Everett team at Everett Memorial Stadium.

Following a non-league game with Boston Tech, the Raiders play at Somerville and then comes that game on Thanksgiving with you know who.

"We have to take them one at a time," Leone said following the easiest win of the year, 46-14, last week over Chelsea. "Remember that Boston Tech upset us last year and, although it isn't a league game, the boys don't want a repeat. This is our last game with them and the boys want to win it."

Everett has been hot and cold this year but should give the Raiders all they can handle. The Crimson Tide, with a huge line as usual, is 3-1 in the league and 3-2 overall. After being upset by Newton in its non-league opener, Everett topped Somerville, Quincy and Medford and lost to Revere for the first time in their 22-year series in league play.

Last week's romp gave Leone an excellent chance to use his reserves and he used many sophomores during the game at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The final touchdown was an all-sophomore affair with Paul Lippens passing to Dan Zink.

"We took the lead on the opening kickoff when Bob Swirbalus ran it back for a touchdown and I used my first defensive team for only the first three and a half minutes," Leone went on. "My juniors and seniors played longer than the soph and I saw many things that pleased me. They did a fine job and received plenty of game experience."

Leone labelled it as a "good victory" and explained that North gained 365 yards in total offense.

Although admittedly pleased with the work of his starters, Carl waxed high on many of the younger players.

Among those hailed by their coach were Tony Kelly and John Panarelli for their running, Lippens, who spelled Bob Sleeth at quarterback and did an outstanding job, Zink at end, Jim Sarruda and Jim Deverennes.

"Every one of the underclassmen did a terrific job but these boys were particularly outstanding," Leone went on. "I'm much more hopeful about the future after seeing what they can do."

Following Swirbalus' long runback on the opening kickoff, Larry Bray scored on a six-yard run with a pass to Dan Polvere for the points, and Don Meyer ran 16 yards for a score with another pass to Polvere for the conversion and North Quincy led, 22-0 at the end of the first period.

In the second quarter Swirbalus ran 48 yards for his second touchdown and Joe Lane rushed the points, Meyer raced 23 yards for his second TD and a pass to Steve Poore added the points and a safety gave North two more points in the third period. In the final the two sophs, Lippens and Zink, whose brother was an all-time basketball great at North, got together for the final points of the game.

GOOD ADVICE — Getting the word on field play is Quincy Coach Hank Conroy. Waiting to put the advice into operation is Quarterback Steve McDevitt.

North Booters End Top Year

The chances of North Quincy's soccer team winning the Division One championship of the South Shore Association were slim going into Tuesday's game at Hingham, but Coach George Golding and his Raiders hoped to prevent the Harbormen from clinching the title.

A week ago Hingham, which won the division title a year ago and is favored to repeat, eliminated Quincy from championship consideration with a slim 1-0 win. It needed only a win over North to clinch another division crown.

In their previous game North had forced Hingham into two overtime periods before eking out a 2-1 win.

North had blanked South Shore Vot-Tech, 4-0, to give it a 4-2-2 record and keep its flickering title hopes alive.

North winds up its season today with cross town rival Quincy. They tied, 1-1, in an earlier meeting.

Win or lose, the Raiders played excellent soccer this fall, giving every club a real battle and, with a good nucleus of returnees next year, led by sensational sophomore George Bourikas, the outlook is bright for 1969.

North Quincy Boosters Open Membership Drive

The annual membership drive of the North Quincy High School Boosters Club is now underway, it was announced by membership chairman Dan Dieso and will assist in the presentation of athletic scholarships and the lettermen's banquets sponsored by the club.

The club awards two $100 scholarships each year to deserving athletes each year. Trophies are awarded to lettermen at the annual banquet.

Boosters Club meetings are conducted on the first Monday of each month at North Quincy High School. The next meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 4.

All interested parents have been invited to attend.

Watch Them Go-Go Next Year!

A 26-29 win over arch rival Quincy ended the regular season for the North Quincy cross country team with the Raiders having a 5-5 record.

And the word is out. Watch North next season!

"This was a good season for us and we will have a fine nucleus next fall," Coach Bob Gentry said. "A 5-5 record is good for a North team, as we have a very difficult schedule."

Bob pointed out that among the teams which defeated the Raiders were Brockton, Weymouth and Abp. Williams, three of the state's top cross country units with brilliant records over the past few years, and Hingham, which had its best season in years with a 9-1 record and took second place in the Old Colony League.

Gentry will have his two top runners returning next year. They are Paul Affa, who won the final meet against Quincy by inches over Quincy's ace, Pete Laing, and Pat McCormick, who usually finished second to Affa this year.

"Just these two boys give us an excellent nucleus, but we will have some other excellent runners coming back," Gentry said.

Ed Monti, who scored well this fall, Steve Mellow, Richie Yee, Paul Bonoli, Dan Coughlin, John Bauer and Tom Flynn are other promising runners coming back and there will be several others who figured less in this year's picture but will play bigger roles in next year's plans.

"We had our largest routout, -32, this year, and interest appears to be at its peak," Gentry continued. "With so many fine runners coming back, interest should stay high. Actually, with the real strong teams we face, I don't look for any exceptional win-loss record, but we will take our share and give everyone a battle."

Gentry had hopes of qualifying some runners last week for this Saturday's state meet over the Franklin Park course and hopes North will be represented in next week's New England meet.

York Faces Recruitment Drive

Quincy's veteran cross country coach, George York, was forced to go out looking for runners this fall and he is afraid he will have to do the same thing next year.

"Interest has been lagging here especially since the school started soccer," York said. "I had only six or seven boys report this year and had to scout up some others until I finally had about 15. However, most of those I succeeded in recruiting were seniors so we won't have many coming back next year. It looks as though I'm going to have to recruit again and this time I hope I can get some underclassmen."

Quincy failed to win a meet this year but did have some interesting races and improved as the season went along. In their last meet against cross-town rival North Quincy, the Presidents lost by only a 26-29 score. Bob Gentry, North's coach, admitted Quincy was a much improved team in that final meet.

Like North, Quincy faced a rough schedule and four of the losses this fall were against some of the strongest teams in the state.

They lost to Abp. Williams, Weymouth and Randolph, who have amazing records in cross country. Randolph has won 72 successive dual meets, first in the Hockmuck League, then in the Old Colony, as it has won eight straight league titles. Williams and Weymouth have had brilliant marks over the past few years, and Hingham, another which topped Quincy this year, had a 9-1 record, losing only to Randolph in its opener, and finishing second in the Old Colony League.

"Pete won three races and was nipped by inches in our final meet against North," York said. "He is a really fine runner and will be back next year, being a junior now. I won't have too much coming back with him, but some of the boys ran well this fall and showed steady improvement. I'm hopeful we will do better next year."

Others returning will be Dave Esau, Tom Plant, Jim Conso, John DuBois, Jim Blom and Kevin Johndrow.

York had hopes that Laing and one or two others would qualify for Saturday's state meet over the Franklin Park course and also hopes Quincy will have someone in next week's New England meet.

Quincy's football team takes a day off from Greater Boston League action Saturday but plays one of the big games on its schedule.

Hank Conroy's Presidents take on traditional rival Weymouth in a 1-3-0 game at Veterans Memorial Stadium and are aiming for their first win over the Maroons since 1964.

That year Quincy eked out a 22-20 win but Weymouth has won the last three games.

Conroy expects one of his toughest games of the season with the Suburban League power which was upset by unbeaten Brookline to end a long win streak but which takes a 4-1 record into Saturday's big game.

Jim Wheeler's second Weymouth team the took over last year when Jackie Fisher resigned) opened with a 10-0 non-league win over Weymouth, was upset by Brookline 14-7, then won three consecutive games, 28-8 over Newton and 32-6 over Waltham in the league and 35-6 over Boston English in a non-league affair.

"This is another outstanding Weymouth team and we are going to be in for another busy afternoon," Conroy said. "This always a 'must' game on our schedule."

Quincy takes a 2-2-1 overall record (1-2-1 in the Greater Boston League) into the game following a 14-14 tie with strong Somerville a week ago.

"This was a real good football game but it was disappointing to have to settle for a tie after leading, 14-0, at the half," the Quincy coach stated. "Our quarterback Steve McDevitt dominated the first half and their fine quarterback (Roy) Peterson dominated the second half. Both put on quite a show."

"Our offense clicked well but our defense was a little ragged, especially in the second half, when Peterson did a great job passing."

Quincy again operated without starting halfback Ken Prouty and Conroy hopes to have the fine runner back for the Weymouth contest.

On offense Conroy had praise for McDevitt, end Pat Grimes, center Bill Kelley and tackle Steve Tappen.

He also hailed the defensive performances of line backers Paul Picarski, who also scored his first touchdown of the year, and Rick Pettiti, and also Steve Carrera and Dick Petrelli.

In the first half last week McDevitt capped an 80-yard drive by scoring from the one and kicked the point, then passed to Picarski for a touchdown and again kicked the point. McDevitt spearheaded an 84-yard drive for this score with some fine passing.

In the second half Peterson scored on a seven-yard run and passed to Joe Lutoff for 16 yards and a touchdown, then rushed the tying two points himself.

Peterson had 13 for 19 for the afternoon while McDevitt hit on none of 17 passes.

Sophomore Goalie Brightens Presidents Soccer Future

Quincy's soccer team has been eliminated from the South Shore Association Division One championship race but not until after it had battled every team all the way.

The Presidents lost their last game, a chance of catching Hingham when they dropped a 1-0 heartbreaker but they did themselves proud this fall and after two weeks ago may have proven a blessing in disguise and makes hopes for the future bright.

In a game against Sharon, Mike DelGrecco, an all-scholastic goalie a year ago, broke his leg in a collision and first year coach Ronnie Martin was forced to run. Dave D'Olimpo, a sophomore, intogoal.

The youngster has done an excellent job for Quincy and in his first three games gave up just three goals and had a shutout in his second game. According to Martin, the goals were not his fault as his teammates left someone open each time.

"It was a disappointing loss as we controlled the ball against Hingham," Martin said. We outplayed them but they got one break that decides the game."

The Presidents played in bad luck. They had numerous scoring chances and kept the pressure on for the entire game. In the first period Paul Kaplan hit the overhead bar on a shot and Co-Captain Dave Simpson bounced a ball off one of the uprights in the third quarter. Jim McGuire took a shot that skipped about a foot away from the Hingham net.

In the previous game against Hingham, Quincy held the defending division champs and favorites to repeat to a 2-2 tie. "In that game we led, 2-1, when Hingham scored on a corner kick," the new Quincy coach pointed out. "We left someone open on the play and it cost us the game."

After dropping its season's opener, 6-2, to powerful Duxbury, the defending league champ, Quincy came along fast and was as good as any team in the league. With a break here and there it could have been sitting on top of the league.

Quincy had defeated Plymouth-Carver in its previous game to make its record 4-2-2 going into the Hingham contest. Hingham at the time was 6-2-1 and a Quincy win would have kept the Presidents in the title running. Hingham needed only a win last Tuesday over North to clinch the division title.

Today Quincy winds up its season against North Quincy.

Trackless Quincy Teams

With the winter track season rapidly approaching, the Quincy and North Quincy teams, in common with many others, are wondering where they are going to run.

The two local schools are entered in the Met League, which has operated on Saturdays at the Commonwealth Armory.

But it has been announced that the Armory will not be available to the league this year, leaving it without a home.

With the proposed track facility at Cleveland Circle still just a lot of talk, it may be difficult for the Met League to find a site this winter.

It is hoped the problem can be solved, because many schools are involved in this, the most expansive track league in the state.

"Well," said Mr. Theodore Elliott, sponsor of Student Council, "another copy of the Appeal to the Great Spirit has been located, but it is not in perfect condition. I know that Mr. Creighton, treasurer of the drive, has been active recently in determining whether it is better to restore the copy to the original form or to have it bronzed. If bought and repaired, it will not be located in the center of the lobby, but when the lobby is renovated, the pony may be in an enclosure, visible both from the corridors and from the main office. The Pony drive is still very much alive!"

ONE TOO MANY

What has two legs but walks on three? Give up? It's one of a countless number of Quincy High students "walking" the corridors on crutches. Crutches seem to be the latest craze at QHS. The primary cause is broken bones, ranging from toe bone fractures to multiple breaks of the leg bones.

Operations rank a close second, and sprains and muscle pulls third. A decline in the number of cripples is expected at the closing of the football and soccer seasons.

"Twist my ring! Twist my ring!", echoes all over Quincy High School.

Class rings have been delivered and this year there have been many changes made in them. "Quincy High Voc. - Tech" replaces "Quincy High School". The "Voch Tech" symbol is displayed on the left side, and the pony on the right, with the blue stone in the middle.

Girls ask that many people twist their rings for good luck, using the last two numbers of the graduating year, and saving the last for their boyfriend.

So, make the last "Twist my Ring" request to the right boy!

The Page and Stage presentation in January will be "Arsenic and Old Lace", featuring in the lead roles Arlen Weiner as Martha, Chris Eggleston as Abbey, Jerry Brossman as Jonathan, and Dave Jones as Mortimer.

QHS SPIRIT RISES

For the first time in the history of Quincy High School there was a post-game rally after a 24-0 football victory over Malden High when a large number of fans returned to the voc-Tech gym and cheered for a Quincy victory over Somerville on Oct. 26.

VERBAL BOUQUETS: Jordan Marsh officials credit Mayor James R. McIntyre, Councillor Walter J. Hannon, City Council President J. Vincent Smyth and Public Works Commr. John M. Browne for prominent roles in bringing the company's new $10 million-plus distribution center to Quincy.

Hannon, as chairman of the Quincy Development Commission, made the original suggestion. Both he and Smyth, according to Jordan's, then devoted "a great deal of their personal time" in seeing that all of the questions pertaining to the project were answered, so that there were no misconceptions on the part of the public.

McIntyre and Browne, working with Jordan officials, saw to it that problems which arose during the planning stages were solved.

The facility will produce a tremendous chunk of revenue to help ease the burden on the taxing home-owner. The 1,300,000 square foot center will equal 30 acres all under one roof.

To give you an idea of how big that is, you could put Fenway Park and two Harvard Stadiums under that same roof.

THERE ALWAYS SEEMS to be a Quincy "angle" to every major news story regardless of where it breaks. For example, the wedding of Jacqueline Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis. Did you know he's an honorary citizen of Quincy?

Former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa recalled at the Quincy Fire Department's Retirement Dinner bestowing an honorary Quincy citizenship on Onassis in 1958.

That was the year the then Bethlehem Steel owned Quincy shipyard launched the Olympic Eagle first of three tankers it built here for Onassis.

SPEAKING of honorary citizens, present Mayor McIntyre so honored Irish Consul General Gearoid O'Clérigh during Quincy's impressive United Nations Day ceremonies. In doing so, McIntyre said he explained to O'Clérigh that he will later send him an honorary tax bill. To which O'Clérigh quipped: "I'll send you an honorary check."

Incidentally, did you know that Quincy originated the observance of United Nations Day with the first community ceremonies in 1945? So notes City Councillor Rep. Arthur H. Tobin who was chairman of this year's Quincy observance.

AT THE Fire Department Dinner, Della Chiesa also revealed he recently worked 18 days in the cranberry bogs in Middleboro to make up a Social Security requirement. Not picking the berries but inspecting them.

He says he has had between 400 and 500 guests at his new home in Penbroke, including a former mayor from England. And invites you all to drop by and say hello. That's 1 Bonnie Brier Drive, off Route 14.

The former mayor says he still loves Quincy, and to prove it, has purchased a lot for himself and his wife, Evelyn, at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

THREE FIRE CHIEFS shared head table spots at the dinner. Present Chief Edward F. Barry, retired Chiefs Thomas F. Gorman and William Sands. The latter is now 89 but looks spry enough to go out and knock down a two-bagger. He must have the Fountain of Youth bubbling in his back yard.

THE WALDORF restaurant, a long-time waiting spot for late-hour bus commuters is now closed. But thanks to a suggestion by Councillor Albert R. Barilario and a follow through by Mayor McIntyre, the MBTA waiting room next door will now remain open until the last bus departs at 12:30 a.m.

STANDING PAT: MBTA Manager Leo Cusick is staying with his prediction he'll ride the first rapid transit car into Quincy by Christmas Day, 1969. In Quincy the other day for the opening of the new Diminock St. Bridge, Cusick confided: "Not only did I make that promise to Quincy residents, but I made it to my two daughters, too. So, I have to keep it."

MILESTONES: Rt. Rev. John J. Allston, popular pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, turned a young 75 Tuesday ... Mrs. Lillian Van Dozer, 30 Woodward Ave., marking her 76th birthday and Mrs. Hattie MacLean of 85 Davis St., her 90th ... Congratulations and best wishes for many more.

LOOK ALIKE: Police Lt. Paul Nestor and movie star Paul Newman. (And wait'll the boys at the station read that!)

HAVE A QUOTE via Quincy Atty. Bentley Kurtis: "A spoiled child is a perfect example of minority rule in the house."

CONGRATULATING new South West Community Council president Earle MacLeod at his installation was Mayor James R. McIntyre. Others assuming leadership at the Morrisette Post ceremonies were Harriet Drew, vice president; Joan Prezioso, secretary and Joseph P. Shea, treasurer.

Police Graduation Friday For Second Recruit Class

Five Quincy police officers will be among a class of 30 graduates who will receive Recruit Training School diplomas at ceremonies at Sherry's Restaurant on Friday.

The Quincy patrolmen who will receive awards from Chief Francis X. Finn following a successful completion of the six-weeks course are:

Robert Costa, Richard Crespi, Paul Curtin, William Doherty and Daniel Kennedy.

The ceremonies will cap graduation for the second class to receive basic training at the regional school. Classes and facilities are located on the third floor of Quincy Police Headquarters.

Eleven area communities will be presented by patrolmen-graduates who have undertaken the training. The classes are now mandatory for recruits within six months of their entry into the police force.

Director of the regional instruction is Quincy Police Capt. Frederick P. Tighe, Assistant director for the course is Quincy Sgt. Francis Mullen.

Dignitaries who will attend the

1 p.m. luncheon graduation will include Boston Police Commr. Edmund L. McNamara, Dept. of Public Safety Commr. Leo L. Laughlin, Special FBI Agent, director James Handley and police chiefs from participating communities.

In addition to Chief Finn, the graduates will receive the congratulations of Quincy Mayor James R. McIntyre and Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas, a member of the police training council.

Also attending the ceremonies will be John Toomey, executive director of the municipal police training council which directs the activities of the 17 recruit training schools in Massachusetts.

Featured speaker will be Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard McLaughlin.

Other graduates represent police departments in Scituate, Cohasset, Hingham, Milton, Pembroke and Dover, in addition to Capital police personnel.

The pilot class graduated last May after completion of comprehensive training in the newly remodeled Quincy facilities.

The new officers receive instruction in criminal law, firearms, mob and riot control, Supreme Court adjudications, court procedures, human relations, drugs and narcotics and first aid.

Classes are instructed by Capt. Tighe, Sgt. Mullen and officials from the FBI, state police, MDC, secret service, treasury department and Dept. of Motor Vehicles.

A third class will be enrolled after the first of the year, Capt. Tighe said.

Fair Opens

The stage is set for the "Fierra Italiana," the annual Fall fair at St. Chrysostom's, Episcopal Church, on Wednesday.

Fair tables will begin service at 10 a.m. with a snack bar in operation from 11:30 to 1 p.m. Afternoon tea will be served from 2 to 4 p.m. and a spaghetti supper will be served at 6:30 p.m.

'Sweet Adelines' Spotlight

Several members from the Quincy Chapter of Sweet Adelines were guests last week on Community Spotlight with Win Bettinson on Quincy station WJDA.

Speakers for the group were Mrs. Vincent Pizzano of Weymouth, President of the Quincy Chapter and Mrs. Warren Gerstel, also of Weymouth, Founder of the Quincy Chapter.

Barbershop singing was provided by the Marionaires, a quartet from the Quincy Chapter featuring:

Mrs. Vincent Pizzano of Weymouth, Mrs. Leo Rubino of Quincy, Mrs. Lawrence Marshall of Weymouth and Mrs. Thomas Rowan of Braintree.

The Quincy Chapter of Sweet Adelines consists of women from Quincy and neighboring towns. Women are invited to attend rehearsals which are held every Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the George F. Bryan Post, Borad St., Quincy under the direction of Bill Rochford of Scituate.

Eric Lindgren Is New Fellowship President

Eric Lindgren of 285 Beale St., Wollaston has been named president of the Golden Fellowship Club of Wollaston.

Mr. Lindgren succeeds Mrs. Grace MacCrossan who resigned because of ill health.

Other changes in the club's office holders are Mrs. Harriet Kuskic, first vice-president, and Miss Ilva Ilrlite, second-vice president.

Miss Ilrlite and Mrs. Percy Mican are delegates to the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizen Groups.

The Golden Fellowship Club meets Tuesday afternoons at the Wollaston Methodist Church. Box lunches are held at noon preceding the business meeting and program.

World Community Program Friday

World Community Day sponsored by the Church Women Unit will be conducted Friday at the Adams Shore Community Church, 175 Albatross Rd.

A 1 p.m. coffee hour will be followed by a worship service.

Mrs. Truman Potter will be the featured speaker. Mrs. George Alexander, and, Mrs. Clarence Churchill are in charge of gift certificates in connection with the project of the day.

Quincy Girls Bring Halloween To Hospital

Three 12-year-old West Quincy girls brought Halloween to youngsters in the children's wards at Quincy City Hospital Sunday.

Debra Lotterhand, 43 Cross St., Debra Kouillard, 80 Grogan Ave., and Maureen Priscella, 48

Rogers St., put on their own party with the accent on treats.

The girls distributed candies, cake, tonic and games and a Halloween motif favors donated by them and several businesses in the West Quincy area.

Whether you wear it for campus or career, contemplation or syncope, above skirt or trousers—this shirt stands out of the season - McCall's Pattern #9460 - will give you go-everywhere cool.

Make it when you wear the open Nehru collar and flared sleeves or in the longer version, buttoned at the collar and cuffs. Or stretch up one of each in your choice of printed silks, cottons, crepe, knits, gabardine, satin, shantung, velveteen or velvets.

Whatever your choice of material and color, this easy-to-stitch, easy-to-coordinate separate lets you contemplate the new season with serenity and gives a bold beginning to your fall wardrobe success story.

Statistics Lose Again

Statistics show a prime connection between smoking and hardening of the arteries, but a new Chilean study of the arteries of 1,440 people found no association with smoking—or with drinking, either. On the other hand, most of the subjects with artery trouble were fat, didn't get enough exercise, and worked under stress.

Great Grandmother Notes 'Proudest Years'

Mrs. Lucia Papile of 4 Harkins St., had reason to count her birthday blessings last week—and they came in all sizes.

The mother of 16 children—14 living—Mrs. Papile was the proud matriarch of all she surveyed on

HAPPY BIRTHDAY — Neighbors, friends and a bountiful family joined in two birthday parties honoring Mrs. Lucia Papile. The long-time Quincy resident celebrated her 80th birthday Oct. 24 and received widespread tributes.

Oct. 24, it was her 80th birthday.

Helping her celebrate were: Her 31 grandchildren, or most of them, according to the birthday census.

Nine great grandchildren.

Her sons and daughters and their husbands and wives.

Of course everyone in the family couldn't attend. Telephone calls of congratulations were received from:

Las Vegas, Nevada, Gainville, Fla., Philadelphia, Pa., Washington, D.C., and from college checkpoints at Smith and the University of Massachusetts.

The long-distance tribute of the day came from Viet Nam where grandson Francis Faherty is serving.

Mrs. Papile, a regular parishioner at St. John's Church, came to the United States from Italy at 16. She has lived at her Quincy address ever since.

A birthday cake befitting the auspicious occasion was inscribed "Happy 80th Birthday, Nana." No "Nana" ever had a prouder and more loyal progeny. Of her many, many proud years, she has clear memories of her proudest.

During World War II, when seven of my sons volunteered to fight and defend our country when they were needed.

"What amused me," Mrs. Papile recalls, was that all branches of the service were selected, Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

"God was good to me and returned them home safely."

A family tragedy was suffered in 1949 when a 34-year-old son Edward was killed in an accident at the Fore River Shipyard.

Wanted: Prince And Princess For S.S. Christmas Festival

The South Shore Christmas Festival is looking for a young Prince and Princess to reign over this year's holiday events.

General Chairman George C. Fay announced today that boys and girls between the ages of five and eleven are eligible to compete for the honor.

Registration forms may be filled out at more than 100 businesses in the Quincy-South Shore area that support the annual Christmas Festival program.

The Prince and Princess will assist in turning on the Christmas lighting display in Quincy Center Nov. 29 and ride in Cinderella's Golden Coach in the 17th annual Santa Claus Christmas Parade sponsored by the Festival Dec. 1. They will appear on television to help publicize the parade and the Toys For Tots campaign and meet such TV personalities as Miss Jean (Ch. 5), Willie Whistle (Ch. 38), Bunker Hill and Captain Boston, (Ch. 56).

In addition to all that, they will receive a variety of prizes from Quincy merchants. Deadline for registering for the contest is Nov. 23. The Prince and Princess will be selected via a drawing Nov. 25. A second boy and girl will also be selected to serve as alternates.

Among the businesses participating in the contest are: Sears Roebuck, Rennie's Turnstyle, Child World, Sheridan's, South Shore National Bank, Capitol Supermarkets, Hancock Bank & Trust, Child Teen Shoe, Curtis Farms, Colman's Sporting Goods, Milton's, W.T. Grant Co., Grossman's, Rousayne's Jewelers, Montilio's Pastry Shops, Charles Bean Music Store, F.W. Woolworth, SS Kresge Co., Donaher's Men's Store, Cummings, Prince of Pizza and Claus Gelotte.

Vietnam Memorial Dedication Monday

Dedication of the city's new Vietnam Memorial and a parade of 2,500 marchers will highlight Quincy's annual Veterans Day observance Monday.

The granite sculptured memorial with the names of 27 Quincy boys who have given their lives so far in the Vietnam war will be unveiled at solemn ceremonies at 11:30 a.m. in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

An estimated 40,000 to 50,000 persons are expected to witness the parade which will precede the ceremonies at 10:30 a.m.

The observance is under the direction of the Quincy Veterans' Council representing the 12 veterans organizations in the city.

U.S. Rep. James A. Burke (D-Milton) will be the keynote speaker at the Vietnam Memorial dedication ceremonies.

The parade, featuring 18 bands, Army, Navy, Marine, Air Force and Coast Guard units, the 12 veterans organizations, Boy Scouts, Civil Air Patrol and Sea Cadets, will start at 10:30 a.m. from The Charles Ross Parkway.

Route will be School St.,

Hancock St., Coddington St. Sea St. to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

The reviewing stand will be on Sea St. across from the cemetery where families of the 27 Quincy men who have died in the Vietnam war will be guests of Mayor James R. McIntyre and the City Council.

City Clerk John M. Gillis is chairman of the Veterans Day program. Veterans Council Commander Paul W. O'Neill is parade chief marshal and Anthony M. Famigletti, chief of staff.

The Vietnam Memorial, 10 feet high, four-feet wide with a sculptured eagle, will be unveiled by veterans of that war.

The memorial is located in the veterans lot among memorials to Quincy men who lost their lives in the Civil War, Spanish-American, World War I, World War II and Korean.

Master Barbers Convention This Weekend In N. Quincy

More than 300 delegates will attend the 40th annual state convention of the Master Barbers and Beauticians at the Sheraton Motor Inn, North Quincy, this weekend.

The three-day event will open Saturday with registration at 9 a.m. and a reception scheduled for 9 p.m.

On Sunday, Mayor James R. McIntyre will address the convention and welcome the delegates to Quincy at 10 a.m. A business meeting will follow.

National President Paul Sparaco, R.B., will be keynote speaker at the convention dinner Sunday night at 6 p.m.

The election of officers and the conclusion of the business agenda will highlight Monday's session.

Carmelo DiMascio of Quincy is state president of the Master Barbers and Beauticians.

South Shore Chapter 699, with a membership of 100, is host. Ralph J. Papile of Quincy, a chapter delegate and former head of the Barber Board, is convention chairman.

South Shore Chapter delegates in addition to Papile are Richard Consalvi of Quincy, Sam Barrese of Hingham and Joseph Barka of Scituate.

Senior Citizen Half-Fares Asked By Mayor McIntyre

Senior citizens would be allowed to ride at half-fare on MBTA trains and buses under a bill to be filed by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre.

Persons 65 years and over would be given the reduced fares between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. if the legislation is enacted. McIntyre has twice before filed similar legislation which was approved by the Senate but defeated in the House of Representatives.

McIntyre who is hopeful he will get the bill through on his third try said there is more than just a service to senior citizens involved.

"The rapid transit trains and buses running between these hours are usually half-empty," he said. "It wouldn't cost the MBTA any money to allow senior citizens to ride half-fare during these slow hours.

"Actually, the MBTA would be making some money to help offset the current operating deficit."

He noted that Cleveland has such a plan and that it has proved successful there.

There are an estimated 12,000 Quincy residents in the 65 and over age bracket who would benefit.

John F. Sheehan, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, said he wholeheartedly endorses the proposed legislation.

He said members of the 14 senior citizens groups in the city would circulate petitions in support of the bill.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Is there one official in this state of Massachusetts who will help a sizeable group of people who have known floods, suffered health hazards (one known death and one known case of hepatitis) and suffered several thousands of dollars in damages?

We have met with city officials and the answer was received - (1) "no funds", even though we have waited over 15 years, (2) "it is not your turn this time", (3) "you can expect bigger and better floods" and (4) one city official said "perhaps you had better pray that we do not have any more rain". That is not only an insult to our intelligence, but also to his. We do not need a heavy rain storm, just a summer shower can cause a great deal of damage in this area.

Now we are faced with the prospect of 68 acres of Montclair marshes being filled in under the guise that this industry will lower the taxes for the City of Quincy. Will you give us one example where this has proven to be true?

We not only address ourselves to the officials, but also to the people in Montclair, Quincy, North Quincy, West Quincy and East Milton. It is possible that until now you have escaped the havoc of flooding, but it is more probable that next time it will not escape if these marshlands are continually used up. It has been said, and said many times, that the wetlands should NOT be used for building, but yet we see buildings being constructed on them all the time. The buildings cannot be built without city permits. The people who issues these permits are elected, paid and supposedly working for the homeowners.

It is time for each individual to step up and be heard. Please citizens, take a future interest in your homes now - do not wait for the future! Remember the next time it could be your home that is flooded!

Vietnam Package Deadline

Packages which generally weigh in excess of 30 pounds and being sent by surface mail to the armed forces in Vietnam should be mailed by Saturday of this week to connect with the Vietnam Cargo Ship "Santa Claus Special" sailing from Oakland, California for DaNang, Qui Nhon, Cam Rahn Bay and Saigon, and other bases served throughout these ports.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin urged extra care in the preparation of these G.I. packages to assure safe arrival, eliminating all perishables, breakable articles, and articles prohibited by regulations to be admitted to various countries. Local postoffices can advise when the APO of FPO Number is furnished concerning restrictions, etc.

Packages which do not exceed 5 pounds can be sent by SAM (Space Available Mail) up to November 23. These are restricted to 60 in. in length and girth combined. SAM packages require postage at surface rates only to the port of embarkation and are flown overseas at no additional cost.

Packages weighing not in excess of 30 pounds and measuring not more than 60 in. (length and girth combined) can be sent as late as November 30th by PAL (Parcel Air Lift). The cost of such packages is $1.00 plus the surface parcel cost to the port of embarkation. However, these PAL packages are flown from city of mailing to overseas bases on a space available basis.

The postmaster pointed out that the terminology ("Space Available") does not mean that they may or may not be flown overseas, but rather that critical mail and articles paid at the full air mail rate will get first priority on each flight.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

Confusion, apprehension and consternation disturb people when influenza is anticipated. This fear is understandable when we realize the severity and disastrous epidemic of 1918-20 which many of us still recall.

Relative to the epidemic of Flu predicted for this winter, let me present the findings of the Committee on Control of Infectious Diseases of the American Academy of Pediatrics. The October Newsletter supplement discusses a recent meeting prompted by the sizable outbreak arising in Hong Kong in early July which spread to Taiwan and the Philippines and also hit some of our Navy personnel. It has already reached our mainland. Although the attack rate was high, the illness itself has not been unusually severe. The responsible virus has been designated as Hong Kong 68 and it unlike the Flu strains of the past 10 years. Hence available Flu vaccines will not be too effective against the new strain. It is not expected that a special vaccine for this Hong Kong strain will be available before 1969.

Despite the delay, the Committee feels that there may still be some protection from existing vaccines and these should be administered to the high risk group, such as the elderly, the children with chronic lung, heart, liver, kidney, nervous system or metabolic ailments, such as diabetes, etc. Also, these same persons should be immunized with the specific Hong Kong vaccine when available, presumably in 1969.

Please realize that ANY Flu vaccine is difficult to obtain at this present moment due to scarcity, even from the Health Department. Consult your doctor for his advice concerning individuals for whom you have concern.

You might like to hear of the 1918-19 Flu epidemic which was probably the last of the "Great Scourges." Estimates put the death total in the world at 20 MILLION PERSONS (12½ million in India alone or 4% of its population; 548,000 Americans and one million Serbians.) To this add the statistic that 50 times this number were afflicted. The extraordinary severity was due to complicating bacteria causing pneumonia, such as the Pneumococcus, the staphylococcus (the "boil bug"), and the streptococcus, in an era with no specific treatment. My mother even had us wear camphor balls around our neck!

The wonderful development of antibiotics and chemicals and the continued improvement in their efficiency makes us feel confident that we will be prepared for such complications now and that better public health advice warns us of the imminence epidemics and allows protective preparation.

THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT WE HAVE TO FEAR THIS HONG KONG FLU.

Serpos Fund Dental Clinic Established

The Board of Managers of the Ervant Serpos Fund has established a dental clinic in the Atherton Hough School, 1084 Sea Street, Houghs Neck.

The Board of Managers of the Ervant Serpos Fund announced this week that they have set up a dental clinic in the Atherton Hough School, 1084 Sea St., in Houghs Neck.

Dr. James Will, D.M.D., a Teacher-Director of the Dental Health Service at Quincy Vocational Technical School, has been appointed Director of the clinic. Dr. Isidore B. Mandell, 27 Stearns Rd., Brookline, has been appointed to the staff.

The dental clinic will be open to residents.

Flu Vaccine Clinics Are Set

Flu vaccine clinics for senior citizens of Quincy will be conducted next week in various sections of the city by the Quincy Health Department in cooperation with the Quincy Council on Aging.

Dr. John T. Foley, Quincy Health Commissioner, announced that a clinic will be held Nov. 12 at 1 p.m. at the South-West Quincy Multi-Service Center, 372 Granite Street and on Nov. 13 at 1 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Senior Citizens Club at Houghs Neck Legion Post Home on Sea St.

On Nov. 14, at 1 p.m. a clinic will be conducted at the Germantown Senior Citizen Multi-Service Center at the Snug Harbor School. Another is scheduled for the John F. Kennedy Health Center Nov. 13 at 3 p.m.

Other clinics are being planned for 1000 Southern Artery, the Senior Citizens Drop-In-Center, 24 High School Ave., the Golden Fellowship Club at the Wollaston Methodist Church, Beale St., Wollaston, and the Quincy Post Senior Citizens Club at Fore River Clubhouse Nevada Rd., Quincy Point. The definite dates of these clinics will be announced later.

It is recommended that currently available influenza vaccine be given only to persons at highest risk of mortality or severe complications as a result of influenza. High-risk groups include persons with chronic illnesses and persons in the older age group of over 50 years of age.

WW I Veterans Guests At Armistice Open House

Quincy veterans of World War I are invited to a special Open House Sunday in observance of the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice that ended the war.

World War I Barracks No. 458 and the city of Quincy are co-sponsoring the Open House at Quincy Legion Post No. 95 Home, Revere Rd., Quincy Center.

The program will include a buffet and entertainment from 4 to 8 p.m.

World War I veterans who are not members of the Barracks are also invited to attend.

J. Irving Fletcher, commander of Barracks 458 and Mayor James R. McIntyre are co-hosts for the Open House.

Harold J. Doig is Barracks chairman and Carl V. Payson, adjutant.

Barracks members will participate in the Quincy Veterans Day parade Monday.

Making The Scene At Halloween

Doggoned Good Fun... For Young and Old...

By Roger B. Whitcomb And Robert Leo Eng

ORIGINALITY PRIZE went to "Mei Long", right, a pug owned by Edna Solander for the "Living Pumpkin" costume. "Love Child", is really "Goldie", a Labrador, owned by Rocky Rocuzzo, who took funniest costume honors. The Halloween party for their pets was given at the Quincy Armory by South Shore Dog Training Club members.

REFRESHMENTS, ANYONE? - Playing a conventional role as keg carrier was "Seahorse," a St. Bernard, owned by Julie Molloy. Wearing a meal-hag blanket is Ella Schlossberg's German Shepherd.

BIG, BAD WOLF and Grandma seem to be appropriate titles for these reluctant German Shepherds. Participating in the uncustomed masquerade were "Kahl" and "Fee of Clover Acres", owned by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Murray. Regular dog training classes are conducted at the Armory every Thursday. The Halloween diversion proved a major obedience test for the animals.

MINI-TRICKSTERS were out to spook the neighborhood or to collect the big haul. The candy-minded are Cheryl Chaurmonte, John Ferullo, 5, Mark Ferullo, 4, and Kimberly Canale, 2.

Quincy Point Jr. High Reunion

The Weymouth Rotary Club will present the John Savini band playing the original arrangements of Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman, Duke Ellington, Harry James, Jimmy Dorsey, Stan Kenton and other top bands of the 1930's and 1940's.

The concert and dance will be from 8:30 p.m. to midnight. Tickets may be obtained at the door or from Weymouth Rotary members.

The 15-member Savini band includes a number of former big band musicians and sidemen.

Al Anthony played alto sax for Al Donohue, Shep Fields, Gene Krupa, Teddy Powell, Stan Kenton and Tommy Dorsey. He is now musical director of the Institute for Juvenile Guidance at Bridgewater.

Other top members of the Savini band are trumpeter Lou Colombo, Harry James' sound-alike, Mike Lallie, baritone sax, Charley Wells and Gordon Bauman, trumpet; Arnold MacKenzie and Bob Gay, trombone; Bob Corbett, sax; Bill Cecchi, piano and Ray Rose, bass.

The Weymouth Rotary Club expects to draw a capacity crowd as it has for this event the past three years.

LOYAL SERVICE was recognized in this presentation to John J. Devine, 153 Water St., right, upon his retirement after 15 years service with the Quincy Housing Authority. Presenting an engraved plaque and money gift was Mr. Constanzo Paenano, vice chairman of the Board. (Quincy Sun Photo by Robert Leo Eng)

Rotary Club Brings Back "Big Band" Era Nov. 15

The nostalgic "Big Band" era will be recreated at The Surf, Nantasket, Nov. 15.

Program arrangements have been completed for the celebration of the 40th anniversary of Quincy Point Junior High School on Wednesday.

The event will mark the original opening of the school in September 1928. A meeting in the auditorium and a reception in the cafeteria will highlight the Open House.

Presiding at the anniversary will be PTA president Mrs. Anne M. Bass. Mayor James R. McIntyre will be the featured speaker. Other speakers will include Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, acting superintendent of schools and Mrs. Helen S. Poonarico, first school president.

A progress report will be submitted by the Memorial Scholarship Fund Committee. City Clerk John M. Gillis will read the honor roll commemorating the school dead of World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

The class gift will be presented by Mrs. Bass and accepted by school principal Theodore R. Silva.

All former teachers, students and present faculty members have been urged to attend the reunion. Past PTA president, the Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will serve as master of ceremonies.

A reception will follow the brief meeting. Pourers will be Miss Harriet Titcomb, Miss Cecile Scripser, Mrs. Esther Weeden Morton, Mrs. Marion Vincent and Mrs. Kea Trevis.

Memorabilia will be on display in honor of the occasion.

PTA officers for 1968-69 in addition to Mrs. Bass are Mrs. Dorothy A. Rand, vice president; Mrs. Doris D. Kiddick, secretary and Mrs. Frances F. Andronico, treasurer.

Sunbeams

The Presidential election is over but the political season isn't. It never is. On the local front, observers are already looking ahead to next year's city election.

The big question: Will Mayor James R. McIntyre seek a third term or call it a career at the municipal level?

City Hall insiders don't know the answer to that one. McIntyre himself probably doesn't either. It's doubtful he has come to a decision yet although he reportedly is giving it thought now.

There's speculation he will run statewide, perhaps for attorney general on the Democratic ticket. He's got plenty of support behind him for such a bid.

The mayor's office, despite its local prestige is considered a political dead-end if a man stays there too long.

Only one of Quincy's mayors, for example, went on to much bigger things. Charles Francis Adams became Secretary of the Navy under President Hoover. And he had an illustrious name going for him.

Whether McIntyre steps down at the completion of his current term remains to be seen. If he decides to go for one more term, there doesn't appear to be anyone on the political scene who would be a threat to him.

If he does decide to exit, there will be a stampede for the $10,000 job and the honor (and headaches) that go with it.

Potential candidates would probably include: Council President J. Vincent Smyth, Councilors John J. Quinn, George B. McDonald, Walter J. Ilannon, Arthur H. Tobin and Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard W. Barry.

SMALL WORLD DEPT: When Jordan Marsh decided to build its new $10 million-plus distribution center at the former Squantum Naval Air Station, it brought back memories for company President William P. Reed. That's where he received his discharge from the Navy after World War II service.

GOOD DEED: Members of Girl Scout Troop 198, North Quincy, helped get out the vote in Tuesday's Presidential election. They provided baby sitting services to parents casting ballots at the Quincy School. They watched the youngsters while Mom and Dad did their civic duty. A real nice gesture.

STORK REPORT: Mr. and Mrs. Burton M. Sack are the proud parents of their first child, a son, Burton Chetken known as Skip headed the public relations office for Howard Johnson in Wollastont and is now a company vice-president and special director. His pretty wife, Sue, is a former Miss Connecticut. They now live on Rocky Ridge Rd., White Plains, N.Y.

MILESTONE: As the city's chief executive, Mayor McIntyre sends out many cards of congratulations to residents observing birthdays and anniversaries. But he had a very special one the other day. It went to Mrs. William F. McIntyre--his mother--celebrating her birthday. (She's a young 65).

LOOK ALIKE: Just about everyone is a look alike for one other person. But doesn't Mrs. George Goodhue, wife of Quincy insurance agent, remind you of two different people: Lady Bird Johnson and Mrs. Rose Kennedy?

IN CASE: you didn't get the word, the Quincy section of William T. Morrissey Boulevard becomes Quincy Shore Drive effective next Jan. 1. This is the result of special legislation filed by Rep. Joseph I. Brett. Many residents complained they wanted "Quincy" in the name as it was years ago. The boulevard was renamed in honor of late MDC Commr. William T. Morrissey.

JUST DON'T GET IT: in the way of a firefighter at the scene of a fire. It could cost you some money or worse. Edward H. Barry of Hudson St. (no relation to Fire Chief Edward F. Barry) notes that a state law amended last March stipulates:

Whoever willfully obstructs, interferes with or hinders a firefighter in the lawful performance of his duty, or whoever willfully obstructs, interferes with or hinders a fire-fighting force in the lawful performance of its duty, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 or by imprisonment in a jail or house of correction for not less than 30 days nor more than two and one-half years or by imprisonment in the state prison for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment in a jail or house of correction.

So, you better stand back and give 'em room.

JWV Post To Honor "Citizen Of Year"

The South Shore Association for Retarded Children will be cited by Quincy Post 193, Jewish War Veterans, at ceremonies on Sunday.

The award will be presented at the 18th annual JWV breakfast at 9:30 a.m. at the Quincy Jewish Community Center, 10 Merrymount Rd.

The citation will honor the Retarded Children's Association as "Citizen of the Year," for "their untiring efforts in helping the mentally retarded by giving them an opportunity to reach their fullest capabilities."

Invited guests include Mayor and Senator James R. McIntyre, previous recipients and many friends of J.W.V.

Past Commander Irv Isaacson will be Master of Ceremonies and make the presentation. Keynote speaker will be Arthur Bennett, Director, Rehabilitation workshop South Shore Training Center.

Cmdr. Sid Tallen will preside at the meeting. Program co-chairmen are P.C. Irv Isaacson and P.C. Al Kofman. Also on the committee are Cmdr. Tallen, Sr. Vice George Swartz, Jr. Vice Dave Can, Ralph Pauli, Dan Lubarsky, P.C. Lou Simons, P.C. Dave Minkofsky, P.C. Ben Rudner, P.C. Nate Goldberg, and chief chef Joe Yanoff.

Previous recipients of the award include: Mr. Harold Shaw, Mr. Percy Lane, Capt. Edmund F. Genereau, Mrs. Kav Jobert Parsons, Dr. Paul Gossard, Mr. Clifford Mason, Capt. William F. Hulteen, Mr. Richard Ash, Mr. Irving Boyes, Mr. John W. Pursell, Mr. Charles I. Sweeney, Evelyn Ford, Mr. Richard J. Kosh, Mr. Ernest J. Montilio, Rabbi Jacob Mann, Dr. Charles Djerf, and Chief of Police Francis X. Finn.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 17, the Quincy Jewish War Veterans and the Beth Israel Synagogue will hold their annual joint worship breakfast at the Beth Israel Synagogue on Grafton Street, Quincy.

Services will start at 9 a.m. with the posting of colors and a short memorial service for departed comrades. Breakfast will be served at 10 a.m.

The main speaker will be Mr. Arthur McLean of Wollaston.

Pathways

By

Rev. John D. Banks

Pastor, Bethany Church

(Pathways is a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen.)

When Harry S. Truman was president a sign was posted outside his office. It read: "The buck stops here."

Buck-passing is one of those skills almost everyone learns by the time he is ten years old. Deeply ingrained in all of us is a desire to be rid of a guilt complex. The quickest "out" is to find another person to blame for one's own failings.

It's all too easy for a young person to blame his parents for his own short-comings. Students of the social scene are all too prone to jump to the conclusion that the big generation can be accounted for by the shoddy morals and ethics of the homes from which these flower-people came.

That is too simple an explanation. While one can compute the effect of some influences, who can measure the whole environment? And how is one to account for such a variety of behavior in children from a single household?

The prophet Ezekiel took a text from Jeremiah and preached a sermon on individual responsibility that every generation needs:

"What do you mean by repeating the proverb, 'The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge'? As I live, says the Lord God, this proverb shall no more be used by you in Israel. Behold, all souls are mine, the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son; the soul that sins shall die ... I will judge you, every one according to his ways."

Although it's sometimes difficult to hew out a way of our own, keeping what seems worthy from the past and choosing what is promising for the future that is precisely what each one of us has to do to become a self-respecting human being.

Those who spend an inordinate chunk of youthful years in protest against their elders, intent merely to prove that they can rebel, are actually passing the buck. They want to put responsibility on someone else while failing to grasp it themselves.

The same must be said for middle-aged people and senior citizens who regularly appeal for police or teachers or the courts to cope fondly with social conditions that have leached for the past hundred years. One cannot pass the buck endlessly. It comes back to every one of us when ever we have opportunity to vote and give and speak and work for justice and equality.

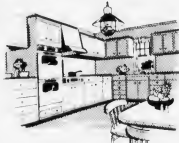

Another national election has reminded us of our privileges in choosing those who make our laws and govern the land. One cannot have the privilege long without accepting the responsibility that goes with it.

In the play, "State of the Nation," a politician says to one of his helpers: "Don't you know that ignorant, selfish and lazy people are never free?" To walk straight and tall and free, let's quit passing the buck to Dad and Mom, to mayor or police chief, to the boss or the neighbor. Let's act like responsible citizens and accept the consequences of our own choices.

By Charles H. Wickens

At times, some people confuse the distinction between courage and cowardice. Courage does not always imply an absence of fear; nor does cowardice always imply an excess of fear. Common sense linked with conscience is involved in the distinction.

For example, some people think it takes courage to speed past a car on a hill or curve. Screaming tires, shrieking voices, swerving cars, and often head-on collisions point an accusing finger toward that kind of courage. Since common sense did not prevail, and since there was a lack of conscience for a possible tragedy, are such drivers really courageous or cowardly?

Courage with a conscience gives us strength to face distinctions between right and wrong, between the things we should do and should not do.

NON-LEAGUE CLASH SATURDAY

Un-Un Raiders Not Looking Past Boston Tech

There appears to be no stopping the North Quincy football team but the Raiders will not be looking ahead to the big Somerville game on Nov. 16 when they face Boston Tech in a non-league game Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium at 1:30.

"We passed our biggest test of the season with flying colors last week at Everett and the Somerville game looms just as big, but we are not looking past Tech," Coach Carl Leone said. "They upset us last year and, although it is a non-league game, we don't want a similar upset to spoil our perfect record."

On the surface North Quincy, with a 6-0 record (5-0 in the Greater Boston League and 8-0 since losing to Tech a year ago) doesn't appear to be in any great danger this week, especially after the Raider's surprisingly easy 30-8 victory last week at Everett. However, North's scouts were impressed with Tech's showing in a 12-2 win last week over Cambridge Latin. After topping Boston Latin, 22-12, the Boston club lost to New Bedford, 38-0; Brockton College High, 6-0, and Brockton, 9-6, before defeating Cambridge Latin.

"Everyone is pointing for us and Tech knows it will gain a lot of prestige if it could knock us off, so we are not taking them lightly by any means," Leone continued.

The Raider coach labelled last week's game as "one of the best a North Quincy team ever played" and believes it is one of the worst beatings for an Everett team. "Certainly it has been a long time since anyone scored 30 points against them and if we could have made some of our conversions, it would have been that many more," Carl said. "Our offense really clicked well and the entire backfield did a great job as did the line in opening up the holes."

Quarterback Bobby Sleeth had a rough start but bounced back to turn in another brilliant performance. The classy southpaw missed on his first six passes, although three were dropped strikes, but came back to hit on 12 of the next 13 to wind up with 12 for 19 for 210 yards and two touchdowns.

"This boy is just great. I can't say enough for him," his coach lauded. "In addition to his terrific passing, he handles the ball well and calls the plays flawlessly. He is as fine a quarterback as I've seen."

Leone praised Dan Polvere, Larry Bray and Don Meyer, the rest of the starting backfield. Polvere scored three touchdowns and picked up 55 yards in 14 carries. Bray had another great day with 100 yards in 22 carries and Meyer, who did less running than usual because Everett keyed on him, carried only five times and had a touchdown. Bray caught four passes for 45 yards and Polvere caught three for 88.

"Meyer usually runs up the middle and the Everett defense was tough there, so we went with our halfbacks with good results," Leone went on. "Our ends, Steve Poore and Wedge Trubiano, played excellent ball on offense and the defensive ends, juniors Jerry Mulcahy and John Hemphill, were great."

Steve Dieso (260 and being eyed by many college scouts) and Steve LeShane excelled at tackle and Jay Connerty, who has been a standout all year, was brilliant again. He is one of the finest cornerbacks I've seen and our best since Ken McPhee, now playing at Central Connecticut. He himself said he was one of the best he has seen. He did a wonderful job last week just as he has in every game.

"The statistics show how strong our defense was. We held them to 124 yards overall, 17 on passes and 60 of the 117 yards on the ground came on one play alone, our only defensive touchdown all afternoon which gave them their touchdown. All in all, I am very happy about the outcome. I don't think anyone expected a score like that."

Polvere scored the first touchdown on a pass from Sleeth covering 18 yards, scored the second on a five-yard run and after Everett's 60-yard scoring run, Polvere scored his third TD from the six to make it North 18-8 at the half.

In the second half Meyer scored from the two and Sleeth passed six yards to Trubiano to round out the scoring.

North had 18 first downs, Everett only six. The Raiders picked up 148 yards rushing to 117 and gained 210 on passes to just 17 for the Crimson Tide.

Although Leone says his team is not looking ahead, they certainly must be thinking of Somerville, with its best team in years. The Hilltoppers ruined Revere, 42-6, last week. Revere's first loss since the opener to North Quincy.

Golding Looking For A Smile From Lady Luck Next Season

A year ago North Quincy's veteran soccer coach, George Golding, has his first losing season in five years but this fall the Raiders bounced back and had a good season, staying in the thick of the South Shore Association championship race until the final week of the season.

Last week the Raiders were nipped by Quincy, 1-0, to finish up with a 5-4-3 record.

North handled by Ed King in the absence of Golding, injured in an auto accident, was thwarted by the brilliant goal tending of Dave D'Olimpio, who made two great saves among many.

North turned in some excellent performances this year and, in addition to its three ties, suffered most of its losses by one goal. The Raiders were not outclassed in any game this fall.

In its previous game North had prevented lingham from clinching its second straight Division One title by holding the Harbormen to a 2-2 tie. The Raiders were fired up by the attendance of Golding despite his injuries, and played an outstanding game against the defending division champs.

Sophomore George Bourikas, one of the top young players and one of the high scorers in the league, scored both goals, his first tying the score in the second period and the second in the third period. The first came on a pass from Bruce Healy, the second on a penalty kick.

Earlier the Raiders had been nipped by Sharon, 1-0, despite another excellent performance by North goalie Don Gilliland.

"This team played excellent soccer all season and we might have won the title with just a little smile from Lady Luck," Golding said. "We were in the thick of every game we played and every team knew it was in a real game. We will have a good nucleus next year and things look good."

Any coach with a boy like young Bourikas, a native of Greece, coming back, has reason to smile about next year's prospects.

Fathers Club Wrestling Show

The Quincy Fathers Club will sponsor a star wrestling show Friday night at 8:30 p.m. at the Quincy Vocational-Technical High School.

Main attraction will be a four man tag team match pitting Sweet Daddy Watts and Malcolm Cormier against Buzz Orto and Big Luke.

In a co-feature women's match, Alma Mills meets Donna McCoy.

Proceeds will benefit the Quincy High School football team.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or by calling Frank Osborne at 773-5436.

Quincy Booters Close Season On High Note Win Over North

Quincy's soccer team enjoyed a successful season this fall under rookie coach Ronnie Martin and things look promising for the Presidents next year.

In the final game last week the Presidents edged North Quincy, 1-0, to finish their South Shore Association season with a 6-4-2 record.

Paul Kaplan scored the only goal and sophomore goalie Dave D'Olimpio came up with two superb saves among the many he made to preserve the win. He made a great save on a penalty kick and later saved another apparent sure score.

In its previous game Quincy, which stayed right in the running for the Division One championship until the final week, dropped a 3-1 decision to Sharon.

Bruce Carlson scored in the second period to give the Presidents a 1-0 lead, with Guy Giandrea having an assist. Sharon scored twice in the third period and another goal in the finale.

Dave Simpson was outstanding for Quincy, while sophomore Dave D'Olimpio turned in another fine performance in the goal.

Earlier Quincy had been given unexpected trouble before nipping winless Plymouth-Carver, 1-0, on Jim McGuire's goal. The Presidents waited until the final 55 seconds to score the winning goal.

Prospects for next season were given a shot in the arm by the consistently excellent performances of D'Olimpio, who had been rushed into the goalie position when the regular goalie, Mike DeGrecco, an all-scholastic a year ago, broke his leg in a game against Sharon.

"After we lost to Duxbury, 6-2, in our first game, we came along well," said Martin, a native outclassed," said Martin, a native of Scotland who played a good deal of soccer there. "We were in every game and with a break here and there would have had a chance at the championship. The club did a very good job and certainly had nothing to be ashamed of."

"We played a poor game and I am very disappointed. However, if we can come back in the next three games and show a lot more spirit and determination than we did today, we can still have a good season."

These were the words of Quincy football coach Hank Conroy following last week's 3-0 clobbering at the hands of old rival Weymouth at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

It was one of the worst defeats for a Conroy-coached team and Hank did not try to hide his disappointment.

If the Presidents, with a 2-3-1 record (1-2-1 in the Greater Boston League) are to bounce back this should be a good week to do it. They play at Chelsea Saturday at 1:30 and the Red Devils have been knocked around week after week with nothing but six one-sided defeats.

"We made things easy for Weymouth by making far too many mistakes," Conroy said. "Penalties killed us and many of them were unnecessary. You can't make mistakes like that against a team like Weymouth. Actually, they showed me more offense than I anticipated, and they were just as strong on defense as I expected."

Several times completed passes and good runs were nullified by penalties.

Quincy has faced some pretty good quarterbacks this year but none has been better than Weymouth's Tom McMahon.

The tall junior who stands six feet and weighs 195 threw only seven passes but completed six for 132 yards, two of them for touchdowns. He ran well and handled the ball superbly.

And Coach Jim Wheeler, a former Weymouth all-scholastic himself, showed the large crowd some fine running backs in Bob McDonald, Steve Pierce and Richie Mell. They didn't break loose for any long runs but ground out a net of 127 yards on the ground as compared to only 58 for the Presidents.

On defense the Maroons were brilliant and gave Quincy's fine quarterback, Steve McDevitt, his most frustrating afternoon. Steve was continually rushed and was able to complete only eight of 22 passes for 109 yards and several times was snared for sizeable losses. Despite the steady pressure, McDevitt turned in another good performance, playing his heart out. He was harassed especially by big tackle Jim Taubert.

"We just weren't up for this game and I can't understand it, because it has been one of our big games every year," Conroy said. "They were much higher than we were and this is the main reason we lost so badly. We are really going to have to snap out of it if we want to make this a respectable season."

Steve Carrera played another fine game and McDevitt did well under the continued pressure. We had three starters missing, end Dick Mendici, halfback Ken Prouty and Ed Scigliaro, but our sub ends did a good job. On offense Steve Tappen and Steve Folino played well as did Rich Pettiti and Paul Picarski. Bill Kelly and Tappen did well defensively in the interior line.

"I want to say a word for Ted Meyer, who has played just about everywhere and does a good job at every spot he has played. Today he played as a linebacker for the first time and did a fine job."

Conroy expects Prouty, Menchi and Scigliaro back for Saturday's game at Chelsea.

Quincy started well last week and drove to the Weymouth 19 after the opening kickoff, reeling off three first downs.

A roughing the kicker penalty, one of two such calls against the Maroons, ended this drive. A pass completion which carried inside the 10 was nullified by a back in motion penalty and on fourth down McDevitt tried a field goal which was blocked by Bill McCurdy as the pass from center was low.

A 29-yard pass from McMahon to Bill O'Brien brought Weymouth to the Quincy 35, a face mask penalty against Quincy put the ball down on the 18 and four plays later McMahon lateraled to Mell, who scored from the four. Vin Puntriki kicked the first of his four conversion points.

A Quincy fumble, recovered by Jim Murphy on the Quincy 31, set up the second touchdown, scored by McMahon on a sneak from the one. On a fake kick, McDonald skirted end for the two points.

Late in the half, O'Brien intercepted a McDevitt pass, returning it to the Quincy 25 and on the next play McMahon passed to McDonald for the third 10 and Puntriki kicked the point.

The teams played on even terms in the third period but midway in the quarter Frank Baldassini intercepted a McDevitt pass and ran it back 63 yards and Puntriki added the point to make it 29-0.

A few minutes later Quincy got on the scoreboard when it went 25 yards after a roughing the passer penalty against the Maroons. Carrera scored from the three and McDevitt swept left end for the points.

Weymouth added its final touchdown on a 26-yard pass play from McMahon to McDonald and Puntriki kicked his fourth conversion.

The game was replete with penalties. Weymouth was assessed 105 yards, 75 of them in the third period alone, and Quincy 102 yards.

Weymouth had 15 first downs and Quincy 12.

The win was the fourth in a row for Weymouth over Quincy, the last win for the Presidents being a 22-20 squeaker in 1964.

Quincy has 29 wins in the long series which began in 1893. Weymouth now has 23 wins and there have been seven ties.

A New (Free) City Hall

Multi-Million Dollar Government Center Planned

SOLEMN MOMENT is observed in the Memorial tribute to Quincy war dead. The unveiling of the new war memorial at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery highlighted the exercises Monday. Among those paying tribute at Veterans Day observances were, from left, Anthony M. Famigletti, chief of staff; John M. Gillis, program chairman; Mayor James R. McIntyre and Cong. James A. Burke, featured speaker at the dedication.

"New Era Of Responsibility" Urged By Congressman Burke

U.S. Rept. James A. Burke (D-Milton), keynote speaker at Quincy's Veterans Day ceremonies, called for a "new era of individual and national responsibility" based on loyalty, dedication and duty, for the cause of freedom.

The Congressman spoke at the unveiling of the Vietnam Memorial in Mount Wollaston Cemetery Monday.

The names of 27 Quincy men who have given their lives in the Vietnam War are inscribed on the handsome granite memorial. The name of the 28th-Marine Cpl. Gerald R. Peterson killed after the memorial was erected-will be added.

During the ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Willard of 11 Ditmar St., North Quincy, were presented 20 medals encased in a glass frame, won by their son, Warrant Officer Ralph J. Willard, and Army helicopter pilot lost in Vietnam. The medals included the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Bronze Star.

Congressman Burke urged the gathering to heed the advice of President Elect Richard M. Nixon and Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey: "Let us unite, bind the nation's wounds, work in cooperation with one another, and see if we in our day can make a contribution that will result in a better America."

He both urged and warned: "For the cause of freedom in (Continued on Page 10)

Brotherhood, JWW Offer Combined Memorial Tribute

The Beth Israel Brotherhood and Jewish War Veterans Post 193 will combine for their annual commemorative services in observance of Veteran Day on Sunday morning.

Memorial services will be held at the Beth Israel Synagogue at 9 a.m. A memorial ritual will follow the prayer services at 9:45.

A 10 a.m. breakfast and national anthem and invocation ceremonies will also feature the services.

Lt. Cndr. Arthur G. McLean (USN Ret.) will address the meeting. Cndr. McLean is a veteran of World War II service aboard minesweepers and North Atlantic convoys. His service included duty aboard rescue and salvage ships in the Western Pacific.

He is employed in management by the Boston Edison Co.

A self-supporting multi million dollar Government Center and a 2,000 seat municipal auditorium are planned for Quincy.

Mayor Sen. James R. McIntyre disclosed last night he will file legislation this month to create a Quincy Government Center Commission to set the plans in motion.

This proposal would utilize the air rights over the MBTA rapid transit tracks in Quincy Center for the construction of a six-to-12 story office building.

It would give Quincy a long-needed new City Hall to replace the present 124-year-old one, by using the first three floors for municipal offices and a City Council chamber.

Upper stories office space would be leased to federal and state agencies now located in the Quincy area.

An attached three-story building would house the 2,000-seating capacity auditorium, meeting and function rooms.

The complex would comprise between 120,000 and 240,000 square feet of building space.

Preliminary plans also call for adding two more stories onto the originally designed three-floor Quincy Center MBTA Station parking garage to accommodate approximately 1,250 cars instead of 600.

The new office building and municipal auditorium would be located next to the parking garage diagonally behind the present City Hall.

The project study was carried out by Mayor McIntyre and Public Works Comm. John M. Brown and the latter's staff.

"By leasing the office space to federal and state government agencies and utilizing the auditorium and function rooms, this would be a self-supporting or virtually self-supporting facility," Mayor McIntyre said. Among the potential tenants:

Park Vandalism Takes 'More Vicious' Trend

Park and playground vandals are not only destroying property but are robbing children of the opportunity to enjoy needed equipment and additional facilities.

Current acts of vandalism in parks threaten to exceed the $7,000 cost incurred by the Park Department last year, according to Richard J. Koch.

The Kendall playground on North and Atlantic Streets has been the recent target of two outbreaks of vandalism. Koch, Park and Recreation Board executive secretary reported.

The excessive yearly damages must be met by current budget funds and prohibits expenditures for purposes for which funds were originally earmarked, Koch noted.

"This money could be used for improvements like additional lighting and equipment", Koch said.

Comparing the vandalism problem this year and last, Koch described the current incidents as "a more vicious type of vandalism."

"It is therefore becoming more costly," Koch said.

The Park Department plans for additional facilities and new improvements each year with funds that ultimately have to be allocated for vandalism damage. The adverse effect on the city recreational program and facilities is far-reaching and involves many projects planned for the park system, Koch said.

Change In Report Cards To Start Nov. 18

Beginning with the report cards to be issued this week to pupils in the Secondary Schools of Quincy, there will be a change in the letters used for indicating marks.

The mark of "F" for "Low, Poor but Passing" is to be replaced by a "D" and the mark for "Failure", formerly a "D", will now be "F".

The change will mean that Quincy's marking system will now be consistent with that of neighboring communities.

The term "Report Card" will still be used, but the reports will no longer be on cards. They will be on special paper forms coming from the Computer Center located in the Vocational-Technical School.

This will mark the first time all Secondary Schools will have their reports prepared in such a manner.

A delay in issuing reports is expected until Monday, Nov. 18.

Four Quincy Men Aboard USS Albany

Three Quincy crewmen are scheduled to serve aboard the Quincy-built USS Albany following its commissioning on Saturday at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Included among the New Englanders who will make up the crew are:

Joseph D. Renzi, Jr., fireman, of 70 Shedd St., William F. Dunn, fireman; Thomas Burke, scaman, 24 Webster St.

The Albany, fourth in a line of ships named for the New York state capital, was built as a heavy cruiser by the Bethlehem Steel Co., and was originally commissioned at the Boston Naval Shipyard in 1946.

She served for 12 years in nearly every major Atlantic, Caribbean and Mediterranean area.

Albany was again decommissioned in the Boston Naval Shipyard on March 1, 1967 to undergo extensive modernization. The present Albany has been equipped with some of the most highly sophisticated electronic equipment ever taken to sea. Her Missile Fire Control Systems have been vastly improved and the "new" Albany now presents herself in the highest traditions of her forebearers... a truly fine man-of-war.

MDC Police Name Federation Slate

Three Quincy residents were among the officers elected by the MDC police federation of state, county and municipal employees recently.

Serving the new slate of local 1576 AFL-CIO will be Richard Horrihan, 22 Sagamore Ave., recording secretary; Leo Q. Papile, 86 Morrissey Blvd., and George Kinney, 143 Upland Rd., members of the executive board.

President of the MDC police organization is William R. Delaney of Medford.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Certain illnesses seem to run in waves coincided with changes in weather or atmospheric conditions. At present we are having a rash of children with the "croup." Many are mild but some are severe enough to require hospitalization. There are nine children at the Quincy Hospital who have required croup tents.

Croup is disturbing even to the experienced mother. Its onset is usually sudden and almost always at night. The "False" croup is a benign state with no fever, or at least very low temperature arising suddenly with a child who appeared well at bedtime. This clears the next day but may recur the succeeding night. The treatment needs are reassurance, vapors of steam and the good old-fashioned rocking chair recently popularized at the White House.

The real croup which is now prevalent, is more serious. It is part of an upper respiratory infection. This means an inflammation of the nose, throat, tonsils and voice box. It may reach deeper, involving the windpipe and bronchial tree and is called laryngotracheo-bronchitis.

Hoarseness, painful swallowing and difficulty in breathing indicate need for examination. We are particularly concerned about the epiglottitis, an interesting trap-door like valve which lies behind the tongue. The function of this valve is to open to allow our breathing processes to take place and in closing to allow our saliva or food to proceed down the esophagus. In croup this valve may swell interfering with adequate breathing and swallowing so that mucus can collect and further embarrass respiration. Inflammation of this structure is called epiglottitis and is a serious condition frequently requiring hospitalization. Close observation and strenuous treatment is begun, consisting of a croup tent, cool vapors and oxygen, cortisone antispasmodics and antibiotics. Response is usually good since the organisms are vulnerable, being the "strep," "staph" or influenza bacillus.

One must be prepared for a tracheotomy (the installation of a tube in the windpipe below the obstructed larynx). Fortunately, need for this operation is not too common, although its imminence must be faced. Two generations ago diphtheria was a highly feared disease requiring tracheotomies in a good percentage of the afflicted.

Speaking of diphtheria, the incidence of recent years has been among adolescents and adults. The lesson from this is the need for boosters of toxoids for diphtheria and tetanus combined.

SENIOR CITIZENS NEWS

Young at Heart

By Marion Andrews

Associate To Executive Director
Quincy Council on Aging

Did you know that Quincy has its own Federation of Quincy Senior Citizens? Did you know that there are a total of 12 senior citizen groups making up the federation representing some 4500 senior citizens in Quincy?

Did you know that the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens is open to membership to any organized senior citizen group in the City of Quincy?

Would you like to know more about it? The Quincy Council on Aging Office, located in the Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock Street, will answer any questions you may have concerning the Federation. The office staff will be happy to help you.

"NITE OUT"

Quincy's senior citizens will have their first social event Dec. 4 at North Quincy High School. The catered dinner and entertainment will be open to senior citizens exclusively.

Sponsored by the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens under the direction of the Quincy Council on Aging, the event will feature a catered dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by entertainment at 8 p.m. Many special prizes will be awarded during the dinner.

Weekly committee meetings have been held during the past month and a half at the Kennedy Health Center under the direction of the office of the Quincy Council on Aging to insure the success for the first city-wide social undertaking by the federation since it was formed a little over a year ago. The federation sponsored a successful May Festival last spring during the observance of Senior Citizens Month. More than 1000 persons attended the event at the Quincy Armory.

A dress rehearsal for the "Nite Out" program, the name selected for the social, will be held for those interested in taking part in the entertainment program, Nov. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Quincy Senior Citizen Drop-In Center, 24 High School Avenue, Quincy. Any senior citizen interested in taking part in the activities is asked to call the Quincy Council on Aging Office located in the Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Tickets for the social can be obtained from any federation member or at the Quincy Council on Aging Office.

FLU CLINICS

Additional flu vaccine clinics for Quincy Senior citizens, conducted by the Quincy Health Department in cooperation with the Quincy Council on Aging, have been announced.

These will include: November 18 at 11 a.m. until noon at the Quincy Senior Citizen Drop-In Center, 24 High School Avenue; November 18 at 2 p.m. at the Wollaston Lutheran Church, 550 Hancock Street, Wollaston and at 1000 Southern Artery November 20 at 1 p.m. The latter will be for all senior citizen residents of the Quincy Peninsula. The clinics are under the direction of Dr. John T. Foley, Quincy Health Commission. Arrangements for the clinics were made by John F. Sheehan, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging.

HOW TO JOIN

There's something for every senior citizen's interest in the City of Quincy. If you are interested in joining a senior citizen group, there is one located in your neighborhood.

If you are interested in starting a club or a special category such as photography, golfing, art, music, photography, etc., perhaps the Quincy Council on Aging Office can help you.

If you wish to fill your spare time in helping others, confined to their homes, hospital or nursing homes, the Quincy Council on Aging Office would be interested in hearing from you.

If you are interested in obtaining informational booklets and pamphlets concerning various subjects pertaining to the elderly, the Quincy Council on Aging has these free of charge. Why not call or visit the Council office any Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.? There's always somebody there willing to assist you.

Items of interest for this column may be submitted through the Quincy Council on Aging, 1120 Hancock St.

Election Winners Reflect Vivid City Council Image

Four members of the Quincy City Council are slated to assume higher elective office as the result of the Nov. 5 national election.

The two City Councilors who will be stepping up in public service for the first time are newly-elected legislator Clifford H. Marshall and Norfolk County Commissioner-elect George B. McDonald.

Marshall took an uncontested victory in the new Second Norfolk District. The 30-year-old Democrat polled 7,118 votes in gaining a seat in the General Court. Marshall later declared his intention to devote full-time to his legislative duties.

He will resign as a sales engineer with Dennison Manufacturing Co., Chestnut Hill, in January.

McDonald climaxed a second bid for the County Commission with a four-year term victory on the strength of a 108,527 county-wide vote. Trailing the Quincy Councilor was Republican James M. Lombard of Dedham with 103,369 votes. The Quincy voter turnout hit 88.6 per cent—10 per cent over the predicted mark for the Presidential election.

McDonald, a Councilor-at-large, has represented West Quincy, Ward 4, for eight years in the City Council. His victory was one in a near sweep for area Democrats. Only incumbent Sheriff Charles W. Hedges and Rep. Walter J. Hannon broke into the win column at the ballot box for the GOP.

Hannon, 37, also a City Councilor, won re-election in the Third Norfolk with Democratic incumbent Joseph E. Brett, who topped the vote with 13,295 ballots. Hannon polled 12,334. Rep. Brett, 61, also a former City Councilor, gained a sixth consecutive term in the General Court. Rep. Hannon will enter his sophomore term.

Defeated in a close contest was City Council president J. Vincent Smyth, who polled 11,336. Smyth, a Democrat was making his first try for state-level office.

Also eliminated in the race was another state-level newcomer, Republican Vernon C.M. Whitman who trailed the four-candidate field with 5,187 votes.

Still another City Councilor was returned to the higher office when unopposed Rep. Arthur H. Tobin was returned in the First Norfolk. Tobin, a Democrat, is serving his first term as councilor-at-large and will enter his second term as state representative.

While Rep. Hannon was the only City Republican to survive the strong Democratic ties, GOP Sheriff Hedges was scoring a victory over freshman Councilor Edward S. Graham. The race was one of the most hotly-contested on the Norfolk County ballot and ended in a win for the 66-year-old Hedges, also a graduate of the Quincy City Council. His plurality over Graham, who put together a powerful campaign effort, was 18,136 votes. Hedges polled 130,503 votes in maintaining ownership of the badge that has never been won electively by a Democrat.

Graham, in losing, carried Quincy by more than 21,000 votes and scored a 143-vote edge in Brookline.

The other county posts went to Democrats in the now Democratic-dominated county.

In addition to McDonald's victory, winning County Commission candidates included incumbent James J. Collins of Milton, Commission chairman, and previously appointed Commr. Thomas K. McManus, of Norwood, both Democrats.

McManus won an unexpired two-year term over Republican Oliver V. Volpe of Braintree, by nearly 40,000 votes.

Collins topped the ticket with a 132,139 vote total.

Trailing in the four-man field was Quincy Republican Vincent R. Noble, a running mate of Mr. Lombard's.

Scoring heavily over a Republican opponent for State Senator was Sen. and Mayor James R. McIntyre who was easily re-elected over Stephen F. O'Meara. McIntyre's plurality was 20,755 in Quincy.

Congressman James A. Burke, a popular Quincy vote-getter, polled 35,221 votes in an uncontested victory for the 11th Congressional seat. The Milton Democrat is one of the ranking members on the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington.

Montclair Women Membership Drive

The Montclair Women's Club will hold a kick-off for a membership drive at the business meeting Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Clubhouse on Holbrook Road, North Quincy. Mrs. Howard MacDougall, president, will preside.

KOREAN WAR HERO HONORED-A memorial flag is raised at North Quincy High School honoring the late Raymond Kareywo, a school alumnus. Wollaston Post 285 sponsored the exercises in conjunction with high school senior class officers. Principals in the exercises were Mrs. Kareywo, widow of the Korean war victim, behind flagpole; Past Cmdr. William J. Shea and Wollaston Post Cmdr. Edward Roberts. Mayor James R. McIntyre, escorted by class officers, placed the commemorative wreath. (Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Eng)

New Government Center Planned

he noted, are the U.S. Post Office and the state welfare department.

"There is talk of a new Quincy Post Office," he said. "And the present Quincy office of the welfare department will be torn down to make way for the new School St. MBTA bridge."

The present City Hall, built in 1844 at a cost of $19,115 has long been considered obsolete.

"There has been a need for a new City Hall for the last 40 or 50 years," McIntyre said. "But the cost factor has always been an obstacle. During the administration it had to be given a low priority because of the more urgent need for school construction, drainage and street construction. Now it appears we can get a new City Hall at virtually no cost to the city; if we dove-tail our plans with the construction of the MBTA rapid transit extension."

McIntyre noted that the municipal auditorium would also boost the business economy of the city by attracting conventions and other big events.

"This project would, in my estimation, be one of the biggest progressive steps for the city of Quincy in many, many years," he said.

The idea for the government center is a result of successful planning of the new Registry of Motor Vehicles office to be built behind the Quincy police station.

The $150,000 construction cost will be financed by a 10-year bond issue which will be paid for by rent from the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

"It means," said Mayor

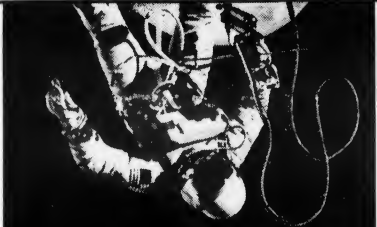

McIntyre, "that the building won't cost Quincy a cent. Actually, after the first 10 years, it will be a money-maker for the city."

The same type bond-issue plan would be carried out for construction of the proposed Government Center.

Public Works Commissioner Browne said the government office building "could go higher than 12 stories if the demand for office space on the part of federal and state agencies warrants it."

In addition to conventions, he said, the auditorium would be used for many other activities including concerts and graduation exercises for Quincy and North Quincy High Schools.

"It would upgrade the entire Quincy Center area from civic, business, and cultural standpoints," he said.

Parent Seminars Conducted By CP

A new series of Parent Counseling Seminars is being conducted by the Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Area, Inc. as an aid to families with afflicted children. "The pressing problems of Cerebral Palsy affect not only the patient but also every member of the family," according to Dr. Charles D. Merrill, CP Area president. "Parents are particularly involved since they face the problem on a full time 24-hour per day basis."

The first Parent Counseling Seminar of the new series was held Tuesday night at the John F. Kennedy Health Center with Dr. Robert Keefe, former medical director of the CP Clinic and well known South Shore pediatrician as principal speaker. Future sessions will include talks by psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers and a lecture by Arthur Ciampa, executive director of the Cerebral Palsy organization.

Parents of CP children of all ages are attending to share and exchange information and experiences in meeting the problem of CP in a practical manner.

Other parents interested in attending the seminars are invited to contact CP Headquarters, 36 Miller Stile Rd.,

Deadline Dates Noted For Christmas Items

Closing dates for mail to all parts of the country for Christmas delivery have been announced by the Boston Post Office. Postmaster Ephraim Martin has asked the public to cooperate in mailing by these dates to eliminate postoffice congestion and allow for storms which may prevail in parts of the country and which could be reflected in the normal movement of this gigantic tonnage of Christmas mail.

Gift Parcels for distant states by surface mail should be deposited by Dec. 2 and Greeting Cards not later than Dec. 11. Air mail packages and cards for all parts of the country can be sent as late as Dec. 18.

Parcels for New England and the Local delivery should be in the mail by Dec. 14, with Christmas cards for this area due for deposit by Dec. 16. Surface mail for Alaska and Hawaii close for Christmas delivery on Dec. 2 and air mail, Dec. 16.

Parcels weighing up to 30 pounds may be sent to the armed forces overseas by PAL (Parcel Air Lift) up to Nov. 30 for Christmas delivery. The postage is at surface rates plus $1.00.

The postmaster recommended to business firms, stores, and organizations to mail frequently during the day at the Christmas season and not to hold mail until the end of each day. He urged bringing business mail to the postoffice to avoid mixing it with greeting cards in street letter boxes. In this way, he said, this type of mail can be expedited. Separating and bundling mail with special bands available at all postoffices in the postal district will further assure the faster handling of business mail.

All greeting cards this Christmas will require six-cents postage, whether sealed or unsealed. Heretofore, unsealed cards were one-cent less. The new 1968 Christmas stamp is now available at all postoffices.

Reuben A. Grossman: A Success As A Man

The passing of Reuben A. Grossman takes from the Quincy scene one of those rare men who seem to come along just once in their lifetime.

His was a rags-to-riches Horatio Alger-like success story. Actually, a more fantastic one. He left the John Hancock School in the sixth grade to help his father, Louis, an immigrant door-to-door peddler.

Last week (Nov. 6) he died at age 82—a founder, senior member and chairman of the board of directors of Grossman's Inc., a family commercial empire.

During most of those 82 years, he was a living memorial to his father.

The latter emigrated from Podolski, Russia in 1890—paying $17 for his passage. And within just six months—working as a peddler with a sack on his back—saved enough money to send for his family.

The family at that time consisted of his wife, Hia, Pearl Grossman, Reuben, four, Jacob, two, and infant Bessie.

What was to become one of the great building materials firms in the nation—now a chain of 75 stores throughout the Northeast—had its humble start in a little store at 10 Jackson St., South Quincy.

Reuben, Jacob, and Quincy-born Joseph B. and Sidney Grossman, all played key roles in the company's growth.

As eldest son, Reuben left school and at the age of 12 became a full partner in his father's then scrap material business driving a horse-drawn wagon filled with scrap and bottles to Boston.

Today, the company has a fleet of more than 550 vehicles serving the 75 lumber and building materials outlets in New England, New York and Pennsylvania.

It was Reuben who came up with the now famous Grossman trademark: orange colored trucks with the slogan on front and rear: "Here Comes Grossman's." ... "There Goes Grossman's."

That was 1920. Eight years later he became president of the company when his father retired.

Reuben Grossman was a sharp businessman as competitors with all kinds of fancy college degrees frankly admitted.

He early saw the value of off-street parking, converting the old Edwards Meadow into one which later became the Ross Parkingway in downtown Quincy. It triggered the development and expansion of the multi-million dollar retail district of today.

He was an outstanding leader in merchandising, salvage-surplus operations, real estate management, sales promotions and rehabilitation

REUBEN A. GROSSMAN of one-mill towns in New England.

But Reuben Grossman was more than that. He was also a success as a human being.

He was a civic leader, a humanitarian and a philanthropist. He was often on the giving end.

He presented Quincy City Hospital with a Medical Library. Provided nursing scholarships for members of Grossman employees' families and more scholarships for thousands of high school students.

Profit from sale of Christmas trees go to Cardinal Cushing's charities. And there were many more charitable deeds known only to him and those who benefited.

On March 8, 1964, the esteem in which he was held was quite evident at a dinner in his honor at the Quincy Jewish Community Center.

It was an appropriate site. The building was Quincy's first telephone facility. Reuben Grossman and his brothers purchased it in 1943, remodeled it and presented it to Quincy's Jewish families for social, educational, cultural and leisure activities.

By that time, there was a need for such a facility. There were only three Jewish families in Quincy when the Grossman's arrived in 1890. By 1944 there were more than 300 Jewish families here.

Among those honoring Reuben Grossman on the night of that dinner in 1964 were a Governor (Endicott Peabody); a Lieutenant Governor (Francis X. Bellotti); and a Mayor (Amelio Della Chiesa).

They and the lesser known were there that night to honor not just Reuben Grossman, business leader, but Reuben Grossman, the man.

For as a man, he was even a bigger success in life.

Between the Covers

By Michael Vocino

Remember the book DICK JANE and SALLY and our three comrades of long-gone yesterdays? They mark well the memories of our utopian, early youth. If some one were to tell me that the carefree life of our first "novel" exists, I'd smile and sigh and think to myself, "Oh, if it were only true!"

The dreams come to a quick end with the ever present reminders—from the newspapers to our government leaders to just about everybody. The reminders of what seems to be an ever increasing number of problems. Someday, somehow we're going to find the solutions to the worries that plague our society and the way to do it is through well balanced, good information. And the information needed can be found—among other places—in books. Try these:

LEAVING THE SURFACE. by Sidney J. Harris. (Houghton, Mifflin, $5.95)

Harris' book examines the quality of American life through this collection of his column, "Strictly Personal". Although writing the column since 1944, the collection covers the years 1964-1967; a three year period that has the author reflecting on such topics as: Vietnam, Capital Punishment, the corrosion of cities, not to mention the troubles along the road of Marriage.

DEMOCRACY AND THE PUBLIC SERVICE. by Frederick C. Mosher. (Oxford University Press, $4.75)

Professor Mosher's book asks how the public service, which is virtually out of the control of the electorate, can be "made to operate in a manner compatible with democracy, and kept responsive to the public." He indicates the present public service career "system" from the diplomatic corps to welfare dept. office workers, as not being able to deal effectively with the ever expanding scopes of knowledge and concept.

BEHIND THE SHIELD, THE POLICE IN URBAN SOCIETY. by Arthur Niedhoffer. (Double Day, $5.95)

In this book, a former member of the New York Police Department turned Sociologists, tries to describe what might be called "the police personality." To present this well balanced view of an urban police department, Niedhoffer portrays for the reader the force's "typical" stereotypes: rookie, oldtimer, the minority group officer, the college man on the force, and the detective. He not only portrays well the problems our law enforcement agencies are encountering, but offers solutions, like pay increases, as well.

THE POLICE ESTABLISHMENT. by William W. Turner. (Putnam, $6.95)

If Niedhoffer presents a balanced view, then former U.S. agent Turner, with his view of law enforcement agencies does not. For example, Turner writes that a stop to the common police practice of using "force to uphold the law" must be secured. To accomplish this, the author advocates the creation of Civilian Review Boards.

THE POLICE, damned if they do, damned if they don't. A COP'S VIEW OF LAW ENFORCEMENT. by Herbert T. Klein. (Crown $5.95)

Again, another New York City police officer writes about his profession. This account is more personal than the others, giving the individual problems of the police officer rather than the collective problems of the entire force.

URBAN PLANNING AND SOCIAL POLICY. ed. by Bernard J. Frieden & R. Morris. (Basic Books, $10.00)

In one volume, the editors gather the best authorities in urban affairs, and discuss not one aspect of urban concern, but seemingly every possible focal point of current concern.

Quincy Jr. College Students Had Active Election Roles

Quincy Junior College government majors spent an estimated 4,000 hours working actively in area Republican and Democratic headquarters in behalf of selected candidates.

Approximately 200 students were involved in the election activity, according to college history and government department chairman James A. Sheets.

The students served 42 different candidates on the state, local and national levels during the campaign period, Sheets said.

Work included preparation of mailing lists, registration of voters and distribution of campaign literature.

"This exposure to the political process is part of the college government program and is intended to add a practical dimension to the more theoretical textbook interpretation," Sheets said.

It is hoped that the experience gained by the students will not simply increase their knowledge and understanding of American Government, but also make them more able to serve their local communities when they graduate and become more involved in community life."

European Building Executives To Visit Quincy

Forty European building materials company executives will make Grossman's their first stop in the United States when they arrive on Thursday, Nov. 14, for a 12 day, ten city tour of the leading building materials dealers in this country.

The men are members of the West German Association of Building Materials Dealers and its affiliates in Holland, Switzerland, Austria and Belgium. They will be here to observe the latest U.S. methods of buying, merchandising, storing and distributing building materials, and to exchange ideas with their host companies.

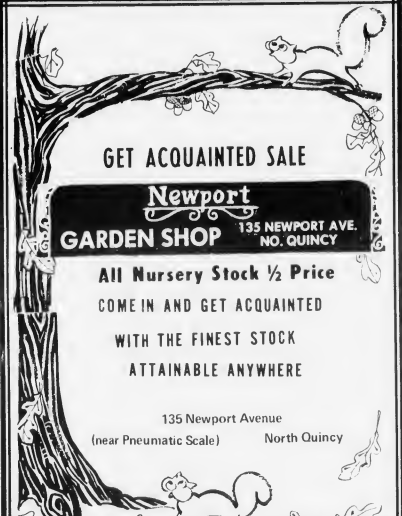

This will be the third time in the past ten years that Grossman's has been selected to be host to European trade and industry groups.

The program arranged for them will begin with a visit to Grossman's Quincy store, first of the 75 outlets in the chain, followed by a tour of the firm's Brantree headquarters including the warehouse, electronic data processing section and component manufacturing operations.

They will return to the company auditorium for an open forum led by Charles Seigal of Boston, vice president in charge of Grossman's Brantree operations. Speakers will include Nissie Grossman of Newton, president, and the following department heads: Morton

Bernstein of Quincy, merchandising; David Rice of Randolph, advertising and sales promotion; Morris Rogat of Dedham, training; William Kenn of Brantree, warehousing, and Frances Herbert of Brockton, warehouse inventory.

The "big band" tempo will bring back a host of memories Friday night at The Surf, Nantasket.

Admirers of the biggest names of the 1940's will recall a host of super-leaders at the 8:30 p.m. to midnight concert.

Giving the downbeat will be John Savini and his 15-member aggregation. The music coming forth will be that of Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Duke Ellington, Harry James, the Dorsey Brothers and Stan Kenton, just to mention a few.

The nostalgic evening is being presented by the Weymouth Rotary Club and a capacity crowd representing musical eras past and present is expected.

The Savini group includes jazz and swing musicians who performed with the hand greets whose music and arrangements will be recreated at the concert.

Peter J. Killelea, 56 Scotch Pond Place, manager of industrial relations for Boston Gas since January 1964, has been elected assistant vice president-industrial relations.

A graduate of Boston College, Mr. Killelea joined the company in June 1934 as an appliance delivery man. Three years later he joined the sales department as a salesman, moving up to employee prospector in 1939.

From 1942 to 1946, Mr. Killelea served with the U.S. Navy, achieving the rank of Lt. Commander. Following this tour of duty, Mr. Killelea returned to the company as assistant personnel manager. From October 1954, until being named industrial relations manager, Mr. Killelea was manager of the personnel department.

A native of Dorchester, Mr. Killelea attended Hyde Park High School and graduated from Boston College in 1934. He continued his education at Boston University Graduate School until 1937.

A past chairman of the New England Regional Utility Group, Mr. Killelea has served on the personnel committees of the American Gas Association, the New England Gas Association and the Electric Council of New England. He has also been a member of the Personnel Managers Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Killelea is a past president of the Boston College Varsity Club and continues to be active in Boston College alumni affairs.

In addition to his business and fraternal activities, Mr. Killelea actively supports the Boy Scouts of Quincy where he and his wife Ann presently make their home.

PLANNING a "Nite Out" for Quincy Senior Citizens at North Quincy High School Dec. 4 are Joseph Pukarski, entertainment chairman; Camille J. LeBlanc, dinner chairman; Mrs. William Wolf, president Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens and Mrs. Percy MacLean, ticket committee chairman. The event sponsored by the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens and the Quincy Council of Aging will feature a catered dinner and entertainment.

Plan Christmas, Parade Events In Wollaston

Arrangements have been completed for the Christmas Party of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association on Dec. 11. The party will be held at the Viking Club on Quincy Ave.

In charge of the annual event is chairman Don DeWare. Gifts will be exchanged by guests at the holiday observance.

Christmas lights will be turned on in Wollaston on Nov. 29, it was announced. Plans were also disclosed for the presentation of the float in the Christmas parade on Dec. 1, organization president Herbert F. Cole, said.

Health For All

Modern TB control methods in the U.S. have dramatically decreased the rate at which the disease attacks young children. Once they were among its most frequent victims. Today the case rate in the five-to-fourteen-year age group is the Nation's lowest.

To keep it that way, doctors advise a course which, if followed, is bound to hold the TB rate in children on a pleasantly downward curve.

To begin with, a tuberculin test for tuberculosis is recommended for every infant before reaching the age of one. If the test is positive, a chest x-ray and laboratory tests would also be done to determine how far the infection has progressed.

The doctor can then prescribe the drug treatment which will stop the infection and the disease.

If the tuberculin test is negative, it should be repeated at every annual medical checkup as a matter of routine.

Children usually acquire TB infection from adults; therefore, immediate tuberculin testing of the parents and other adult associates, as well as other children in the family, is recommended wherever a child has reacted positively to a tuberculin test. If the test is positive, a chest X-ray and laboratory tests should follow immediately.

All persons who regularly come in close contact with children, such as school personnel, baby sitters and child nurses, should be examined for tuberculosis annually. As a recent report of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association pointed out, "If the cycle of transmission from older generations to newer could be ended, the problem of tuberculosis control would in a large measure be solved."

Norfolk County Sheriff Charles W. Hedges debunks rumors he plans to retire after serving only two years of his newly won six-year term.

"There's a lot of spark in the old boy yet," he says. "I intend to complete this term and, the Good Lord willing, I will."

Rumors started circulating right after last week's election results were in that Hedges would step into retirement within two years and let Gov. Volpe appoint a younger man to wear the badge and build a new GOP county fort to defend against the Democrats in the next election.

"No one has consulted me about my retiring," says Hedges. "I still hope to get a new jail and I'm not going to get it by retiring."

Hedges also spikes rumors he will be appointed U.S. Marshall in the Boston area after Richard M. Nixon moves into the White House.

"There's nothing to that one either," he insists.

QUINCY District Court Dennis F. Ryan summed up very effectively, the problems a police officer faces today, as keynote speaker at the annual Quincy Police Mutual Aid Association Ball the other night. Commenting on recent Supreme Court decisions, he noted:

"A court clerk, lawyer or judge has the opportunity to consult a law book before making a decision. But a police officer at 3 a.m. must make his decision immediately without hesitation whether a law has been broken and whether he should take someone into custody."

"If he makes a wrong decision, he is slapped with a civil suit."

Ryan also took to task some parents who just don't care where their children are nights and what they are doing.

"Parents," said he, "are unaware of their children's disrespect for police officers but are very aware of their civil rights if a police officer puts a hand on their child."

INCIDENTALLY, at the police hall, Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, was proudly introducing Miss Isabel Marentz, principal of the Quincy School, as his bride-to-be. The popular couple will be married this month.

ACTRESS Lee Remick slipped into Quincy quietly the other day to visit her well known father, Frank, at his downtown store. Admiring glances as usual, followed her. Consensus of employees and customers: she's even prettier in real life than she is on the screen.

NEW TAXPAYER: Roger Goodrich, the Ch. 5 newscaster, is building a new home in Squantum. He has been renting an apartment in Quincy.

CLIFFORD H. MARSHALL is giving up his job as a sales representative for a paper products firm to devote full time to his soon dual duties as state representative and city councillor. He also hopes to enroll in college courses in preparation for a possible future law career.

IT'S EASY to win gracefully. Losing is another matter. But City Council President J. Vincent Smyth, though disappointed in his unsuccessful bid for state representative, took defeat in stride. And he didn't forget those who voted for him in a lost cause. He took advertisement space in The Quincy Sun and elsewhere to thank them. And that's pretty unusual for a man who loses an election.

THE QUINCY GROUP, comprising business and professional men, leave for Rye, N.H. tomorrow for a three-day retreat at the St. Francis Retreat House. John A. Golden heads up the group. Co-captains are Robert Stone, William O'Malley, William Kelly, Joseph Nessano and City Councillor Albert R. Barilaro.

A BLOOMING RECORD may have been set by a persistent Easter lily in the garden of Mrs. William Gold, 55 Faxon Park Rd. A past Easter gift, the flower was transplanted months ago after the holiday. Mrs. Gold reports a rare and unexpected November dividend—six flowers. She also claims—hard to believe—that she does not have a "green thumb."

HEAVEN OR HEALTH? Dr. John T. Foley, Quincy Health Commissioner, and Rev. John T. Foley, St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, not only have identical names but almost identical telephone numbers. Dr. Foley's is 479-4500 and Rev. Foley's, 479-5400. Sometimes it gets a little confusing when a caller wants to talk to Dr. Foley at the rectory and Father Foley at the Health Department.

"A FAITH FOR TODAY"

Last Sunday, Nov. 10th, was the 485th birthday of a man so up-to-date and contemporary that last year, on the occasion of the anniversary of the Protestant Reformation of the Christian Church, his portrait appeared on the cover of TIME magazine.

The inside cover-story ended with the sentence, "Today, as in the 16th century, the believer will find few better guides than the words of God's obedient rebel, Martin Luther." So let's listen to Martin Luther speak, and speak on a subject he knew best: GOD.

Now for any man from the late Middle Ages much of our modern mode of living and many of our scientific achievements would be totally incomprehensible. Martin Luther might be rendered speechless, for example, to learn that the chief hymn sung at the celebration of the first Mass ever said in English was his own "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." But Martin Luther would be far from speechless in any discussion of the present-day "God-is-dead theology," for, for Luther, God was the "mysterium tremendum," that mystery before which man must tremble.

In contrast, the untrembling sentiments of those for whom God has ceased to exist are best described by this passage from Friedrich Wilhelm Nietzsche, the great guru of the godless moderns: "When he was young, that god out of the Orient, then he was harsh and revengeful, and build himself a hell for the delight of his favorites. At last, however, he became old and soft and mellow and pitiful, more like a grandfather than a father, but most like a tottering old grandmother. There did he sit shrivelled in his chimney-corner, fretting on account of his weak legs, world-weary, and one day he suffocated of his all-too-great pity." And so God died.

But that's only what happens to God, Luther would say, when man, as a spectator, tries to locate and identify God up there in heaven, or, as would be said today, somewhere out there in space. Wrote Luther in his great "Lectures on Genesis," "God does not reveal Himself except in acts, since these can in some way be grasped. The rest of what belongs to deity cannot be grasped and understood as it is ... It is unwholesome, therefore, to dispute much concerning God before time and outside of time, because that is to desire to comprehend the naked divine essence. Because this is impossible, God wrapped Himself up in acts ..."

According to Luther, nature and history are the masks God wears, and when we encounter them, we are encountering Him. God speaks to us in the storm and in the flower, and reveals Himself to us in the Paris peace talks and our presidential elections. What others call "Fate," or "Chance," or, to use Nietzsche's phrase, "The dialectic of history," Luther calls the "Deus absconditus," the hidden God who holds the whole world in His hand.

But to associate God with the laws of nature and with the acts of history is to associate Him with the pain and the suffering, the cruelty and the evil, the tragedy and the injustice that inhere in them both and to leave yourself wide open to the modern taunt: "If God is God, He is not good; if God is good, He is not God." But this argument would neither surprise nor silence Luther, for in his "Bondage of the Will," he wrote: "Behold, God governs the external affairs of the world in such a way that, if you regard and follow the judgment of human reason, you are forced to say, either that there is no God, or that God is unjust ..."

The most famous living atheist today but still a keenly perceptive intellectual giant, Lord Bertrand Russell of England, has written, "Blind to good and evil, reckless of destruction, omnipotent matter rolls on its relentless way." Substitute the "omnipotent God" for "omnipotent matter" in that chilling quotation, and you have a description of modern man's reaction to the hidden God who reveals Himself in merciless laws of nature and in the ruthless acts of history.

But this Luther 450 years ago and say Luther today, is not the whole story. For God is not only "Deus Absconditus," the hidden God who may seem to man to be some monstrous spider entangling helpless creatures in His web - as indeed God was pictured in Ingmar Bergman's film, "Through A Glass Darkly" - but He is also the "Deus revelatus," the God revealed in the bible who has opened His heart to man. After the hidden God has worked with His left hand, to use one of Luther's favorite expressions, He turns and performs His proper work, revealing His true self, His real intention for man, in Him who sits on His right hand, in His Son and our Saviour, JESUS CHRIST. In JESUS Christ we can experience God as He really is. In JESUS Christ we can get behind the forbidding masks of the God hidden in nature and in history and see the loving face of a Father.

So, as last year's cover story in TIME magazine stated, "Luther does not offer any easy solutions of Christian troubles. What he presents is something more: the exemplar of what a man of faith can and must be: a believer who, dominated by the memory and promise of resurrection and by the hope implicit in the living Christ, can reach into the mystery of God and the darkness of His hidden ways and there find the hand of a Friend, to grasp and hold." And for you and for me, isn't that just the kind of faith we need for today?

'New Era Of Responsibility'

a world of honorable peace-let us enter a new era of individual and national responsibility; otherwise the more insistence upon our rights can result only in the losing of them."

Prior to the memorial dedication, an estimated 30,000 persons watched the Veterans Day parade of 2,500 formations in salute to those who fought and died in all wars.

the parade and ceremonies were directed by the Quincy Veterans Council, representing the 12 veterans organizations in the city.

City Clerk John M. Gillis was program chairman, Veterans Council Comdr. Paul W. O'Neill, parade chief marshal, and Anthony M. Famigletti, chief of staff.

Text Of Cong. Burke's Veterans Day Address

(Following is the text of U.S. Rep. James A. Burke's address at Quincy's Veterans Day ceremonies and dedication of the Vietnam Memorial)

This assemblage gathered together today is truly symbolic of what we mean when we speak of the American way of life.

It is our private custom to revere the memories of loved ones departed. It is our national custom to openly honor the memory of our heroic war dead. It is our tradition to publicly commend the virtues of courage and sacrifice.

It is our further custom and tradition to insure that the material needs and privileges of the widows and children of our war dead are justly and fully provided and protected.

As a grateful nation we also make certain our disabled veterans are furnished with every rehabilitation and medical facility that will help them live a normal life.

All of these attitudes of Americanism—spring from our basic beliefs that man is of divine origin; that he is endowed by his creator with certain inalienable rights; that he is entitled to exercise a freedom of will and choice; that he is to be acclaimed or censured in accord with ethical standards of conduct.

All of these things comprise a good, decent, civilized, reverent American creed.

The retention of this fundamental creed with its blessings and its benefits, is what is at stake here, and in the rest of the free world today.

We recall the warning and recognize the wisdom of President Abraham Lincoln's admonition—that this great nation could be destroyed only from within and only by ourselves.

There are those behind the Iron Curtain who seem to feel that we have disregarded this warning of a great President and that the people of the United States are engaged in a process of self-destruction. With this assumption, our potential enemies have adopted the strategy of watching and waiting for us to become victims of the historical temptations of a free and prosperous society.

These temptations are primarily those of unrestrained selfishness and ungoverned greed. If these evils become generally accepted, they eventually lead to the corruption and despair of a demoralized people.

There are some unfortunate signs that these evils are becoming dangerously widespread in our nation today. Fortunately there are some other signs that it is not yet too late to retain our traditional integrity and character.

Even as the Communist leaders unwittingly remind us of this imperative necessity, so has another great President, the late John F. Kennedy who pointed the way for us, in a speech given at Vanderbilt University in Tennessee in 1963. He emphasized that this nation was not founded alone on the principal of citizen's rights, but in conjunction with citizen's responsibility.

In accord with our late President's request, let us gird ourselves to the task of saving our democracy from its own success and convince our enemies that they wait in vain for our internal destruction.

Let us begin to dwell more upon our loyalties and less upon our luxuries.

Let us discharge more of our duties and less of our discriminations.

Let us think more of sacrificial sharing and less of selfish gaining.

Let us devote more time to practicing patriotism and less to making profits.

Let us put aside some of our demands and assume more of our original disciplines.

Let us recognize and reject our developing vices while we return to our founders' virtues.

Let us indulge less in prejudice while we say more of our prayers.

In a word, let us remember

our divine destiny as a people and be thankful to God for our blessed nation.

The adherence to these principles in the past provided the American way of life we enjoy today and we must maintain our dedication if we are to preserve our American way of life for the future.

Let us heed the advice:

counsel, and pleas made to the American people on Wednesday, the day after the election, by President-Elect Richard M. Nixon and Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey—let us unite, bind the nation's wounds, work in cooperation with one another, and see if we in our day can make a contribution that will result in a better America. Beyond all else, then, let us daily begin to act less upon privilege and more upon pledge, because we are truly and simply here this day to keep a pledge: A pledge to the Vietnam war dead—whose memories we are honoring. A pledge to ourselves.

A pledge to those who come after us, and firstly, a pledge to Divine Providence.

For the cause of freedom in a world at honorable peace—let us enter a new era of individual and national responsibility. Otherwise, the mere insistence upon our rights can result only in the losing of them.

Let us here and now solemnly renew our pledge to make this "one nation, under God, indivisible, and with liberty and justice for all."

Armistice News Recalled By WW 1 Shipmates

SHIPMATES STAND TOGETHER — Reuniting after more than 50 years five former World War I shipmates. The "Ole Miss" crewmen are, from left, William J. Fillingim; Wollaston; Roy F. Cooper, Dallas, Texas; Clyde E. Peck, Atlanta, Illinois; Allen B. Commack, North Carolina and Frank G. Hall, Gurley, Alabama.

Five former shipmates, including one from Wollaston, enjoyed a reunion recently in Nashville, Tennessee, where the subject was the U.S.S. Mississippi.

Reuniting to rekindle memories stirred by their World War I service aboard the "Ole Miss" were:

William J. Fillingim of 110 Clay St., and his one-time fellow radio operators, Roy F. Cooper, Dallas, Texas; Clyde E. Peck, Atlanta, Illinois; Allen B. Commack, Burlington, North Carolina and Frank G. Hall, Gurley, Alabama.

The quintet spent the "memory hours" in recalling trips shared to Cuba, Trinidad and other ports of interest. The "Ole Miss" was famous as the first oil burning battleship afloat.

One of the most historic moments of their mutual service was an announcement transmitted by Operator Fillingim. The message at 3:55 a.m. on Nov. 11, declared that the war-ending Armistice would be signed in Paris at 11 a.m. Paris time.

When the momentous declaration was received by the commanding officer, Fillingim recalls, the 1400-men crew was awakened to hear the news. The resulting chaotic reaction is still sharp in the memory of the five men.

The reunions was arranged by a former crew member from Mississippi, Joe C. James, who was forced to withdraw shortly before the meeting due to illness.

Also unable to attend was a former communications officer aboard the Mississippi, George P. Davis, of Weston, Mass.

Wollaston Legion

The Wollaston Legion Post will meet at the Atlantic Masonic Temple in North Quincy November 15 at 8 p.m. The board of governors will meet at the temple Nov. 26 at 7:30 p.m. followed by the executive board meeting Nov. 26 at 8 p.m.

Culture Of China On World Affairs Agenda Library

"China's Cultural Revolution", will be the opening 1969 program to be presented under the auspices of the United Nations Council of the South Shore.

The program will be the fourth in the 14th annual world affairs lecture-discussion series. Co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of the South Shore, the programs feature leading educators and prominent figures in the field of international relations.

Dr. Merle Goldman of Harvard University will discuss the cultural revisions in China at the January program.

All meetings are open to the public and are held in the parish hall of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Square. Programs start at 7:30 p.m. and are preceded by a catered dinner served at 6:30 p.m.

Serving on the reservations committee are:

Miss Vera Call, Mrs. E. Benson Meserve, Miss Edith Coulman, Mrs. Arthur H. Shattuck, Mrs. Viola Ellis and Miss Muriel Goudy.

Officers are:

Dr. Paul Gossard, chairman; Dr. Chase Kimball, first vice chairman; Leighton Tower, second vice chairman; Robert O. Imper, treasurer; Miss Alma Glidden, assistant treasurer; Miss Marion Reinhardt, recording secretary; Mrs. Viola E. Ellis, corresponding secretary and Miss Catherine Black, membership secretary.

Directors serving are:

Phillip F. Brandt, Miss Doris Cummings, Miss Lena Foster, Rev. Bradford F. Gale, Rev. Howard H. Hare, Miss Edith Howlett, William J. Martin, E. Benson Meserve, Miss Margaret Tuthill, Derwood Wadleigh, Dr. Norman Wilson and Mrs. George V. Woodley.

Voters of Wards 2 and 3

Your support on Election Day is deeply appreciated by me and I sincerely thank you for your vote of confidence.

I look forward to serving you as state representative as a member of the General Court from the City of Quincy.

"Indonesia" Next Topic

Dr. Donald Hindley, Associate Professor at Brandeis University, will speak at the second in the current series of free public World Affairs Lectures sponsored by the United Nations Council of the South Shore. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 14, in the parish hall of the United First Parish Church, opposite Quincy City Hall.

The Quincy Junior College will co-sponsor this program. Topic for discussion will be "Indonesian Upheaval."

Dr. Hindley, who is British born, holds degrees from the University of Leeds, England, the University of Southern California and Australian National University. He has carried on research on Communist parties in Latin America and in Indonesia. His doctoral research dealt with the Communist Party of Indonesia from 1950 onwards.

Last January he returned from an 18 month leave of absence which included a year as Visiting Professor at the Thammasat University of Bangkok, Thailand and another 8 months of research in Indonesia.

At Brandeis he teaches the politics of Southeast Asia and Latin America in particular, the politics of the non-Western states in general. He is author of "The Communist Party of Indonesia" (Univ. of Cal. Press 1964) and of a score of articles in professional journals.

A catered dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the lower hall to those making reservations by Monday. Those wishing dinner may call Miss Vera Call of 55 Spear St., Miss Edith Coulman of 20 Woodward Ave. or Mrs. Viola Ellis of 18 Tern Rd., all of Quincy.

RETURNS HOME—Marine Lance Cpl. Dana Chella, 20, of 21 Bent Terrace, Quincy, returned home from Vietnam on Oct. 16. He holds the purple heart after receiving shrapnel wounds during combat operations. Cpl. Chella is now recuperating at Chelsea Naval Hospital. He is the son of Mrs. Jean Chella and the late Mr. Pasquale Chella and is engaged to Miss Joyce Pucciarelli of Quincy.

Schedules Displays

During the month of November Miss Vera Freeman of Weymouth is exhibiting her oil paintings at the North Quincy Branch Library.

She graduated from the Rhode Island School of Design and has also studied at the Museum of Fine Arts, Harvard, Eastern Connecticut College, and the Institute Allende in Mexico.

Miss Freeman has exhibited at the Academy of Arts and Science, Boston, Boston Public Library, John Hancock, Jordan Marsh, The Museum of Fine Arts, Attleboro Museum, Rhode Island School of Design Alumni Show, Thomas Crane Public Library (Quincy), the Y.W.C.A. Boston, and the Weymouth Art Association.

She has traveled extensively, both in the United States and abroad.

Besides being the Supervisor of Art in the Weymouth Public School System, Miss Freeman has also taught at the Adult Night School, the Quincy Conservatory and the Quincy Art Association.

The main hall of the Thomas Crane Library, Quincy, will feature the work this month of Mrs. Josephine Delva. She was recently featured in a one-man show at the Copley Society.

Mrs. Delva is a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Art, and continued her studies in advanced painting at the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston. She studied drawing privately for many years under George Demetrios, the sculptor. She is a member of the Copley Society, the Cambridge Art Association, the Onset Bay Art Gallery Group, also the Buzzard's Bay and the Wareham Art Association.

One man shows by this artist have been held at the Copley Society and the Cambridge Art Association.

At the present time Mrs. Delva is working on the sculpture of Dr. C. Reginald Hardcastle. Her portraits have gone to South America, Europe and Japan.

The Delva studio is on Beacon Hill.

Featured speakers will be the Rev. John Banks of Bethany Church, the Rev. James McCarthy of St. Joseph's and the Rev. Ernest Hayhow of the First Church of Squantum, president of the South Shore Council of Churches.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

At times, some people confuse the distinction between courage and cowardice. Courage does not always imply an absence of fear; nor does cowardice always imply an excess of fear. Common sense linked with conscience is invoked in the distinction.

For example, some people think it takes courage to speed past a car on a hill or curve. Screaming tires, screeching voices, swerving cars, and often head-on collisions point an accusing finger toward that kind of courage. Since common sense did not prevail, and since there was a lack of conscience for a possible tragedy, are such drivers really courageous or cowardly?

Courage with a conscience gives us strength to face distinctions between right and wrong, between the things we should do and should not do. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams Street, Quincy. Phone 472-5888.

Quincy's football team, apparently angry at itself for its poor showing against Weymouth, is back on the right track and Saturday seeks a win against a hot and cold Medford eleven in order to bring a 4-3-1 record into the big Thanksgiving game with North Quincy.

Game time at Veterans Memorial Stadium will be 1:30 and Hank Conroy's Presidents may have their hands full with Medford, which last week surprised Revere, 25-14.

The Mustangs, who won the Greater Boston League title a year ago and brought an 11-game win streak into the current campaign, have had their troubles but showed flashes of last year's form in their loss this 'evening. Among their losses this fall was a 14-0 decision in the rain to North Quincy.

"Medford is a good club, make no mistake about it, and we'll have to hustle all the way", Conroy said. "But the boys, who were pretty disappointed in themselves after the Weymouth game, were fired up against Chelsea last week (Quincy breezed, 43-0), and if they stay up, they should do all right. I'm hoping for a strong showing in the final game before North Quincy."

Last week's game against the winless Red Devils was little more than a good workout for Quincy and Conroy used his entire squad of 55 players, many young players getting valuable game experience.

"The first team didn't play at all in the second half and some of the younger boys looked good," Hank explained. "Our regular line were out of action and I started Steve Folino in place of Dick Kenney and he played well, catching a touchdown pass. Mike Della Barba played at the other end on offense and looked good. I also shifted Rick Spornzo from guard to center and used little Sandy Burns, who doesn't weigh more than 140 soaking wet, at guard. Burns played a fine game.

"Joe Finneran and Walters did well on defense and each intercepted a pass. Finneran returning his 85 yards for a touchdown."

Conroy went on to hail the leadership of quarterback Steve McDevitt, who turned in another fine game, and Steve Carrera and Tom Daley, who ran well and scored two touchdowns each.

"The entire defensive unit looked good and Chelsea never came close to scoring," the Quincy coach added.

Carrera scored his touchdowns last week on runs of 14 and 22 yards, and Daley scored his on runs of 30 and 57 yards. Folino combined with McDevitt for a 56-yard scoring pass and Finneran added the final one on his 85-yard interception return. McDevitt kicked three extra points. McDevitt passed to Dick Menchi for two and Carrera added two via a rush.

After First Defeat...

Somerville Key Game In 'Raiders' Title Quest

ONE BRIGHT SPOT for North fans was this quarterback sneak by Bob Sleeth for the six pointer. The action came in the fourth quarter. A two-point conversion try on a rush failed.

NOT THIS TIME — Boston Tech's Fred Ahern (No. 9) failed to connect on this pass play. Moving in to break it up is Larry Bray (No. 34).

It's on to Dilboy Stadium in Somerville Saturday for North Quincy's football team and game which could conceivably settle the Greater Boston League championship.

The disappointing part of the trip for the Raiders is the fact they are not still undefeated.

North enters the 1-30 p.m. game with a 6-1 overall record but is still unbeaten in the league with a 5-0 mark. The one loss was a 14-6 heartbreaker to Boston Tech a week ago at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Although a win at Somerville will put the Raiders in a great spot to clinch their second title in three years, it won't actually clinch it by any means. There is still that game on Thanksgiving with the team from the other end of Quincy.

Somerville has one of its best teams in years under coach John Nunziato, a former Somerville star himself. The Hilltoppers are 5-1-1 on the season and 4-1-1 in league competition. Their most impressive game was two weeks ago when they clobbered Revere, 42-6. The Patriots' only loss until last week since opening day against North. Somerville came from a 14-0 deficit to tie Quincy, 14-14.

Last week's loss, the second straight at Tech's hands by the same score, was one that Coach Carl Leone and his Raiders won't soon forget. North pushed the Boston City Leaguers all over the field but alert defense on the part of Tech and many costly penalties ruined North's hopes. The Raiders were held several times inside Tech's 10.

North Quincy gained 101 yards on the ground and 205 through the air while Tech gained a total of just 13 yards, netting just six on the ground and seven in the air on two pass completions, the second losing two yards.

The Raiders clicked off 14 first downs to two for the Boston club.

"It was a tough one to lose, no doubt about it, but give that Tech team all the credit in the world," the disappointed Leone said. "They played a whale of a game on defense and deserved to win it. We have no excuses, we were up for it but it was just of those days. But, don't worry, we'll be up for the big game at Somerville. We can still win the championship and I'm happy this wasn't a league game."

The Tech defense put the pressure on Bobby Sleeth all afternoon and, despite the fact the classy little quarterback completed 10 of 22 passes for 205 yards, he had a rough time getting his passes off. Several times he was thrown for losses and had three passes intercepted in the first half, a rarity for him.

"Our defense was again superb, as the statistics clearly show, but we couldn't get a sustained drive going against their tough defense," the North coach added. Penalties hurt us as we had two long pass completions and a long run nullified."

Carl didn't want to single out any individuals on defense but said "Give every boy on defense credit, they did a terrific job." Among those who sparkled on defense were big I.D. Diego.

Steve LeShane, Jay Connerty, Bob Swirbalus, Joe Lane, Lou Trubiano, Larry Bray, Don Meyer, John Hemphill and Jerry Mulcahy.

North's line running backs, Meyer, Dan Polvere and Bray broke away a few times but were pretty well bottled up by the Tech defenders.

Sleeth's second pass of the game was intercepted by Tech's Tim Colton, who ran it back 40 yards for a touchdown midway in the first period. Fred Ahern rushed for the extra points.

Just before the period ended Tom Connolly made another sparkling interception and returned it to North's 33.

North dominated the second period action but was continually thwarted by the Tech defense, which held on its 10 once and then, when the Raiders made a first down on Tech's seven with time running out in the half, thanks to an 18-yard pass to Trubiano and a 38-yard bomb to Bray, who made a fine fingertip catch, Tech held for three downs and John MacDonald intercepted a pass on his 10 and ran it out to the 40 as the half ended.

Tech struck with a startling suddenness in the second half as Mel Ferry took the kickoff, cut to the right and went all the way, 70 yards, for the touchdown.

Again North controlled the ball but just couldn't capitalize on its chances. Finally, Sleeth threw a picture pass to Polvere for 57 yards to the Tech three and on the first play of the final period, Sleeth scored on a quarterback sneak.

This was the third and last game between North and Tech, the Hub team winning two of them. Two years ago the unbeaten Raiders thrashed Tech, 34-0, as they went 9-0 and took the GBL title.

Tom Moran, Tech's veteran coach, paid tribute to Leone following the game "We were very fortunate today and I think Carl Leone is a terrific coach, one of the best around," he said. We enjoyed our three games with North Quincy, all were hard fought, clean games Leone is not only a fine coach but a real gentleman."

So, it is on to Somerville and, the Raiders and their fans hope, the next to last step to another league championship.

MY SON, MY SON - Among the most faithful fans at all Raider games is Mrs. Francis Sleeth, a mother of star Quarterback Bob Sleeth, escorted by another North Quincy loyalist, Mr. Fritz Streifer.

FINAL CHEERS FADES from lips of North Quincy cheerleader Claire Gomer, as the Raiders suffer their first loss against Boston Tech, a 14-6 non-league contest.

Area Conservation Conference At Snug Harbor School Saturday

The Quincy Conservation Commission will conduct an educational conference on conservation and ecology Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Snug Harbor School, Germantown.

The conference is open to all Quincy area residents and anyone interested in conservation efforts.

There is "The Many Worlds of Conservation in Quincy". Object is to show Quincy residents the importance of ecology to future generations and to everyday life today and to outline the many fields of conservation which can be found in the Quincy area.

Among the "worlds" to be covered at the conference are:

- Marine Science Biology including marshlands and oceanography.
- Wetlands and flood control.
- Forest and woodlands.
- Wildlife and natural life.
- Parks and recreation.
- Beautification.
- Air and water pollution control.

Discussion panel members will be:

Richard Short, director Conservation Education, state Department of Education, Albert Bussewitz, Massachusetts Audubon Society; Garret E. VanWart, director Blue Hills Trailside Museum; Richard Anastasia, sociologist and nature study coordinator, Quincy Recreation Department; William Jerome, biologist, state Department of Fisheries and Game.

Bernard C. Moore, Jr., commission member, is conference chairman and will serve as moderator.

The program will include exhibits, displays and special classroom projects.

The Marine Science Club of North Quincy High School will have an exhibit showing the importance of marshlands to marine life.

Exhibits by Harold Crowley of the Snug Harbor School will include marine science, marshlands and nature life in and around the Germantown and Rock Island areas.

The Conservation Commission will show slides on the marshlands of Rock Island Cove and Houghs Neck. Mrs. Grace Saphir, commission chairman, will speak on the ecological value of these marshes and the commission's efforts to preserve them.

A public hearing is planned by the Department of Natural Resources within the next few months to consider placing restrictions against filling and dredging of these marshes.

Firefighter Training For Freshmen Nurses

OUTDOOR CLASSROOM — Listening to the opening remarks of Capt. Daly are these freshmen nurse students. They learned how to sound a fire alarm, remove the patient from danger and to confine and extinguish a fire. The Quincy Fire Dept. offers similar field courses to nursing home personnel.

NOTHING TO IT — Making it look easy at least, are Quincy Hospital nursing officials, Mrs. Margaret Hill, School of Nursing Assistant Director, and Mrs. Marion Grosvenor, freshmen student instructor. The supervisors' personnel participated in the class demonstrations along with the students.

INSTRUCTOR — Captain Francis M. Daly, Quincy Fire Prevention Bureau head, directed the recent annual Student Nurses Fire Institute on the Quincy City Hospital grounds. The classes are held each year to acquaint freshman student nurses with proper fire emergency procedures. The course is also given for new hospital employees during an afternoon session.

Park Dept. To Study Ward 2 Mound St. Beach Development

A proposed development of Mound St. Beach, Quincy Point, would be "a costly venture", according to Park Dept. official Richard J. Koch.

Plans developed by the 200-member Ward 2 Civic Association have been unanimously approved by the neighborhood group and presented for Park and Recreation Board study.

The plans for the installation of recreational facilities were developed for the Ward 2 group by Creative Playgrounds, a Quincy architectural firm.

Revisions to the proposals were made at last week's civic association meeting. Tennis, volleyball, picnic, horseshoe and walking areas are included in the architectural layout.

Koch estimated that the cost would be over $300,000. He noted that this would exceed the total Park and Recreation Board budget. Implementation of such a plan would require major financial assistance, Koch, board executive secretary, said. Municipal approval for such a major expenditure would be required, he pointed out.

"We realize it's a big project but we hope the Park Dept. will take a favorable view," Theodore P. DeCristofaro commented.

DeCristofaro, Ward 2 Assn. president, stressed the "great possibility" the city-owned beach area offered for improvement.

The development plans also included a plastic boom system to reduce the encroachment of oil spillage and boats in the beach area.

The Mound St. Beach project has been a major effort of the Ward 2 group since its inception three years ago. City Council support for the improvement project has been led by Ward 2 Councilor Clifford H. Marshall.

He pointed out that the plans

"Untie Police Hands"

McIntyre Moves For Drugs Crackdown

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre hopes to "untie the hands of police" to crack down on increasing drug abuse in Quincy and other Massachusetts communities.

Legislation to be filed by McIntyre would give law enforcement officers the authority to make on-the-spot arrests in cases of suspected false prescriptions and illegal possession of harmful drugs.

McIntyre noted that presently the offenses are misdemeanors not involving a breach of the peace.

The present law, he said, places two major obstacles in the path of police.

"Suspected offenders cannot be arrested on the spot but must be summoned into court giving them ample time in which to destroy evidence against them."

A police officer who makes an on-the-spot arrest or detains a suspect does so at the risk of a civil suit in retaliation.

McIntyre said his bill would give police the legal right to make arrests without the peril of a civil suit hanging over their heads.

The mayor, whose late father, Capt. William L. McIntyre, was head of the Quincy Police Detective Bureau, declared:

"We have got to give police legal tools with which to stop the tremendous increase in drug abuse. We have got to untie their hands."

"The drug problem is getting worse and worse right here in Quincy and in communities everywhere. A lot of the drugs get into the hands of youngsters through false prescriptions."

According to police reports, the drug problem in Quincy has leveled the junior high school area.

Friday Deadline For Quincy Vietnam Fruit Cake Listing

Do you have a son, husband or daughter serving in Vietnam?

The City of Quincy again this year is sending Christmas gift packages to them.

Friday is the deadline for placing their names and addresses on the mailing list.

If you haven't done so yet, you may still do so by contacting the Quincy Veterans Services Department at 773-1380.

Veterans Services Director William L. Villone, committee chairman, said the names of 97 Quincy residents are already on the list for gift fruit cakes.

An estimated $1,400 has been donated by city employees and residents to purchase and ship the gifts.

Each package will include a Christmas card from Mayor James R. McIntyre bearing this message:

"This package is being sent to you as a special Christmas remembrance from your fellow citizens of Quincy. May you return safely next year to feel its grateful for your contribution toward freedom and peace in the world."

Last year the city sent 178 fruit cakes to Vietnam and 143 more last Easter.

Be sure your serviceman or woman in Vietnam receives one this year.

Flu Vaccine Still Available For Quincy Senior Citizens

An estimated 2,000 senior citizens have received flu vaccine at Quincy Health Department sponsored clinics so far and more is still available.

Dr. John L. Foley, City Health Commissioner, said that senior citizens who have not obtained the vaccine may still do so at make-up clinics to be held at the Health Department, 1120 Hancock St., Wednesday afternoons at 3 p.m.

Dr. Foley also noted that a special vaccine for a new flu threat—known as the Hong Kong variety—may be available before the end of the year.

It originally was not expected to be developed and ready before sometime in January.

The new flu broke out in Hong Kong in June, has already reached the West Coast and is moving eastward. It is expected to hit epidemic stride this winter.

The older, less active person, is more likely to contract the familiar Asian flu, Dr. Foley said. The vaccine now being administered to senior citizens is to protect them from that.

"The young, more active person is apt to get the Hong Kong variety," he said.

The new vaccine will have only the Hong Kong strain in it. The Asian flu vaccine has five strains.

"CITIZEN OF YEAR" AWARD was presented to Donald Keene, president, South Shore Association of Retarded Children, second left. The ceremony was held at the Quincy Jewish Community Center. Other principals were Sidney Tallen, post commander, Irving Isaacs, master of ceremonies and Arthur Bennett, director, South Shore Training Center.

Mayor McIntyre Takes

"Few Days" Breather

Mayor James R. McIntyre will take a breather from his official duties for a vacation with his family, beginning Saturday.

"We will spend a few days in the south," McIntyre said. He did not specify the exact location.

During his absence, City Council President J. Vincent
Smyth will be acting mayor.

Vietnam Bonus Office Relocated

The Vietnam Bonus Division office has been moved to 21
Beacon St., Boston, next to the State House.

State Treasurer Robert Q.
Crane said there will be no interruption in the processing of applications and that eligible veterans are asked to apply for the bonus at the new location.

More than 15,360 veterans have thus far received $3,384,700 in pension payments, Crane said.

Deadline Date For Mailing To Armed Forces

Packages which generally weigh in excess of 30 pounds and being sent by surface mail to the armed forces in Vietnam should be mailed by Saturday of this week to connect with the Vietnam Cargo Ship "Santa Claus Special" sailing from Oakland, California for Da Nang, Qui Nhon, Cam Ranh
Bay and Saigon, and other bases served through these ports.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin urged extra care in the preparation of these G. I. packages to assure safe arrival, eliminating all perishables, breakable articles, and articles prohibited by regulations to be admitted to various countries. Local postoffices can advise when the APO or FPA Number is furnished concerning restrictions, etc.

Packages which do not exceed 5 pounds can be sent by SAM
(Space Available Mail) up to November 23rd. These are restricted to 60 in. in length and girth combined. SAM packages require postage at surface rates only to the port of embarkation and are flown overseas at no additional cost.

Packages weighing not in excess of 30 pounds and measuring not more than 60 in. (length and girth combined) can be sent as late as November 30th by PAL (Parcel Air Lift). The cost of such packages is $1.00 plus the surface parcel cost to the port of embarkation. However, these PAL packages are flown from city of mailing to overseas bases on a space available basis.

The postmaster pointed out that the terminology ("Space Available") does not mean that they may or may not be flown overseas, but rather that critical mail and articles paid at the full air mail rate will get first priority on each flight.

The Quincy Sun assumes no financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertisements but will reprint that part of an advertisement in which the typographical error occurs.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

PIN WORMS
(Alias Oxyuris Threadworm)

Rarely does a day go by without a call about pin-worms. Most people accept this little visitor with poise, but others become incensed and occasionally frightened. No one should be! I have a suspicion that most of us have had an infestation by this ubiquitous worm, known clinically as the Oxyuris, and were hardly aware that we were harboring or nourishing this parasite.

In fact, be happy that we live in the North and that the pinworm isn't the Ascaris, or Roundworm, seen in the South and found in almost 100% of the people there. This one can really be troublesome!

The pin-worm looks like a snipped piece of white thread, hence is frequently called the threadworm. The only difference is that his thread may wiggle.

The reason for the itch about the anus is the gravid or pregnant female depositing thousands of eggs. The child scratches himself even to the point of chronic irritation. The eggs, via fingers or finger nails are later reintroduced into the mouth, to find their way to the appendix or perceum, the beginning of the large bowel, where they grow a sort of perpetual cycle.

The female worm has been known to enter the vagina and even to ascend to the uterus etc. Such an invasion is not serious but again annoying.

Symptoms of appendicitis may occur since the worm may, in great numbers, at it's attachment in the appendix, cause irritation.
Operations have been performed to rid the parasite.

Mothers seem to know when children have worms. The worm, like humans, prances and dances causing the itch and restlessness. Rectal bleeding may even result if the numbers of worms are unusual.

Nose-picking is not necessarily related to the presence of worms as is so commonly alleged.

Diagnosis is established or suspected by examination and by an anal sneer using a cellophane swab and studying the specimen under the microscope.

Treatment is fairly successful and far better than formerly. Many methods have been tried and your physician may have a favorite. We have found two drugs most effective although no method is universally successful.

Antepa (Burroughs-Wellcome) is given as a syrup to small children and wafers or tablets to older ones or adults. This is given daily for a week. This drug is also very useful in destroying the Roundworm.
Success is given at 80 percent for removal of the worms.

Another useful agent, especially for children, is Povan (Parke Davis). It is pleasant, safe and fairly successful and requires only one dose followed by a repeat in one week.

Remember that there is no surefire cure for pinworms and reinfection may occur. It has been shown that the entire family ought to be treated even if it is a nuisance. But how can you cure a neighborhood? Children remind each other by exchanging objects and food and at best wash themselves haphazardly.

Frankly, if the pinworm is around and is annoying treat it via your doctor.

$500,000 Office Building Planned For North Quincy

A $500,000 professional office building will be built at 339 Hancock St., North Quincy, by Attys. George G. Burke and Richard W. Barry.

The three-story Colonial design brick structure will have 9,000 square feet of office space and off-street parking for 60 automobiles.

Burke, who is Norfolk County district attorney, and Barry, first assistant district attorney, will move their own law firm now located at 270 Hancock St., to the new building.

They said the building will have 18 suites of offices for lawyers, doctors, dentists and other professional men.

Ground is expected to be broken early next year and the building completed and ready for occupancy by the latter part of the year.

A number of applications have already been received from prospective tenants, the two attorneys said.

The building, designed by Quincy architect James R. Hannon will be known as The Barry Burke Professional Office Building.

Pathways

By
Rev. Cloyce C. Cunningham
Granite Church of the Nazarene

(Pathways is a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen.)

Thanksgiving time is here again. The excitement of the traditional Quincy-North Quincy football game, the sumptuous dinner to follow and the fellowship with friends and relatives makes this a wonderful day. But is this all? Have we missed the real meaning of Thanksgiving?

I asked a group of college students and young adults in my church this question. They felt that there has been too much emphasis placed on the secular side and not enough on the spiritual. So often we miss the primary purpose of these special days. The Psalmist expressed it well for all of us when he said, "Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving." Our Pilgrim fathers set aside this day to give thanks to God. They took time to pray and read the Bible as well as sharing their food and fellowship with the friendly Indians.

Today we have so much for which to give thanks. America has only six per cent of the world's population yet we are blessed with:

- 33 per cent of the world's production power
- 33 per cent of the world's college enrollment
- 49 per cent of the world's telephones
- 50 per cent of the world's air travel
- 60 per cent of the world's automobiles.

Television, running water, electric washers and dryers are common among even the poorest people, while the average of underprivileged countries struggle for their most basic food and shelter.

We have the greatest freedom and the most of this world's goods. What more can we ask? "Lord, Thou hast given me many things, now give me yet one more ... A THANKFUL HEART!"

Summer Flood Projects Spared City From Major Storm Damage

Summer flood clearance projects were credited with sparing Quincy from heavy damage by last week's gale-whipped Nor'easter which battered a large section of Massachusetts.

Public Works Cmmr. John M.

Browne noted that large-scale clearance programs at Furnace and Town Brooks were instrumental in restricting flooding. Work had been completed on brook rehabilitation between Adam St. and Newport Ave. and in the Elm St., Miller and Stile Rd. areas.

Also proving a major asset in combating storm conditions were two recently converted leaf collecting units. They were used to clear clogged catch basins and permit free drainage of surface water.

The leaf collectors had been converted at a minimal, $50, cost from Forestry Dept., tree-spraying equipment. Cmmr. Browne said that new units cost about $3,000 each. Leaf removal and street cleaning operations had been underway for the previous six weeks, Cmmr. Browne stated.

Also in evidence for the first time were rubber-bladed snow ploughs which swept material from the roadways. Front-end loaders provided the follow-up in removing piles of debris.

Prizes To Highlight Night For Senior Citizens Dec. 4

Quincy's senior citizens who are confined to nursing and rest homes will not be forgotten when a Quincy Senior Citizen's Nite
Out program is held Dec. 4 at North Quincy High School.

Though the catered dinner and entertainment is primarily for senior citizens many thoughtful Quincy residents, who have not as yet reached the senior citizen age level, are purchasing tickets for the event so that these confined senior citizens who are able will be presented an opportunity to attend the event geared to the interest of senior citizens.

The catered dinner, to be served at 6:30 p.m. followed by the awarding of many special prizes and entertainment, is being sponsored by the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens.

under the direction of the Quincy Council on Aging. Many prizes have been donated for the event.
These will be awarded during the dinner. The purchase of a dinner ticket will enable the senior citizens to be eligible to win the prizes.

A limited amount of tickets have been set aside for senior citizens of neighboring communities. These may be reserved through the Quincy on Aging Office in the Kennedy Health Center but must be picked up by the ticket deadline, Nov.
29.

Those interested in purchasing tickets for nursing home patients or in donating prizes for the event are asked to notify the Council on Aging Office.

Mary Reardon To Exhibit Art At Thomas Crane Library

The work of Mrs. Mary
Reardon, well known Quincy-Hingham artist will be exhibited during December in the Main Hall of the Thomas Crane
Public Library, Quincy Center.

Among her many murals is one at the Quincy YMCA and another, designed in mosaic tile in the National Shrine at Washington, D.C.

She also has works in the Baltimore Cathedral in Maryland and the Chapel of St. Francis Xavier, Newbury St., Boston.

Three of her paintings have been on exhibition in Trieste and Padua during an International Exhibition.

Mrs. Reardon, who is also an accomplished portrait painter, lived in Quincy until recently, moving to Hingham. Her father,
Dr. Daniel V. Reardon, was a Quincy physician and a member of the Quincy School Committee.
Miss Reardon was educated at

Radcliffe College and Yale University School of Fine Arts.
She has her studio at 30 Ipswich
St., Boston, and teaches at Emmanuel College.

Auxiliary Council

Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of the Suffolk County Council and its Ladies Auxiliary, will be held at the Beaumont Post Veterans of Foreign Wars 150 Remington Street, Revere, Mass., on Saturday evening, November 30, 1968.

A complete roast beef dinner will be served followed by dancing to the music of Al Jolson and his Orchestra.

Due to the illness of the banquet chairman, Jr. Vice Commander, Walter Golden, reservations will be filled by Commander Rico, or through any of the posts in the County.

Emerson New Vice-President Of South Shore National Bank

Robert G. Emerson, Jr., 42, of Marshfield will join the South Shore National Bank as a Vice-President Dec. 2.

He will head up a newly created staff responsible for aiding bank management in areas of merger and acquisition analysis and long range resource allocation.

Mr. Emerson is a graduate of Hilton Academy, 1944, and received his B.S. degree in Banking and Finance from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School in 1950. He is also a 1963 graduate of Harvard University's Advanced Management Program at the Graduate School of Business.

From 1950 until 1957, he was a member of the New York financial staff of the General Motors Corporation, and in 1957 joined the Murray Company of Texas, where he later became Assistant Secretary and Assistant Treasurer. In 1961, Mr. Emerson was appointed Assistant General Manager of the Boston Gear Works - a division of the Murray Company, and in 1962, was elected Vice President of the Murray Company, responsible for the company's Eastern Operations. In addition he was appointed Secretary of New Ave. Realty Company, and Secretary of Boston Gear Works of Canada, Ltd.

In 1965, Mr. Emerson became an incorporator and Charter Director of the Hingham Lincoln Trust Company, and in his capacity to the present time, has served also as Chairman of the Bank's Executive and Investment Committee.

Mr. Emerson married the former Mary S. Spencer of Salt Lake City, Utah in 1947. The Emersons and their three children, Robert G. III, 19, Elizabeth Ann 18, and Cynthia Lee 12, reside at 110 Prospect Street, Marshfield Hills.

Hospitalized Vets Xmas Card Appeal

Christmas cards for hospitalized veterans in Viet Nam who will not know the joy of holidays at home have been urged by a commanding officer of the famous 82nd Airborne Division.

The plea for Christmas remembrances was directed to a prominent Quincy veteran's official, John Dineen, Dept. of Massachusetts Surgeon, VFW.

Dearest Friends,

In a few days the Christmas spirit will soon fill your hearts in anticipation of the joy the Holidays will bring to your families and friends. But for our men in Vietnam, the spirit and joy of Christmas will be in our hearts knowing our loved ones are enjoying the Holidays because we are here in Vietnam preserving Democracy and freedom. Yet, for some of our men, the Holidays will be spent in a hospital bed. These men have done their part, while others have given even more. You can bring to these men, the happiness of the Holidays into their hospital wards by your Seasons Greetings with a thoughtful Christmas card. Your cards will bring the happiness and thanks of appreciation that will be remembered for a life time, because You care.

On your envelopes please use a return address.

Please address your cards to:

Sunbeams

Speculation persists that Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke will make a bid for attorney general in the 1970 state election. But sources close to Burke say they wouldn't be too surprised if he passed that one up and went for the big one - Governor.

Burke himself will have to make a decision within the next few months. The question he has to answer. Should he seek re-election as Norfolk County's chief law enforcement officer or go for a state-wide office?

The district attorney's job will be on the same ballot in 1970. He can't run for both. It has to be one or the other.

Burke reportedly is giving considerable thought right now as to what would be his best course.

And a lot of people are waiting to see what he decides.

*****

INCIDENTALLY, it Burke does decide to run state-wide, it could mean three prominent Quincy figures bumping heads politically in 1970.

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre, according to insiders, is thinking of making a bid for either attorney general or lieutenant governor.

And, of course, former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti is virtually certain to return to the battlefield once again. There are already auto bumper stickers around proclaiming "Bellotti, 1970".

Even if the three went for different jobs, it would create a Democratic ticket problem. Three Quincy men on the same ticket wouldn't be considered a geographically balanced vote-pulling team.

Bud don't shrug off the possibility of McIntyre or Burke toting their hat into the state ring. Many political observers are convinced the Democrats are going to have to come up with some fresh young faces in 1970 if they are to wrest the top constitutional offices away from the Republicans.

Meanwhile there may be a local "summit" meeting of the Quincy Big Three - Bellotti, Burke and McIntyre - to prevent that threatened bun bing of heads.

*****

FASHION NOTE: Some members of the Quincy Police Department's uniformed division are sporting new three-quarter length insulated winter coats. Nice and light - and warm. Other members will get them as soon as money is available to purchase them.

*****

AMONG the many who attended the funeral services for Reuben A. Grossman, Quincy business and civic leader, at the Jewish Synagogue Ahavath Achim, 139 School St., was Cornelius Connor, 90-year-old retired letter carrier. Seventy years ago he delivered mail to the same address when it was the literary hall of nearby St. John's Catholic Church.

*****

LOOK ALIKE S: Does Lawrence Creedon, acting superintendent of Quincy schools, remind you a little of President-elect Richard M. Nixon?

*****

EVERY election year, some of the so-called political experts predict Rep. Joseph I. Brett will go down to defeat. And every election year, he just goes on winning - usually topping his district.

One of his secrets: he gets around to see the people. He figures he walked a good 360 miles through the streets of Wards 4, 5 and 6 this year, talking to passersby and knocking on doors.

"I don't know just where 360 miles would take me on a straight road but I'm sure took me back to the State House for another two-year term," he muses.

Among the many congratulations he received after the votes were counted, he particularly cherishes three. They came from Clinton H. Baker, now 91, the man he defeated for the seat 10 years ago; former Mayor-Councilor-Representative David S. McIntosh; and former Councilor Carl W. Anderson. All three happen to be Republicans.

*****

MILESTONE: Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brabazon of 94 Alrick Rd. are marking their 18th wedding anniversary. She's Mayor McIntyre's private secretary - his first appointee upon taking office.

MEALS FOR THE ELDERLY

Mayor James R. McIntyre has announced that final plans are being made for the Meals for the Elderly program to begin Dec. 2 at Quincy High School faculty room. The program is being co-sponsored by the Quincy School Department and the Quincy Council on Aging. Further information may be obtained through the Quincy Council on Aging office. The program is one of 10 to be undertaken in the state.

"NITE OUT" TICKETS

The deadline for obtaining tickets for the Quincy Senior Citizens Nite Out program at North Quincy High School Dec. 4 will be Nov. 29. These may be obtained through the Quincy Council on Aging Office.

Swimming Pool Sought For West Quincy

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre is seeking a $200,000 Olympic-size swimming pool for the West Quincy area.

McIntyre said last night he will file legislation to authorize and direct the Metropolitan District Commission to construct and maintain the pool. The location is MDC land next to the Mayor William T. Shea skating rink.

"There is no swimming facility in West Quincy," McIntyre said. "I think the area needs one and deserves one and hope to get my legislation approved early next year."

For years West Quincy residents and others swam in the city's water-filled abandoned granite quarries. But they are now being filled with rubbish.

The quarries were dangerous and a number of children and adults lost their lives there over the years.

The swimming pool, if constructed, would be supervised by the MDC.

Howard B. Johnson
New Christmas Seal
Honorary Chairman

Howard B. Johnson will serve as Honorary Chairman of the 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign in Norfolk County.

Mr. Johnson, a Quincy native, is president, chief executive officer and Chairman of the Board of the Howard Johnson Company.

His appointment was announced by Dr. Donald A. Martin of Braintree, president of the Norfolk County Christmas Seal organization.

Christmas Seal Month is being observed through Dec. 31 in the 28 communities in Norfolk County.

"Christmas Seals help everyone to fight for the breath of life," Mr. Johnson said. "Using Christmas Seals on your holiday mail automatically makes you a volunteer supporter of the fight against illnesses ranging all the way from the common cold to potentially fatal emphysema."

Mr. Johnson is the latest of several distinguished sons and daughters of Norfolk County who have joined in the Christmas Seal Campaign in the past. In former years, Honorary Chairmen have included: Sam Mele, Sam Jones, Ruth Gordon and Bill Dana, all residents or former residents of Norfolk County.

The annual Christmas Seal Campaign is conducted entirely through the mail. Contributions have supported a year 'round program to eradicate tuberculosis, to fight emphysema and some 40 other respiratory illnesses through community services.

"Safety Parade" At Quincy School

Photos By Robert Leo Eng

DIRECTING the Quincy School Safety Parade, a recent elementary grade educational program, was Safety Officer Guido A. Pettinelli, using a walkie-talkie.

STRIKING UP the band was North Quincy High School as they led the half-mile elementary school march. Carl S. Leone directed the bandmen.

PARADE FLAG BEARER was sixth grade Cub Scout George K. Bezanson II. Helping out with the important duty was Officer Pettinelli.

STEPPING LIVELY at the head of the march were Mrs. Mary McDonald, traffic supervisor, Mayor James R. McIntyre and Mrs. Barbara DeYoung, traffic supervisor.

GOOD ADVICE for drivers is depicted in the safety posters carried by the young marchers. Reminders included "Lock Your Car" and "Drive Defensively."

SAFETY PATROL MODELS were Robert McCulley and Lauren Chinnello, both sixth graders. The ponchos were presented by Mrs. Violet S. Riley, School Room Mothers' Association chairman.

TRAFFIC STOPPER fifth grader Richard Solon, helped out by third grader Barbara Murray. Theme of the program was "Safety is Everyone's Business."

PROGRAM ANNOUNCERS were Lauren Chinnello, sixth grader, and Miss Isabel Marantz, Quincy School principal, who directed the program.

GREATER BOSTON LEAGUE

North Quincy's football team could have clinched its second Greater Boston League championship in three years last week at Somerville.

However, the Raiders failed and now must defeat Quincy on Thanksgiving to win the crown. North dropped a 12-6 decision to Somerville despite outplaying the Highlanders completely during the first half and the win in Somerville's last league game gave it temporary leadership. All the Highlanders can do now, while facing Waltham in a non-league holiday game, is hope for a Quincy win.

A Quincy victory next Thursday will give Somerville its first league title. A tie would make Somerville and North co-champions and a Raider win will give them their second championship.

Last week's loss was a hard one to take for Coach Carl Leone and his Raiders.

During the first half North had 11 first downs to just one for the winners and had picked up 166 yards on total offense, but still trailed, 12-6, at half time.

In the opening period Somerville ran only three plays from scrimmage, yet had a 12-0 lead.

"It was a tough game and a real rough one to lose, but Somerville is a very good team and give a lot of credit," Leone said. "They did a really job and took advantage of the breaks."

"Naturally, we had hoped to win and clinch the title but now the boys know they have to win on Thanksgiving so I will have no trouble getting them up for it. Not that anyone has to get either the North or Quincy players up for that game in any case, but this game now is a real special one for us."

In the second half Somerville's defense rose to its greatest heights and completely bottled up North's usually potent offense. North could gain only 32 yards rushing and pick up only three first downs in the last two periods.

"Their defense was just great and it has been a long time since a North Quincy team was stopped like that," Leone continued. "Hank Conroy, the Quincy coach, had said earlier that Somerville was the best team he had faced and I believe him. It is the best Somerville team I've seen."

Leone praised Dan Polvere for his running and paid tribute to big Ed Dieso, Jay Connerty, Bob Swirbalus and Joe Lane for their defensive performances.

"Our defense, as usual, was terrific and Somerville did very little after its two early touchdowns," Carl said. "But in this case their defense matched ours in the second half."

For the second game in a row a pass interception beat North Quincy. In the surprise loss to Boston 12th week ago a pass interception and kickoff return gave Tech the win despite an unbelievable edge in statistics favoring the Raiders.

Last week sub John Tedesco grabbed off a Bobby Sleeth pass on his 20 and raced 80 yards for the second Somerville touchdown. It was the first of his two interceptions.

Larry in the game Roy Peterson, the Highlanders' standout quarterback, raced 42 yards for the first touchdown.

Polvere clinched a long drive by scoring from the four in the second period for North's lone touchdown.

North had one promising drive late in the game after recovering a fumble on its 46. Sleeth moved the ball on the ground to the 22 where the Somerville defense held.

Until the Tech game Sleeth had not played in a losing game since the seventh grade. Now he has played in two straight.

The classy senior quarterback hopes to end this short break on Turkey Day and his schoolboy career by leading his club to the GBL Crown.

Instructional Ski Program Gets Underway Next Week

The Quincy Recreation Department's instructional ski program for Quincy residents will get underway next week.

Recreation Director William F. Ryan said the program is designed for all age groups. The four divisions will meet separately for a series of four indoor sessions at the Wollaston School gymnasium, Beale and Taylor Sts. The first session will include a briefing and demonstration on purchasing ski clothing and equipment.

Mats will be used on the gym floor to check equipment for safety. Participants will then start to learn to walk on skis. A simulated ski slope running from the stage to the floor will enable them to get the feeling of sking downhill.

Other indoor sessions will include instructions in basic ski fundamentals. Movies and other visual aids will be used by veteran instructors Bill Ellis, Don Holton, Bob Mitchell, Mike Benedict and Nancy Jennings.

The indoor sessions schedule: High school group, Tuesday 7:30 p.m., starting Nov. 26.

Pre-school through fifth grade, Saturday, 2 p.m., starting Nov. 30.

Junior high group, grades six through nine, Saturday, 3:30 p.m., starting Nov. 30.

Adult group Thursday, 7:30 p.m., starting Dec. 5.

Outdoor sessions will again be held on Heavenly Hill at the Furnace Brook Golf Club, South Central Ave. Those interested may register for this free course during the indoor sessions.

A second series of four indoor sessions will be scheduled after Christmas.

Harvard's Varney Tabbed Future Great By Yovicsin

One of Harvard's key men against Yale Saturday when the Crimson try to end a perfect season (Yale has the same goal) could be North Quincy's Pete Varney, big sophomore end Harvard fans something to cheer about.

Last week against Brown, Varney made a brilliant leaping catch and dragged three Brown defenders along for an additional 10 yards.

Pete is one of Harvard's top rated sophs in many years and Coach John Yovicsin admits he has a brilliant future.

Jr. College Hoop Opener Monday

Quincy Junior College opens its basketball season next Monday and Coach Bob Basiliere admits "we might take our lumps this year."

Quincy enjoyed a successful season a year ago but Basiliere lost many standouts from that squad and sees trouble ahead this winter.

"I watched Massachusetts Community College play Graham Junior College of Boston last week and both looked awfully good," Bob said. "They both have some outstanding material and we play both of them."

Morrisette A.L. To Honor Teams

The Quincy and North Quincy High School football teams will be guests of Morrisette Legion Post at a pre-game dinner tonight at the Post Home, Miller St., West Quincy.

Comdr. Nicholas Malvesti said head table guests will include coaches of both schools, city and school officials and Legion dignitaries.

Former football "greats" of both schools will also attend the dinner warmup for the annual Thanksgiving Day grid classic.

Committee members include Past Comdr. Frank Mullen, Vice-Commanders "Buff" Campitelli, Ambrose Powers, Larry Bersani and John Riccittu, Fred Cobban and Gus Russo.

New Office Hours For Marine Recruiting

Effective immediately the Marine Recruiting Office located in the Post Office Building, 47 Washington Street, Quincy, will remain open until 8:30 P.M. Monday through Saturday.

This will enable interested individuals to talk over the many opportunities offered by the Marine Corps after their normal working hours. Appointments may be made at any time by calling 472-6650. There is no obligation for information.

Giachetti Again Top Receiver

Rich Giachetti of Quincy for the second year in a row was the top pass receiver in New England small college circles, leading Tufts to its best season since 1962. Among his nearly 50 receptions were four for touchdowns.

"He did this in spite of being double and triple teamed in every game," Coach Rocky Carzo said. He played a prominent role in Tufts' first winning season (5-3) in six years.

Another Quincy player, who played his high school ball at Boston College High, Pete Pascucci, ranked fifth this year in pass receiving.

Job Interviews For Germantown Residents

The Department of Employment Security, Quincy Division, is interviewing Germantown residents for jobs in the Quincy and Greater Boston area. The interviews are being held each Friday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. on the second floor of the Germantown Service Center, 9 Bicknell St., Peter MacNeil, director of the center, announced.

Two weeks ago it appeared Quincy's only objective in the annual North Quincy game on Thanksgiving would be to add another victory to its list.

However, things have changed. And how they have changed!

As a result of last week's game which saw North upset by Somerville, the Presidents can now knock the Raiders out of the Greater Boston League championship.

And, to hear the Quincy players and followers roar last week when they were informed at Quincy Veterans Stadium of North's defeat and to listen to the players as they left the stadium, they think they can do just that.

"North's defeat certainly puts a different light on the big game," Quincy Coach Hank Conroy said. "If North had won, it would have clinched the title and the only incentive we would have had was to improve our series record against them."

"Now, however, our boys really have something to shoot for and wouldn't they love to keep North from grabbing the championship. Now they have to beat us to win it and these kids feel they can definitely beat them. It certainly should be quite a game."

Quincy turned in what Conroy described as "its best defensive game of the year" in defeating Medford, 14-7, in a GBL clash last week at the Stadium.

"The statistics should show what a tremendous job the defense did," Hank explained. And they certainly do. Medford would up with minus 41 yards on the ground, the Mustangs' backs being thrown for 75 yards in losses. The losers could pick up only 18 yards on six completed passes, one losing five yards and one going for no gain. They also had only three first downs.

Once Medford had fourth down and 41 yards to go and another time it had fourth and 43.

Actually, Quincy's attack wasn't anything to rave about with a net gain of 65 yards on the ground. The backs were stopped for 52 yards in losses, and quarterback Steve McDevitt passed only six times. He completed only one but that was for 13 yards and a touchdown. His first two were intercepted. Quincy had much first downs.

But the brilliant defense more than made up for the none-too-potent offense.

On offense Steve Carrera and Toni Daley did virtually all of the ball carrying and both ran well. Conroy admitted he didn't use fullback John Molla as much as usual.

"You have to give the entire defensive unit a lot of credit but be sure and mention Dick Menchi," the Quincy coach said. We used him on defense for the first time and he operated beautifully with our "monster defense." He did a great job. Paul Picarski and Steve Shapiro were also outstanding and don't forget Joe Finneran, whose last second interception led it for us. In the previous game he intercepted one and ran it back 85 yards for a touchdown."

Conroy also praised Steve Tappen, Ed Scigliano and Bill Kelley for their stand-out defensive performances.

"We were afraid of their trap plays, which ruined Revere, but thanks to excellent scouting reports from Dave Burke and Tony Day, we stopped them," Hank continued. "That boy (Ken) Rideout is rated one of the top runners in the league but we really stopped him today." Rideout was completely throttled on plays from scrimmage but did run back a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown and nearly went all the way on a punt return, going all the way from his 30 to Quincy's 15. He has 11 touchdowns this year, including three kickoff returns of 80 yards or better.

The Presidents, who hiked their record to 4-3-1 (3-2-1 in the league), got a break midway in the opening period when a bad pass from center on a punting situation gave them the ball on Medford's 38. Nine plays and three first downs later McDevitt passed to Dick Kenny in the end zone for a 13-yard scoring play. McDevitt kicked the point.

Rideout ran the second half kickoff back 85 yards behind some fine blocking. Paul McGurin, using a soccer-style kick, added the point as the ball bounced off the bar and over.

Quincy drove 50 yards following the kickoff for the winning points after Daley returned the ball from his 36. The Presidents, sticking exclusively to the ground, clicked off four first downs en route. McDevitt went over from the kickoff on a sneak but Quincy was set back five yards for illegal procedure. On the next play Daley scored from the six and McDevitt kicked his 16th conversion of the season.

So now, it is work, work, work for North Quincy, and as one Quincy player said, "we are not going to let them win the championship this year."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

People and nations have known good times and bad. No matter what the social, economic or physical status is or will be, a crisis or confusion will always exist somewhere for some people.

A crisis and confusion is a part of living. Each of us must face some sort of crisis or confusion sooner or later. To face a crisis requires courage - and courage is a personal matter. Courage can not be leased, borrowed or bought. It must be drawn from one's self, for one's self. And when courage is shown, it often draws out the courage in others. When courage is shown, confusion can and often does disappear.

Ever since time began, the greatest source for courage has been traced to a foundation on a faith. Faith creates hope. Without faith and hope, courage is difficult to come by. In spite of dark clouds - faith, hope and courage will always be the means to let us see the rays of sunshine again. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams Street, Quincy. Phone 472-5888.

Electronics Firm Notes Future Expansion Plan

The Astra Corporation of Quincy has announced plans to expand to a 20,000 sq. ft. site facility within the next few weeks.

The firm, which moved to 45 Fields St., from South Boston in April, 1967, now occupies a 15,000 sq. ft. locale.

Sales are now running at a $1 million rate for the present fiscal year. Payroll volume has doubled and is expected to reach an anticipated $500,000 in the near future.

The growth announcement and development plans were announced by the presidents of the electronics firm, Joseph G. Landry of Abington.

Vice president of the firm is Theodore, Elliott of Chestnut Hill.

The Astra story began when Landry, a Tufts graduate and General Electric project engineer, met Elliott, who owns Albany Auto Radiator and Welding Co.

As Elliott explains, "We're both pilots—we both like to fly as a hobby."

Landry reviewed the factors that influenced the firm's move to Quincy in 1967. Effective municipal services and the availability of support industries were cited.

He voiced strong support for the future development of a Quincy airport as a "vital link in municipal economic growth."

He stressed the number of job opportunities that now existed at Astra in conjunction with the increased output and business development reported.

Symphony Concert On Sunday

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will open its 16th consecutive season with the presentation of a free classical concert on Sunday, at the Atlantic Junior High School in North Quincy. The program will begin at 3 o'clock.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Brown, who is also Music Director at Eastern Nazarene College, the orchestra will present the following program:

Prelude to the Opera from "The Meistersinger of Nuremberg" by Richard Wagner.

Three Movements from "Concerto Grosso" by Ernest Bloch ... Prelude, Dirge and Fugue.

Symphony Number 8 by Anton Bruckner.

The "Concerto Grosso" selection will feature a stringed orchestral group with piano obligato by Dorothy Bausman. Miss Bausman is currently assistant professor of music at Eastern Nazarene College. She received her bachelor of Science degree in music at Eastern Nazarene and masters degree at the New England Conservatory of Music. From 1964 to 1967 she was with the public schools of Cohasset as Director of elementary vocal music.

According to Mr. Richard Ambrosia of 166 White St., Weymouth, orchestra president, the group is seeking new members and welcomes talented instrumentalists.

Santa Special....

SANTA will arrive in Quincy Sunday aboard this 125-foot long balloon spectacular co-starring eight reindeer riding on balloon clouds. Occasion is the 17th annual Santa Claus Christmas Parade to start at 1:30 p.m.

200,000 Expected To Welcome Santa At Big Parade Sunday

Between 150,000 and 200,000 persons are expected to turn out Sunday for the 17th annual Santa Claus Christmas Parade.

The 1:30 p.m. holiday season opener will feature 43 giant balloon figures including Humpty Dumpty, Flipper, Jack & Jill, 17 decorated floats, 21 bands, children's program television personalities and—Santa himself.

"It will be the biggest Christmas parade in the Greater Boston area and the biggest ever held in Quincy," said Anthony M. Famiglietti, coordinator.

"Last year we had a crowd of 140,000 turn out. If the weather is good Sunday, we should get between 150,000 and 200,000," TV personalities participating will be Miss Jean, Willie Whistle, Bunker Hill, Captain Boston, and Sgt. Sackto.

The parade, sponsored by the South Shore Christmas Festival, will also aid the Toys For Tots campaign. Collection stations for toys will be set up along the near three-mile parade route between downtown Quincy and Wollaston.

The parade, with a total 3,500 participants, will start from the Ross Parking area and proceed to School St., Hancock St., through Quincy Center to the Clay St., parking area in Wollaston.

Pick-up stations for donated toys will be at:

Firestone, Sears Roebuck, Child World, John F. Kennedy

George C. Fay is general chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee. Bernard C. Moore, Jr., of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce is festival secretary.

By DANA KIRBY

Quincy High School alumni have been cheered by the news that the "Pony" will once again stand in the lobby of Quincy High.

The School principal Mr. Lloyd Creighton, believes if the efforts to raise funds are successful the school will have a new symbolic Pony installed by the summer of 1969.

Most alumni, along with the student body, were saddened by the news, last March, of the Pony's destruction. The Pony, a replica of The Appeal To The Great Spirit in front of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, was one of seven 3/4 foot plaster models created by Cyrus Dallin.

The vandalism was a tragedy, for along with being of artistic

$2.6 Million Project Starts

First Home Renewals Set In North Quincy

The $2.6 million North Quincy-Wollaston rehabilitation program will take a major step forward this week with three homes slated for renewal work.

Contracts totaling $8200 covering the first three dwelling improvements in the 2500-home area were awarded Friday. The awards in the city-federal North Quincy Improvement Area Project were announced by project director George J. Fleming.

Fleming described as "excellent" early-stage community reaction to the comprehensive rehabilitation program. The project encompasses a 157-block project area and is cooperatively funded under a Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant.

Work will be completed on Belmont Park and Arlington St., dwellings in about four or five weeks, Fleming said.

The contracts were awarded to the low-bidding Quincy firms of Ivor Olavson and Armand Brodeur.

Fleming said that additional contracts were being processed by his office and would be let for bidding as soon as they are completed.

The three-year program covers a concentrated North Quincy-Wollaston area. The program will focus on a concentrated code inspection and survey of project-area homes to note "deficiencies that may exist."

Valuation and field work has been underway by the project area staff for the past two and a half months, Fleming said.

Available to participating homeowners will be direct three per cent federal loans or grants for the improvements. The program operates in conjunction with a major outlay for public improvement covered by a $1.8 million HUD grant to Quincy last spring.

Under the first HUD check, $263,000 received last week, area improvements have been earmarked for streets, sidewalks, curbing, lighting, fire and police signal systems, Fleming noted.

A public improvement contract will be awarded in "the near future," he added.

The NQIAP staff also includes code inspectors Richard Morrissey, Henry Bertelson and Jerry Galvin, rehabilitation specialists Robert Tweedy and Peter MacPherson, financial specialist Joseph Youngworth and neighborhood advisor Earl MacLeod.

Ceremonies marking the opening of the site office at 24 Brook St., Wollaston, were held on Nov. 15.

New Tunnel To Aid Area Water Supply

The Metropolitan District Commission has been notified by Senator Kennedy that a $1½ million grant has been approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for a giant pressure water tunnel, designed to meet growing consumer needs and bolster water pressure in parts of Boston and South Shore communities.

The project, estimated to cost about $19 million, provides for a 10-foot-diameter tunnel running 6 1/3 miles from Chestnut Hill at the Brighton-Brookline line to Dorchester Lower Mills — big enough for a good-sized truck. It will be located 220 to 350 feet below ground level.

M.D.C. Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr., said the new feeder, known as the Dorchester Tunnel, will more than double distribution capacity of 105 million gallons daily in the Southern Water District.

Improved pressure will alleviate critical situations during dry seasons.

Its effects will be felt by Quincy and the Boston districts in addition to other South Shore areas.

Quincy Shipbuilder Earns $5600

Shipbuilder George R. Daniels of Quincy has proved that one cost-saving suggestion deserves another and the General Dynamics marine engineer is $5600 richer as a result.

Daniels followed a $5,000 award-winning suggestion with a second idea that netted him a $600 U.S. Savings Bond.

His one-two bell-ringer earned him the lion's share of the $7,200 awarded to eight Quincy division shipbuilders in the past month.

Daniels proposed a reduction in the specified heating surface for cargo and ship's fuel oil storage and service tanks. His suggestion resulted in the external surface area being halved, from 75 sq. ft. to .375 sq. ft.

His $600 award came for a suggestion that enabled deletion of a number of valves in the circulating water systems for ship's service turbogenerators on U.S. Navy dock landing ships (LSD's).

Other Quincy award winners at the local shipyard were Leonard F. Johnson, 48 Buckley St., and Antonio Carlucci, 56 Newcomb St.

Daniels lives at 65 Aphorpe St., Wollaston.

ARTIST'S rendering of new Registry of Motor Vehicles building to be built on site of the City Home behind the Quincy Police Station. The $150,000 construction cost will be financed by a bond-issue which will be paid for by rent from the Registry. Joseph A. Donahue of Quincy is the architect.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Quincy Sun:

To the Concerned Readers of the Quincy Sun, I take pride in writing this to them:

Be it known that my employer at Howard Johnson's Meat Commissary has contributed money, products and an abundance of help in the project "Packages to our Boys in Viet Nam."

In this day and age where the "generation gap" is great and the only "IN" thing seems to be protesting and demonstrating against everything. We took it upon ourselves to let our fighting men of the Army, Navy, Marines etc., know we CARE!

Thus far we have sent out 28 packages and by Dec. 10 a grand total of 48 packages sent.

We have received numerous letters saying they received our packages and couldn't be more thankful for them.

The women that are employed by Howard Johnson's Meat Commissary have also helped a great deal. Each day they brought to me canned goods, gum, candy, Kool-Aide, etc.

I would like to take the time now to thank the many wonderful people of Howard Johnson's.

Thanks goes to Mr. Scott of Florida, Mr. Burkard and Mr. Peers of Queens, New Jersey, Mr. Hubbert, Mr. Fulciniti, and Mr. Seastrom all of Quincy's office on Penns St., for the time and help in attaining one goal.

Most of all I would like to give my sincere thanks to my daughter, Carol, for without her help and determination none of this would have been accomplished.

All my love to the ones I have mentioned and thanks a million for making a GI's dream come true even if it was only for a short time.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Neomi Cavicchi

"Pony" To Return To Quincy High

value, the Pony has been the symbol of Quincy High since 1922, when the first class entered the new building on Coddington.

In desperation, an identical Pony was sought. In May of 1968 a Quincy High student located one of the few remaining Ponies, in the Donald Deane Museum at Brewster.

With funds raised by school clubs the new Pony was purchased, and is presently in the home of Mr. Karl M. Houvinen. Mr. Houvinen, who resides in Canton, is a Quincy High graduate, class of '43, and Fund Chairman of the Pony Fund Committee.

The Pony Fund Committee includes: Mayor James R. McIntyre, honorary chairman; Karl M. Houvinen, fund chairman; Principal Lloyd Crighton as treasurer; Richard Marquis '46 a business chairman, and Richard Heap '57, organization chairman. The committee will be raising funds for future remodeling for the Pony.

The Pony Fund Committee hopes the $250 balance in the 'Pony Fund' can be raised to between $8,000 and $10,000 for the bronzing of the new Pony. If the statue is bronzed it will prevent any further damage to the Quincy High School symbol, and allow restoration in center of the main lobby.

If the goal is not reached the Pony will be placed in a bow window, and illuminated by indirect lighting.

The Pony Fund Committee is contemplating an alumni banquet to raise funds. An expected $500 donation by the Student Council will also help in the planned remodeling.

If alumni wish to donate to the Quincy High School Pony Fund, contributions may be sent to the Pony Fund Committee care of Quincy High School.

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

This week's column is written by Dr. Moses J. Entin, a guest columnist for Dr. Djert.

As citizens we sometimes are not aware of public services till the bill comes in, and we then wonder whether they are frills which can be discarded, or whether they need cost so much. I am happy to state that the health services of the Quincy School Department represent one of the best bargains available in our city.

GOOD LEARNING REQUIRES GOOD HEALTH. Since the Commonwealth requires that each city and town provide public education for all eligible children, it is easily seen that anything which might prevent the full development of the school children toward responsible citizenship, independent careers and the establishment of their own families (purposes stated as the reasons for compulsory education) should be prevented, or at least mitigated, by the public authorities.

A healthy mind and a healthy body go together. Thus, there are programs of physical education and athletics in all grades, for recreation and for maintenance of good health.

This program is headed by Mr. Munroe MacLean, himself a well-known former Quincy School athlete. The program also includes health education and hygiene, conducted by the teachers and the school nurses, in order to help assure the children the proper understanding and proper maintenance of health, rights basic to a healthy population. We are woefully lacking space in too many of our schools to properly carry on the recommended Physical Health programs.

In other areas, the maintenance of good health is conducted by a staff of part-time school physicians, in attendance daily at their assigned schools, to examine newly entered children, and to repeat these examinations at the third, sixth, ninth and twelfth grades to maintain a progress record of the students health career in our school system. These physicians, all practicing and residing in Quincy, also counsel with nurses as to mental and physical problems of students, and, when requested, of the staff.

They speak to parents about their children, make referrals to the child's own physician, and with his understanding, to other appropriate agencies. They speak to such classes and to parents groups, on request, on topics of health interest such as sex education, hazards of drugs and tobacco. For the high school football team a physician is in attendance at each game... There are two dentists who do dental surveys in grades kindergarten to three and who do dental repairs in these grades. They also may arrange, through the nurses, appointments for other children, through grade six, at the Forsyth Dental Infirmary in Boston. More dental work could be done in the school system if more personnel and facilities were available. Still, much cooperation and advice has been given by our local Dental Association, especially in protection of the athletes, as in the Mouth Guard program. Generously donated free... For emotionally disturbed children there are special classes, required by law... for behaviorally disturbed children, especially those whose problems are just appearing, there is a Guidance Service which quickly provides psychological testing, counseling, and, where necessary, referral of the child to the specialized services of the South Shore Mental Health Center. Part time psychologists assist greatly. We regret the loss soon of Mr. Saul Cooper who will be leaving us for Michigan State University. The staff of this Service assiduously follows each child, and counsels also with the family, teachers and other interested persons.

In my own observation, the key person of the health team is the school nurse. There is a staff of 13 nurses, headed by Miss Alice Gray, R.N., who are assigned to various schools.

They, more than all others on the health team, know each child better. They see him from the time he enters her school and follow his progress in all areas. She alerts the doctor, the physical educator, the dentist, the guidance counselor, the teacher, as to any early warning signs, and, in a sense, the "executive assistant" for all.

They also counsel parents, and sometimes make home visits to obtain health histories of the pupils under her care, for herself and for the guidance of others who may be responsible.

They test eyes and ears, maintain immunization records, and, in emergencies render first aid... One final health resource should be mentioned... a program for physically handicapped children, in which the pupils attend ungraded classes and progress at their own pace, in a school in which they do not have to climb stairs nor change class rooms. Referral is by the family physician to the school department.

Classes are at the T.B. Pollard school on Southern Artery... in recent years, a new class for mentally retarded children has been added at the Furnace Brook school, a program which already has attracted much interest and favorable comment throughout the state... students in all these special classes are trained with the aim of eventually integrating them into the regular curriculum.

In my conversation with other school physicians from other cities, I discover that our range and quality of programs is as good as any and superior to most. For this reason I can state that with a small health-services staff, we provide a full range of services for the benefit of 15,000 pupils in 23 schools.

In turn we receive the full cooperation of the health professions and agencies in Quincy and in our area.

Cite MDC Detective

Three Metropolitan Commission detectives, including one from Quincy, have been officially commended for an investigation leading to the recovery of a priceless locomotive model stolen last June from the Museum of Science.

Det. Leo Q. Papile of 85 William T. Morrissey Blvd. was cited by MDC Commr. Howard Whitmore Jr., "for outstanding performance of duty in a diligent and resourceful investigation."

Receiving awards with Det. Papile were Thomas I. Spartichino of Melrose and Joseph E. McCain of Somerville. The three police officers were instrumental in recovering the valuable gold and silver model locomotive after its theft from the Boston Science Museum June 21.

Det. Papile, a World War II marine veteran, was cited for the fourth time by the MDC. Two of his previous awards came as a detective and one as a patrolman.

A lifelong Quincy resident he has served on the detective force for the past five years. He has been an MDC police officer since 1951. A graduate of Quincy High School in 1942, he and his wife, Susan, are the parents of two sons, Leo, 14, and John, 10.

Leo is a North Quincy High sophomore and John is in the fifth grade at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy.

The awards followed a diligent investigation by the detective trio and ultimate recovery of the model locomotive.

The locomotive was seized at a North Station locker by Papile and McCain after it had been traced around the county and throughout Canada. Thieves had sought its sale to fences for prices as high as $20,000.

The thieves, who made off with the locomotive in a daring daytime theft, also tried to "ransom" the model through an insurance company and museum officials.

The detectives worked on the case during many off-duty hours in keeping two suspects under surveillance, while trying to avoid the possibility of the locomotive's destruction.

Finally, the suspects decided to abandon efforts to collect on the model and an anonymous telephone call to McCain led to the recovery.

The Roger Williams model locomotive, mostly pure gold and silver, is 18 to 20 inches long. It was a retirement gift to a superintendent of a New England locomotive works from his friends who contributed $3000 for its construction in the Boston & Providence Railroad shops. The model eventually came into the hands of the Faxon family of Quincy and it was presented to the museum in 1954 by Mrs. Henry Faxon.

The irreplaceable museum piece built in 1872 was returned September 12 in what Museum Director Bradford Washburn described as "a thrilling piece of detective work just as delicate as a kidnapping case."

Recognition for the recovery was recommended by Police Supt. William J. McCarthy and Lieut. Neil Cadigan, head of the M.D.C. Police detective unit.

Wollaston Glee Club Opens Season Dec. 2

The 68th concert season of the all-male Wollaston Glee Club will get underway Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. at Atlantic Junior High School, North Quincy.

Under the direction of Richard Reed, the club will sing a varied program including American standards, and music from Sweden, England, Wales, Austria, and Germany.

The guests artists will be The Middlesex Brass Quintet, known throughout Massachusetts, for their fine performances of both Baroque and brass chamber music. They will also perform Purcell's "The Trumpets" among other selections, with the glee club.

The Wollaston Glee Club was awarded first prize in the 1968 competition of The New England Federation of Mens' Glee Clubs held at Beverly in August.

The club meets every Monday evening for rehearsal at the basement of the Wollaston Methodist Church, Beal Street and is open to all men who enjoy singing. All faiths, and walks of life are represented in its membership.

Between the Covers

By Michael Vocino

This is National Children's Book Week and the Thomas Crane Public Library's Children's Room has a large and varied collection of books for the young reader. These award winning selections have been added to the library's impressive collection of juvenile books: FROM THE MIXED UP FILES OF MRS. BASILE E. FRANKWEILER, by E.L. Konigsberg, (Atheneum)

Mrs. Konigsberg directs herself to the explanation of the problems and pleasures of the suburban child. In this book, Claudia, talks to her brother Jamie into running away to the excitement of the city, and take up residence in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Once there, however, the two become disillusioned, and decide to go home. The problem they encounter with the decision to leave makes the book worthy of the honor it has received: Newbery award for the best in literature for boys and girls.

DRUMMLER HOFF - adapted by Barbara Emberley. Prentice-Hall.

This traditional folk tale is given a new life and excitement by Mrs. Emberley and her husband, Ed, who illustrates vividly and well the action portrayed in the story. Building a cannon is the task set before the colorful soldiers-Sgt. Chowder, General Border, and Cpl. Farrell.

It may be children's Book Week, but we're still adding to our collection of adult books too. Variety in reading tastes expresses itself in this week's offerings:

TO HILL WITH THE KIDS- Verna King Grulike, Bruce, $4.95

Mrs. Grulike virtually puts her 30 years of teaching experience into this one volume. One expects a humorous expose of the school environment, and to a large degree the book is that. It is more than humorous, though, for how else is one to react to the statement of a 30-year teaching veteran that today's educators are saying, "to hell with the kids?"

THE UNGENTLEMANLY ART, by Stephen Hess and Milton Kaplan. Macmillan, $14.95.

The elections are over, and maybe we all need a rest from the heavy burden of politics. This history of American political cartoons should do the trick. We are still in the realm of politico, yet with a truly funny collection that even the non-politician can appreciate.

PSYCHIC PEOPLE, by Eleanor T. Smith. Morrow, $5.95.

As the title suggests, the book deals with extrasensory experience. Former librarian Smith relates stories of well known individuals and their episodes from miraculous healings to hard-to-refute evidence of reincarnation.

THE BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES, 1968, edited by Martha Foley and David Barnett. Houghton-Mifflin, $6.50.

This annual publication, through the best short stories of 1968, speaks to the problems parent and child encounter with communication. From James

Cerebral Palsy

Christmas Party

The 13th annual Cerebral Palsy Christmas Party, sponsored by the Quincy Lodge of Elks, will be held at the Elks Home, 1220 Hancock St. Dec. 8, at 1:30 P.M. More than 500 cerebral palsied children, together with parents, brothers and sisters, will attend.

Since the inception of the Christmas Party, George C. Fay has served as Chairman of the Elks Committee. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Cerebral Palsy organization.

Entertainment, group singing and refreshments will be provided with the presentation of gifts by Santa Claus for each CP child and adult and their younger brothers and sisters.

Dr. Charles D. Merrill, CP President, and Executive Director Arthur Ciampa, will attend the party, along with other members of the Board of Directors.

Every cerebral palsied child or adult living in the South Shore Area is invited to attend the Christmas Party.

WHO WAS THIRD?

Pat Paulsen third! After the tabulation of 1,552 votes cast on Nov. 1 by students at Quincy High School, surprisingly enough Patrick Paulsen came in third. Also on the list of surprise votes were Denny McLain (2 votes), Bill Russell and Dick Gregory with one each.

But the country does not always go as Q.H.S., Humphrey won here with Nixon second.

BY DEBBIE GRAHAM

Confusion reigned supreme as four Quincy High teachers tried picking their way through a typyng lesson.

Unlike ordinary typewriters these have unmarked keys. In their place are brightly colored blanks. These electric machines, made by the Sylvania Company, hope to revolutionize typewriting teaching. When a mistake is made the correct letter and its position light up on a screen on top the new learning device, thus making learning more efficient, and defining weaknesses more accurately.

ICE SCULPTURES

Two ice sculptures appeared on display during a recent Manpower Development Training Act banquet.

The sculptures, both swans, were created out of two separate three foot blocks of ice by Kevin F. Anglin of West Roxbury.

The swans, crystal-like in appearance, added a decorative touch to the Four Seasons Restaurant, in the Vocational Technical School, where the banquet was held.

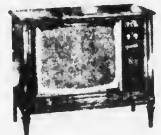

While substituting in the Food Preparation section of the Voc-Tech Anglin performed one of the ice sculptures in front of his class. The demonstration gave the students an educational experience in the skill of ice cutting, so essential to a Food Preparation student.

Within an estimated two hours Anglin, to the amazement of his class had carved a beautiful replica of a swan. His sculpturing equipment included an ordinary saw, pruning shears, and a fork-like instrument.

Rival Coaches Both Knew Quarterback Fame

CARL LEONE

The annual Thanksgiving Day classic between Quincy and North Quincy matches two former Quincy quarterback standouts who went on to star in college before starting their coaching careers.

Carl Leone, who took over as North's head coach in 1961 after five years as assistant to Jack Donahue, was Quincy's quarterback in 1944, '45 and '46.

"We lost to Quincy my first two years but beat them in my senior year, so that had to be the high point of my high school career," Leone said. "We had some great games with them and it has been a big thrill to have been able to be part of the annual game as a coach for the past eight years."

Carl went on to become one of Brown University's top quarterbacks. Upon graduation he entered the service and played two years of service football. He had a tryout with the Pittsburgh Steelers and played in several exhibition games before being cut.

He went to Quincy Point Junior High as a teacher in 1954, then was named Donahue's assistant in 1955. In 1961 he took over as the Raiders' head coach upon Donahue's retirement.

"I was filling some pretty big shoes, as Jack had been North Quincy's only coach and had done a terrific job through the years," Leone said.

Carl has had only two losing seasons, 3-6 in his first year and 3-5 in 1964. His 1962 team was 6-3, he was 7-1 in 1963, 6-3 in 1965, 9-0 in 1966, capturing the school's only Greater Boston League championship, and 6-3 last year. The current club is 6-2, so is assured another winning season.

Leone's record against Quincy is 4-3 winning in 1962, '63, '66 and '67, and losing in 1961, '64, '65.

In his personal rivalry with Hank Conroy, Carl has broken even, losing his first two to Hank and winning the last two.

Conroy excelled as Quincy's quarterback in 1940 and '41 but shifted to halfback in 1942.

"The Quincy and Weymouth games, of course, were always our big games," Conroy said. "I think my biggest thrill came in 1942 when we ended Harry Arlanson's long winning streak at Weymouth that was something like 30 straight games."

Hank was in the service from 1943 through 1946, attended Worcester Academy in 1947, then went to the U. of Rhode Island. He played freshman ball and was a varsity standout for two years before transferring to Boston U. in his senior year.

He went to Central Junior High as coach of football, baseball and basketball, then moved to Broad Meadows when that school opened. He took over as an assistant football coach at Quincy under Bill Sullivan in 1959, continued as assistant to Jack Garrity and took over the head coaching chores in 1964.

Hank got off to a great start at Quincy with a 7-1-1 record in 1964 including wins over North and Weymouth (the last time Quincy topped Weymouth, incidentally), and a 6-3 mark in 1965 which included another win over North. His 1966 team was only 1-8 and last year was 3-6, losing to North on both occasions.

All four meetings between Leone and Conroy have been hard-fought with Quincy winning, 12-8 and 20-16, and North taking the last two, 8-0 and 14-6. This year's meeting should be one of the best in the two coaches' five-year rivalry.

Quincy Tough Bird For Title-Hungry North

For North....

For Quincy....

Two weeks ago North Quincy's football team had hopes of a win at Somerville which would have clinched the Greater Boston League championship and make the Thanksgiving game with Quincy strictly a matter of adding a victory in the long series

However, things changed in a hurry. When the Raiders were upset, 12-6, it made the a.m. holiday game at Quincy Veterans Stadium a "must" for Carl Leone and his team.

With Somerville having completed its league season, North must top Quincy to pick up its second league title in three years. A tie will make the Raiders co-champs with Somerville and a Quincy win will give Somerville its first league crown.

"The boys know what they have to do, so I'm not worrying in the least about having them up for the game," Leone said. "You never have to get a North or Quincy game up for the big one, but our boys now have real incentive."

Quincy's players are confident they can upset the Raiders for the first time in three years and knock their cross-town rivals out of the championship.

Quincy's game with Medford two weeks ago was still in progress when the result of the North-Somerville game was announced. That set up a mighty roar from the Quincy fans and when the players left the locker room for their bus after the game, they were really pepped up and one player spoke for them all when he yelled, "North won't win the championship now."

The game matches two excellent defensive teams and two good offenses, although North's attack has been more explosive than Quincy's.

"I'll tell you one thing, if they want to score they'll really have to work for it," Leone said. "This is as good a defensive team as I've had." However, Quincy played its best defensive game against Medford and another such showing could make it extremely rough for the Raiders.

North, with wins the past two years, narrowed Quincy's edge in the series which began back in 1933, North's first year of varsity football. Quincy has won 18 in the series, North 14 and there have been three ties. On numerous occasions the game has been won by the team which was a decided underdog. As far as these teams are concerned, past games mean nothing and this is the season for them.

North Quincy this year has scored 190 points to 59 for its opponents. Quincy has scored 174 and has given up 111.

On offense Leone will start Steve Poore and Lou Iribian at end, Steve LeShane and Al Bartelton tackles, Kevin Colleran and Tom Perrin guards, 260-pound Steve Dieso center, Bobby Sleeth quarterback, Larry Bray and Dan Polvere halfbacks and Don Meyer fullback.

On defense it will be John Hemphill and Jerry Mulkeny ends, Dieso and LeShane tackles, Craig Bogolan middle guard, Meyer, Bray, Jay Connerty and Iribiano inside and Bob Swirbalus and Joe Lane safety men.

Quincy Coach Hank Conroy, seeking his first winning season in three years, will pin his hopes on a starting offense of Dick Kenny and Dick Menchi ends, Steve Shapiro and Steve Tappen tackles, Rod Burrows and Ed Scigliano guards, Bill Kelley center, Steve McDevitt quarterback, Steve Carrera and Tom Daley or Ken Prouty halfbacks and John Molla or Paul Picarski fullback.

On defense he will use Tappen and Menchi at end, Shapiro and Ed Reynolds tackle, Kelley and Scigliano inside men, Rick Pettit and Picarski line backers and Chuck Walters, John Bonfiglioli and Joe Finneran safeties.

The individual duel between Sleeth and McDevitt should be worth watching in itself. Both are outstanding passers, excellent ball handlers and fine runners, while McDevitt is also an excellent place kicker, who could be used to try a field goal if the occasion should arise in a close game.

One of the biggest crowds in years is expected to jam the stadium for this game which has so much at stake for North Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Vickers

Thanksgiving is a traditional American holiday. The Pilgrims, back in 1621, set the day aside for feasting and to give thanks for their excellent harvest which followed a severe winter. In recent years, even with attempted crop curtailment, our harvests recorded new, astounding yields; the largest in the history of mankind.

As we give thanks this year and celebrate our stomach satisfying day, we should think of those who hunger elsewhere. Even the clouds must seem sad when they release rain on a people inhabited soil that does not and can not yield even a semblance of meagre food in famine stricken lands.

The Pilgrims not only gave thanks for their harvest, they shared their feast with Indians in the area. In our era, a beneficent and kind Creator has made it possible for us to celebrate Thanksgiving every day of the year. Since this is so, shouldn't we give thanks and share our blessings every day of the year?

Shipyard's Future At Stake

New Fore River Bridge Plan For Super-Ships

FORE RIVER BRIDGE, a Quincy Point landmark, would get a new look under latest widening plan to allow General Dynamics' Quincy Division to build super-sized vessels. Present span is too narrow for large ships to pass through to sea.

A new move is underway to widen the span of Fore River Bridge to at least 300 feet to allow General Dynamics' Quincy Division to bid on contracts for super-sized ships.

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre has filed a bill which would direct the state Department of Public Works to modify the present structure to "provide a horizontal opening of not less than 300 feet."

The present bridge, dating back to the early 1930's, has a horizontal clearance of only 175 feet between abutments on the waterline.

The legislation, if passed, would pave the way for a long-sought modern bridge to cope with the tremendous size of today's huge Naval and merchant vessels.

Asked for comment on the proposal, a General Dynamics' spokesman told The Quincy Sun:

"The future of the yard could very well depend on passage of this bill. If we don't get a wider bridge opening, we could be squeezed out of business because of a weakened competitive position. Today's ships have outgrown the present bridge."

The spokesman likened the yard's approaching predicament to the man who builds a boat in his basement and then can't get it out the basement door.

He noted that the Quincy-built 100,000-ton Manhattan, largest merchantman constructed in a U.S. shipyard, is a comparative slump to some vessels of today.

Japan, he pointed out, is building ships as big as 250,000 and 300,000 tons.

The Manhattan, he recalled, had a tight squeeze getting

Wollaston Native To Design Trousseau For Julie Nixon

Another name has been added to the Wollaston "Hall of Fame."

Achieving national prominence along with such famous local personalities as actress-playwright Ruth Gordon, Actor Billy DeWolfe and authoress Elizabeth Ogilvie is a Presidential designer.

The former Priscilla Comins of Wollaston who designed Lucie Johnson's wedding gown has another equally important assignment.

She will fashion the wedding ensemble to be worn by Julie Nixon when she becomes the bride of David Eisenhower on Dec. 22.

Designing trousseaus for the famous is nothing new to the former Wollaston resident, now Mrs. James Kidder of Winchester, Owner of a well known Newbury St., Boston, fashion show (Priscilla of Boston), Mrs. Kidder often serves the affluent and discriminating.

Her designs were very much in evidence at another famous wedding—the storybook ceremony of Prince Ranier and former actress Grace Kelley in Monaco.

Now the daughter of incoming President Richard M. Nixon will march to the altar in a bridal gown by "Priscilla of Boston," via Wollaston.

New Houghs Neck Center Spans Generation Gap

In two short weeks of operation, the Sgt. Lawrence A. Grenham Youth Center in Houghs Neck has built a major bridge across the generation gap.

An improved relationship between youths and adults may be one of the major dividends emerging from the new Center.

The facility provides a much-needed recreational center for Houghs Neck youths who are handling the "responsibility very well."

The Center's ad hoc director, Fr. Eugene F. Boyle, Blessed Sacrament Church, recognizes that the Center is not the final answer. But it is, he notes, an important step.

The center, named after a 20-year-old Vietnam war hero, attracted more than 400 persons to the recent Open House at 1213 Sea St.

Still in its infancy, the Center has enrolled nearly 50 "paid" members.

"There are many more using the Center," says Fr. Boyle. The facility offers recreational programs for boys and girls 13 to 18, Wednesday and Saturday nights. The boys take over on the other evenings and enjoy television, pool room, the juke box and pinball machines.

Adults are helping, too, but more are needed, points out Fr. Boyle.

Parents are serving as chaperones on the mixed evenings—but more female supervision is sought for the Center's growing activities, and programs.

The Center is open until 10 p.m. on school nights and extends closing hours to 11 or 11:30 p.m. on weekends.

The parents must keep the curfew, advises Fr. Boyle.

The project has welded a new seam in community relations which involves city officials, churches of all faiths, the local Legion Post and the Houghs Neck Community Council.

The three-room Center is a former bakery and renovations to it are still in progress. The new tenants must meet a monthly rental and occupy the building under a two-year lease.

Predictably, finances are a problem.

Pool table revenues and a little more community help is the rent-paying formula optimistically advanced by Fr. Boyle. He feels that the Center can be a self-sustaining

40-Pound Cod Wins Third Trophy For Quincy Girl

This one didn't get away and Margaret Sutherland will soon have a trophy to prove it.

In fact it will be her third trophy in as many years. Her third Governor's Trophy, awarded by the state Department of Commerce.

Margaret, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Sutherland of 63 Gay St., won it for landing the biggest cod by a woman in Massachusetts waters this season.

She brought in a 40-pounder aboard her father's charter boat, The Irene, off Boston Light, using a jig.

Her previous prize-winning catches were 30 pounders.

Margaret will receive her trophy, a Revere Bowl, from Gov. Volpe during the Sportmen's Show in January.

ROYAL COUPLE — The South Shore Christmas Festival Prince and Princess, Mario Fusco, 7, of Weymouth and Mary Welch, 6, of Wollaston get ready to reign over the 17th annual Santa Claus Parade. With them is Festival Committee Chairman George C. Fay. See other photos on Pages 6 and 7.

Four Santa's Mail Boxes Set In City

Letters and notes to Santa may be delivered through four "Santa's Mailboxes" in Quincy. St. Nick may be reached by depositing Christmas lists at two boxes in Quincy Square, one in Wollaston or one in North Quincy.

The North Pole mailboxes are located in the Square outside the Child World and Turnstile stores. The Wollaston mailbox is located between Barry's Delicatessen and Woolworth's. In North Quincy the mailbox has been installed outside the Fashion Cleaners.

As a special reward for youngsters, Santa offers special prizes for "lucky letters." Writers of the winning letters will be notified after the holiday.

The mailboxes are a special feature of the South Shore Christmas Festival. George C. Fay is committee chairman.

Boating Course To Open Tuesday

The first meeting of the Basic Qualification Course of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary at the Naval Reserve Training Center, Sea St., Quincy will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

This course is sponsored by Auxiliary Flotilla 505 of Wollaston and leads to a membership in the Auxiliary with the additional requirement of ownership of at least 25% of a motorboat.

The course is open to any man or woman interested in the operation and navigation of small boats. The course runs approximately 15 weeks meeting each Tuesday night with makeup sessions at the end of the course to cover absent meetings.

Voc-Tech Seeks 'Toys For Tots'

"Toys for Tots" will be collected at the Vocational Technical High School, in cooperation with the 1st Battalion, 25th Marines, U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, Dec. 2 through Dec. 13. Metal bins, used for the collection of the toys, will be placed in the main lobby and ground floor shops of the school.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

This week's column is written by Sumner D. Hirschberg, D.D.S., Associate in Dental Research, Tufts University, School of Dental Medicine.

A twelve year old male was brought to the dental office after a football accident that had happened approximately one hour earlier. The patient had fallen, lacerating his lip, displacing a front tooth toward the palate, roof of the mouth, and completely evulsing (tearing out) a second tooth. The second tooth landed in the street and was retrieved by the patient's friend.

Bleeding from the laceration was controlled and a thorough examination was made by the dentist. The missing tooth was found in his friend's pocket.

The evulsed tooth was cleaned and treated; under local anesthesia this tooth was re-implanted, and the dislocated tooth was reduced to proper position. Indidental wiring was used to reduce and stabilize the injured teeth.

On unfortunate rare occasions, due to some type of trauma, a tooth may be injured, dislocated or even evulsed from its normal bony socket. The first thought that enters a dentist's mind is that most of most of these accidents could have been prevented with some precautionary measure: the use of a seat belt, a fitted mouth guard or proper athletic equipment. However, accidents do happen, and if an injury occurs to the teeth, two basic principles must be observed:

1. If any teeth have been evulsed, wrap them in a sterile or clean damp gauze or cloth.
2. Call your dentist as soon as possible.

It is advisable to contact a physician if other injuries are apparent or suspected.

Immediate treatment is essential for success; in fact, success will be in inverse proportion to the amount of time that will elapse from the time of accident to the operation.

After treating the tooth, the dentist will reposition or reinsert the evulsed teeth into their proper positions. Local or general anesthesia is required and depends upon the patient and the operator.

In order to stabilize the area, many different methods have been developed. Wires, (orthodontic) bands, plastic splints, and combinations of methods are adapted and kept in place for several weeks. Medications are often administered to control discomfort and the possibility of infection.

Many dislocated or evulsed teeth remain a part of the dentition for many years. Further treatment may be necessary, but the advantage of having a natural tooth, functioning for any amount of time is worth the effort.

Dentistry has made great advances in implantation therapy. Many techniques of transplanting teeth from one person to another or from one site to a new position in the same dentition, or the use of artificial teeth made of plastic and metallic materials, have been researched and give promise of success for selected cases and with limitations.

Our greatest success has been with autogenous (from the same person) implants such as described above. Avoiding a foreign body reaction is the problem that plagues medicine. The added problems in dentistry are that a seal must be developed around the implant portion that exists through the mucous membrane and that adherence to the bone and tissue is a requirement.

It is also difficult to immobilize and completely enclose the area. However, progress is being made, successes have been reported with many ingenious techniques. Research will eventually make transplants a routine procedure.

It's A Fact

More People Buy From South Shore Television

More people buy from South Shore Television, 1570 Hancock St., Quincy Center. That's a fact. And, there are a number of good reasons why they do.

For example, South Shore Television carries a complete line of name products—the biggest and best selection in the South Shore area. If you're looking for it, South Shore Television has it. Time proven, outstanding products such as:

RCA, Admiral, Westinghouse, Whirlpool, Motorola, Sylvania, Maytag, Hoover, Eureka, West Bend, Kitchen Aid, Roper, Masterwork.

There's another good reason why people like to buy at South Shore Television. Pete and Remo DeNicola have been in the television and appliance business for a quarter-century. That's a long time. They know their business and—they know you.

That's why, down through the years, they have carried the best and most in-demand products. They know what you want.

And, for a quarter-century, Pete and Remo have promised—and delivered—that all important special extra: personalized service.

There are also 15 master licensed technicians to give you prompt and expert service on your television sets, radios and home appliances. Pete and Remo stand behind everything they sell. They are dependable.

There are other reasons why more people buy at South Shore Television. Like free home trials with no obligation and immediate delivery. All black and white and color TV receivers are set up and tested by one of the 15 expert state master licensed technicians. They leave no problems with you.

And, don't forget, you can buy with no money down and take three years to pay. There's an easy layaway plan, too.

For your added convenience, South Shore Television is open every night till 10 p.m.

South Shore Television shops at all department stores and so-called discount houses to be sure its prices are either the same or lower. Usually, they are lower. Compare and you will see for yourself.

That's why Pete and Remo can say—and do say: "We don't meet competition. We make it."

Why not drop by and see them today or tonight at 1570 Hancock St., Quincy center. Or call them at 479-1350.

(See South Shore Television's continuous Quincy Sun advertising on Pages 6 and 7.)

Pathways

By
Rev. Ernest H. Hayhow
President South Shore
Council of Churches

(Pathways is a regular weekly feature of the Quincy Sun written by Quincy clergymen.)

"TOMORROW THE MOON BUT LET'S GET DOWN TO EARTH"

Before the year is out we expect a few brave and splendidly disciplined men of our nation to orbit the moon in a space capsule. Think of it, spending Christmas circling the moon! What a way to climax the Advent Season. They will truly be out of this world. Well, not exactly. Out of this world that you and I know, yes, but not really out of the world. The moon is part of the universe, as you know and, as, presumably, you also know, all the planets, stars and everything else there is in the universe were created by God.

We know that whenever we pause to consider it but we are much, much more aware of a relatively small part of the universe: this planet, earth. It is a relatively small part all right when we try to count the stars and all that comprises the universe, yet for us it is the most important part of God's creation.

Why should this be? Simply because it is where we are. This planet, earth, is where we live, where we work, where we think, where we come to know one another. This is where we learn what we know of the rest of the universe. It is here on earth that we work out the means of travel into outer space and return. Don't forget those last two words. None of the employees of NASA are interested only in getting men into space. They are vitally interested in a safe return to earth for any one venturing out into space.

While all "space shots" and astronaut flights involve great hazard and include the risk of loss of life, no flight is planned or started until those responsible for it feel fairly certain that the people leaving the earth can be expected to return safely.

Excitement and interest over each flight by astronauts is readily understood. Some of it is generated because of an inner desire to get away from it all. This experience comes to most persons at one time or another, and often the experience is repeated two or three times. So we get caught up in the fantasy of a trip to the moon. Oh, we know that such trips are, for the moment, reserved for a very special few and that even for those few, the trips are in the future. No one has landed on the moon yet and the opportunity to go there is still a long way in the future for the masses of people on earth; indeed, for many of us such a trip will not be possible within our remaining time on earth. So tomorrow the moon, perhaps, but right now let's get down to earth.

Why? Simply because this is where God has placed us. This planet, earth is where we live, where we are to do God's work, where we are to come to know Him through His Son. That's the meaning of the Advent Season (which begins December 1st this year). Not men going to outer space in search of God. God coming down to earth that men might better know Him. Here on earth we are, and here on earth is God with us.

So let's be more concerned with what on earth we are doing. Space, for now, is for the space scientists and the astronauts. It is not for us yet. Earth is for us and we have something very important to do here: God's will. Wonder, imagine, day-dream now and then about the moon if you will but remember to get down to earth and work as diligently as you might among all men, as the space officials work in preparing and carrying out their assignment of getting men to the moon and back.

The lyrics of a currently popular song cry out: "Make the world go away. Get it off my shoulder!" Sorry, but we can't make the world go away. That is left to God and He has not yet made known when he will do that. If you are one of those who feel the weight of the world on your shoulders shooting off into outer space is not the solution to your problem.

Personally I lean to the theory that, if we could transfer you from earth to the moon, you would soon find the weight of the moon on your shoulders. No, we are down to earth and we can't get away just yet and we can't throw off the responsibilities that life on earth puts upon each human being.

Thus, again I say, let's be realistic and accept our life on earth and our share of its responsibilities.

It is accurately recorded of He Who arrived on earth at the climax of the Advent the He went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed... for God was with Him. What good on earth are you doing? Perhaps you are moved to make the rejoinder: What good on earth can I do for Christ's sake? If you put it that way and mean it literally—and such a question should never be spoken unless it is intended literally—the answer to your question comes from Christ Himself. Your answer is given not only in words but in action that agrees with the words. We have had on earth the perfect example of the good that you and I are expected by God to be going about doing.

In words the reply runs like this: I was hungry and you gave me food. I was thirsty and you gave me drink. I was a stranger and you welcomed me. I was naked and you clothed me. I was sick and you visited me. I was in prison and you came to me.

In action the reply is: Provide food and drink to the hungry and thirsty, welcome strangers, clothe those without clothing, attend the sick, visit the imprisoned. Simple, isn't it? Then why on earth aren't we all doing them more effectively?

Perhaps because the planner and the excitement of complex things divert our attention and our energies from the simple and all-so-important matters of caring for people.

Now you may wonder: How on earth does he know? Simple: I'm guilty, too! We are all inclined to think and act this way, right? Right! Then let's be candid and realistic and acknowledge that this is what on earth we should be doing, then let's start doing it. Yes, tomorrow the moon, in all probability, meanwhile, let's get down to earth.

To honestly give proper credit for these thoughts and the inspiration that produced this column I'll name my source: It's really out of this world, for Thus says God, the Lord, Who created the heavens and stretched them out, Who spread forth the earth and what comes from it, Who gives breath to the people upon it and spirit to those Who walk in it. -ISAIAH 42:5.)

New Houghs Neck Center

operation—and self-governing by its membership.

Already the youngsters have put their muscles where their hopes are. They renovated the building and are still hugging ashes from old bakery ovens out of the building. Renovations will continue.

"We need to improve the plumbing facilities," notes Fr. Boyle.

The young curate has a simple and worthy objective:

"We want to make our young people well adjusted human beings."

Already civic groups are rallying to the need in an area where recreational facilities are scarce. Some financial assistance has already been voted by the Community Council.

The future is not limited to the former bakery building.

"We are looking forward to a better building some day," Fr. Boyle says. "There is nothing on the 'Neck' for these kids." He sees the Center as "a touchstone in the community" with far-reaching effects.

Members have already established a rules committee. Adults with an active interest in Houghs Neck youth-adult relationships are being sought for a Board of Directors. Future programs set up by members include basketball games and a Dec. 30 ski trip. The general supervisor of the Center is David MacMillan.

The famous designer is recalled by long-time Wollaston residents as the daughter of the late Ward 5 Councillor, Robert (Bob) Comins.

A friend of the family, Mrs. Ann Gaffey of Wollaston, recalls Priscilla as a talent of great promise in dancing. At that time, reminisces Mrs. Gaffey, the noted designer was a ballet and tap instructor for her daughter Arlene, who now lives in Alabama.

"She really enjoyed the classes tremendously," says Mrs. Gaffey. The former Comins home, "a big stucco house," on Hancock St. was later moved to its present Wollaston location to make way for St. Ann's Church about 20 years ago. The designer-to-be, when a teen-ager, taught dancing in the basement of her home. Mrs. Gaffey remembers Priscilla's mother as "a titian-haired beauty who played piano for the dancing classes."

She appends a pre-mini-skirt fashion note: "The pupils wore bloomers and middie."

Why not move up to a GOOD used car?

Sure, we're proud of the new 1969 Chevrolet models (like this handsome Impala), but maybe you're more interested in moving up to a late model used car. Right now we have many excellent used cars in stock--many of them one-owner trade-ins on new '69 Chevys. Shown here are just a few of the many fine values you'll find on our lot. Why not drop by today or tonight? Ask for Jack Faherty, Ed Fitzgerald, or any other member of our sales staff. They'll be glad to help you pick one that suits your taste and budget. And remember: We stand behind every car we sell...new and used.

Boston Gas Co. Receives "Cool Heat"

BARGING OF LIQUEFIED NATURAL GAS from the "Aristotle" to Boston Gas's LNG plant at Commercial Point began Sunday and will continue around the clock until completed. Indicating the site of the operation is Claude F. Machen (left), president of Boston Gas, to Rene' Boudet, president director general of Gazcoeur, Paris, France. Gazcoeur is shipping the liquefied natural gas to Boston Gas's new LNG plant from Arze, Algeria. This marks the first time LNG has ever been imported to the United States.

"We have the coolest heat in town," said Boston Gas President Claude F. Machen, in welcoming to Boston a sub-zero shipload of liquefied natural gas from Algeria.

The gas was cooled to 260 degrees below zero to condense it 600 times to a liquid form.

Some 2,000 tons of the liquefied natural gas arrived Sunday aboard the French tanker "Aristotle", named after the Greek philosopher. This is the first time that liquefied natural gas

(LNG) has been imported to the United States. The LNG will be transferred to Boston Gas's new LNG tank at Commercial Point in Dorchester. There, along with another shipload due in January, it will be stored as a backup reserve to other fuel resources of the company for the winter's peak load period.

Machen said: "The growing demand for natural gas as a heating fuel is the reason we're investing $4.5 million in the new LNG plant - to assure a continuous supply to our 320,000 customers in our 32-community service area, just as we have done for the past 146 years.

Machen noted that the cost to Boston Gas to import the LNG from Algeria is more than four times the cost of liquefying pipeline gas.

Should the LNG reserve have to be tapped this winter, the liquid will be revaporized at the tank site in Dorchester for normal distribution through some 5,000 miles of gas mains and service lines in the company's system.

Mr. Machen said importation of the LNG is a one-time operation, "necessitated by unforeseen delays in completing the natural gas pipeline. Present-day costs and dependability factors combine to rule it out as a permanent solution to our growing demands."

Since the water depth at the Commercial Point plant is insufficient for the ship, the "Aristotle" will be anchored in the harbor. There the liquid gas will be transferred to cryogenic (super-cold) tank trucks mounted on two barges. The barges will then be towed to the plant on Dorchester Bay and the liquid gas will be piped from the barges into Boston Gas's new LNG tank. Transfer of the liquid gas will be made "round-the-clock."

In the preparation for the ship's delivery which have been under way for more than a month, one of the important steps has been the precooling of the LNG tank. This pre-cooling, which has brought temperature in the tank down to 260 degrees F. below zero requiring pouring in about 100,000 gallons of liquefied natural gas brought here in cryogenic trailer trucks from various locations as far away as San Diego, California and Memphis, Tennessee.

The great cool-down began last Saturday (November 16) and was completed on Tuesday. The empty trailers were then loaded aboard the two barges at the East Boston docks of Boston Tow Boat Company (a sister company of Boston Gas) for further use in transferring the imported LNG from ship to shore.

The LNG plant is designed to receive normal pipeline natural gas, to liquefy it at the site and store it as a liquid

Boston Gas Co. Receives "Cool Heat"

BARGING OF LIQUEFIED NATURAL GAS from the "Aristotle" to Boston Gas's LNG plant at Commercial Point began Sunday and will continue around the clock until completed. Indicating the site of the operation is Claude F. Machen (left), president of Boston Gas, to Rene Boudet, president director general of Gazocoan, Paris, France. Gazocoan is shipping the liquefied natural gas to Boston Gas's new LNG plant from Arze, Algeria. This marks the first time LNG has ever been imported to the United States.

"We have the coolest heat in town," said Boston Gas President Claude F. Machen, in welcoming to Boston a sub-zero shipload of liquefied natural gas from Algeria.

The gas was cooled to 260 degrees below zero to condense it 600 times to a liquid form.

Some 2,000 tons of the liquefied natural gas arrived Sunday aboard the French tanker "Aristotle," named after the Greek philosopher. This is the first time that liquefied natural gas

(LNG) has been imported to the United States. The LNG will be transferred to Boston Gas's new LNG tank at Commercial Point in Dorchester. There, along with another shipload due in January, it will be stored as a backup reserve to other fuel resources of the company for the winter's peak load period.

Machen said: "The growing demand for natural gas as a heating fuel is the reason we're investing $4.5 million in the new LNG plant - to assure a continuous supply to our 320,000 customers in our 32-community service area, just as we have done for the past 146 years.

Machen noted that the cost to Boston Gas to import the LNG from Algeria is more than four times the cost of liquefying pipeline gas.

Should the LNG reserve have to be tapped this winter, the liquid will be revaporized at the tank site in Dorchester for normal distribution through some 5,000 miles of gas mains and service lines in the company's system.

Mr. Machen said importation of the LNG is a one-time operation, "necessitated by unforeseen delays in completing the natural gas pipeline. Present-day costs and dependability factors combine to rule it out as a permanent solution to our growing demands."

Since the water depth at the Commercial Point plant is insufficient for the ship, the "Aristotle" will be anchored in the harbor. There the liquid gas will be transferred to cryogenic (super-cold) tank trucks mounted on two barges. The barges will then be towed to the plant on Dorchester Bay and the liquid gas will be piped from the barges into Boston Gas's new LNG tank. Transfer of the liquid gas will be made round-the-clock.

In the preparation for the ship's delivery which have been under way for more than a month, one of the important steps has been the precooling of the LNG tank. This pre-cooling, which has brought temperature in the tank down to 260 degrees F. below zero requiring pouring in about 100,000 gallons of liquefied natural gas brought here in cryogenic trailer trucks from various locations as far away as San Diego, California and Memphis, Tennessee.

The great cool-down began last Saturday (November 16) and was completed on Tuesday. The empty tankers were then loaded aboard the two barges at the East Boston docks of Boston Bow Boat Company (a sister company of Boston Gas) for further use in transferring the imported LNG from ship to shore.

The LNG plant is designed to receive normal pipeline natural gas, to liquefy it at the site and store it as a liquid

Senior Citizens Special Tribute

Wednesday was officially "Senior Citizens Day" in Quincy.

Acting Mayor J. Vincent Smyth proclaimed the day in conjunction with the "Senior Citizens Nite Out" program sponsored by the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens under the direction of the Quincy Council on Aging.

In a statement, the acting mayor paid this tribute:

"The Senior Citizens of Quincy have contributed much to the growth, prosperity and leadership of our city. Their life has spanned an era of world conflicts, a depression and at the present time, a social revolution.

"Pride, determination, generosity and kindness are but a few of their God given gifts which even today they continue to emulate."

"We of this generation owe them a great debt of gratitude for their tireless and unselfish acts to make life richer and more rewarding.

"May Almighty God continue to shower upon them his choicest blessings for a long continued healthful and happy life. Let us as citizens repay their contributions to our community by a daily kind word, thought and gesture."

Knights Of Pythias To Fete Children

The annual Knights of Pythias, Lodge 62 Christmas Party, will be held in the Quincy City Hospital Children's ward on Sunday, Dec. 22 at 1:30 p.m.

Jr. College Coach Feels Better

Although Bob Basiliere, Quincy Junior College basketball coach, is still not overly optimistic about this season, he feels much better following the team's opening game.

Quincy, which had a fine year last season but lost most of its players, walloped North Shore Junior College, 96-76, and Basiliere was pleased with the opening night performance.

"It was a good start but North Shore is not as strong as most teams in our league (Mass. Junior College League)," Bob said. "This was not a league game and I'll know a lot more after our first one."

Quincy met Franklin Institute earlier this week in its league opener.

Hitting on 60 percent of its shots in the second half, Quincy broke a close game wide open after leading only 46-40 at the half.

Basiliere praised Charles I. Jear, who had 18 points, Paul Boston, who scored 24, Al McLaughlin, 22, Frank Santoro with 14 and a standout on defense, and Don Leonard, also a defensive standout. Santoro and Leonard are Quincy's co-captains.

STAR IN ACTION is Quincy's Steve Carrera who scored twice. His ball-hawking, shown in this 35-yard completion from Quarterback Steve McDevitt, was a big factor in the upset.

Quincy, North Track Teams Sure To Run This Winter

It appears the Quincy and North Quincy winter track teams will have a place to run this year after all.

Bill Hutchinson, Quincy faculty manager and former hockey coach, has been elected vice president of the Met League and announced that reports the league would not operate this winter are untrue.

"The league definitely will operate and as far as I know will be made up of the same teams as last year," Bill said. "Harvard has offered us its track for some of our meets and, although I'm not quite sure what other tracks are available, I do know we will be able to run our full schedule."

When it was announced that the Commonwealth Armory, site of league meets for the past several years, would not be available this year, it appeared there would be no Met League. Also, it was rumored that several schools would leave the league to join other leagues.

But, apparently, the problems have been solved and the Met League, the most expansive league in the state, will again operate at Harvard and other tracks.

A week ago Quincy football Coach Hank Conroy came up with his biggest win since taking over in 1964, while North Quincy Coach Carl Leone suffered one of his most disappointing defeats since he was made head coach in 1961.

But last Saturday the two sat side by side at the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia.

"We are coaching rivals but great friends," Conroy said following his team's big 21-8 win over North on Thanksgiving. "We are going to be sitting together at the Army-Navy game and I suppose we'll do a lot of talking about this game."

The win was doubly satisfying for Hank. His past two seasons were losing ones and the victory knocked the Raiders out of the Greater Boston League championship.

A North victory, expected by most, would have given Leone's club its second league title in three years.

The crowd, one of the largest in the 36-year series, was estimated at about 12,000.

It was Quincy's 19th win in the series against 14 for North and three ties.

"This has to be by far my biggest win as Quincy coach," Conroy said. "It is particularly satisfying for me because it capped a great comeback by these kids. We wound up the year winning our last three games for a 5-3-1 record. It certainly makes up for some of our earlier losses."

Leone, though disappointed, had no alibi for the loss. He frankly commented:

"They just whipped us and we whipped us good. They beat us in every department and really earned the win. There was nothing lucky about this win and they did a great job."

He, too, had warm praise for his team.

"I am sorry for the boys that we lost our final three games and the league championship. But these are great kids, as fine as any I've coached and I'm mighty proud of them."

"They have nothing to be ashamed of. They did a great job and I stayed in there fighting all the way. I couldn't ask any more from them."

The difference between the two teams was Steve Carrera, Quincy halfback, who has his greatest day. The speedy Carrera picked up 126 of Quincy's total of 184 yards, scored two touchdowns and made a tremendous catch of a Steve McDevitts pass that covered 37 yards to set up the first score by the Presidents.

"This kid for two years has been one of our most under-rated players," Conroy said. "Every game he has given his all, is a great runner and pass receiver, blocks well and plays a strong game on defense. He has good speed and is a real bull. He showed them something today."

It appears that Carrera has made the choice for the annual Fathers' Club's Jack Granville Memorial Award an easy one this year.

Conroy went on to praise his quarterback, McDevitt, who played another outstanding game in his high school finale.

Another lauded by his coach was halfback Ken Prouty, starting his first game in several weeks. Sidelined by an injury, he had returned for limited duty against Medford but in his final game turned in a top performance. Conroy wasn't sure if he would start him or Tom Daley, who took over during his absence but decided on Prouty, who is a senior. Daley is a junior.

We controlled the ball very well today (Quincy ran off 68 plays to 42 for North) and I called only four plays in the entire game," Conroy stated. "McDevitt called a fine game and proved, in my opinion, he is by far the finest quarterback in the Greater Boston League and in the South Shore area."

McDevitt in the first half completed six of nine passes for 105 yards. In the second half he stuck almost completely to the ground. He threw only three passes and completed one for a day's total of seven for 12 for 111 yards. He kicked his 17th conversion to wind up with 41 points.

Conroy went on to extol all his players, praising both the offensive and defensive lines and hailing his assistants. "The great work of our defense was the result of the coaching of Bud Noshier and Tony Day," he said. "And our offense really clicked thanks to Gene Macomber, whom I consider the finest backfield coach around. And don't forget Dave Burke, whose scouting reports paid a big part in our final three victories."

Leone, though disappointed, had no alibi for the loss. He frankly commented:

"They just whipped us and we whipped us good. They beat us in every department and really earned the win. There was nothing lucky about this win and they did a great job."

He, too, had warm praise for his team.

"I am sorry for the boys that we lost our final three games and the league championship. But these are great kids, as fine as any I've coached and I'm mighty proud of them."

The difference between the two teams was Steve Carrera, Quincy halfback, who has his greatest day. The speedy Carrera picked up 126 of Quincy's total of 184 yards, scored two touchdowns and made a tremendous catch of a Steve McDevitts pass that covered 37 yards to set up the first score by the Presidents.

"This kid for two years has been one of our most under-rated players," Conroy said. "Every game he has given his all, is a great runner and pass receiver, blocks well and plays a strong game on defense. He has good speed and is a real bull. He showed them something today."

It appears that Carrera has made the choice for the annual Fathers' Club's Jack Granville Memorial Award an easy one this year.

Conroy went on to praise his quarterback, McDevitt, who played another outstanding game in his high school finale.

Another lauded by his coach was halfback Ken Prouty, starting his first game in several weeks. Sidelined by an injury, he had returned for limited duty against Medford but in his final game turned in a top performance. Conroy wasn't sure if he would start him or Tom Daley, who took over during his absence but decided on Prouty, who is a senior. Daley is a junior.

We controlled the ball very well today (Quincy ran off 68 plays to 42 for North) and I called only four plays in the entire game," Conroy stated. "McDevitt called a fine game and proved, in my opinion, he is by far the finest quarterback in the Greater Boston League and in the South Shore area."

McDevitt in the first half completed six of nine passes for 105 yards. In the second half he stuck almost completely to the ground. He threw only three passes and completed one for a day's total of seven for 12 for 111 yards. He kicked his 17th conversion to wind up with 41 points.

Conroy went on to extol all his players, praising both the offensive and defensive lines and hailing his assistants. "The great work of our defense was the result of the coaching of Bud Noshier and Tony Day," he said. "And our offense really clicked thanks to Gene Macomber, whom I consider the finest backfield coach around. And don't forget Dave Burke, whose scouting reports paid a big part in our final three victories."

Leone, though disappointed, had no alibi for the loss. He frankly commented:

"They just whipped us and we whipped us good. They beat us in every department and really earned the win. There was nothing lucky about this win and they did a great job."

Quincy Youth Football League Highlights

The Quincy Sun Page 17

RIGHT END sweep by Manets' Matt F. Honda is good for a short gain. Ready to bring him down is Mike Williams of Panthers.

QUINCY POINT Panther's cheerleaders had a lot to cheer about this season as their team won the Quincy Youth Football League championship. From the left are: Sherree Tripp, Michele Dullion, Eileen Goguen, Eileen Guest, Pamela Lomanno, Alice Adams, Debbie Leahy, Joanne Corvi. Kathy Myers is the mascot.

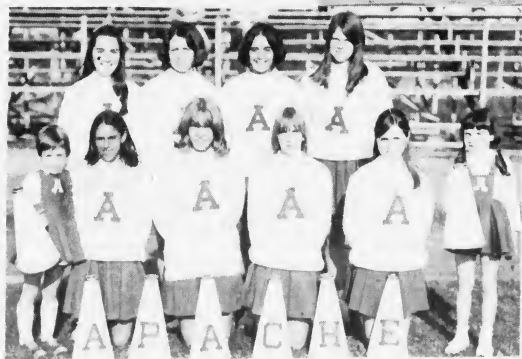

TOUCHDOWN BOUND is John Ford of the Panthers as he finds wide open spaces in game with Manets.

PANTHERS Coach Bill Myers sends Back Jimmy Walker into game with strategic play. The Apaches, Manets and Elks finished behind the Panthers in that order. The league is comprised of youngsters 11 to 14 weighing 85 to 140 pounds.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

WITNESS! Let's think about the word, not necessarily in a religious sense, but from an earthly view of human reaction. All of us witness things every day. We see varying circumstances, situations and attitudes all around us, both good and bad.

As we witness these things in other people, wouldn't it be a good idea for us to ponder what other people see or witness in us? Each of us individually sets a standard of behavior, thought and expression linked to ourselves. In doing this, we naturally provide a scene or knowledge for others to witness. The things we do and the things we say cause people to talk about us favorably or gossip about us unfavorably.

We create our own image, good or bad. We control the destinies of our image in the minds and thoughts of others. When we can be righteously proud of what others witness in us, we gain an inner gladness that automatically portrays a better, more likeable image. . . .

Nurses Aides Complete Study

Six Nurses Aides, including one from Quincy, residing in the South Shore area have completed a special six-week training course for Nursing Home personnel at the Elihu White Nursing Home, Commercial Street, East Braintree, and been presented with certificates marking their achievement at Graduation Exercises. The graduates included Miss Antoinette S. Landry.

The course was conducted under a U. S. government health and manpower program and sponsored jointly by the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and federal agencies.

Mathematics League and competes in a division which includes most South Shore communities.

The 10-member team enters five members in each meet. The participants engage in three rounds which include arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry and analytic geometry topics.

The final round of each meet features a question for deliberation by the entire team. The second meet will be in Hingham on Dec. 18.

Bridge Plan

through the Fore River Bridge. Any thing larger would never make it through.

"We can't bid on a modern aircraft carrier," he said. "We could build it but would never get it through the present bridge."

In addition to huge merchantmen and carriers, the Quincy yard could bid on large off-shore oil drilling platforms if the Fore River Bridge was bigger.

The spokesman said modification of the present bridge, as called for in the McIntyre bill, would prevent heavy land-taking damage, greatly cut construction cost and keep motor vehicular traffic disruption at a minimum.

Eight years ago, the state Department of Public Works recommended a new bridge costing a minimum $13.5 million.

It was also proposed to tie the bridge into a controversial planned extension of the Shawmut Trail which would have required heavy land takings in Quincy Point, North Weymouth and at the shipyard itself. Over-all cost under that plan was an estimated $27.4 million.

"Under the McIntyre bill, the General Dynamics spokesman said, "there would be no land taken. And the production capability of the yard would not be hurt as it would have been if shipyard property were taken."

The Quincy yard, with a multi-million dollar annual payroll, is considered the economic backbone of the Quincy-South Shore area. Present workforce is approximately 8,400 with a backlog of contracts totaling more than $300 million. The contracts will keep the yard humming through the early 1970's.

Multi-Million Research Center Is Proposed For West Quincy

A $12 to $18 million research and development park complex is proposed for West Quincy.

Plans call for nine buildings, three to four stories in height, to be constructed on a 35-to-40 acre wooded tract between Willard St. and the Southeast Expressway.

Pine Hill Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Old Colony Crushed Stone Company of Quincy, is the developer-owner.

Disclosure of the planned facility, designed to attract nationally known electronics and engineering firms and executive offices of companies similar to those located on Rte. 128, was made by Councilman Walter J. Hannon and John Cheney, executive chairman and executive secretary of the Quincy Development Commission.

The complex would be in a landscaped park setting on the westerly side of the Expressway near the water tower and off Willard St., in an area called Pine Hill.

Air Plans Tonight For New Complex

An open hearing on the proposed multi-million West Quincy development will be conducted at St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy tonight, (Thursday).

The meeting has been organized by the St. Mary's Association, a West Quincy civic group. Plans for the controversial complex will be introduced to residents by Ward 4 Councilman Albert R. Barilaro.

Also expected to attend are Councilmen Walter J. Hannon, chairman, and John Cheney, executive secretary of the Quincy Development Commission.

A majority of the Association's membership has expressed initial opposition to the development plan.

Quincy will file a third Model Cities application if funds for the program are made available under the Nixon administration, Mayor James R. McIntyre said yesterday.

The Mayor expressed "regret" at the recent rejection of the city's second Model Cities application—a $120,000 proposal.

"Certainly we regret not being funded for the Model Cities program, but if the funds are available under the new administration, we will certainly file a new application," Mayor McIntyre said.

The rejection was announced by William T. Rose, federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official.

In addition to a lack of federal funds, cited by Rose, the Quincy rejection was also traced to a lack of "ghetto areas."

Said Mayor McIntyre: "We should be pleased that Quincy is not viewed as a ghetto community."

He added that "we should recognize that many cities in the country have problems far more serious than Quincy's."

The grant would have benefited the city "greatly," said the Mayor. He stressed the value of Model Cities planning in connection with planned housing construction in the south of area. Slated for replacement at the Hancock and Lincoln Schools.

The two rejected Model Cities applications differed in planning details, the Mayor noted. He indicated that a third application, if submitted, would reflect needs and conditions in existence at the time of the application.

This would insure they are keeping up to date with current needs for a municipal revitalization, the Mayor said. About 150 cities applied for federal funds under the second Congressional outlay for Model Cities. About 80 were rejected, according to Rose, a HUD special assistant for public affairs.

'Bargain Buys' Beef Up Snowfighting Fleet

Quincy's snowfighting fleet will be beefed up this winter by the "Flintstone Flyer" and "The 007", two pieces of bargain-priced equipment.

Public Works Commr. John M. Browne estimates their total value at about $45,000. The city picked them up as surplus and reconditioned them. Total cost: $700.

The "Flintstone", an Air Force donkey used for towing planes, was purchased from government surplus in Taunton for $200. It is valued at between $8,000 and $10,000.

The "007" is a Walters snowfighter purchased from the Bedford Air Force Base for only $125. It would cost about $35,000 new.

Public works department personnel attached a snowplow blade to the donkey and built a cab for it. Browne told them to "give it a little character". And, they did—modeling it after the "Flintstone Flyer" in the comic strip.

The Walters snowfighter was nicknamed "007", explained Browne, because:

"It was sort of a mystery. We didn't know exactly what we were getting—mechanically. Although the rubber (tires) on it was worth $900 alone.

"It turned out to be one of the best pieces of equipment we have. It was a real bargain. So was the donkey."

Browne said his men "had to

Local Banks Christmas Club Payments Total $3 Million

Christmas Club members at eight local banks received a total estimated $3 million this year according to figures compiled by the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Average check for depositors was $100, said Chamber President Forrest A. Parmenter.

According to a national survey by Christmas Club Corporation, about 40 per cent of the money will actually be spent on Christmas purchases.

The rest of the money will go for such things as back bills, taxes, automobile insurance, and winter vacations.

On the national level, approximately $2 billion was distributed to more than 15 million Christmas Club members by 10,000 banks and saving institutions this year.

Seven out of every 10 checks, it was noted, went to women as American women now handle 70 per cent or more of family banking transactions and Christmas purchasing.

"Locally," said Parmenter, "the $3 million in Christmas club payments should add substantially to the Christmas business in the area. It also represents the general involvement in employment in the South Shore area."

The eight banks reporting, all with Quincy offices and some with branches in other South Shore communities are:

Grange Co-operative, Milton Bank & Trust Company, Norfolk County Trust Company, Quincy Co-operative Bank, Quincy Savings Bank, Hancock Bank & Trust Company, Slipsholder's Co-operative and South Shore National Bank.

Slide Projector To Aid Elderly

Nursing home patients and Quincy senior citizen group members will benefit from a slide projector presented to the Quincy Council on Aging. The formal presentation of the projector was made to the Council by Mrs. William Wolf, president of the Quincy Senior Citizens Organizations at the John F. Kennedy Health Center.

Receiving the projector on behalf of the Quincy Council on Aging was Arthur Ciampa, chairman. Also taking part in the ceremonies were John F. Sheehan, executive director of the Council and Mrs. Walter Main, chairman of the Council's nursing home committee.

The projector was purchased from funds raised by the Federation of Senior Citizens. It will be available to nursing homes as well as Senior Citizen Clubs. Groups or nursing homes desiring to make arrangements to use the projector are asked to call the Quincy Council on Aging Office in the Kennedy Health Center.

YMCA Chessmen Top Of League

The Quincy YMCA Chess Club is leading in the Metropolitan Chess League 'A' Division with a 17 and 3 record.

The Quincy chessmen meet at the YMCA every Wednesday night. The team comprises Capt. Robert F. Russell, Edwin Bernier, Robert J. Corwin, Ronald E. Swartz, Robert H. Rollins, Ronald Rund and Thomas O'Donnell.

Other teams in the league are the Boston YMCA, Harvard, Cambridge, Boylston, MIT, Sharon, Univ. of Mass., and Northeastern.

Sunbeams

Norfolk County Sheriff Charles W. Hedges is keeping mum about it, but close sources report he was contacted from Washington, D.C. the other day and offered an attractive new job. He turned it down.

INCIDENTALLY, two well known figures have been made honorary deputy sheriffs by Hedges: Former City Councilor Francis X. McCauley and realtor Leo J. Hannon, Jr.

A FRIEND PLAYGROUND costing an estimated $28,000 to $30,000 - reportedly is planned for the German town public housing area. The site is adjacent to the Housing Authority's administration building. At that price, it should be quite a playground. Opposition reportedly brewing among some of the residents, though. They would like to see some other improvements first.

FRIENDS honored J. Girard White, retired executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, at an informal house party the other night. He's heading for Florida because of ill health. White is a former city councilor who gave up his seat to enlist for service in World War II.

DID YOU know that Remo DeNicola, the Quincy TV dealer, is an antique auto buff? Has three of them: a 1928 Ford roadster, a 1932 five-window Ford coupe and a 1934 Ford roadster. The '28 model won him the Harrison Award from the South Shore Auto Club. Remo takes them out for a spin on Sundays "to give them a little exercise." Like owning a stable of horses.

REASON for those big smiles worn by James J. Ricciuti, executive secretary to Mayor James R. McIntyre and School Committee member Paul C. Kelly: they defeated Charles (Chick) Gallagher and John Wallace in the first fight of the Wollaston Cup finals. And you know how golfers are—they'll probably have those smiles all winter.

CAN YOU HELP? The Cerebral Palsy South Shore Area is in urgent need of wheel chairs to be used by handicapped youngsters at its nursery school. Executive Director Arthur Ciampa wonders if someone might have a wheel chair that was purchased for a child who has since outgrown it. If there is one or two somewhere now not being used, please contact Cerebral Palsy headquarters (479-7443) and they will pick it up.

TWO FOR THE BOOKS - An 18-year old record has been toppled at the Naborhood Pharmacy, reports pharmacist Jack Silverstein. The new mark-filling 225 prescriptions in a day—only lasted two days when it was topped by one. And, notes the North Quincy druggist, the Hong Kong Flu "hasn't even hit yet!"

QUINCY's most popular newlyweds, Rabbi Jacob Mann and the former Isabel Marcenz, Quincy School principal, looking like a typical married couple the other night shopping at a supermarket and checking the buys.

NICE GESTURE DIP: Quincy Flks donating to the Lodge's annual Christmas Basket Fund to be sure that no needy family within the district goes without the traditional Christmas Day dinner. William J. Whelan is committee chairman and Paul D. Higgins, co-chairman.

SMILE DIP: Observation from the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association newsletter via Hector Pelletier: "It's a pity that the government discontinued the issuance of $2 bills. They were so handy for buying a dollar's worth of groceries."

USS Butte To Be Commissioned Saturday

SKIPPER— Capt. Wallace M. Riggs, USN, will command the USS Butte when the ship is placed in commission Saturday.

The USS Butte (AF-27), Quincy-built ammunition ship named in honor of Butte, Mont., will be placed in commission at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the South Boston Annex of the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Mayor Thomas F. Powers of Butte will be the principal speaker. Rear Admiral Roy S. Benson, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District, will place the ship in commission and command will be assumed by Captain Wallace M. Riggs, USN, a native of Pomeroy, Ohio and a 1945 graduate of the United States Naval Academy.

Built by the Quincy Division, General Dynamics, the keel of the Butte was laid July 21, 1966. The ship was sponsored by Mrs. William Proxmire, wife of the U.S. Senator from Montana in a twin christening ceremony with her sister ship the USS Kilauea (AF-26) Aug. 9, 1967.

The Butte is the second Navy vessel to bear that name. The first was an Attack Transport commissioned Nov. 22, 1944. She participated in the Pacific Campaign during World War II, including embarking troops at Pearl Harbor, and providing logistic support during the assault and occupation of Okinawa. Butte received one battle star for her World War II service. In May 1948, she was sunk after serving as a target in atomic bomb tests.

The new Butte is the second of a new class of ammunition ships. The 564-foot ship will be able to maintain speeds of about 20 knots and will be equipped with Fast Shuttle Systems (FAST) for mechanized handling of missiles and components from stowage to four off-loading stations.

With the FAST system, the Butte will be capable of supplying ammunition and missiles to two other ships simultaneously while underway, and will have helicopters aboard for deliveries at a distance. The ship will have a full load displacement of 17,490 tons and will be manned by a crew of 400.

The USS Butte (AF-27) commanding officer will be Captain Wallace M. Riggs, USN, who graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1945 and has seen considerable service aboard destroyers.

A native of Pomeroy, Ohio, he now lives in Rockland.

QUINCY-BUILT USS Butte is shown underway to South Boston Annex of Boston Naval Shipyard for commissioning Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The Butte, sister ship of the USS Kilauea, is the second in a new class of Navy ammunition ships being built by Quincy's General Dynamics Division.

Schools Collect 'Toys For Tots'

Several Quincy elementary schools are participating in the annual "Toys for Tots" collection program co-sponsored in the Quincy area by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and the South Shore Christmas Festival.

Through the co-operation of the elementary school principals and the help of the school's Parents Association, toys will be collected during the lunch break on Dec. 10th at the MONTCLAIR, WOLLASTON and MASSACHUSETTS FILIBS SCHOOLS, and on Dec. 11 at the DANIEL WEBSTER, NATHANIEL HUNTING and GREAT HILL SCHOOLS.

Marines will pick up the toys at these schools between 1 and 1:30 p.m. and bring them to the Central collection station at the Marine Headquarters Building in Boston. Toys collected in the "Toys for Tots" program are distributed to more than 80 hospitals, churches, orphanages and social service agencies in the Greater Boston area.

Last year, over 35,000 new and usable toys were distributed, of which over 3,000 were collected in Quincy.

$107 Million In MLS Noted By Realtors

A record-shattering $107 million in multiple listing sales for the first nine months of 1968 was announced this week by Alley E. McInnis, chairman of the Quincy & South Shore Board of Realtors' MLS Committee.

"A state-wide survey conducted by the Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards shows that MLS sales have increased by more than $20 million over the last all-time high established last year," McInnis said.

"The third-quarter report shows sales of $106,742,243," he said. "Also of interest is the fact that $8 million of this increase occurred in the third quarter of this year, indicating a continued substantial growth."

The Board increase is $1 million over last year for the first three quarters.

Of marked interest to the realtor, the banker, and those planning to buy or sell real estate is the average sales price of listings sold, according to McInnis.

"For the first nine months of 1966, the figure was $17,270. For 1967, it was $18,811; and this year's figure is $20,500," McInnis said. "This approximates an increase in sales of 8 per cent across the state." The average price for the Quincy & South Shore Board of Realtors, Inc. was $19,500 for the year.

"The public now recognizes multiple listing as the most effective real estate merchandising technique yet devised," McInnis said. "This coupled with computer programming which eight real estate boards in the Commonwealth are now putting into effect, including, Brockton, Plymouth, and Quincy & South Shore Boards, increases dramatically the services offered by the Realtors to both buyer and seller," he said.

O'Donnell Heads Quincy Police Aid Association

Police officer William O'Donnell was elected president of the Quincy Police Mutual Aid Association following a vote of his fellow officers on Dec. 3 and 4. Robert Wildon was the second candidate for the two-year term. Patrolman O'Donnell will assume the post on Jan. 1. He succeeds Det Robert Furland.

Elected vice president of the Association was Sgt. John Flaherty. Other candidates were William McGunagle and Robert Bird.

The following police officers were also elected Association officers:

Treasurer, Mathew Pino, recording secretary, Robert Quintiliani; financial secretary, William Buckley, trustees, Vincent Byrne, John Bartholomew, Neal MacDonald. Candidates included George Fber, Leo Antonelli, treasurer; William Daley, Joseph Cortese, Lawrence Kelly, recording secretary; Edward Innan, Adams Zanolini, financial secretary; Richard Buckley, Joseph Concannon, Lawrence Curtin, Paul Lallive, Frederick Lacey, Joseph Buchanan, Frank Buckley, Robert Forde, Walter Lynch, Alexander DiMarzio, Robert Edgar, Robert Hickey, Daniel Mahoney and David Rowell.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

The subject of suicide may not be a pleasant one, but it is personal, social and a human tragedy. Psychologically it is personal because of the acknowledged existence of the thought we all have had about it and the lasting sting it leaves when one close to us has been lost in this manner, and the abject desolate feeling of failure on our own part.

Statistically 25,000 persons commit unquestioned suicide. It is one of our 10 major killers! More disturbing is the recognition that it is already the fifth leading cause of death among teen-agers. Add to this the assertion that there are millions of HIDDEN suicides every year, that is, the alcoholic, the accident-prone, the self-neglector who "wins death by default". This drug kick now prevalent is suicidal.

Schneidman and Farberow list the following "Facts and Fables about Suicide":

FACT: People who talk about suicide don't commit suicide.

FACT: Of any 10 persons who kill themselves, eight have given definite warnings of their suicidal intentions.

FACT: Suicide happens without warning.

FACT: Studies reveal that the suicidal person gives many clues and warnings regarding his suicidal intentions.

FACT: Suicidal people are fully intent on dying.

FACT: Most suicidal people are undecided about living or dying and they "gamble with death," leaving it to others to save them. Almost no one commits suicide without letting others know how he is feeling.

FACT: Once a person is suicidal, he is suicidal forever.

FACT: Individuals who wish to kill themselves are "suicidal" only for a limited period of time.

FACT: Improvement following a suicidal crisis means that the suicidal risk is over.

FACT: Most suicides occur within about three months following the beginning of "improvement," when the individual has the energy to put his morbid thoughts and feelings into effect.

FACT: Suicide strikes much more often among the rich - or, conversely, it occurs almost exclusively among the poor.

FACT: Suicide is neither the rich man's disease nor the poor man's curse. Suicide is very "democratic" and is represented proportionally among all levels of society.

FACT: Suicide is inherited or "runs in the family."

FACT: Suicide does not run in families. It is an individual pattern.

FACT: All suicidal individuals are mentally ill, and suicide always is the act of a psychotic person.

FACT: Studies of hundreds of genuine suicide notes indicate that although the suicidal person is extremely unhappy, he is not necessarily mentally ill.

FACT: Harry Warren, President of National Save-A Life League, believes that the way to thwart a suicide is to make plain to him that someone cares what happens to him. Delaying his act is half the battle, so that someone might help him tide over.

Are there danger signals we might find in a potential suicide? Here are seven to look for - but remember, we all have a bit of these and prudence dictates the observation of these in an exaggerated sense and in a disturbed person.

THE DANGER SIGNALS

1. LACK OF INTEREST. Hopelessness. An increasing lack of interest in everything and everything. Tiredness. Loss of sex drive.

2. INDIFFERENCE. An unusual amount of indecisiveness that masks inner conflict. Putting things off or saying one thing and doing another.

3. INSOMNIA. A depressed person always has trouble sleeping; often awakens at four in the morning and cannot return to sleep.

4. LOSS OF APETITE. Picking at food.

5. TOUGHNESS. A high degree of toughness, that is expressed in extreme displeasure over the slightest disappointment, gentest criticism, or imagined neglect.

6. CHANGES OF MOOD. Constant brooding, interrupted by spells of extreme cheerfulness that is unfortunately, false.

7. GUILT. The depressed person is usually overwhelmed with guilt. Frequently makes such remarks as, "I wish I were dead," or "I think that I'm really too much of a burden on you."

If you yourself "are losing your emotional bounce" and have doubts, Dr. George Stevenson recommends the following constructive steps to safeguard your mental health.

1. TALK IT OUT. Don't bottle it up. Confide your worry to some level-headed person you can trust.

2. ESCAPE FOR A WHILE. Of course a change helps, whether it is a change of activity - scene, or people. Let your recovery breath and balance.

3. WORK OFF YOUR ANGER. Let your "revenge" wait until tomorrow. Meanwhile work off your pent-up energy by doing something.

4. GIVE IN OCCASIONALLY. Giving in once in a while - even if you are dead right - is easy on your system. When you give in, others will too!

5. DO SOMETHING FOR OTHERS. Doing something for somebody else is a wonderful way to stop worrying about yourself. Make it something positive and helpful - and perhaps unexpected!

6. TAKE ONE THING AT A TIME. Are you overworked? You can clear it up, more easily and quickly than you believe, by tackling just one thing at a time.

7. GO EASY ON YOURSELF. Don't expect too much of yourself. No one can be perfect in everything.

Rev. Kenneth B. Murphy created RESCUE INC., an agency dedicated to serve and help minimize this waste of human lives. In its short existence this unselfish 24 hour service via telephone or personal consultation working with the clergy, psychiatrists, social workers, firemen and policemen has saved many lives. You may find RESCUE INC., at 115 South Hampton Street, South Boston, Telephone 427-2212.

I even Martin Buber, one of our greatest philosophers, regretted his failure to recognize the pleadings of a suicide.

Grange Holiday Programs

The Blue Hills Masters and Lecturers Association will meet Monday, Dec. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Raymond of Randolph. The meeting will feature a Christmas Party, musical program and an exchange of gifts.

Worthy Master Robert G. Berry presided at the recent meeting at the Sons of Italy Hall, Quincy. State Grange Deputy John Zampinni was a special guest.

Announcements were made of the recent illnesses of Mrs. Margaret Ford, treasurer and Mrs. Susie MacLeod. Both members are expected to attend the December meeting.

Sister Mary Berry reported on the youth program meeting she attended last month in Norfolk Grange Hall. Mrs. Mary Hayward, past master of Ponkapog Grange, invited the members to their Dec. 5 meeting which will be highlighted by a Christmas Party.

The lecturer's march was won by Mrs. Rose Drohan.

Deputy Zampinni spoke on membership and urged each member to bring in an additional member. It was announced that the next Blue Hills Pomona No. 37 meeting will be held Saturday in Brookville Grange Hall at 4:30 p.m. Supper by reservation will begin at 6:30 p.m. A Christmas program, open to the public, will begin at 8:15 p.m.

It was reported that a combined New Year's party will include the Blue Hills and Old Colony Pomona on Dec. 31 at Brookville Hall. A buffet supper and entertainment, including dancing, has been planned. Members were urged to obtain reservations early.

The next Granite Grange meeting was scheduled for Dec. 23 at 8 p.m. at a now meeting hall, the Senior Citizens Hall, High School Ave., West Quincy. Canned goods, brought by members, will be donated to the Salvation Army.

Hostesses for the recent meeting were Mrs. Sadie DiAngelo and Mrs. Mary Berry.

Doorway Contest

Entries are now open in the South Shore Christmas Festival Holiday Doorway Contest.

As a Festival feature, prizes will be awarded to South Shore homeowners with doorways selected by a panel of judges for quality in modern, traditional, religious or lighted decorations. Lighted decorations can include any of the other types except including lights within the display or illuminating by floodlight. Lights in display should not extend more than six inches from the outside door frame.

Doorways will be judged on submission of a color photo-Polaroid, snapshot or slide is acceptable to contest headquarters. Following the preliminary photo selections, judges will determine community winners on the basis of a personal inspection and judging.

Winners will be announced during the week after Christmas. Entries should be mailed to South Shore Decorating Contest, South Shore Christmas Festival, 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy, 02169. Deadline for entries is Dec. 24.

A final winner will represent each South Shore community entered in addition to a grand prize for the best overall doorway decoration.

Additional information on the contest may be obtained from Festival Secretary Bernard Moore at 479-1111.

'Campus Revolt' Topic Sunday Of Dr. Mann

Dr. Edward S. Mann, president of Eastern Nazarene College, will be the guest speaker at the Union Congregational Church worship service on Sunday.

Dr. Mann, president of Eastern Nazarene since 1948, will lead a discussion at the following coffee hour on the general theme: "The Student Revolt On Campus."

Prominent in community affairs, Dr. Mann is a Quincy Rotarian, a board member of the YMCA, the Protestant Social Service Bureau and the South Shore Mental Health Association. He was awarded the Jaycees Distinguished Service Award last year.

In recognition of his contributions to Eastern Nazarene, he will be awarded a 1969 European trip by the trustees.

In his 20 year tenure as president, Eastern Nazarene enrollment has risen from 500 to more than 800. A substantial building program has been completed, including a student center named in Dr. Mann's honor.

Construction is expected to begin on a new Religion Building next July.

Multi-Million Research Center

Barilaro, who has worked with the Development Commission in connection with the proposal, will outline the project at a meeting of the St. Moritz Association Thursday night.

Hannon and Cheney said the land would be developed "for the highest quality use." There would be no heavy industries or factories there, they said.

The planned nine buildings, they said, would be for office and research use.

"They would attract national concerns and concerns of the sort that have flourished in the golden circle, so-called, around Rte. 128," they said in a prepared statement.

The statement also said, in part:

"Such use would attract employees who enjoy a park atmosphere with a tremendous view. Many businesses would place a high value on exposure to the Southeast Expressway with its useful publicity.

"The development would not increase the city's school and traffic problems materially. The cost to the city of such a construction would be minimal and the benefit could be tremendous.

"It is believed that there is sufficient and available water, sewer, and other utilities and that the access to Willard St. and on Willard St. to the Braintree end and towards West Quincy and to the Southeast Expressway and to Route 128 should make the land attractive to such users. Total net area of the land to be developed will be from 35 to 40 acres.

"The access to this new research and development park would be wholly to Willard St. and no exit is anticipated onto Woodcliffe Rd., Ames St., or Wolcott Rd. An adequate green buffer zone is anticipated between the property line of the residences on Woodcliffe Road and the parking and office structures. The terrain is rocky and uneven and should make an interesting and indeed exciting opportunity for architectural and landscape designing and layout. "The Commission feels that not only will this not jeopardize the property values of the surrounding properties, but it will add substantial value to the taxable property of the City. The taxable increase in value should make this a multi-million dollar addition to the City's tax base. The inherent necessity for high value and high quality use is due to the high cost of constructing roads and bringing in utilities."

Planners and engineers working on the project are Bradford Sawyer and Associates, Inc. of Braintree and Quincy.

Next World Affairs Lecture To Focus On 'Human Rights'

The twentieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights will be commemorated at the third in the current series of free public World Affairs Lectures sponsored by the United Nations Council of the South Shore.

The meeting, which will be addressed by Dr. Chase Kimball, Associate Professor of Government and Economics at Suffolk University, will be held Thursday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of the United First Parish Church, Quincy Square. Professor Kimball's topic will be "The United Nations and Human Rights."

This meeting will be co-sponsored by Church Women United of Quincy. During 1968 the subject of Human Rights has been one of the special emphases of Church Women United on national, state and local levels.

The general Assembly of the United Nations adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights at its 183rd meeting in Paris on December 10, 1948. Now its twentieth anniversary year, 1968, has been designated by the United Nations Assembly as International Human Rights Year. On the agenda of the current Assembly are many human rights items, among them, the creation of the post of UN

High Commissioner for Human Rights and drafts of a declaration and a convention for "the Elimination of all Forms of Religious Intolerance."

Professor Kimball of Milton, who is also vice-chairman of the local UN Council, is a graduate of Yale Law School with an M.A. in International Relations and of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy where his main research for his doctoral thesis dealt with the civil liberties provisions in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Quincy Vet Groups Praised

The part of Quincy veterans organizations in perpetuating American history and heritage was discussed by Arthur G. McLean of Wollaston in his talk before the Quincy Historical Society on Thursday.

The program was prepared by a committee of the Quincy Veterans' Council under the chairmanship of Mr. McLean. Immediate Post Commander Paul W. O'Neill and present Commander Allen A. Kofman were guests of honor.

Committee members Herbert Bush, Edward Roberts and Anthony Famigletti were also present.

He has practiced international law in Washington D.C. and has made many first-hand studies of the UN and its operations both in this country and overseas. During World War II Professor Kimball served in the U.S. Army's ski patrol and in the U.S. Air Force.

The meeting will be preceded by a catered dinner at 6:30 p.m., reservations for which should be made no later than Monday, Dec. 9 through one of the following: Miss Vera Call of 55 Spear Street; Miss Edith Coulman of 20 Woodward Ave. or Mrs. Viola Ellis of 18 Terne Rd.

The first local veterans' organization was Paul J. Revere Post, G.A.R., founded just after the Civil War.

The second was the John A. Boyd Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, which is still active. The Council now represents 13 veterans units which, in addition to the USWV include: American Legion posts, VFW, DAV, Amvets, Jewish War Veterans, Veterans of World War I, and Marine Corps League.

The Council was formed in 1926 as a coordinating agency. Its success has been such that other communities have used it as a model.

Ernest Montilio Cited By Navy For Service

Ernest J. Montilio, Quincy baker and civic leader, has been honored by the First Naval District for outstanding service.

Rear Admiral Roy S. Benson, USN, commandant of the First Naval District, presented him with the Certificate of Merit in Community Relations at ceremonies at district headquarters.

An Army veteran of World War II, Montilio was cited for "having performed distinguished acts of service to the U.S. Navy and the First Naval District."

The citation noted that Montilio has given generously of his time and talents to many Naval activities ranging from ship commissions to entertainment of Vietnam wounded convalescing at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

Montilio, long active in Quincy civic affairs, is also chairman of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers.

SIMON JONES of Braintree rehearses his role as Tom Beatty the gambler.

PLEADING with the world is Dora Williams is Marshall Ballou of Boston.

When you buy the all-new 1969 Chevrolet from President Chevrolet, you get the best car of the year. You get the options you requested. You get the delivery we promised. And you get 53 people as standard equipment.

Who are they? Well, first there's your salesman -- he's interested in your satisfaction even after the sale. Then there are the eight girls in our office who will see that all your papers are sent correctly and on time. Then there are our 40 expert mechanics who will work on your car if it ever needs service. And there are the four men in our Parts Department (one of New England's largest). And, of course, there's President's President, George Reardon. That makes...like we said, President has 54 people standing behind your 1969 Chevrolet.

P.S. Actually, we employ over 90 people, but we couldn't fit them all in the picture.

YMCA NOTES

Helping Keep America Strong

By Dr. V. James DiNardo
President-Quincy YMCA

The Quincy Young Men's Christian Association heads into its 77th year, a vital cog in an international movement which numbers 1,857 branches in the United States. Since its founding in 1892, more than 200 men and women have served on its Board of Directors.

A perusal of its Board of Incorporators in 1892, and the list of names of those who have so unselfishly provided its professional and lay leadership since that time, quickly reveals the names of those who likewise were and are numbered among the leaders of Quincy and the South Shore.

In rapid succession the "Y" program was housed in the Adams Building, the old street railway building at 2 Washington St., the old Court Room Building beside the Hancock Cemetery in Quincy Square, the Quincy Savings Bank building, and finally in 1905 to a new building at 61 Washington St., a site which is now currently occupied by the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

The present building, currently serving a membership of more than 7,000 men, women, boys and girls, is ideally situated on a nine acre site within a five-minute walk of the business district.

Emphasis in the YMCA programs and objectives have changed markedly since that first band of sailors was recruited as members by Thomas Valentine Sullivan, a sea captain, in the Boston Harbor area in 1851.

Then the emphasis and programs were geared to the Protestant Evangelical Christianity of that day, and food for the soul was the major objective. But a social institution whose professional staff invented basketball and volleyball, has vigorously promoted water skills and safety, pioneered in establishing camps for boys, and established the first evening schools for Adult Education, has more than demonstrated its capacity to adjust to an ever-changing society.

Our Quincy "Y" no longer caters exclusively to the young, despite its name—to Christians, despite its name—and, for that matter, its concerns are no longer directed solely to the needs of men, as our 3,212 women and girl members will readily testify.

Currently providing lay leadership for the "Y" are 40 men and 5 women who are members of the Board of Directors. The professional, staff under the leadership of Gilbert L. Crofts, is completely providing programs that are designed to meet the complex needs of the large membership. Augmenting the professional staff is a very large and loyal group of volunteers who assist in the building-centered programs, reach out into the neighborhoods, and help in places as far as Cape Cod where the "Y" operates resident-camp facilities for girls and boys on its 690-acre site.

In the columns which follow, it is our hope that the countless activities being made available to Quincy and South Shore citizens will be discussed in greater detail and that this information will serve as evidence that the Quincy YMCA is "A Y" for All".

Centre Methodist Dedicates New Parsonage

Bishop James K. Mathews, resident Bishop of the Boston Area, presided at the consecration Sunday of the new Quincy Centre Methodist Church parsonage.

Located at 28 Pembroke St., the new house was purchased by the church this summer.

In conjunction with the dedication ceremonies, an open house was celebrated at the parsonage from 3 to 5 p.m. Guest preacher at the morning services was the Rev. Gilbert H. Caldwell. Bishop Mathews was the honored guest at the open house.

Keys to the new parsonage were presented to the pastor, the Rev. Dean E. Benedict, by Carl B. Peterson, chairman of the Board of Trustees. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Harry Johnson and her committee. Trustees served as hosts and guides during the open house.

The first occupants of the parsonage are the Rev. and Mrs. Benedict and their two children, Rebecca and David.

The former parsonage at 166 Granite St. is being converted for use as a parish house to accommodate the expanding program of the church.

Study Underway In Quincy On Sr. Citizen Interests

Five hundred of Quincy's 15000 senior citizens 60 years and over have been selected at random to assist with a study of Senior Citizen Participation. The study is being conducted by Paul Norton, a doctoral student at Boston University School of Education in conjunction with the Quincy Council on Aging.

Questionnaires were mailed over the weekend to the elderly residents seeking information concerning education, income, occupation, leisure time activities and general interest areas. When all the information is gathered it will be put through a computer and the results will be made available to the City of Quincy. The information will help to develop new programs in the city to meet specific needs of the elderly.

Those asked to participate in the study will not be requested to identify themselves by name. Only the information they furnish will be used to complete the project.

Mr. Norton, working under the direction of John F. Sheehan, executive University of Rhode Island in the Program of Gerontology. He has also served as field director for the National Pilot Institute on Education for the Aging conducted by the Adult Education Association of United States in the New England area.

Recipients of the questionnaires are urged to fill out the forms and return them to Mr. Norton

Beef Up Snowfighting Fleet

do very little" to get the Walters "007" in operation. All it required was a little tuning up.

A sanding body was placed on it so that it can be used for both plowing and sanding, he said.

The "007" came with a fringe benefit. It had a wing blade with a separate engine which had seen little service. One of the city's other Walters snowfighters needed a new engine so this one was transferred to it, saving the city another $2,000.

The addition of the bargain equipment brings Quincy's snowfighting fleet to 32 pieces, including 11 Walters. There are also six Bombardiers for sidewalk plowing and six Oliver tractors for general post-storm "dressup".

Browne also reported that welders in his department are making new snow "pick-up baskets" which will speed snow clearance.

The baskets, made of stripped steel, and with three-cubic yard capacity, will replace the old yard-and-a-quarter capacity buckets on front-end loaders.

Material for each basket costs $70. But, noted Browne:

"Because of time saved, one will pay for itself in the first three hours of use."

The baskets have been getting a pre-storm workout clearing leaves from gutters the past few weeks.

"We have done everything possible to get our equipment ready," said Browne. "We have been ready for the past couple of weeks. The mechanics and other members of the department have done a tremendous job getting the equipment into shape.

Browne noted that one third of Quincy's streets are hills which puts the equipment under a strain, causing breakdowns regardless of advanced preparation.

He appealed for the cooperation of Quincy residents in keeping automobiles off streets during snow-plowing operations.

He said members of the police department will again team up with his department in clearing autos.

Police will knock on doors or use bull horns asking residents to move parked cars. If they are not moved in a reasonable amount of time, they will be towed.

Browne estimated that last year 500 cars were moved voluntarily and 100 towed during storms.

Mayor Requests MDC Action

On Furnace Brook Culvert

A request to the MDC seeking to authorize a $40,000 flood control project at Furnace Brook, has been submitted to MDC Cmr. Howard Whitmore, Jr., by Mayor James McIntyre.

Construction of a four by eight foot culvert at the Newport Ave. and Furnace Brook Pkwy.. Intersection, was urged by Mayor McIntyre.

Mayor McIntyre cited "serious flood control problems" at Furnace Brook. He noted that $400,000 has been jointly authorized by Quincy-MDC action for flood control construction at nearby Black's Creek.

The requested project could be completed in conjunction with Newport Ave. MBTA reconstruction, the Mayor stated.

The additional culvert would prevent possible heavy flooding at the Furnace Brook site, it was pointed out.

Mayor McIntyre said the city would cooperate in any way to assist the MBTA and MDC in the flood control project.

A copy of the culvert plan was sent to MDC chief engineer Ben Fink.

HEROISM AWARD from Morrisette Legion Post is presented to Fire Lt. Joseph Malvesti by Comdr. Francis Mullen as another highlight of the dinner. Lt. Malvesti, while off duty, helped rescue and save the life of an injured diver near Black's Creek Bridge last July. Looking on at presentation are Police Chief Francis X. Finn, principal speaker; Rev. Edward S. Sullivan, fire department Catholic chaplain, Chief Edward F. Barry and James D. Asher, head of radio station WJDA who was master of ceremonies.

Finnegan Looking For Smile From Lady Luck

Quincy will start another basketball season Tuesday night against a strong Alumni team and veteran coach Marty Finnegan hopes his team will get a better shake from Lady Luck than last year's club did.

"We had only a 5-11 record last year but we lost our last six games by a grand total of just 13 points," Finnegan said. "The year before the same teams beat us by a total of 140 points."

"We measure our success here by our ability to qualify for the Tech Tourney, so last year had to be considered unsuccessful. I have only two returning lettermen, but some of the other boys look very good. I am delighted with the team's attitude, it is a very eager group with much desire and the boys are really working hard."

The only lettermen are Steve McDevitt and Luigi Fleuter. Jim Ferrari and Chuck Walter saw some varsity service and a transfer from Dorchester High, Charlie Holmes, has been impressive.

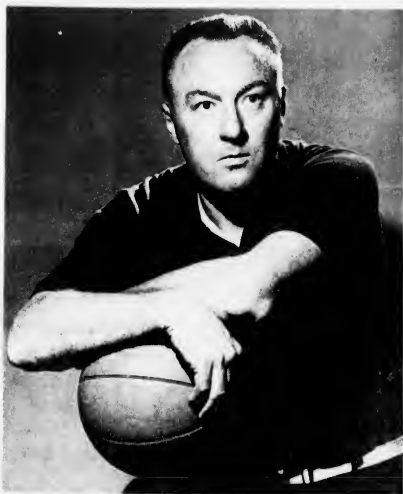

"Holmes played at Dorchester High and is one of our taller boys at 6-3 and should help us," the Presidents' leader said.

Anthony Sandomato missed most of last year because of an injury but is expected to help considerably this season. Bobby Pettinelli, Dennis Mack, Henry Costa, John Langton and Paul Kaplan are other top hopes.

Other candidates include Kevin Ryan, George Uhlar, Richie DiCristofaro and George Davey, the tallest President at 6-5 who could be a key man. "If he develops a little bit, he could be a big help on the boards, where we are going to be weak," Finnegan added.

Mack and Pettinelli stand 6-2 but most of the other players are under six feet, so Marty is striving for speed.

"We had small teams here before who made up for the lack of height with terrific speed and I hope this will be the same," the popular coach said.

Finnegan is tickled by a turnout of 20 sophomores, rated by him as "the finest sophomore group I've seen at the school."

Junior Varsity Coach Frank Conroy will have most of these boys on his squad.

"I think this fine looking sophomore group is a tribute to our junior high coaches," Finnegan stated. "They do a wonderful job every year."

They include Joe Amoroso at Sterling, Don John at Point, Steve Campana at Broad Meadows and Mario Casali at Central.

Following the warmup with the Alumni, Quincy will open its Greater Boston League season against Revere at home Dec. 20. In a preliminary Tuesday night at 6:30, the juniors will play the sophomores.

Undefeated Sophs Loom Big In Quincy Football Future

Quincy's football squad got off to a slow start this fall but finished big with three wins in a row including the 21-8 Thanksgiving game which knocked rival North Quincy out of the Greater Boston League championship.

Like North, the Presidents lose many players including most starters but Coach Hank Conroy expects big things from members of this year's classy sophomore team which went 8-0. He also expects considerable help from members of this year's junior varsity squad which was 3-2 and included several boys included on the varsity roster.

"We have some good boys coming back from this year's varsity squad and, with a great looking bunch of sophomores and jayvees, the 1969 outlook is pretty bright," Conroy said.

Returning will be quarterback Kevin Ryan, who played regularly on the junior varsity club and looks like Steve McDevitt's successor, Rick Pettiti and Paul Picarski, varsity standouts this year, and Joe Finnegan, excellent defensive back this year.

Among the returning linemen will be Bob MacDonald, Paul Iland, Steve Shapiro, a regular starter this year, Cliff Mattson, Joe Maguire and Bill Contino, while Mike Paluzzi and Dick Menchi, a starter and excellent performer this year, are the only returning ends.

Jayvee Coach Gene Macomber rated Maguire, Ryan, Contino, Lance Peterson, Paluzzi, John Galvin, Joe Luongo, Dick Graham and Gerry Quintiliani as his top players all are juniors and he sees all helping the varsity picture in 1969.

Dave Burke's sophomore teams have lost only once in three years, losing one game last year and being unbeaten in 1966 as it was this season.

Burke hailed the offensive performances of many players including Steve Sullivan and John Joyce at quarterback, Wayne Richards at fullback, Halfbacks Bob Gallo, John Provost, Bob Tarbox and Dennis Waters, ends

Bill Mayer and Bill Hebert, tackles Dave Onar and Pete Gavin, guards Mike Craig and Bob Sylva and center Tim Ross.

Singled out for their defensive prowess were Bob Conti and John Marotta, ends; Bob Quilici at guard, Linebackers George Wallace and Steve Lewis, tackles Ron Mastropietro and Farris Hanna and end secondary men Bob Sacchetti, Alan Colby and Joe Goguen.

Other members of the unbeaten squad were Joe Perfetto, Joe Russo, John Hermanson, Dave Lomanno, Frank Aldoupolis, Bob DiCristofaro, Jon Mikowski, Dennis Devine, Dan Paluzzi, Dick Leavitt and three boys who were injured early and saw only limited service, Jim Buchaneri, Frank Pellegrino and Don Austin.

"Many of these boys should make the varsity next year and Goguen and Richards appear to have the best shots at it," Burke said. His club had fairly easy sailing beating every opponent except North Quincy by at least two touchdowns. The final game with North was won by a 22-14 score.

South Shore "Look" For AIC Next Fall

The football leaders at American International College next fall will be all from the South Shore.

Co-captains for Coach Gay Salveucci, a former Quincy High standout, will be Steve Crain, a fine lineman from Quincy, and Billy Connolly, quarterback from Scituate.

Connolly, son of former Boston College great Mickey Connolly, starred at Scituate High for Coach John "Butch" Mahoney, former backfield ace at North Quincy High and recently named to the all-time AIC team.

At North Quincy

Nolan Hopes For Encore But Easier On Heart

North Quincy's basketball team gave Coach Bob Nolan a season he admittedly will never forget last year when it won eight of its last nine games and the last five to qualify for the Tech tourney.

Nolan hopes this season also will be one to remember but not in the same heart-stopping manner.

"I'll never forget the team's great comeback last year," he said. "When we had a 4-4 record and could lose only one more and qualify, it looked bad and it looked even worse when we lost that fifth one with five games still to play. The boys did a remarkable job and made a fine showing in the Tech Tourney against Class A champion Boston English. We gave them their only real close game."

Nolan starts this season with six lettermen but one of his best, Don Constantine, will miss the first two or three games because of a knee operation. "Don did a terrific job for us last year and I don't want to rush him and take a chance of his being re-injured," the Raider boss said. "He should be ready by about the fourth game."

The other lettermen are Mark Jellison, Bruce Healey, Bobby Sleeth, Richie Sprague and Joe Lane. Another varsity returnee is Bob DeRosa.

The tallest boys from this veteran group are Sprague at 6-3, Jellison and Constantine at 6-2. Nolan has high hopes for Ralph Jackson, a 6-5 center who is playing only his second season of basketball but has looked good in practices and is expected to help considerably.

Rounding out the varsity squad are John Holleran, Steve Brustin, Tom Flynn, Craig Bogossian and Richie Sanderson.

"The team looked good in scrimmages against Stoneham and Boston Tech and I think if we stay healthy we should have another good season," the North mentor added. "We have pretty good height, good experience and, most of all, loads of hustle. These kids really want to play ball and as with every other team, their objective is the Tech Tourney. But, they would also like very much to win the Greater Boston League championship."

North's junior varsity coach again is Earl Vermilion and coaching the ninth grade team is Ron LaQuaglia.

The Raiders open Tuesday with a non-league game against Brockton at home and on Dec. 20 face B.C. High on the North court.

"Aim High," Glenn Cunningham Tells Quincy High Students In Visit

TRACK GREAT Glenn Cunningham emphasized character-building and fitness at a recent junior-senior high school assembly at Quincy High School. Greeting the immortal American miler were Lloyd Creighton, principal, and high school track and field coach Thomas Hall.

(Photo by Dana Gersony)

by DANA KIRBY

"Make your goals in life high and aim for them," famed runner Glenn Cunningham urged Quincy High School students during a recent visit.

Cunningham, who has made those words the foundation of his life and career spoke to a combined audience of juniors and seniors stressing the growing responsibility of today's youth as the future leaders of America.

And, they listened. Glenn Cunningham could have been a quitter early in life and no one would have really blamed him. Instead his life has been one of the great comeback stories of all time.

As a youngster, he was severely burned about the legs in an accident which claimed the life of his brother. Doctors said Glenn would probably would never walk again.

But by aiming high and never losing hope, amazingly he went on to become one of America's greatest mile runners.

In the 1938 Olympics at Berlin, Cunningham captured the world record for the mile run, in 4 minutes 44 seconds, a record which stood for nearly a decade afterwards.

Among his souvenirs is, The Sullivan award, won as the outstanding athlete of the year in 1933. Also in that same year he was elected captain of the American track team, then touring Europe and the Orient. The year 1936 brought still another award as the most popular athlete of the U.S. Olympic team.

Since the close of World War II, Cunningham and his wife Ruth, have been working with boys and girls from troubled homes. More than 8000 young boys and girls have been recommended to his Glenn Cunningham Youth Ranch, near Augusta, Kan. During the summer these troubled youths visit the ranch, and are taught the importance of moral values in today's society.

"These youths are recommended to us by youth boards or other similar organizations," Cunningham told The Quincy Sun. "Sometime when I visit a school, the principal of the school will bring to my attention some boy or girl who seems to need our help."

During his talk to the students he gave examples to illustrate his "aim high" slogan. He also talked of related experiences on the Youth Ranch.

"There is a little good in each of us and a little bad ... I try to bring out the good," Cunningham said.

Striving to bring out the good in people is his goal now, and he may have come a little closer to it at Quincy High.

New Faces Dominate When Raiders Return

North Quincy's football team had another winning season but it finished in disappointing fashion, dropping its last three games and the Greater Boston League championship.

The Raiders had a respectable 6-3 record, Coach Carl Leone's sixth winning mark in eight years, but he has been stripped of most of his squad including nearly all his starters.

Carl will have to depend largely on his junior varsity and sophomore players next fall.

"We will be hard hit by graduation but have some fine sophomores and juniors coming up who should help us," Leone said. "Despite some tremendous losses, I'm fairly optimistic about our 1969 prospects."

Returning from the varsity roster will be backs Jim Sarada, John Panarello, Ken Murphy, Jim Horrigan, Mike Pistone, Dick Constantino and Steve Tomasetti.

Lineemen returning will include Bob Bell, John Hemphill, Joe Bertoni, Joe Spavento, Bob DeRosaz and Jerry Mulcahy. Hemphill, Bertoni and Mulcahy played regularly while several others starred for the junior varsity.

The junior varsity played only five games with three others cancelled and finished with a 2-2-1 record. The sophomores had a 4-3 record. Ted Sadowski handled both teams and sees several players from each club helping the varsity next fall.

"The pairing combination of Murphy to Rich Sanderson and Kevin Racette provided a good part of our junior varsity offensive punch," Sadowski said. "In the line Bell, Spavento and DeRosa did a fine job both ways, while Pistone, Horrigan, Tomasetti and Paul Beauchamp played well in the backfield."

Several of the sophomores saw a bit of action for the varsity and Dan Zink, big end, scored a touchdown against Chelsea on a pass from Paul Lippens.

"Offensive standouts for the sophomores were Zink, Lippens, Tony Kelly, and Jim DeRosa," Sadowski continued. "Defensively, Steve Murray, Gerry Gray and Sarada did a good job. Tackle Bill Holey was the most improved player on the sophomore squad."

"We'll have our work cut out for us next year, but I think we will do all right," Leone concluded.

Quincy, North Place Five On Soccer A 11-Team

Three Quincy players and two from North Quincy were selected to the annual South Shore Soccer Association all-star team.

Quincy's representatives are backs Dave Simpson and John Hacunda and linemen Guy Giannina.

Named from North were back

Roger Conboy and linemen Bruce Healey.

Because of the many standouts this fall, new association president Dave Webb of Duxbury announced that 20 players were named, three goalies, 11 backs and six linemen.

Matignon First Quincy Ice Test

Quincy's hockey team, which opens its Met League season on Dec. 20 at Boston Arena, will play in a jamboree Saturday at Hockeystown, U.S.A. rink in Melrose.

The Presidents will face Matignon of the Catholic League at 4:40 in one of eight games beginning at 3 o'clock Saturday.

Five games will also be played Friday night starting at 6.

A year ago Bob Sylvia's Quincy team was unbeaten in its first 12 games (11-0-1) but lost its last two to finish in second place in the league. The Presidents made a good showing in the state tourney.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Vickers

Christmas will soon be here...A season for giving and receiving. A season of gladness for most of us. A season of grieving and sadness for some of us. A season of religious dedication for too few of us. A season of memories for all of us.

Christmas always has been, and is, and always will be a season for gladness and sadness. It has been that way since the beginning. Just as His birth brought gladness to the world, His birth also brought sadness. His birth triggered the slaughter of many babies in the futile attempt to rid the world of the heralded King of Kings. These murdered babies were loved by sad, grieving parents—just as He was loved.

In our own Christmas gladness or sadness, let us pause and ponder the ONLY reason for the season: the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. While those of us with faith know He is ever with us, let us pause and ponder what He would say if He put in a personal appearance as He sees us celebrate His birth in our varied manner. Do we give Him reason for gladness—or sadness? The answer can easily bring on our own immediate gladness—or eventual sadness.

cannot be planned in advance

But, knowing who to call can relieve you of much worry and expense.

When a death occurs in another city, for example, a single telephone call to the Keohane Funeral Home assures immediate and competent representation wherever needed. It assures you, too, of responsible handling of every detail to your complete satisfaction.

That is possible through our close contacts with qualified funeral directors throughout this country and abroad. Their services are available on a moment's notice from us.

So while neither time nor place for such emergencies can be anticipated, it is good to remember that a telephone call to the Keohane Funeral Home, day or night, assures you of complete fulfillment of your responsibilities.

A Vital Two-Minute Gain

Quincy Linked To Attack Warning 'Hot Line'

CHRISTMAS-MINDED youngsters greeted Santa at the Atherton Hough School where gifts and candy were distributed. More than 600 were on hand at the annual Houghs Neck Legion Post Christmas party, a community-wide treat. Participating were Houghs Neck Congregational Church, Most Blessed Sacrament Church and Houghs Neck Community Council.

Boston Gas Delays Action On Disputed Meter Station

The Boston Gas Co. will defer construction of a controversial pressure meter station in West Quincy until a ruling is handed down by the Dept. of Public Utilities.

Opposition to the Cunningham Park site was underscored by City Council action Monday. The Council approved for committee study a $20,000 appropriation to take the 42-acre West Quincy park for recreational and possible school expansion use.

The order was referred to the Public Works committee where a public hearing will be set up on the order. The move could block possible construction in the designated Boston Gas site.

The DPU hearing on the Boston Gas petition requesting exemption from city zoning ordinances to permit the reduction station construction is scheduled for Dec. 30.

The rescheduling was the fifth for the oft-postponed discussions to reach site agreement. Both the city and the utility company had requested previous postponements in efforts to reach a two-party settlement.

A Gas Co. official said yesterday construction would not begin until a DPU decision (Continued on Page 7)

This Excedrin Headache Is Really Progress, Too

All that pile-driving may give you an Excedrin headache, but it represents progress.

Work on the new Granite St. overpass for the MBTA extension is "going along very well," according to City Public Works Commr. John M. Browne.

He expects construction to be completed between April and June of next year. The bridge would then be opened to vehicular traffic and the temporary parking lot torn up to make way for construction of the rapid transit extension itself.

The tracks will be depressed under Granite St. starting approximately 600 feet south and just north of the Adams St. bridge.

The depression will not be an enclosed tunnel. The tracks, like those of the abandoned Old Colony railroad line, will divide the east and west side areas.

Construction of the West Squantum St. bridge in North Quincy should be underway about the time the Granite St.

overpass is completed, Browne said.

The Hancock Paint Co., he said, will be demolished first to provide a detour road during the West Squantum St. construction work. He expects bids to go out the first of the year.

Browne declined to predict when he thinks the first MBTA car will make its Quincy debut.

MBTA General Manager Leo Cusick has said he will ride the first one into Quincy on Christmas Day, 1969.

Mayor James R. McIntyre believes Cusick won't make it until "early 1970".

Other sources, however, wouldn't be surprised if the first car isn't seen until "much later" in 1970.

But meanwhile, boing!, boing!, boing!, down at Granite St., that's progress. Excedrin progress.

Quincy is now linked to the National Warning System, the alert "hot line" in the event of a nuclear attack or disaster.

The city was tied in this week to a direct communication line from NORAD Headquarters at Colorado Springs, Col., to receive immediate attack warnings simultaneously with strategic military installations throughout the U.S.

City Civil Defense Director John F. Schmock estimates the hookup gives Quincy an approximate vital two-minute advance warning over prior alert methods.

The communication link with Colorado Springs was installed in the Fire Alarm Division at the Central Fire Station.

Direct telephone lines from the Fire Alarm Division to the General Dynamics shipyard, Quincy police and fire stations, public works department and city hospital, have been set up for instant relay of warnings from Colorado Springs.

"We hope it never has to be used," said Schmock. "But if it is—we'll be ready."

In addition, Quincy will serve as a relay warning station for fire departments in Fire District 13. Quincy is now one of more than 1,500 warning points across the nation and one of 22 in Massachusetts linked by a network of 45,000 miles of wiring and cable to the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) at Colorado Springs.

The National Warning System is known by the military abbreviation NAWAS.

NORAD, in addition to military and civilian points, has numerous direct lines of communication with U.S. radar missile detecting sites throughout the world.

"We would receive early warnings of any missile or bomber attack simultaneously with the other 1,500 warning points throughout the country," said Schmock. "We would get the warning as fast as the military. It would give Quincy an instant alert."

Cost of the Quincy hookup, Schmock noted, was 100 per cent federally financed. Schmock made the application last December and it was approved in February. The physical hookup was completed Monday.

Get Cards In NOW!

Quincy Christmas Mail Volume Seen 9 Million

Postal Supt. William Monahan expects a total nine million pieces of Christmas mail to be delivered in Quincy—a slight drop from that of last year.

He attributes an anticipated decrease of approximately 20,000 pieces possibly to the increased postage rate for mailing cards.

This year, both sealed and unsealed cards must carry a six cent stamp. Last year, sealed cards cost five cents and unsealed cards four cents to deliver.

"It appears," Monahan said, "that some people are cutting down on the number of cards they are sending this year because of the postage increase."

He urged Quincy residents to mail their cards no later than Thursday, (Dec. 19).

"Even if we get them all in by then, there is no guarantee we can get them all delivered in time for Christmas," he warned. "We had asked that cards be mailed by Dec. 16 to guarantee delivery in time. Now we can only promise (Continued on Page 12)

Award Water Tunnel Contract

The Metropolitan District Commission has awarded a $19,100,385 contract for a giant pressure water tunnel designed to meet growing consumer needs and boost water pressure in parts of Boston and also for Brookline and communities to the south.

An estimated 800,000 persons in the South Shore area will benefit from the improvement. The award went to S.J. Groves & Sons Co., of Minneapolis, Minn., which submitted the lowest among six bids. Next lowest bidders were J.F. Shea Co., Inc., of Glendora, Calif., $19,692,392, and Walsh Construction Co., of New York (Continued on Page 3)

Christmas Music Listed At Quincy Centre Methodist

Stanley Trask will direct the Christmas music program Sunday at the Quincy Centre Methodist Church beginning at 10:45 a.m.

The traditional Swedish Introit, "Lyssna, Lyssna" will be rendered as well as two anthems entitled, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain" by Harker and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" by Lorenz.

The Rev. Dean Benedict, pastor, will preach on the topic "A Man of Character" and a Junior Sermon will be given for the Sunday School children who will be in attendance to present their "white gifts" for the needy at the altar, followed by a dedication service.

Mrs. Virginia Lonie, organist, will play "Christmas Choral" by Pachelbel as a prelude; "The Little Drummer Boy" for the offertory and "March of the Magi" as a postlude.

The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Peterson, will sing "A Christmas Carol."

The recent news photo of President Lyndon Johnson and President-elect Richard M. Nixon at the White House brings to mind what would have been a rare moment of American history.

Back in 1961, former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, who coming from historic Quincy has a deep appreciation for history, suggested that a group photo be taken of President John F. Kennedy and former Presidents Herbert Hoover, Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower.

But an assassin shot before a cameraman could. And that photograph was never taken.

In 1964, Hoover died, eliminating forever a similar photo of the three former Presidents with President Johnson.

Either photograph would have been an historic event. Probably a "first" in American history.

For it has been nearly a century since this country last had a President and three former Presidents living at the same time.

That was 1896 when Ulysses S. Grant took office as the 18th chief executive. Still living then were former Presidents Millard Fillmore, Franklin Pierce and Andrew Johnson. Pierce died shortly after.

You have to go back to the pre-camera days of John Quincy Adams for the all-time Presidential longevity lineup. When Adams was inaugurated in 1825, four former Presidents were still alive:

John Adams (his father), Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe.

There is still time to get Nixon, Johnson, Eisenhower and Truman together in front of a camera.

But the rare photo suggested by former Mayor Burgin is now lost forever. And you can't help but feel sad. So so much for us. But for posterity.

POST-ELECTION TIDBIT: Mayor Sen. James R. McIntyre is a man of distinction on Beacon Hill. Sen. President Maurice Donahue informed him that final official figures show he was re-elected by the largest plurality of any senator in the November state election. His 33,000-plus margin topped both incumbents and those elected for the first time.

***

SPEAKING of His Honor, he and West Va. Gov. Hulett C. Smith have exchanged honors. McIntyre has made Smith an Honorary Citizen of Quincy and Smith made McIntyre an Honorary Mountaineer. Apparently that gives the Mayor the right to climb any mountain in West Virginia.

***

INCIDENTALLY, the Mayor is the latest victim of the Hong Kong flu which is expected to hit epidemic proportion in early January. Dr. John T. Foley, city Health Commissioner, hopes to have some of the new vaccine available shortly. The Quincy Sun was the first Boston area newspaper to warn of the Hong Kong flu back on Oct. 10.

***

VISITOR: Rev. Dennis A. Dever, popular former curate at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, is home for the Christmas season and renewing acquaintances.

Fr. Dever volunteered for missionary work with the St. James Society in Guayaquil, Ecuador two and half years ago. He's in a poor, rural area. In fact, he notes it has only recently gotten electricity on a 24-hour basis. It used to be available just from early evening to midnight.

His former parishioners at St. Joseph's haven't forgotten him. They give generously each year to help finance his work in Ecuador.

"The people of Quincy Point have always been wonderful," he says, sincerely. "They work hard to earn a living but they are generous when it comes to helping others. I've never met a phony in Quincy point."

His address, incidentally, is: Padres De Santiago Apostol, Casilla 5823, Guayaquil, Ecuador.

***

***

SMILE DEPT: Patrolman Randolph Haslett found a lost child in a Quincy store the other day and set about to find his mother. Noting a resemblance between the child and an approaching woman, he asked: "Pardon me, lady, but did you lose a child?" The woman, who apparently had put in one of those days most mothers of young children do, replied: "No, but I'd like to."

Water Tunnel Contract

City, $20,888,530.

A $1½ million grant has been approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approximately four years will be required to complete the project which provides for a 10-foot-diameter tunnel running 6 1/3 miles from Chestnut Hill at the Brighton-Brookline line to Dorchester Lower Mills. Residents along the route will be virtually unaware of the construction activity, for workers will be burrowing 230 to 350 feet below the surface.

The new feeder, known as the Dorchester Tunnel, will more than double distribution capacity of 105 million gallons daily in the Southern Water District. Improved pressure will alleviate critical situations developing in times of high consumption during dry seasons.

Its effects will be felt by several Boston districts in addition to Quincy, Milton, Canton and Norwood.

Library Hours

The Thomas Crane Public Library and all its branches will close on Christmas Eve at 4 p.m. and on New Year's Eve at 6 p.m.

NAVY HONORS CIVIC LEADER.—Quincy civic leader and baker Ernest J. Montilio was honored by the First Naval District when he was presented a Certificate of Merit in Community Relations by Rear Admiral Roy S. Benson, USN, First Naval District Commandant. Montilio, an Army veteran of World War Two, was District "having performed distinguished acts of service to the United States Navy and First Naval District." The citation pointed out that the Quincy resident gave generously of his time and talents to many naval activities, ranging from ship commissions to entertainment of Vietnam wounded now convalescing at the Chelsea Naval Hospital. Present at the ceremonies were (l to r) Daniel M. Moriarty of Quincy, Larry Antonelli of Quincy and Louis S. Cassani of Quincy.

'Hot Line'

cooperation of Mayor James R. McIntyre and Fire Chief Edward F. Barry in making the installation a reality.

The Quincy installation consists of a hand set telephone with a push-to-talk button and a loudspeaker. The line is open and manned at all times.

The first test, a pre-arranged one, was made Tuesday night. From now on, three tests will be made during each 24 hours without advance notice to be certain the equipment is functioning properly.

Quincy is the first community in the immediate South Shore area to become part of NAWAS. The city of Brockton, however, was hooked in earlier.

Schmuck said Quincy qualified as a NAWAS warning point because of its strategic location including the General Dynamics shipyard and the city's "fan out capability" of alerting other areas.

Schmuck stressed the value of the hookup in the event of a natural disaster.

Each area in the NAWAS system is tied into at least one Weather Bureau-Quincy with Logan Airport.

"It means," noted Schmuck, "that Quincy now will be immediately alerted on hurricanes, blizzards, tornadoes, flash floods and other calamities."

In addition to this, he said, the Federal Aviation Agency, uses NAWAS for alerts on missing or downed aircraft.

Until now, Quincy would have had to wait for a teletype alert from state police to local police in the event of a nuclear attack.

The city had to rely on radio or television bulletins for warning on sudden storms.

But the city is now on the instant "action line"

Dedicate Windows Sunday At Wollaston Methodist

Members and friends of the Wollaston United Methodist Church will dedicate seven new stained glass windows in the Sanctuary on Christmas Sunday, Dec. 22, at the 10:45 a.m. Service.

The windows, completing the series of 15 depict the story of the last week of Christ's life on earth. Their donors are as follows:

"Why Weepst Thou" (Mary at the Tomb), given in memory of Leonidas A. Hicks by his wife Mrs. Nellie A. Hicks.

"Abide with Me" (Road to Emmaus), given in memory of Mrs. Maybell C. MacDonald by her husband Mr. Robert M. T. MacDonald.

"He Was Taken Up" (The Ascension), given in memory of Richard MacCarthy and Effie and Thomas Palmer by The Richard MacCarthy Family.

"The Day of Pentecost", given in memory of John H.

Peden by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Peden and Friends.

"He Is Risen" (The Resurrection), given in honor of Mrs. Nellie A. Hicks by her daughters Miss Irene M. Hicks and Mrs. Viola Hicks Shaw.

"The Lyre" Medallion, given in memory of Mrs. Ada T. James by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Philip N. James and Friends.

"The Horns" Medallion, given by the Senior Choir.

Alexander Harding, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the church, will, on behalf of the donors, present the windows for dedication to the glory and praise of God and the inspiration and service of man.

The Youth and Senior Choirs will also present several Christmas Anthems as part of the celebration of the birth of Christ. The pastor, the Rev. Ronald W. Ober, will bring the Christmas message entitled, "A Saviour Is Born".

Jaycees Launch Tree Sale

Proceeds from the annual Quincy Jaycees Christmas Tree sale will benefit needy youngsters and promises to make their Christmas a little merrier.

The Jaycees officially opened their annual tree sale Friday at the A & P parking lot on the Southern Artery. More than 1,000 trees were available to holiday celebrants.

The sale, a traditional feature of the Jaycees service program, will provide funds for the Christmas Party Saturday at Kresge's in downtown Quincy. Youngsters will be guests at a "shopping spree" between 8 and 9 a.m.

Co-chairman of the party program are Thomas M. Monaco and Raymond G. Vassil.

Who Will Stand Behind Your New Car?

Ask yourself that if you're thinking of buying a new car. Look beyond the initial sale to the future service you may need -- the care it will take to keep your car running new.

At President Chevrolet we stand behind every sale with a complete parts and service facility.

Our Service Department is open 70 hours a week. It's staffed by over 40 expert mechanics, so you're always assured of prompt, dependable servicing.

In addition, we have one of New England's largest Chevrolet parts departments. You never have to worry about getting the right replacement part.

Are you thinking of buying a new car? Then buy a 1969 Chevrolet from the dealer who has the manpower, the service, and the parts inventory to stand solidly behind every single sale: President Chevrolet.

was finalized. The Gas Co. has also been blocked for the past year by official Milton opposition to a pipeline for natural gas transmission through East Milton.

A DPU ruling on jurisdiction in the Milton dispute will be handed down following the Quincy ruling, a Gas Co. spokesman said.

The site opposed by West Quincy residents is a 2.4 acre location purchased by the Gas Co. from Cunningham Park trustees.

Both Mayor James R. McIntyre and Ward 4 Councilor Albert R. Barilaro have registered strong objections to the Cunningham Park site. Their combined efforts spearheaded the action to develop the woodland area as a recreational resource.

Barilaro pointed out that the trustee-owned Quincy land had been considered for park and recreational purposes since last February. Barilaro said he had proposed that the 42-acre park tract in Quincy be taken for needed West Quincy play areas.

Discussions of the Cunningham Park land taking with Mayor McIntyre and Park-Recreation Dept. Executive Secretary Richard Koch preceded Gas Co. interest in the area, Barilaro asserted.

At that time it was determined that Quincy needed the site for recreational development, the Councilor said.

Argonne St. residents have engaged legal counsel to oppose the Cunningham Park site.

Quincy officials criticized the Gas Co. for a "lack of communications" on the site problem.

The Gas Co. spokesman noted that the utility "had continued discussions with the Mayor and other city officials of Quincy attempting to reach mutual agreement on the site of the take station."

Councilor Barilaro pointed out that the valve house would be located less than 300 feet away from some Argonne St. homes. Similar facilities he has investigated, Barilaro said, have disclosed objections stemming from odors thrown off from the station.

Other homes on Gridley, Shawmut and Emerald Streets, would be affected, according to Barilaro.

Despite mention of possible alternative sites, Gas Co. officials omitted any reference to any other locations. They indicated a firm stand on the Cunningham Park land and on the stalled East Milton pipeline. Both issues, at present, hinge on the DPU ruling.

As a stop-gap measure, the Gas Co. is importing liquefied natural gas from Algeria - a costly alternative. Co. officials acknowledge.

The cost amounts to four times that of liquefying pipeline gas, according to Gas Co. president Claude F. Machen.

Youth Program Sailing Smoothly

Ward Two Civic Association President, Ted DeCristofaro, reports his organization is very pleased with its new youth program.

The Fore River Club House is open on Wednesday nights for youngsters, mostly teenagers, says DeCristofaro. "They can come down and play pool, table tennis, listen to records or just plain hang around."

"There is no set agenda," he continues. "We have run affairs for the kids before where there was a lot of supervision and a definite agenda. These weren't successful and we couldn't understand why. Finally, we invited the kids to a meeting of our Board of Directors to discuss the problem. They said they would rather not have a set agenda or any supervision. So we compromised. The youngsters go to the clubhouse and do what they want but there is minimum adult supervision."

Jim Lyons, who is the adult supervisor for the program, says it has been successful so far. "We have about 40 to 50 young people a night, with no discipline problems at all," says Jim. "The only thing I regret is that we're only able to open one night a week."

The Sons of Lebanon have recently had an election of officers. The new electees are George Shaheen; president, Nellie Newman; vice president, Nancy Erichelli; corresponding Secretary, Larice Skaffet; financial secretary and Maroon Abuzeid; treasurer. There will be an installation dinner on Jan. 10, 1969 for the new officers.

Quincy Point Junior High School will have a paper drive this week. Peter Doucette, President of the Student Council, says the proceeds will be used to buy stamps for letters to be sent to Quincy Servicemen in Viet Nam.

Jim Papile, President of the Torre dei Passeri Benevolent Society said his organization is planning a Christmas Party for children of club members. Jim says the club is also looking forward to its always successful New Years Eve Party.

Father: James McCarthy announced that Saint Joseph's Church will take a census of its parish sometime after the first of the year. "This will be a step toward the formation of a Parish Council for Saint Joseph's" notes Father McCarthy.

DuPont Plans Computer Link

Western Union has received a contract from Francis I. du Pont & Co., for a nationwide, computer-controlled information network which will link the firm's headquarters in New York with its more than 100 branch offices around the country and its order booths at various stock exchanges.

One of the du Pont offices is located at 1 Chestnut St., Quincy Sq., and is managed by James F. McCormick, Sr., Quincy school committee member.

Francis I. du Pont will use the custom-designed system primarily for the rapid, automatic transmission of orders and conformations between branch offices and stock exchange floors. Western Union will derive annual revenues of approximately $800,000 from the system scheduled for completion in the summer of 1969.

The communications company will provide all circuitry, communications engineering and outstanding equipment, including punch card transmitters and teleprinters. The brokerage house will provide the systems' two IBM-360 computers to be used in the network.

The new network will be capable of data processing

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

There is a State program now going on, strongly, to teach illiterate adults to read and write. Surprisingly the number is great and most of these persons are of normal or even superior intelligence. Many represent the unrecognized and untreated specific reading disability group. Today in our Quincy School system there are about 300 children with moderate to severe Dyslexia (the name given to persons with specific reading disability, often called congenital word blindness) our percent is about 2% in Quincy. This condition is ill-defined and consequently has a wide variety of characteristics some mild and some severe. Hence the estimate ranges from a few to as high as 20% in the school system. It has been found to be four times as frequent in males.

At the turn of the century this syndrome was first described but only lately has emphasis been given to it. It's felt to be an inborn defect, genetic in origin, since it occurs commonly in families and especially in identical twins.

When a seemingly intelligent child is failing in school or when intelligence tests do not match poor school performance this condition must be suspected. One of our difficulties lies in the fact that a child may reach the third grade before the teacher or parents suspect its presence. This is rather late because feelings of inferiority and inadequacy may be manifested by behavior problems. They frequently perceive themselves as failures and play the part and won't try. The other children ridicule him since speech disturbances are a common accompaniment. The physician may be called in to evaluate the child and he must suspect Dyslexia.

We must not overlook the fact that some children are "late bloomers" and may not reach normal speech in the field of comprehension up to 8 or 9 years of age. Also to be considered is defective vision or hearing.

Ingram classifies Dyslexics into four categories. Two of these are: - Those unable to perceive specially the relation of written symbols as "b" for "d" or a "p". Some reverse letters so WAS becomes a SAW or a DOG becomes GOD.

Those unable to CORRELATE written or spoken words or put them into sentences. Mirror vision may be a factor and some read backwards.

Left-handedness or lateral dominance as it is called is most frequent among dyslexics than in good readers. Associated speech disorders are common as well as physical clumsiness and awkwardness. All this adds up to the fact that we have many intelligent children who have a disorder requiring early recognition and a specific handling in education if they are to have a chance to enjoy reading and writing or have the right to higher education. Our school systems need more trained personnel to diagnose and evaluate these children. It is costly because it requires a teacher for four children rather than a class of 25 to 35.

Legislation is needed for the State Department of Education to properly approach the solution for these too often neglected children.

Specific management, says Dr. Harry Bakwin, requires an explanation of the disorder to the parent and child. The child's difficulty must not be interpreted to mean that he is stupid for, as stated before, he may be above average in intelligence. School pressures must be released, nagging and tensions stopped, and unfavorable comparison with sisters, brothers and friends stopped. Family attitudes must be improved. Remedial Reading and training should be given by specialists in the field.

Christmas Mail 9 Million

to do the best we can."

He appealed to residents not to hold the cards for weekend mailing.

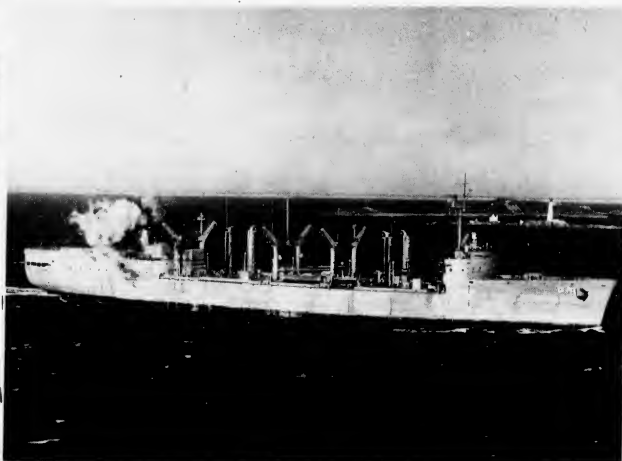

Meanwhile, Postmaster Ephraim Martin predicted the Christmas mail volume in the Boston Postal District will be approximately 300 million pieces. This is about the same as last year—possibly slightly higher.

He, too, urged the public to mail their cards immediately and not hold on to them. Martin noted:

"We shall follow the regulations in handling the mail, namely, that they shall be handled in sequence of receipt and all cards deposited in this area or received from any part of the world, prior to the weekend, will receive precedence in delivery on Monday and Tuesday to those cards which are mailed later," said the postmaster.

On Saturday, Dec. 21, we will resume regular Saturday closing of postoffices and no window service will be provided on Sunday, Dec. 22. There will be no deliveries on Christmas Day except for "specials" and perishables.

"The 14,000 dedicated postal employees in this district have worked long hours during this Christmas Season so that the mail would receive the services of our experienced personnel. All of them, except for a skeleton crew in our major postoffices, will have Christmas at home with their families. Since experience has shown that very little personal mail and no business mail is deposited on Christmas Day and New Year's Day, only the boxes located in front of postoffices will be collected on these days. This collection will be made at 3 p.m."

NAVY'S NEWEST — First of a new class of United States Navy supply ships, the USS Wichita (AOR-1) headed to sea Tuesday from the Quincy shipyard of General Dynamics for her maiden trials. The versatile vessel, 659 feet long and displacing 37,360 tons fully loaded, is designed to replenish operating forces at sea with petroleum products, refrigerated and dry provisions, consumables and ammunition, including missiles. Named after Wichita, Kansas, the ship was launched March 16, 1968. She is the first of six ships of her class to be built by the Quincy division of General Dynamics.

Vietnam Bonus

Payments Reach

$4.3 Million Mark

A total $4,319,700 has been paid to 19,640 Massachusetts veterans in Vietnam bonus money so far, reports State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane.

The figure includes $50 bonus payments to families of deceased veterans.

Crane said he expects that more than half the applications for the Vietnam bonus will be paid to eligible veterans by the end of next February.

Wollaston Family Service

Christmas Sunday will be celebrated at the Wollaston Congregational Church with a Family Festival of Worship at 10:45 o'clock conducted by the interim minister, the Reverend Joseph E. O'Donnell, Jr.

The title of Mr. O'Donnell's sermon will be "The Light of Men."

The special Christmas music will be by the Junior and Senior Choirs under the direction of Edward B. Whittredge, Minister of Music.

Mr. Whittredge will play "Christmas Morning" by Diggle as the organ prelude and "Fanfare" by Lemmens as the postlude. "Happy Christmastime" by Whittredge will be sung by the Junior Choir and as the offertory anthem the Senior Choir will sing "Sing O Heavens" by Tours. Following the sermon the Senior Choir will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah.

In the evening, beginning at 7 o'clock the traditional Vesper and Candle Lighting Service will be held.

A string quartet: first violin, Beltrando Brini; second violin, Armen Leucci; viola, Alfred Volta; cello, Boynton Ellis, will play for the prelude "Adagio" from Quartet No. 18, Mozart, "Sunrise" Quartet Opus 76, No. 4 by Hayden and "Adagio non troppo" from Quartet Opus 44 by Mendelssohn.

For the offertory they will play "Adagio" by Bizet, "Andante Cantabile" by Tchaikovsky and "O Holy Night" by Adam with Francis Williams singing the tenor solo.

Anthems by the Senior Choir will be "Glory to God in the Highest" by Whittredge and "Christmas Day" by Holst. "Angels We Have Heard on High" a French Noel, "Christ was Born on Christmas", Traditional, "Away in a Manger" by Luther and "Pin a Star on a Twinkling Tree" by Emig will be sung by the Bluebird Choir.

Shipyard Management Club Installs Officers Dec. 20

President Henry M. Stupinski Christmas dinner dance at The Surf, Nantasket. Elected with Stupinski, a shipyard Management Club will resident of Scituate, were he installed into office Dec. 20. Vice-President Anthony Colucci, 21 Hill Top St., Quincy; during the organization's annual Treasurer Donald Huntley, Framingham; Secretary Allan Campbell, Hanson; Membership Secretary Francis Condry, Hingham, and Directors Kurt Butterfield, Weymouth, Ralph Lanzetta, Brockton, and Alfred Saluti, Sr., 64 Trafford St., Quincy.

The directors will serve two-year terms; the others, one year. Completing terms as directors of 1969 will be David Lavette, of Scituate, and Alfred Varasso, of Braintree.

Stupinski, superintendent of the shipyard's pipe department, has been filling the unexpired term of Herbert A. Chubbuck, who retired from the shipyard. A shipbuilder for 18 years, Stupinski was previously manager of the Quincy division's U.S. Navy ammunition ship construction.

Colucci, educational services senior supervisor, has been at the shipyard since 1955, and active in Management Club activities since its founding in 1965.

Butterfield, an industrial engineer, first came to the shipyard in 1939. He worked at the Electric Boat Division before becoming a submarine planner at Quincy in 1965. During the past year he was chairman of the club's Youth Opportunity Day committee which annually takes 100 area high school students on a day-long tour of the shipyard to demonstrate the opportunities in industry for high school graduates.

Lanzetta, ship superintendent on the submarine tender USS Dixon building at Quincy, was previously ship superintendent on the ammunition ship USS Butte, delivered to the Navy last week.

Saluti is in charge of all sheetmetal work on the U.S. Navy oiler USS Milwaukee as well as ground-level sheetmetal work performed on Navy oiler and dock landing ships. He formerly had charge of sheetmetal work on the nuclear submarine USS Whale.

Lavette, employee relations administrator for fire and safety, came to the shipyard in 1957. He formerly was superintendent of nuclear engineering.

Varasso, senior ship superintendent assigned to the Navy replenishment oiler USS Kansas City, has served on several club projects.

Subcommittee chairmen are: Kurt Butterfield, Weymouth; Anthony Scarlata, Westwood;

Gerald F. Petrucci, Quincy; Lloyd Carter, Weymouth; George Moses, Brockton; James Fitzgerald, Quincy; Anthony Tenore, Halifax; Arthur Cronin, Hingham; Peter Mastroianni, Alfred Varasso, Braintree, and Paul Schofield, Whitman.

MDC Contract Is Awarded For Neponset Drawbridge

The Metropolitan District Commission was awarded a $9,454,246 contract for a new bridge over the Neponset River to replace the existing outmoded drawspan structure between Boston and North Quincy.

The project will be built by The Barletta Company of Roslindale, low bidder. Next lowest bidders were Salah & Pecci Construction Company of Canton with a price of $9,480,439, and M. DeMatteo Construction Company of Quincy, $9,898,141.

M.D.C. Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr. said the wider and higher fixed span will relieve South Shore traffic congestion and eliminate traffic delays caused by openings of the 46-year-old drawspan for passage of boats.

The 800-foot-span will provide six 12-foot traffic lanes with a four-foot median strip and steel barrier, equipped with "break-away" posts designed to reduce injuries from collisions. The structure will be 30 feet above mean high tide, the same height as the new downstream structure of the M.B.T.A. and the upstream Roy C. Smith Bridge over the Southeast Expressway. The present bridge, which handles about 40,000 vehicles each weekday, has five traffic lanes. The center lane is utilized under control by overhead signal lights in alternate directions according to the rush-hour traffic flow.

The project includes a four-lane, 1250-foot, L-shaped viaduct at the same elevation, providing a continuous highway connection between the Neponset River bridge and a new bridge to be built over the M.B.T.A. tracks near Atlantic Street, Quincy. This provides a grade separation for heavy inbound traffic from Hancock Street.

A feature of the facility will be a new type of corrosion-resistant steel, designed to eliminate costly periodic painting.

Director Benjamin W. Fink of the M.D.C. Parks Engineering Division said plans are being developed to minimize interference with traffic during construction.

Nearly completed is the first phase of the project, which included widening and converting Morrissey Boulevard in Quincy into a divided highway between Atlantic Bridge and a point beyond East Squantum Street.

Jr. College Hoopsters Off To Flying Start

Bob Basiliere, coach of the Quincy Junior College basketball team and athletic coordinator at the college, was crying the blues before the season opened but his team is off to a flying start with a 5-1 record and no one is more surprised than he is.

"To say I'm pleasantly surprised is quite an understatement," Bob said. "We are lacking team height and from what I saw of some of our early opponents early in the season, I was far from optimistic. But things are looking brighter every game."

Quincy's tallest player is Co-Captain Frank Santoro, former North Quincy High star, at 6-4. After that the team averages only about an even six feet and has been at a definite height disadvantage in most games.

"Another big problem has been a series of injuries," Basiliere added. "Ever since the first game two or three starters have missed every game. The list includes Bob Papile, dislocated shoulder; Paul Beston, sprained ankle; Don Leonard, sprained ankle, and Charles Edgar, sprained wrist. We are hoping the Christmas vacation will give them time to recover."

The popular coach gives three reasons for the team's excellent record.

"First, we have had a fine shooting average with 50 percent from the floor and 80 percent from the foul line," he said. "Second, we have great team hustle and third, the bench has been coming through for us in great style."

Papile played at Quincy High as did Beston, Leonard, the other co-captain, if a former Boston Tech player, and Edgar is from Abp. Williams. Leonard and Beston go 6-1 and Edgar and Papile each 5-10.

"In addition to this group, two boys, both starters, have come through beautifully for us, Al McLaughlin (6-0) from Charlestown and Dave Marsden (5-11) from Norwell," Basiliere continued. "McLaughlin is an exceptional player and should go on to a fine career at a four-year college upon graduating from here."

The bench is made up of Ray Ross (6-0) from Braintree, Ray McGann (6-1) from Catholic Memorial, John Houlihan (5-10) from Charlestown and Pat Curry (5-10) from Quincy.

"These are the boys who have been bailing us out lately," the JQC coach said. "When the injured players are back in shape, these boys will continue to see plenty of action."

High scorers in the early games have been McLaughlin, Santoro, Marsden, Edgar, Beston and Leonard.

Quincy has two games earlier this week against Emerson and Franklin Junior College. The next game won't be until Jan. 8 at Haverhill against Northeast Essex. The team plays all home games at the Quincy Vocational High gym.

Santa Gets Helping Hand From Quincy's Koch Club

"Everyone willing to help, willing to help everyone."

The service motto of Quincy's popular Koch Club will be transformed into good deeds again during the Christmas season. The Koch Club will implement a 20-year tradition of community service with a series of holiday programs.

Thomas F. Nester is chairman of the Club's 13 annual Christmas Basket Fund project. Food baskets, each including a turkey, will be distributed through the Koch Club and community charities to needy families.

Deadline for food basket donations by club members is Monday. Canned goods or non-perishable foods are requested and should be left with league officers, or district directors.

Last year 20 families were recipients of Koch Club food baskets.

Shut-in children will be cheered by the 12th annual Koch Club Santa Claus visit. St. Nick will drop in on the youngsters on Saturday and Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m.

The popular program has been

Koegler Seeks Hancock School Recreation Fund

A budget request for an after-school recreation program at the Hancock School has been submitted by Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler.

Koegler notified Recreation Director William F. Ryan in his request that numerous requests had been received from school parents for the program.

Koegler noted that approval of the budget item would complete after-school recreation programs in all Ward 3 elementary schools.

Only parents of the shut-ins may make the request for Santa's visit. They should contact Richard J. Koch, executive director, at 241 Newbury Ave. (472-1599) to arrange for a scheduled visit convenient to parents.

Santa will also be present at the 21st annual Koch Club Christmas Party from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday at the Charles J. Cavanagh DAV Hall, 111 Newbury Ave., North Quincy.

The party will host children up to 10 years old and include refreshments. Carol-singing and an interview with Santa will feature the festivity.

The Koch Club Float Committee was cited recently for winning the Mayor's Trophy in the Santa Claus parade. The committee included Simmy Koch, Loran and Terry DiBona, Ann and Jim Moody, Paul Moody, Arthur Gosselin, Marilyn Nester, Karen Moody, Marie Koch, Betty Scanlon and Mina Scanlon.

Acknowledgment was made for the donation of materials by Weymouth Art and Leather and Antonellis Transportation, Inc., including donation of a tractor and lowbed.

save on International flatware at South Shore National Bank

The pattern on the left: "Camelot," charmingly chivalrous in original Rogers silverplate. On the right: "Ventura," wonderfully contemporary in satin finish stainless. Both by International Silver of Meriden, Connecticut.

The price: just $3, tax included, for a five-piece place setting.

The catch: you've got to open a savings or checking account for $25 or more or add $25 or more to your present savings or checking account.

Additional deposits of $25 or more, of course, allow you to buy additional place settings at the same low price.

The nice little touch: we give you your fifth place setting free. And after you've collected 12 place settings, we give you a set of six teaspoons free too.

It pays to get your silver at our bank.

BOB LAING

BOB SYLVIA

photos by Robert Leo Eng

When the Met Hockey League opens its season Friday night at Boston Arena, it will be a big night for Quincy and North Quincy fans, because their two teams clash at 8:30 P.M.

Going on the records, Quincy must rate as the favorite in the first of the season's two meetings between the intra-city rivals, but when these schools clash in any sport, just forget the records.

A year ago Bob Sylvia's Quincy ice men went unbeaten in their first 12 games (11-0-1) but dropped their last two to finish a close second in the league.

North, under veteran coach Bob Laing, didn't fare nearly as well but lost several 2-1 games and, as Laing said, "we finished about seven goals out of first place."

Both teams were hit hard by graduation but Sylvia has more experienced personnel than Laing.

"I have a very young team with only four seniors," Sylvia said. "The rest of the boys are juniors and sophomores with some very promising young players."

"We were just about wiped out by graduation and, although we have seven boys who were on last year's squad, they saw a minimum of action and are still very inexperienced," Laing said.

Sylvia, who played under Jack Kelley at Boston University, uses his coach's system in selecting his boys. "Instead of calling them, first, second, third or fourth lines, I call them by colors," Bob said.

Quincy's first or "yellow" line includes three veterans, Chuck Peterson, Chuck Condos and Hal Bertoni.

Manning the "blue" line will be Billy Blay, Wayne Milford and Billy Flaherty. The "orange" line is made up of Steve Cleimola, Dave Mariano, and Phil Rugg, and the "red" line of sophomores, Colin and Ken Kearney and Jim Primavera.

The first defensive unit is made up of the first game co-captains, Bob Ahola and Jim Cedrone, both experienced players.

The other defensemen include Kevin Grogan, Dave, Esau, and Russ Barry. Grogan and Esau make up the number two duo with Barry acting as wingman for both groups.

Sylvia feels goal may be the weak spot as the season gets underway. Three boys are trying to fill the big shoes of Pete Erickson, the league's top goalie a year ago. Tapio Juvenon has the inside track, but Mark Erickson and Mike Albrecht are giving him a good battle.

"Tapio is progressing well but he didn't get much game experience last year and both Erickson and Albrecht are inexperienced," Bob said. "The boys didn't have to score much with Pete in the goal last year but they realize that, at least early in the season, they must score more and give Tapio all the support they can."

Sylvia is following the system used by basketball coach Marty Finnegan, by utilizing a small Sony camera to video-tape all his practice sessions.

"Marty and I find this very advantageous because following each practice session, the players can see what mistakes they made and it is great to be able to sit down and review the whole practice session," Bob said.

"I think we are benefiting a great deal by this system and I know Marty feels the same way. I show the films of our practices to the hockey boosters club, known as Friends of Quincy Hockey and which now includes more than 300 men. The members have enjoyed watching the films of the practices and we will continue to show them at their meetings."

"The Friends of Quincy Hockey have done a lot for our program here, have awarded scholarships, staged banquets for the team and they are a very dedicated group."

Laing's most experienced player is goalie Kevin Colleran, who shared the net minding duties last year and did an excellent job. "He should be an outstanding goalie this year," Laing said.

North's first line will include Capt. Bob Pierce, Cliff McDonald and Ken Kline.

Playing on the second line will be Pat McCormick, Don Smith and sophomore Bob Fritzell.

Laing is not sure of his third line but a fine group of sophomores are battling for spots. Tom Donovan, Brian Colleran and John Messina have the inside track but are being pushed by Al Struzik, Bobby Welch, Bobby Golden and Neil Cronin.

Len Carreni and sophomore Tom O'Malley made up the number one defense duo and backing them up are Mike Pistone and Gail Carreni.

"Ken Hayes has done a marvelous job coaching the junior high team and developed our promising sophomores," Laing said. "The sophomores hold the key to our success and if they come through for us we could make a run at the championship."

The other members of the Met League are defending champion Christopher Columbus, Malden, one of this year's favorites; Everett, Revere, Chelsea and Don Bosco.

Poetic Appeal Boosts Raiders

North Quincy Boosters made a poetic pitch for additional membership this week. The ode to parents of NQ students and alumni was submitted by Daniel J. Dieso, Sr., membership chairman.

Penned Mr. Dieso: "To be a North Quincy 'Booster' is the 'IN' thing today—"

It's "What's Happ'n'ing" round town in a big, big way! Yeah - Yeah - Yeah - 'It'll show that you've got 'SOUL'."

"Cause you'll be helping a student reach his goal."

So just GIVE along with your good cheer—

Just one single dollar, - Be a "Booster" this year!

New members, he adds in prose, should apply to North Quincy High School Boosters Club, c/o Mr. Dieso, Sr., 115 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, 02171.

A membership card and a Red Raider decal will be sent to applicants.

Baseball Banquet Honors Morrisette Team Dec. 27

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, 1968 state runners-up, will be honored at a baseball banquet at the Post Headquarters on Friday Dec. 27, at 6:30 p.m.

Serving as master of ceremonies at the testimonial will be Quincy District Court Clerk Dennis Ryan.

Included among baseball celebrities planning to attend are big league pitcher Wilbur Wood, Chicago White Sox and Bill Landis, Boston Red Sox. Other baseball luminaries will include ex-major leaguer 'Boots' Chapman, first Quincy Legion baseball coach.

Also attending will be Mayor James R. McIntyre and North

The trophy will be presented by Norfolk County Athletic officer John Lane for District 6. State Legion baseball chairman Thomas Murray will present the Massachusetts runner-up plaque.

Individual medals will be awarded to the players by the Rev. Irving J. Fletcher and athletic officer Max Lebowitz.

Also to be cited are the Rev. John J. McMahon, St. Mary's Church pastor; James J. Asher, Kenneth P. Fallon, Albert Timson, Roy Lind, Station WJDA, Richard Koch, Quincy Park Dept. executive secretary and John D. Reid, Park Dept. foreman.

Giachetti Tufts Co-Captain, Jordan Wins Cross Award

A former North Quincy football star and a former Quincy standout were honored during the past week for their achievement during the college season this fall.

Rich Giachetti, the former North star, was elected co-captain of next year's Tufts eleven and then received his biggest honor when he was named to the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) All-East Division Two team. He also was named to the United Press International All-New England College Division squad.

Giachetti during his sophomore season a year ago, broke the New England seasonal pass receiving record with 55 catches. He also he caught 48 more to break the Tufts career pass receiving record with 103 catches for 1142 yards and seven touchdowns. He was named the team's Most Valuable Player and he still has a year to go!

Mike Jordan, defensive back from Quincy who excelled at Quincy High, was awarded the Mike Cunneen Memorial Award as the outstanding sophomore football player at Holy Cross.

Incidentally, another former North ace, Pete Varney, sensational sophomore end at Harvard, has been named to several all-opponent teams.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

Christmas: ... A time for gay decorations; for ivy, mistletoe, candles, flowers, simulated snow, lights both dim and bright. A time for presents, pretties, games and goodies. A time when Salvation Army people ring bells and humbly appeal for gifts for the needy. A time for giving gifts. A time when not only neighborhood merchants, but whole communities engage in competitive maneuvers to clang cash registers. A time for parties; a time to celebrate; a time for family reunion. A time for cheerful faces and kind hearts. A time for antagonistic minds and moods to mellow. A time to gladden the eyes and hearts, especially children's. Depending on one's view, these are only a few of the pleasant or unpleasant Christmas customs. With all, let us be thankful we have the pleasant custom of the many people who celebrate the Silent Night reverently. Let us be thankful the crystal Star of Bethlehem speaks to us as it still glows in the sky; as it still outlines the romance of the moon and a host of other silent stars. Above all, let us be thankful we have the choice and the privileged right to join with those who are thankful - and reverent ...

Why Not a King Family Memorial?

Editor, Quincy Sun:

It would appear to this writer who viewed the annual long list of annual contributions by the King family this week that the Kings have been spreading their ecumenical gospel long before the word became household vocabulary like charisma.

For 56 years the King Fund has been distributing to churches and religious faiths of all denominations and to every recognized charitable group in the Quincy environs.

On handling the publicity years ago when we had birthday balls at the Quincy Armory underwritten in part by the Kings for the infantile paralysis victims, Deleavre King donated a day for them at his Merrymount summer home, Kamp-Cliff. He played games with them, giving them king-sized lollipops and shiny apples. We are justifiably proud of the beautiful, most modern Granite Trust building with its lighted tower they erected which beautifies Quincy Square. We have always stopped to peek at the corner window displaying precious pieces of art and masterpieces.

My thoughts this Christmas period is why nothing in Quincy Square, a square, park building, school, parking area, etc., has not been named in memorial to the King name for thanks for such notable benevolence and philanthropy over a 50 year span of years.

Sunbeams

Dear Santa:

Another year has whizzed by and here we are with a last minute gift list. But if it isn't too late, would you mind dropping off a few special items on your Quincy route?

Some of these requests are made in a serious vein and some in a light. Some would bring happiness. And some maybe a chuckle or two. (The latter, of course, are intended in good fun.)

So, Santa, as you pack your sleigh and check Rudolph's nose, would you please include the following for the following:

ROBERT V. LANLEY, a new Fore River bridge, so that General Dynamics Shipyard can bid on a multi-million dollar aircraft carrier contract.

Mayor JAMES R. MCINTYRE, tax payments from all his Quincy Honorary Citizens.

HOWARD JOHNSON, a 29th flavor ... JAMES MONTELLI, a cake as big as his heart ... City Clerk JOHN GILLIS at least one voting machine.

Rep-elect CLIFFORD H. MARSHALL and County Commissioner-elect GEORGE McDONALD, good luck.

Former City Councilor DAVID S. MCINTOSH and former Fire Chief WILLIAM SANDS, another gallon each from the Fountain of Youth.

Congressman JAMES A. BURKE, a foot stool to go with his 11th Congressional seat. He might as well make himself comfortable--there doesn't seem to be anyone around to move him out of the seat.

Councilor ALBERT R. BARILARO, a rake and a bag of sanitary fill to keep the Quarry St., dump covered.

City Historian WILLIAM C. EDWARDS, a formal surrender from Quincy, Ill., admitting it is pronounced "Quin-zee," not "Quin-see". Carbon copies to some of the other Quincy's throughout the country.

SAM MELE, a nice fat contract offer to manage a major league club again. The game could use him back on the playing field.

Sheriff CHARLES W. HEDGES, the new jail he has been trying to get over since he pinned his badge on ... A pair of sized 12, triple E shoes needed by an inmate at the Norfolk County House of Correction for his soon return to society.

LEF RIMICK, an Oscar ... BILLY DE WOLFE, many more TV appearances ... Ditto PAUL COMI.

RICHARD J. KOCH and WILLIAM F. RYAN, a "well done" for their Quincy youth work.

Patrolmen THOMAS SCANLON and JOSEPH NICHOL, a set of insulated underwear for winter traffic duty in Quincy Sq.

MAX (HUM) ZIDES and TOM (STRUM) CURRIER, a recording company offer to make an LP souvenir album ... And that album would be a nice gift, too, for their many, many friends.

Quincy TAXPAYERS, a little extra money "To Be Opened" when revaluation goes into effect ... Quincy COMMUTERS, a toy rapid transit car until the real one comes along.

City Council President J. VINCENT SMYTH and Councilor EDWARDS, GRAHAM, better luck next time.

Patrolman WILLIAM CARULLO, continued iron will in his kick-the-cigarette habit battle.

Former Councilor CARL W. ANDERSON, a Christmas card from former City Manager WILLIAM J. DEEGAN ... WILLIAM J. DEEGAN, a Christmas card from CARL W. ANDERSON.

Dist. Atty. George G. Burke, a bigger budget to continue his effective fight against narcotics.

CARL LEONE and HANK CONROY, undefeated football seasons next year - with a tie on Thanksgiving Day.

Asst. City Clerk THOMAS BURKE and Atty. BENTLEY KURTIS, new joke books. (So we can use them for the Smile Dept.)

And to all of them--and all of you--a very Merry Christmas.

Delayed Christmas Present

500 City Employees Sure Of Pay Raise

Some 500 Quincy city employees are certain to receive delayed Christmas presents—pay raises totaling approximately $409,000.

The City Council will definitely over-ride Mayor James R. McIntyre's veto of the "six per cent on top of six per cent" pay hike package, after Christmas.

The council will take action either Thursday or Dec. 31 after the mandatory seven-day waiting period following formal receipt of the Mayor's veto.

A two-thirds vote of the nine-member council is needed. Insiders expect the same unanimous vote given the original passage.

Under the proposal, the 500 employees mostly clerical help but including fire department personnel, would get a 6 per cent hike effective Jan. 1, 1969 and 6 per cent on top of that Sept. 1.

It would amount to, said City Personnel Director Kenneth G. Gardner, to 12.3 per cent over the entire year.

Excluded from the raises are city employees who are now negotiating contracts—such as police and public works maintenance, personnel—and others already under separate contracts. The latter include nurses and maintenance employees at Quincy City Hospital.

Mayor McIntyre submitted his veto message to the council last Thursday night with "distinct mixed emotions".

He said the employees deserve raises but noted:

"Fiscal responsibility to all of the people of Quincy requires that I do not approve this order at this time because of the tremendously bleak fiscal situation which faces us—all employees, taxpayers and citizens of the city."

The Mayor's veto message, in its entirety, follows:

"It is with a distinct mixed emotion that I return Council Order No. 633 to the Council without my approval. I am deeply cognizant of the outstanding faithful contributions of the City employees to the welfare of our community and the debt and obligation which we owe to their conscientious service. There is no question in my mind that the employees of the City of Quincy are well deserving of an increase on their merit. Nevertheless, fiscal responsibility to all of the people of Quincy required that I do not approve this order at this time because of the tremendous bleak fiscal situation which faces us—all employees, taxpayers and citizens of the City.

The fiscal situation at this time of year is somewhat unclear; however, it is clear enough to appreciate the stark fact that next year will be the most difficult fiscal year in the modern history of the City of Quincy for all homeowners and rent-payers. Court-ordered revaluation, which I have strongly opposed for many years and have taken a leadership roll in the entire state to stop, is now upon us.

Fiscal experts have recently reported to me that there is no question that there will be less state aid for the City of Quincy in 1969 than there was in 1968. All of us know that the City of Quincy lost in excess of $700,000 in state aid in 1968.

The school budget has been submitted by the Acting Superintendent of Schools at a record $12,921,065.00—a $1,486,450.00 increase in 1969 over 1968. This school budget, alone, represents a tax increase of $7.67 for the City and does not include salary increases sought under collective bargaining by teachers and other school department employees or the Quincy Junior College budget.

The pay raises included in Council Order No. 633 are in excess of 12 per cent for one total year and, while they purport to only affect those who are not covered by collective bargaining position with other employees presently covered under collective bargaining. It will undoubtedly be considered a precedent-establishing increase which those under collective bargaining will view as a minimum increase to be sought.

For the foregoing reasons I am reluctantly returning Council Order No. 633 without my approval.

$1 Million-Plus Revenue Predicted

Government Center Reaction Is "Tremendously Favorable"

Reaction to Quincy's proposed multi-million dollar Government Center has been "tremendously favorable."

Public Works Commr. John M. Browne gave that public opinion barometric reading as guest speaker at a meeting of The Quincy Club at Sherry's.

The self-supporting government center, with space for a new City Hall and a 2,000 seat municipal auditorium are proposed by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre.

Cost of the six-to-12 story office building and three-story auditorium with meeting and function rooms is estimated at between $8 and $10 million.

Browne told members of The Quincy Club that by renting office space to federal and state agencies, now scattered in the Quincy-South Shore area, the city could realize a potential $1 million-plus in revenue to pay for the construction and keep the facility on a self-supporting basis.

"Reaction has been tremendously favorable," Browne said. "Typical comment is that we have needed a new City Hall for the last 30 years and here is the opportunity to get it at no cost to the city."

"Reaction to the municipal auditorium with meeting and function rooms is the same. It would be an economic boost to the city and would upgrade the city's cultural standards is the comment we have been receiving."

Mayor McIntyre has filed legislation to create a Quincy Government Center Commission to set the plans in motion.

He would utilize the air rights over the MBTA rapid transit tracks, diagonally behind the present 124-year-old City Hall for the new structure.

The auditorium building would be located next to the MBTA station garage.

Preliminary plans call for adding two more stories to the originally designed three-floor garage, increasing space to accommodate 1,250 cars instead of 600.

Prospective tenants include the U.S. Post Office, Quincy District Court, the Quincy Office of the Welfare Department and other state and federal agencies.

"It would provide an efficient consolidation of these agencies which are now scattered throughout the city and nearby communities," Browne said.

Municipal offices would be located on the first three floors of the office tower.

The present City Hall, built in 1844 at a cost of $19,115, and long obsolete for office purposes, probably would be preserved as a museum, it has been suggested.

Yule Services Traditional, 'Different'

The birth of the infant Jesus, the most joyful of all events for Christians since the world began, will be observed at festive Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services in Quincy Protestant and Catholic churches.

In Catholic churches, there will be the traditional Christmas Eve Midnight Mass. On Christmas Day the schedule of Masses will be the same as on Sundays.

Christmas Eve services traditional and "different", early and late, are planned by many Protestant Christian churches in the city this year. Downtown worshippers have the opportunity to take their children to a family service of carol singing and candle-lighting at 7:30 p.m., or participating in a worship service at 11:30 p.m., in Bethany Congregational Church. A Festival Service is planned by Salem Lutheran Church at 11 p.m., while First Presbyterian Church will celebrate Christmas Eve with an adult pageant, a candlelight service and an observance of the ordinance of communion beginning at 7 p.m.

Another pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang," will be presented at Wollaston Methodist Church at 7:30 Christmas Eve. Wollaston Church of the Nazarene will observe Christmas Eve vespers at 7 p.m., and this service is intended for all members of the family. Additional family worship includes a candlelight communion service at First Baptist Church in Wollaston, at 7 p.m., and a Family Evensong Service with carols at Christ Church in downtown Quincy at 5 p.m. Christ Church will observe Holy Communion at 11 p.m. Christmas Eve.

Also offering a choice of services is The First Church of Squantum where Family Devotions and Caroling will begin at 7 p.m., with a Festive Candlelight Christmas Eve service at 11 p.m.

Christmas morning worshippers may receive holy communion at Christ Church at 10, participate in a traditional Swedish service at Salem Lutheran Church at 7, join in Christmas Morning Devotions at The First Church of Squantum at 8, or simply drop in at First Baptist Church in Wollaston where the sanctuary will be open for private prayer and devotions at 9 in the morning. Preaching at the Salem Lutheran Christmas morning service will be Dr. Nils Ehrenstrom, Professor of Theology, Boston University School of Theology.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djert
Pediatrician

Some medical conditions are disturbing, not because they present any severe problem, discomfort, or threat to survival, but because they are unattractive and provoke questions. For instance, what have you got there? You better have that cut out, it might be a cancer. Also the embarrassment of the unexpressed but disconcerting scrutiny the lesion may cause. Then again, like some particle lodged in between your teeth that you try to remove with your tongue with annoyance. You keep palpating the unwanted tumor. Such a disfigurement can be a wen. A benign, usually insignificant tumor, often hidden, but if evident a source of irritation to its possessor.

A wen is a sebaceous cyst-globular ranging in size from a pea to an orange, in or under the skin, located usually on the scalp, neck, face, back, or scrotum. It is actually a cyst and is usually an alteration of a sebaceous or fatty gland which became blocked yet continued to produce its fatty material and is often called, therefore, a retention cyst. This was aptly described by Sutton when he said that "many tumors become manifest by the accumulation of the products of their own activity." The term tumor means SWELLING and does not necessarily imply a cancer.

Wens may be single or multiple and vary in color or in their consistency. They may be white, pink or purplish-soft, doughy, elastic or firm. They may be indolent or quiet or inflamed as often occurs in the face or ears.

Wens are more commonly seen at middle age and in women more than men, not too often in children. Infants occasionally have Dermoid cysts - related to the wen, and are found about the eye or scalp. A tumor resembling the wen, if found in children, in the head, might require a skull film.

Occasionally wens disappear spontaneously, sometimes after having been inflamed. RARELY DO THEY BECOME CANCEROUS!

Little tumors of the eyelids called chalazions are similar to wens. The treatment is surgical and is considered a simple bit of surgery accomplished under local anesthesia.

Since this subject of wens was requested, I would like to extend an invitation for future subjects of health to be discussed, sent to The Quincy Sun. If required, proper authorities will be consulted or I shall endeavor to discuss them.

May I wish you a Merry Christmas and a happy holiday season and trust that you take good care of your health. If you enjoy this privilege of good health don't abuse it and when you consider your charities please remember the destitute, chronically ill and the starving children anywhere.

Dividend Hike Is Approved

At Hancock Bank

The Board of Directors of Hancock Bank and Trust Company voted this week to increase the regular quarterly dividend to 25c per share and in addition pay a year-end extra dividend of 15c per share.

The new quarterly dividend represents a 25 per cent increase over the 20 cents per share Hancock Bank paid for the first 3 quarters of 1968 according to William I. Kelley.

The increased dividend and the year end extra will be paid to shareholders of record December 10, 1968, payable on December 31, 1968, Mr. Kelley said. In commenting on the 1968 dividend action, Mr. Kelley noted that total dividend payment of $1 for the year 1968 represents a substantial increase over that paid a year ago to the former stockholders of the Quincy Trust Company and the Dedham Trust Company, which merged on December 30, 1967 to form Hancock Bank.

Off And Running

Action Opens For High School Winter Track

N.Q.H.S. TRACK COACH: BOB GENTRY

The Quincy and North Quincy winter track teams opened their Met League seasons last week with veteran North coach Bob Gentry having high hopes and Quincy skipper Gene Macomber admitting to guarded optimism.

With the Commonwealth unavailable to the league this year, there were fears the league would not operate but league officials received the use of MIT, Northeastern and Harvard for the meets.

Last Saturday at MIT, Quincy faced a rough opening day task by meeting defending champion Milton, unbeaten in the past two years in Division Two. North opened against Rindge Tech.

Tuesday at Northeastern Quincy met Newton South and North went up against Arlington, one of the league powers.

Today (Thursday) most of the Raiders are competing in the Navy meet at the Fargo Building and Saturday at Northeastern starting at noon, North faces Somerville and Quincy runs against Randolph.

Macomber felt Quincy's chances depended to a good extent on whether three football stars, Ken Prouty, Joe Finneray and Ed Reynolds reported for the squad.

"I hope all three will join the squad," the Presidents' boss said at the time. "Prouty is a fine hurdler, Finneray a good dashman and relay man and Reynolds a good 300-yarder."

Macomber had a turnout of more than 30 and among his more promising candidates were Peter Laing, an outstanding cross country runner, in the two-mile, Chris Potter, 600; Bud Petrilli and John Bonfiglioli, dashes; Kevin Luggelle, hurdles and high jump; Pat Grimes, mile; and Ron Silverman, 300.

"I have no experienced shot putters and will have to depend upon several good looking sophomores," Gene added. "If they come through, it will help our chances considerably."

Macomber lamented the fact the league is forced to use three sites and that there is one three-week break in the schedule and another two-week break.

"It is a shame something can't be done to push through the proposed facility at Cleveland Circle," he said.

"The state has given the appropriation and the site is available but no action has been taken."

The State Coaches Association voted last week to do all it can to push the much-needed facility through.

At North Quincy Gentry, who had his largest turnout for cross country last fall, had a fine turnout of 40 and feels the Raiders will make a good showing in the league.

He has several fine distance runners from his successful cross country team including Richie Yee and Jackie Yee, Paul Affsa and Mike Noonan, who will run the mile or two-mile, although Richie Yee may run the 300.

Steve Poore is a two-year veteran in the 600, Roger Conboy, a fine high jumper who also will run, Larry Frechette and Dick O'Hanley are good bets in the hurdles, Tim Grogan will run the 50, Jack Cavanagh and Jeff Strangis will run the 1000, and big Steve Dieso should do well in the shot put.

"We have what I consider an outstanding relay team made up of Poore, Richie Yee, Conboy and Affsa," Gentry added. "We should do very well in this event."

Among the promising newcomers are Paul Salonne, Chris Cavanagh, Chris Kennedy, Bill Hatfield, Brian Killeen, Dan O'Hare and Bobby O'Neil.

The Division Two teams are Quincy, North, Milton, Rindge, Somerville, Newton South, Arlington and Randolph and the division rates as one of the strongest of the three which make up the league.

Hoopsters Face Tough Rivals

The Quincy basketball team takes a night off from Greater Boston League competition Friday night when it goes to Weymouth to meet its old rival.

North Quincy doesn't play again until Jan. 3 when it plays at Somerville in a vital league game.

Following Friday's game at Weymouth, Quincy is home to Everett in a league contest on Jan. 3.

Marty Finnesan's Quincy team opened with an impressive 73-65 win over a strong Alumni team, then met Revere in its first league encounter.

Bob Nolan's North Quinctet lost a tough 52-47 decision to non-league opponent Brockton after leading, 44-42, with only a minute and a half to play. Brockton employed an effective all-court press to ruin the Raiders.

DEATHS

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Vickers

Our Christmas prayers center on the celebration of the birth of the Prince of Peace. As we express affection to Him, we should realize we need His guidance more than ever. At long last, let us realize we need a united intelligence to accept and follow His guidance in the things we do and the things we think.

Let us realize no spot on earth can enjoy Peace on Earth as long as men fail to preserve peace in their hearts and minds. Let us realize that only with faith and hope can we unite as God's children; let us realize faith and hope will do away with the fears that divide us. At long last, let us realize hatred, fanaticism and extremism can terminate only in the desolation of the mind, body and spirit. Let us realize man's morality, decency and dignity must be genuine for there is no substitute. Above all, let us realize we are only temporary citizens of our time, but have permanent souls that last through eternity.

Don't you agree we should realize these things FROM New Year to Christmas; not merely FROM Christmas to New Year?

Quincy Studies New Reading Approach

BY DANA KIRBY

A new program of study may be instituted into the English Department of Quincy High School. The plan will center around a new approach to the teaching of reading. The proposed program, initiated at Capuchino High School, San Mateo, Cal. where it is part of a nation-wide experiment funded by the National Defense Education Act.

During the summer of 1968 Mr. Herman Pasquerella and Mr.

Ronald Martin, both English teachers at Quincy High, attended classes at the Capuchino High School. At these classes, along with 31 other teachers from 17 different states, Pasquerella and Martin were taught the fundamentals of the reading plan in the hope that it would be used at Quincy High. One of the teachers who taught the class at Capuchino was a Mr. David Field, a California resident. Mr. Field has been visiting the student's schools, checking on the progress of the program.

Mr. Field, besides teaching the summer classes, or as he puts it "Teaching teachers how to teach", is a faculty member at Capuchino High School. He is presently working in the reading lab of that advanced high school.

While at Quincy High Mr. Field explained the purpose of the reading system. If the system is included in Quincy High curriculum, students will then be scanned to find those with poor reading habits. The students will then be taught skills in his or her English class and under the program reading will receive number one priority.

People are under the impression that when a student reaches the high school level it is too late to acquire reading skills. Mr. Field opposes that point of view, actually the program he teaches is out to disprove the "too little, too late" theory.

at Thomas Crane Public Library

Between the Covers

By Michael Vocino

The number of books published annually seems to increase at an incredibly rapid rate. And although the quantity is rising, the quality of the newer volumes has not suffered to any measurable degree. But this dual increase creates a problem not only of time, but puts into doubt our capacity for physical endurance as well. Such books with their eye-straining print can be a great burden, as many of us can easily understand.

But what is an individual who looks to books for relaxation to do? Do not despair, for the Thomas Crane Public Library has the solution: books with large type for tired eyes.

Keith Jennison Books, Publishers of Editions in Large Type, prints such books, and in the Library's collection are such titles and authors as: MOBY DICK, THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD, GONE WITH THE WIND, JANE EYRE, JOYCE'S PORTRAIT OF THE ARTIST AS A YOUNG MAN, Steinbeck's THE PEARL, and Jack London's classic, THE CALL OF THE WILD.

So if your eyes are tired but your mind is still eager for the printed word, come in to the Thomas Crane Public Library and ask for these books with their "soothingly" large ONASIS, by Willi Frischauer, (Meridian, 6.95). With its title, this book needs little explanation. What the book is about is of particular interest with the recent marriage of Aristotle Onassis to the former Jacqueline Kennedy. The biography traces Onassis' "rise" from humble parents in Turkey to the gilded company of the "Jet-Set."

THE RICH AND THE SUPER RICH, by Ferdinand Lundberg, (Lyle, 12.50).

Fundamentally, the book studies the power of money in today's materialistic environment. It systematically examines the wealthy class and its familial structures, and exposes such "luddites" as the fact that of some 200,000 very wealthy people from 500 super-millionaire families, none pays income tax. This happens not in Greece either, but right here in the USA!

THE PEOPLE ON SECOND STREET, by Jenny Moore, (Morrow, 5.00).

But where there is the "Super-Rich", there is also the "Super-Poor". In this book, the wife of an Episcopalian Bishop recalls their life of living in a slum parish for some eight years. It draws a contrast as vivid as the "Super-Rich" and the "Super-Poor" when she talks about the slum conditions of Second Street and then the "majesty" of Fifth Avenue.

THE GHOST OF STALIN, by Jean Paul Sartre, (Braziller, 4.50). With the current Czech crisis and the injustice inflicted on that people by the Soviet Union, this book written in protest over the similar invasion of Hungary, should be of particular interest. Because Sartre believes that Marxism is the only way to save mankind, he gives a devastating critique of Stalinism in its relation to historical Marxist development.

KILLER SMOG, by William Wise, (McNally, 5.95).

Our trouble in this age of conflict aren't confined to the traditional problems, either. We must also beware of such basic things as the air we breathe! The author of this book points to the importance of such caution when he relates the drama of the "Killer Sinog" of December 5, 1952.

Love Letters...

A Tiny Peek Into Santa's Mailbox

A magical communication takes place every year between Santa Claus and children everywhere. Somehow Santa understands and somehow he delivers joy to everyone who believes in him.

The Quincy Sun took a small peek into Santa's Quincy Mailbox and found heart-warming samples of the love and affection that come only once in a lifetime. We present them just as they were written.

Dear Santa:

I am 3 yrs old and a good girl most the time. For Christmas I would like anything you bring me.

I say my prayers every night and I hope you don't forget me. God Bless You.

Laurie M. Gore
76 Farrington St.

Dear Santa:

I want you to come to my house this Christmas. I would like you to bring me flashlight, mailbox, nails, screws, gloves, socks, 2 tool boxes, pens, pencils, Jack (for a car), drum sticks, ditzies, 2 under pants, 2 sea shirts, 2 sweatshirts, real fire boots, real fire hat, real fire mask that I will want so far.

Thank you.

* our friend,
L. in snowing
258 Newbury Ave

Dear Santa Claus:

I want you to move soon. My new address will be 49 Paul Ave., Braintree, Mass. Right now I live at 39 Plym St. I would like a tool set, a fire engine, a "close and play" record player. Thank you very much.

Yours truly,
Vic. de Rosa
39 Plym St.

Dear Santa Claus:

I am a little girl. I will have to have someone write this letter for me.

My wishes for Christmas are as follows.

1. Lots of food health for everyone.

2. I wish all little children that haven't anyone to bring them happiness would be surprised on Christmas morning by you and Santa's helpers.

3. My list is very limited as I am only 2 years old. So whatever you think will make me happy I would be very pleased.

Love & kisses,
Miss Susan M. Thompson
24 Lancaster St.

Dear Santa:

I love you & I saw you in the parade. Please if you have any left when you get to my house bring me Baby Grew a Tooth-games, walkie talkie, things to bake with-rubber duck to my turtle, too my sister pull toys for mixer & blender. I will leave you pie & milk.

Love
Karen & Cheryl

Dear Santa,

I have been good. Will you send me what I ask for? Please be good to the girls and me. I would like a set of robots.

Love,
Walter McConaghie,
60 Newbury St.

Dear Santa,

I would like a Baby Humboldt doll if you have any more. Nines for my easy-bake oven and some carps.

Love,
Kathy DeRosier, 8 Lynn St.
in Santa,

How are you? And are you ready for Christmas? I was waiting for Christmas all year long. How is Mrs. Claus? Will you bring my sister Diane a toy. The toy she wants is a doll and a little carriage and a busy box. I would like play time Tubsey, Hip Flip, Barby clothes and Kerplung and twiggy doll.

From Joanne Coulouras, 69 Freeman St.

Dear Santa Claus,

I have been a very good boy. I would like Billy Blasted crash car cash register traffic light. We will leave something for you and your reindeer.

Love, Stephen
(no address)

And one youngster, who didn't sign his name, didn't ask for anything either. He just sent a Christmas card to Santa with this greeting: "To wish you joy for Christmas and the New Year."

But you can bet Santa will find his for her house. And probably leave something really special because he likes to be remembered, too.

Creedon 'Strong Contender' For School Supt.

Quincy Superintendent's Creedon was named within the last two weeks.

Dr. Laurence P. Creedon, 41, was named as the acting superintendent of the Quincy school system. He was born in Quincy, Mass., and graduated from Quincy High School in 1934. He has been in the school system for 15 years, and has been in the Quincy school system for 10 years.

The school system has narrowed down to Creedon and Dr. Laurence P. Creedon, 41, was named as the acting superintendent of the Quincy school system. He was born in Quincy, Mass., and graduated from Quincy High School in 1934. He has been in the school system for 15 years, and has been in the Quincy school system for 10 years.

The School Committee has interviewed all but two of the final seven candidates. It expects to complete the interviews in time to make the appointment within two weeks.

The school superintendent's post pays $23,000 annually. Pruitt, superintendent for the past five years, resigned to accept a position with the U.S. Office of Education.

Dr. Creedon was named acting superintendent Sept. 25 with Miss Ruth Scanlon the only member of the School Committee dissenting. She said she did so because she questioned the appointment of a person on an acting status who is a candidate for the permanent post.

Dr. Creedon who had been assistant superintendent since September, 1966, has been in the Quincy school system 10 years.

A Holiday Message

Who is at the head of your Christmas list? Probably someone very dear to you, someone very important in your life. Let me suggest that you put another name at the top of your gift list. - the name of Someone also very close to you (I very much hope!). Someone who should be the most important Person in your life. Write the name JESUS at the very top of your Christmas list!

Why? It sounds very reasonable, doesn't it, to give the first place to Him Who originated Christmas? The more you think of it the more logical it seems that the Christ of Christmas should be honored above all others each Christmas.

You can look at it another way. We remember birthdays of those we love. Christmas is the birthday of Jesus. Who, more than anyone else should want to remember the birthday of the Lord than we disciples of Jesus? So consider, this Christmas, a birthday gift for Jesus.

For these reasons, and for other reasons that may occur to you our Church makes it possible for you to remember Jesus the Christ in a special way this Christmas.

May each of you know and enjoy the love and fellowship of Christ this Christmas and all through the new year.
